FOREWORD

Shipmasters, Shipowners or Managers, Port Authorities, Administrators and Agents, are earnestly requested to assist our work in up-dating the Guide by providing written comment, information, amendments or corrections, plus additional details of any ports or terminals, to the following address:

SHIPPING GUIDES (SERVICES) LIMITED,
17 HIGH STREET,
REIGATE,
SURREY, ENGLAND.

All communications will be acknowledged and will be most useful, since it is only by this means that the Guide will remain of great value to the user and will be up to date and thoroughly professional in content.

For assistance and guidance in the submission of information, a reprint of the items presently covered by the Guide is placed here under. Additional items will also be most welcome.

N.B. PLANS, DIAGRAMS, DRAWINGS AND SKETCHES: As you will note, this 1975/76 edition of "Guide to Port Entry" contains some hundreds of port plans and diagrams that have been reproduced from plans and drawings very kindly sent to us by numerous Port Authorities, Agents and shipboard personnel. We hope that the special plan section in this volume will prove interesting and useful.

Presently however, this special plan section is to an extent incomplete, since there are many ports and mooring facilities for which we have not yet received the necessary plans for reproduction purposes. We are anxious to secure plans, diagrams, drawings or sketches of ports and facilities not presently shown in our special plan section, and therefore request that Port Authorities and/or Agents at the places concerned be kind enough to pass us this data together with the necessary permission for reproduction. We would also be very grateful if ship's officers calling at ports not already covered in our special plan section, could find it possible to provide us with diagrams or sketches of the facilities which would be suitable for reproduction in our later editions and/or which might be re-drawn as required by our own art department prior to reproduction.

PORT INFORMATION KINDLY REQUESTED

PORT LIMITS: The seaward boundaries of the port within which a vessel is considered to be an "arrived ship" and (subject to Charter-Party Terms) laytime will commence.

DOCUMENTS: The matter of documentation is one of the most important items to be included in the Guide, and we would like to be sure that ALL requirements are included in order that Masters will be in a position to prepare all necessary documentation before arrival and thus ensure speedy clearance. (E.g. Number of Crew Lists, Passenger Lists, Customs, Documents, Health Documents, Manifests, Bills of Lading, Ship's Papers, Ship's Certificates, etc., etc.)

PILOTAGE: Manner in which vessel approaching the port applies for a Pilot. That is, telegraphic address of Pilot Station, amount of advance notice of ETA required, and VHF channel or frequency to be used when contacting Pilot Boat or Pilot Station. If possible, a description of Pilot Boat; particular light or sound signals to be made by vessels requiring a Pilot; the exact area where the Pilot Boat is located or where the Pilot has to be taken on board and also any alternative area in the event of bad weather and Pilot Boat not in usual station; details of any specific requirements on the part of Pilots with respect to boarding and safety measures; location of anchorage for vessel awaiting a Pilot.

ANCHORAGES: Boundaries, areas and depths of safe anchorages.

AUTHORITY: Name, address, and other details of local Port Authority.

AGENT: At the foot of many of the ports in this Guide we have an additional heading entitled "Agent". The purpose of including this item has been to provide Shipowners, Managers, and Operators with prompt access to the name, address, telephone, telex numbers, and cable addresses, etc., of an experienced Agent at the port concerned.

Of course, it will be understood that the Agents named in the Guide are not necessarily the only Agent at that port; however, demands on available space preclude the inclusion of other reputable Agency companies and we trust that other such companies will understand and appreciate the position. We have been obliged therefore to include details of one Agency company only, but by doing so we hope to have provided a further service to the user of the Guide.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In 1971 we produced and published the first edition of "Guide to Port Entry". The "Guide" was then some 590 pages in extent and was the result of four years work in obtaining the necessary information, checking and cross-checking, editing, compiling and up-dating.

Although ex-seafarers ourselves, at that time we were not certain how the "Guide" would be received either by shipboard personnel or by Owners and Brokers, and we were therefore subsequently much encouraged when the first edition proved to be so successful.

In 1973 we published our second edition. At that time the "Guide" was 706 pages in extent, having been completely revised and up-dated, and the edition contained much additional information, details of a greater number of ports and also included our first port and harbour plans.

The second edition proved to be even more successful than the first. Such success was due mainly to the remarkable assistance and co-operation given to us by Port Authorities throughout the world, and also Agents and Ship Masters.

Since March 1973 we have again made every effort to completely revise, up-date and add to our existing information with the result that this third edition of "Guide to Port Entry" is about 1,500 pages in extent, and includes a separate section at the back of the book giving reproductions of very many port, harbour, berth and mooring plans.

Publication of this third edition would once again have been quite impossible but for the very considerable assistance that we have been so fortunate to receive from Port Authorities, Agents and serving seafarers. Many Shipowners have also been kind enough to keep us informed of up-to-date information as received by them, and in so doing have enabled us to extend and improve upon our existing information.

We are well aware that there always remains room for improvement, and as such, we are constantly seeking to establish the existence of any changes to our published information, to introduce new and worthwhile items of information that will be of value to our readers, and thereby to improve the standard of our work. In this respect therefore, we do hope that you will advise us of any criticisms you have concerning this production together with any ideas you may have concerning it's possible improvement. Your advice of any alterations, additions, or amendments to the information given in this edition, would be extremely welcome.

With regard to the section containing plans, our intention is to extend the range of this data, and for this reason we would very much appreciate receipt of additional plans or diagrams, and also advice of any necessary changes to those plans already appearing. Mooring plans from serving ship's officers would be particularly welcome, as only by these means are we able to ensure that the future volumes will be of practical value to the professional seafarer. All plans and diagrams so received would be re-drawn by our own artists prior to inclusion in later editions, and therefore plans sent to us need only be of an artistically simple nature.

To all those Port Authorities, Agents, seafarers and others who have been so kind in giving us their interest, co-operation and support, we again wish to express our sincere thanks.

ARZEW: 35.50 N. 0.16 W.

DOCUMENTS: Refer to Algiers.
APPROACHES: There are numerous good navigational aids visible from seawards to vessels approaching Arzew Bay. The oil storage tanks are visible for a considerable distance seawards, and the methane gas flare in the South-west corner of the bay is clearly visible at night. In addition to Isle de Arzew lighthouse, the mooring buoys are fitted with red winker lights, visible one mile, but too much reliance must not be placed on these last lights. The pillar buoys on the berths are fitted with blue winker lights. All these buoys form a good radar target and are clearly visible over 5 miles on radar screen.
PILOTAGE: Pilotage is compulsory. A Pilot from the pilotage station of Oran/Arzew will board vessels and assist Master to berth.

Communications from tankers will be via the international radio station at St. Lys, which is in telex communication with the Arzew terminal. Contact with the Arzew terminal can be made on VHF Channel 16. Vessel will then be informed by the control room of the frequency to use, either Channel 12 or 14 for mooring purposes.

Masters are advised to provide for safe access of port personnel an accommodation ladder rigged to end 10 ft. above the water, and a pilot ladder alongside to provide access to the accommodation ladder.
ANCHORAGE: Vessels requiring to anchor on arrival normally use services of the Pilot. Anchorage fees are charged whether the Pilot is used or not. Sea bottom of rocks, sand and mud.
RESTRICTIONS: Vessels may enter or sail by day or night. Tankers berthing on the sea line berths may be restricted by bad weather, heavy wind or swell.
TUGS: Four tugs available, from 900 h.p. to 1,600 h.p. Two tugs normally required for berthing and unberthing. The tow line should be supplied by the vessel. Tugs join inward bound vessels at about 1½ miles from harbour entrance.
MAX. SIZE: Inside Harbour. Dry cargo berth for vessels up to 7·50 metres draft. LPG and refined crude berth for vessels up to 8·0 metres draft. Methane Terminal, two berths for vessels up to 10 metres draft.

Sea Line Tanker Berth. For tankers up to 150,000 tons.
HEALTH: Free pratique is not granted by radio. For tankers berthing on the sea line, pratique may be granted by a visiting sanitary officer or by the Pilot when he boards, providing the health declaration is satisfactory. For vessels berthing inside the harbour, the Health Officer will board on arrival.

Vessels calling at Arzew must give their ETA 48 and 24 hours prior arrival, naming the ports called within the last 10 days.

Crew must be vaccinated against cholera and smallpox. Vaccination books must be valid and a check is made before free pratique is granted.
RADIO: Oran Radio and Algiers Radio both listen on international frequencies. Tankers normally use St. Lys Radio.
BERTHS: (Inside Harbour): Berths No. 1 and 2 used for loading fertilisers, suitable for vessels up to 225 metres length with maximum draft 6·50 metres. Berth No. 3 for discharging of general cargo, vessels up to 100 metres length, 7·50 metres draft. Berth Nos. 4 and 5 for loading salt in bulk and discharging general cargo, for vessels up to 220 metres length, 6 to 7 metres draft. Berth No. 7 used for unloading LPG and refined crude, for vessels up to 100 metres length, 8 metres draft.

Methane Terminal. Two loading berths for liquid methane, each 400 metres long for vessels up to 10 metres draft.

Sonatrach Terminal. Three sea line berths are located about one mile from Arzew Harbour breakwater, in approximate position 35° 50′ North, 0° 16′ West.

At sea line berths Nos. 1 and 2, minimum deadweight 23,000 tons, maximum deadweight 85,000 tons; minimum length 540 ft.; loading rate 3,000 tons per hour. Depths up to 92 ft.

At sea line berth No. 3, maximum deadweight 150,000 tons; minimum length 640 ft.; maximum length 948 ft.; draft up to 68 ft.; loading rate up to 5,500 tons per hour. Depth in the berth up to 92 ft. Tankers over 80,000 tons deadweight must be capable of loading and deballasting at the same time. Minimum depth of water in the berthing area is 73 ft.
BERTHING: Use of ship's anchors will not be permitted when manoeuvring into berth. Two tugs are available to assist in berthing. On arrival vessels should have ready eight mooring lines, four forward and four aft and a tow rope at each end as it will be necessary to position the vessel with her own gear before securing to the heavy wires. Good rope messengers should be ready at each end of the vessel to pick up these wires.

There are three mooring buoys at the bow and three at the stern. All buoys are fitted with 5 in. wire ropes. Ships of moderate tonnage may be moored using two bow buoys and two quarter buoys only. Hoses will be lifted from both sides of the vessel using ships gear and crew.

The port and starboard derricks must be ready for use before berthing. The safe working-load must be at least 5 tons. The loading Master can refuse to berth a tanker whose lifting tackle is not correctly rigged or in good working condition.

Three 12 in. hoses are connected for loading, 2 on one side and one on the other. Loading rates up to 5,500 tph.
BALLAST: Pilots are empowered to refuse to berth a vessel if in their opinion the vessel has insufficient ballast, or her trim is such that it would prevent safe loading.

Vessels required to arrive with clean ballast only, which may be discharged to sea, subject to Master's sole responsibility for oil pollution risks.
STEVEDORES: Vessels must cable their ETA at least 24 hours before arrival and confirm before 1700 on day prior to arrival or before 1000 hours if vessel will arrive in the afternoon of the same day. ## CABINDA: 05.22 S. 12.11 E.

DOCUMENTS:

10 Manifests for each port where cargo loaded for Cabinda, plus 1 copy of each Bill of Lading.
8 Lists of Passengers disembarking or in transit, even if nil.
8 Crew Lists.
8 Lists giving previous Ports of Call.
2 Lists of Crew Vaccinations.
3 Stores Lists.
3 Personal Effects Lists.

PILOTAGE: Services of a Government Pilot are compulsory. Radio ETA to Agents via Luanda Radio (or by cable from previous port) and anchor on arrival as near Cabinda as draft permits. Vessel is visited by port authorities and, if necessary, will be shifted, with Pilot, to alternative anchorage. If cargo for account of Cabinda Gulf Oil, vessel will almost certainly be moved nearer Malongo, where oil companies have special jetty for discharge of their dry cargo ex-lighters.

Tankers: The Pilot Boarding Area for Cabinda is one mile South-westward of Well 84–8 (located 5° 26′ 06.7″ S. 12° 03′ 13.4″ E.) where a Cabinda Gulf Mooring Master will board the vessel. On establishing contact by R/T or VHF, the Mooring Master will advise the vessel of a safe approach; briefly, this will be for the vessel to approach from Westerly direction and to keep West of all obstructions, e.g. drilling rigs, platforms, etc.

As offshore drilling and surveying operations are being effected on a continuous basis, Masters are warned to approach the port with great caution. Cabinda Gulf Oil Terminal (call sign "Malongo Terminal") will pass on to vessels upon arrival the latest information regarding oil-drilling rigs, platforms, etc., once contact by VHF has been established.

Special attention is called to the well platforms:

No. 84–1: Located 5° 25′ 19.9″ S. 12° 03′ 59.5″ E.
No. 84–12: Located 5° 29′ 10.2″ S. 12° 03′ 52.1″ E.
No. 84–8: Located 5° 26′ 06.7″ S. 12° 03′ 13.4″ E.
No. 95–3: Located 5° 33′ 45.4″ S. 11° 59′ 05.9″ E.

ANCHORAGE: For vessels moving to Malongo, anchorage is restricted where Cabinda Gulf Oil are operating, roughly between 5° 15′ S. and 5° 30′ S. extending out to 12° 00′ E.

Tankers: Vessels required to anchor upon arrival (e.g. if the SPM Buoy is occupied) should anchor in the Pilot Boarding Area, at a distance of not less than 3½ miles Westward of the SPM Buoy.

MAX. SIZE: Cargo vessels at anchorage for safe working off Cabinda 32 ft. draft. Vessels with deeper drafts can be accommodated further out but is always risk of swell hampering operations. For tankers Cabinda Gulf have buoyed terminal for tankers maximum 100,000 tons, maximum draft 50 ft.

PRATIQUE: Upon arrival, the appropriate Government Officials will board the vessel for prompt clearance so the preparation can begin for mooring.

In the event of arrival during night, clearance will not be effected until 0800 hours; however, a Custom Police Agent will be stationed aboard the vessel, which will allow preparation for daylight mooring to proceed.

RADIO: Luanda Radio. HF Radio telephone system is installed at Malongo Terminal and uses the call "MALONGO". Twenty-four hour watch is maintained on the international frequency of 2182 kHz.

For short range communications of approximately 50 miles, a VHF system is also installed in Malongo, which uses the same radio call ("MALONGO") and is also monitored 24 hours a day. Initial contact on this system should be made on 156·8 Mc/s. (Channel 16) then, by mutual agreement, the traffic should be passed on any of the following frequencies: 156·6 Mc/s. (Channel 12); 165·45 Mc/s. (Channel 9); 156·7 Mc/s. (Channel 14).

Masters are requested to advise CABGOC–CABINDA 72 and 24 hours in advance of estimated arrival time, giving vessel's name, date and expected hour of arrival, Master's name and any special requirements.

TUGS: None normally required. Cabinda Gulf have chartered a small tug to assist tankers berthing, if necessary.

STEVEDORES: Forty-eight hours advance notice, giving hatch distribution and nature of cargo, is recommended.

MEDICAL: Arrangements can be made for doctor to visit vessel on arrival. Hospital facilities available. Serious cases are taken to Luanda. Crew must be in possession of valid Smallpox and Yellow Fever Certificates.

SINGLE BUOY MOORING: A single point buoy mooring is located 8·7 miles West South West of the Cabinda Gulf Oil Company Terminal at Malongo. The position of the buoy mooring is approx. 5° 26′ S., and 12° 05′ E. The buoy is marked by a 5-mile white light flashing for 2 seconds and eclipsed for 18 seconds. Depth of water in the berth is 75 ft.

Mooring: Mooring and unmooring operations will be undertaken by day and night under normal weather conditions.

Notice of Readiness will be accepted by the Mooring Master on arrival providing that the ship is in all respects ready to load.

Before arrival at the Pilot Boarding Area it will be necessary to ensure that the following moorings are ready for use on arrival at the berth:

Minimum requirements on forecastle head: 4 mooring ropes; 1 heavy messenger (5 in.); 1 pick-up wire (¾ in. diameter) with shackle on the eye.

When the vessel is within reasonable distance of the buoy, two ship's lines will be carried by the mooring launch to the buoy. These will be used to heave the vessel into position when she can pick up the two plaited buoy ropes. Once the buoy ropes are secured, the ship's own lines will be slacked down until such time as all the weight is taken by the buoy ropes; the ship's lines can then be left slacked right down but attached to the buoy ropes in case of emergency.

Power must be available at all times on all deck winches and windlass while the vessel is at the berth.

There are no special arrangements for unmooring. which can be undertaken by day or night.

Hose Handling. Two 12 in. hoses are connected to ship's manifold on the port side. Hose handling is to be effected by ship's crew under the direction of a ship's officer as instructed by the Mooring Master. The port boom should be rigged in readiness with a runner of minimum of ¾ in. diameter. Approx. weight of one hose is 3 tons.

Ballast. No facilities for reception of dirty ballast. Vessels must arrive with clean ballast sufficient for safe manoeuvring. Deballasting operations will be constantly policed by representatives of CABGOC, and any evidence of pollution will be cause for refusal to permit continuing deballasting.

Cargo. "Cabinda Crude Oil" will have varying gravities ranging from 26·3 API to 34·6 API.

Loading. Cargo loading is by gravity, possibly assisted by booster pump, at a rate of approximately 30,000 Bbls. per hour.

About 30 minutes before the cargo is completed, the CABGOC Representative should be advised in order to co-ordinate the shutdown between the vessel and the terminal.

When the vessel has completed the cargo, loading line valves ashore and on the buoy will be closed; only then may the vessel's manifold valves be closed. (In an emergency, however, vessel may shutdown against loading.)

After completion of loading operations, the vessel will be ullaged and a comparison of ship–shore figures made. The ullages will be transmitted to the terminal by radio, and the report prepared and distributed.

The cargo papers will be delivered to the Master by the CABGOC Representative as promptly as possible.

Tankers may have to be "short despatched" to avoid delays on sailing.

There is no provision for off-take from ship. It is imperative that ship's Master declare the tonnage he requires prior to loading. Accurate meters ashore will ensure requested tonnage.

DENSITY: 1025. Influence of Congo River current variable depending on season.

FRESH WATER: One lighter available for carrying about 40 tons water but no guarantee can be used. Cost of water is expensive.

WEATHER: Wind and swell are mostly from South-westerly direction with usually a heavy swell from March through to September. Heavy rains may be expected from December through to April. The prevailing currents set NW and at times exceed 3 knots. In view of these conditions, vessels are advised that under no circumstances are engine repairs or immobilisation of the main engines permitted within port limits.

DELAYS: For tankers usually no delay, but for cargo vessels may be delays if two or more arrive simultaneously, which will result in lighter shortages. Is also probability of swell hampering discharge/loading.

Argentina

Information for ports of Argentina, including drawings of port areas as reproduced in our special map section, has been compiled not only with the assistance of Port Authorities but also with the very kind co-operation of Centro de Navegacion Transatlantica of Buenos Aires to whom we are very much indebted.

Shipowners and Masters wishing to be in possession of more detailed information concerning River Plate ports, Argentine South Atlantic ports and the Strait of Magellan, are advised to obtain a copy of the "C.N.T. Year Book" which is published by Centro de Navegacion Transatlantica, 25 de Mayo 489, Buenos Aires.

N.B. For practical purposes, we have sub-divided information for Argentina into three sections as follows:

I. GENERAL.
II. RIVER PLATE PORTS (page 12).
III. SOUTH ATLANTIC PORTS (page 23).

DOCUMENTS:

(a) According to Migrations Resolution No. 9153 of 13.7.72, effective 1.11.72, issued to comply with Latin American Free Trade Zone agreements tending to uniformity of shipping documents through Latin America, a new form has been introduced, and others modified.

Distribution of forms is now as follows:

(b) Masters should also have at hand for inspection as required all the various certificates such as Certificate of Registry, Postal packet permit, if pertinent, Freeboard, Measurement, Safety Equipment, Radio Installation, Bulk Cargo, shifting board installations or equivalent, and Deratisation Certificate, or exemption.

None of these documents requires an Argentine Consular visa.

(c) Port Agents should also receive copies for their use and to facilitate any further contacts with the authorities in case of need. In particular they require a large number of copies of Manifest, and from this they will prepare Spanish manifest, which must be presented to Customs within 48 hours of vessel's entry. A number of extra copies of crew list are also needed, and one extra store list.

(d) Every person figuring on the crew list of a vessel entering an Argentine port must possess documents proving his identity, such as a discharge book, passport or other documents in use in the country of origin, authorised by the competent Authorities.

(e) Vaccination Certificate. Members of crew must be provided with an international vaccination certificate, not more than 3 years old, which should be presented on arrival, together with the individual Identity Card. Failing this, the crew will be vaccinated by the boarding doctors.

(f) Identity Cards. On arrival at an Argentine port, Masters of foreign vessels must deliver Identity Cards complete with photographs and finger-prints of each member of the crew, together with two copies of Crew List. One set is retained by the Migrations Department, and the other document remains in possession of the individual so that once identified, the crew member may return to the country without the necessity of obtaining new documents. The Captain is handed in exchange one copy of the Crew List, sealed and signed by the Immigration Officer to enable him to prove at other Argentine ports of call, that he has complied with the corresponding Regulation.

No member of the crew, except the Captain, is allowed to land until the Immigration Authorities have checked the crew with the Identity Cards.

Captains may if necessary have the Identity Cards completed with photographs in the Argentine at the first port of arrival. In such cases it is advisable that Agents are advised in advance so that preparations may be made against vessel's arrival. The Authorities will not allow any members of the crew to be disembarked until they have presented their Identity Cards or have had their photographs taken. Agents must present these Identity Cards to the authorities for stamping within 48 hours of arrival of the vessel. Immigration control is made at whatever hour the vessel arrives, forming part of the normal reception procedure.

FREE PRATIQUE: Vessels take pratique in port, and may enter and berth if they fulfil the following conditions:

(a) Clean port of sailing and ports of call.

(b) No persons with infectious or contagious diseases or with fever on board.

(c) No cases during the voyage of disease of international concern, or of infectious diseases of an epidemic nature.

To be able to obtain this privilege of taking pratique in port, it is essential that Captains of all vessels arriving from abroad wireless their Agents, not more than twelve hours before arrival, that vessels under their command are in the sanitary conditions as required by Art. 45 of the regulations to enter port and go alongside.

On receipt of this message, Agents will present to the Health Authorities the request for a berth, accompanied by the telegram sent by the Captain, not less than six hours (nor more than twelve) in advance, detailing sailing port and ports of call, and indicating the approximate hour of arrival. If the wireless message is in code, Agents will give the necessary translation, and be held responsfbe for any error in such translated version.

The message may be sent either in English or Spanish, and we give specimen texts in both languages, which should be closely followed:

> "Addressed to Agency in Buenos Aires (or other port) > solicitamos pedir libre plática telegráfica buque . . . (1), procedente de . . . (2), con escalas en . . . (3), con . . . (4) . . . tripulantes, (5) . . . pásajeros Buenos Aires . . . (6), pasajeros transito punto. declaro no tener abordo personas afectadas por ninguna enfermedad pestilencial punto estado sanitario bueno or in English:

> "please request free pratique ms (or ss) . . . (1), proceeding from . . . (2), with calls at . . . (3), with . . . (4) . . . crews, (5) . . . passengers for Buenos Aires . . . (6). passengers in transit stop hereby declare that nobody on board affected by any pestilential disease stop sanitary condition good.
> "master . . . (7)."

In each case the gaps must be filled in as follows:

1. Name of vessel and flag.
2. Port of commencement of voyage.
3. Full details of all ports of call.
4. Number of crew.
5. Number of passengers for Buenos Aires (or whatever port first entered).
6. Number of passengers in transit.
7. Full name of master, and also of doctor if there is one on board.

As there have been cases of insufficient information being received from vessels, and "added in" by Agents in the translation, the authorities have established this standard form which Masters must follow in their messages, and which will accompany the request to the Health authorities.

This facility now refers to all Argentine ports, the message requesting Free Pratique to be sent to the vessel's Agent at first port of call, after which Free Pratique is automatic in all subsequent Argentine ports. If, however, a non Argentine port is called at en route, Free Pratique must again be requested at what will then become the "first Argentine port".

Agents will confirm to the vessel, by radio, the date and hour of granting of free pratique, and with this information in hand, vessel can enter port and go alongside. The Port Authorities will board as soon as the gangway is placed for their routine inspection, and until they have boarded, no one else should be allowed on board.

Vessels lightening. Tankers and other ships lightening in River Plate waters, provided they comply with Art. 45, may later continue their voyage and go straight into berth at port of destination to take free pratique there.

Sick crew members. If there is a sick person aboard, the international sign "W" must be flown on entering, and for Free Pratique, the customary yellow flag.

Captains must report to the boarding sanitary authorities those members of the crew having venereal complaints.

Infected ports. Apart from the smallpox vaccination certificate, which is obligatory in all cases, the recent Cholera epidemics have caused the Health authorities to tighten control. All persons on board vessels coming from ports in the countries named below must be in possession of the Anti-Cholera inoculation certificate, and from other zones as indicated as International Yellow Fever vaccination certificate.

Cholera. The international certificate is valid from the sixth day of inoculation, and for six months. The countries at present under control are:

Africa. Algiers, Alto Volta, Cameroon, Chad, Dahomey, Ghana, Ivory Coast, Liberia, Mali, Niger, Nigeria, Senegal, Sierra Leone, Somalia, Togo.

Asia. Burma, India, Indonesia, Malaysia (west), Muscat, Nepal, Pakistan, Philippines, Vietnam (south).

Epidemics are not officially admitted in the United Arab Republic and Sudan, but the certificate is advisable as a precautionary measure.

Other zones may be affected at short notice.

Yellow Fever. The vaccination certificate is valid for ten years, as from tenth day of inoculation. It is required for all persons coming from:

Africa. Angola, Ghana, Kinshasa, Nigeria, Sierra Leone, Sudan.

Inflammables. It should be borne in mind that vessels carrying over 25 tons and under 100 tons of inflammables, explosives, etc., must be inspected in the roads before entering whether they have asked for Free Pratique by radio or not, although this is still advisable as the one inspection is independent from the other.

CLASSIFICATION OF ARGENTINE PORTS: In accordance with Article 31 of the Pan American Sanitary Code, the National Health Department has classified the Argentine ports as follows:

A clean port, in general, requires the absence of non-imported cases of cholera, yellow fever, pest, exanthematic typhus or any other contagious disease of a serious epidemic nature, that may be carried through international trade. The clean ports of Class A have competent staff and suitable sanitary equipment, also bacteriological laboratories, registers of disease and deaths, lazarettos, etc.

The clean ports of Class B are those that have not got all the equipment required for Class A.

FLAG: The flag of the Republic is three horizontal and equal bands of which the centre one is white, and the upper and lower, sky blue.

The official colours, flown by Naval vessels and all official entities are distinguished by a rising golden sun in the centre of the white.

All foreign merchant vessels must fly the Argentine flag from the highest mast while in territorial waters and ports, and fly their own national colours from the ensign staff.

PILOTAGE: A. Ordering: For Recalada Station, minimum 48 hours in advance, for all other services Agents of the vessels to be piloted must apply, in writing, to the Pilotage section of the Prefectura at their domicile before 17.00 on the day before the service is to be effected, or on Sundays/holidays, before 11.00. Pilots are obliged to render service in strict turn, in accordance with the register in the zone.

Applications for Pilots presented outside the hours established will be accepted but they will be classed under the headings of "Extraordinary" or "Urgent" applications. Pilots should always be ordered by the Agency; only in exceptional cases may a Pilot be requested direct by a Master, when by reasons of force majeure, or change of destination arrival is unforeseen. Vessels which are unaware of their Agents name may also request a Pilot direct. In such cases the request should be made direct, by radio, to the Prefectura with full explanations of the circumstances.

B. River Plate Zone: There are three pilot stations in this Zone, namely; Port of Buenos Aires, Intersection and Recalada Pontoons.

(i) Inwards from sea. Inward vessels for up river ports Buenos Aires or La Plata have to take a Pilot at Recalada, and must give 48 hourse advance notice of arrival, both to Agents in Buenos Aires and direct to Recalada, call sigh LOJ 500 kc/s. (600 metres) Type A1, A2.

The operator is on duty from 8 to 10, 12 to 14, 16 to 18 and 20 to 22.00 hours. Communications can also be made on 462 kc/s. (649 metres).

if bound for Buenos Aires, a port Pilot.

if bound for La Plata, a river Pilot to La Plata Roads where a La Plata Port Pilot takes over.

if bound for upriver, a river Pilot.

(ii) Outwards to Montevideo. Vessels sailing from Argentine Plate ports to Montevideo must take an Argentine Pilot up to Montevideo Roads, not drop him at Recalada.

(iii) Inwards from Montevideo. Vessels arriving from Montevideo come in charge of a Uruguayan pilot to Intersection, where the second pilot takes over as above: Uruguayan pilots, when in Argentine waters are subject to all Argentine laws and regulations.

(iv) Outwards to sea. Outward bound vessels (except for Montevideo) are obliged to disembark their pilots at Recalada, except when prevented by weather, in which case the Pilot must land at first available port and his travelling expenses back to Buenos Aires are for vessels account.

C. River Parana Zone: Comprises the River Parana from the port of Paraná (km. 600 from Buenos Aires) down to its mouth, and that part of the River Plate limited to the East by its left bank to Punta Negra (Uruguay), thence to Intersection Pontoon, to the South by the North bank of the access channel to Buenos Aires Port, to the West the right bank of the River Plate from the entrance to Buenos Aires port to kilometre 0 of the River Uruguay.

On the River Parana, on distances exceeding 200 km, two special pilots must be ordered, and therefore there will be four Pilots on board (two special and the two on turn), and the vessel has to pay for each of them, i.e. four times the tariff.

For distances of less than 200 kilometres, the same ruling applies when continuous navigation is requested, which necessitates the employment of two Pilots on turn. However, when only one pilot is asked for, only one special Pilot is nominated, if specially asked for, and consequently the tariff is double.

(i) Northbound. Pilots for navigation through this zone go on board, north-bound, at Intersection Pontoon, whatever the destination. If for Uruguayan ports in the River Uruguay, the Uruguayan port Pilot comes on board off Parana Bravo.

(ii) From River Uruguay. Vessels from River Uruguayan Ports, either Argentine or Uruguayan, change their River Uruguay Pilot for River Parana Pilot at the mouth of the Parana Bravo. However, if proceeding from a Uruguayan port, it is preferable to send the Parana Pilot to the Uruguayan port, and drop the Uruguayan Pilot off Nueva Palmyra. In certain cases the Argentine Parana Pilot can also come aboard at Nueva Palmyra.

(iii) Inside Parana River. There are two stations for despatching Pilots in the River Parana Zone; one at Buenos Aires and the other at Rosario. From the port of Buenos Aires Pilots will be cleared to take vessels to the northern limits of the Zone, as also for vessels anchored at ports or places South of San Pedro, for any destination.

From the Rosario station, Pilots will be despatched to vessels anchored within the port of San Pedro, and all places to the North of the port, whatever their destination.

At some of the smaller ports in this zone the Prefecture will, to avoid delay to the vessel, authorise the River Pilot to berth the vessel. This request must be made when ordering the Pilot, but Agents at the river port must also apply for a Pilot, and see that he is employed if available.

Draft is ruled by the depth of water at Martin Garcia Bar, which is at present 24′ 6″ at zero. This varies, and from time to time the Prefecture has authorized clearance of vessels up to 27′. Occasionally it happens, in spring, that there is less water in the river above Martin Garcia, but the Weekly Bulletin issued by the authorities covers this and all determining depths on the river routes.

(iv) To Montevideo. Vessels proceeding down river to Montevideo, take a Pilot at intersection to Montevideo Roads, where a port Pilot boards.

(v) To La Plata. Vessels from up river ports for La Plata drop their river Pilot at Intersection, take another river Pilot to La Plata roads (optional) and then a port Pilot there.

D. River Uruguay Zone: Comprises the River Uruguay from Concepcion de Uruguay, km. 188 to its mouth, and that part of the River Plate mentioned under the Parana River Zone. All Pilots for this Zone will be despatched through the Buenos Aires station.

E. Bahia Blanca Zone: Comprises the Bay from a line joining the buoys at Punta Tejada and Punta Lobos, up to the ports. There is no pilot vessel on station. The ordering of Pilots for the Bahia Blanca zone is effected by the Overseas and Coasting office at that port. As the official tug for taking sea Pilots to meet incoming vessels is sometimes out of commission, Masters are requested to advise their Agents of the ETA 48 hours in advance. The cost of a special tug is heavy, and on occasion a saving can be made sharing expenses if the tug can take out Pilots for other incoming vessels, and also embark those from vessels outward bound from Bahia Blanca.

F. Southern Ports: South of Bahía Blanca and as far as Río Grande pilotage is not obligatory in port, but when a vessel requires a pilot application should be made to the Pilots' Office of the Naval Prefecture through vessel's Agents in Buenos Aires with at least five days advance notice. They go on board either at Buenos Aires, off Mar del Plata, or at other ports as required, and are authorized to operate in all of the southern ports: San Antonio del Oeste, Madryn, Comodoro Rivadavia and the adjacent oil berths, Deseado, San Julián, Santa Cruz, Río Gallegos, San Sebastián, Río Grande and Ushuaia.

Their duties are to act as Port Pilots for entering, mooring, unmooring and leaving any of these ports.

Vessels from South Atlantic Argentine ports, for Montevideo should pick up an Argentine Pilot from Recalada to Montevideo roads, but if such vessels pass further than five miles away from Recalada Lightship and pass direct to Montevideo Roads, there is no such obligation.

G. Embarking/Disembarking: Accommodation ladder. The gangway should be lowered to about 3 metres above the surface of the water, and adjusted in such a way that the Pilot only needs to climb the rope for this distance, in order to step on to the gangway. This rope ladder must have all the steps resting firmly against the side of the ship, in accordance with the requirements of the Safety of Life at Sea Convention. Similarly, the gangway must rest against or be secured to the side of the vessel, and Pilots may refuse to board if these conditions are not complied with.

All Atlantic ports also transmit local notices to Mariners and weather forecasts in Spanish, the call signs and frequencies are indicated under each individual port, but between the powerful stations at Pacheco (Buenos Aires) and Comodoro Rivadavia, the whole coast is covered by the regular information given in both Spanish and English.

Facsimile Reports. Buenos Aires also transmits facsimile reports, of which the following correspond to surface forecasts, valid for 24 hours, and weather on Mercator projection.

Traffic Control and Safety at Sea. The Prefectura Naval Argentina, in charge of shipping activities including safety at sea, maintains a control centre at Buenos Aires, and another at Mar del Plata (where several hundred fishing vessels operate).

Objectives are to prevent collisions at sea or groundings and to keep a safe, expedite and orderly flow of traffic, as well as to alert safety and salvage systems when vessels need assistance.

A. – The Controlled area, from Buenos Aires, covers from parallel 57°W passing through pair of buoys No. 21 in the main entrance channel to a line from San Isidro (Buenos Aires) to the mouth of the Parana Guazú river.

|---|---|---|
| 16 | frequency 156·8 mHz | for calls, assistance, urgency and safety. |
| 12 | 156·6 | notices to mariners. |
| 14 | 156·7 | annex to Channel 12. |
| 6 and 8 | 156·3/4 | bridge to bridge use. |

Information: All vessels in the area, both foreign and national, must inform the centre of the following:

1. On entering the systems.
2. On leaving the systems.
3. On crossing km 57 in the main channel.
4. On arriving at Intersection Pontoon.
5. On crossing km 11 of the access channel to/or from Buenos Aires.
6. When anchoring, mooring or unmooring.

In each case, except 2 and 6, they will give the estimated hour of arrival at the next point en route.

Vessels will also report, on channel 16, the following:

(a) Accident or fire on board.
(b) Sighting another vessel in apparent difficulties.
(c) Sighting any dangerous obstacle to navigation.
(d) Any serious reduction in visibility.

They will also advise, on Channel 12, as soon as possible, if any mark, light or navigational aid is damaged, missing, functioning badly or evidently out of position. Vessels must keep constant watch on Channel 16 from entering the zone to leaving it, and immediately after using any of the other channels will continue to listen on Channel 16. If, for any reason, this is not possible, they will report this to Control office by Channel 12.

The Centre transmits as routine information urgent notices to mariners, ruling weather conditions every four hours from 00.00 and depth of water at El Codillo, La Plata port, Riachuela and Martin Garcia Bar five minutes after every hour.

Also tide and met. forecasts at 09.00 and 15.00. Storm warnings, visibility reports and obstructions in channels will be transmitted immediately on being reported, and then included in the next routine transmission.

The Administration procedure is that figuring in the International Union of Telecommunications and/or the Manual for the Use of Mobile services.

Time used in this service is local Argentine time, i.e. GMT less 3 hours.

Language: Personnel on duty in the Control centre will use only Spanish.

If necessary recourse can be had to the Code groups in the International Signal Code in use, and the spelling and lettering tables therein, or to Code Q.

B. – Mar del Plata Centre controls the area from 35° 30′ to 41° S. In this zone the system is voluntary for foreign flag vessels. The Centre operates on the following frequencies.

Time Signals. Time signals are transmitted from LOL Buenos Aires as follows: frequency 475·5, 2162·5, 4856, 8030, 13101, 17180, 22840 kc/s., A1. at 0100, 1300 and 2100 GMT, using the modified modern American system, with dots every second from 54.30 to 54.50, a dash of eight seconds ending with four half-second dashes, every minute to the hour, ending with a dash.

LOL also transmits on 5, 10 and 15 Mc/s. simultaneously in A1, A2, A3. Carrier waves are modulated in 1000 and 440 c/s. alternately.

At the end of each period of transmission the call sign in given in morse, and before each period the words Observatorio Naval Argentino are followed by the hour and minute corresponding to the commencement of the next signal.

Medical Advice. Medical consultations can be made, without charge, from vessels at sea with urgent illness or accidents on board. Messages should be brief, but clear and concise, describing the symptoms of the illness with all possible details, including age and sex of patient and informing what first aid equipment is available on board.

For priority, messages should be preceded by the urgent signal XXX and be signed by the Master of the vessel.

The Medical section of the International Signals Code, 1931 volume 2 can be used, as also clear language if it is necessary to amplify the message.

Messages should be radioed to "Consulta Radiomedica" followed by the name of the coastal station used.

All consultations are gratuitous, they must be composed in Spanish, and indicate in this order:

Sex; Age; clinical antecedents; symptoms leading to the consultation; probable cause of the illness or conditions in which accident occurred; any other data which could assist diagnosis and facilitate treatment, such as pulse rate, temperature (in centigrade) character and appearance of the wound, etc., and informing what first-aid equipment is on board.

LOAD LINE: Vessels are permitted to load to their summer marks all year round at all River Plate Ports as well as Atlantic ports as far South as Cape Tres Puntas; inclusive (47° 06′ S. 65° 05 ′W.) and provided they are Northbound or Eastbound. All ports in the River Parana, River Uruguay and the River Plate proper are fresh water.

With regard to Loaded Draft, the mean draft and not the maximum must be taken into account, and this should not exceed the Load Line marks.

On the mean draft an allowance will be made equal to the weight of the fuel vessel will consume until it reaches the Sea from up-river ports. No allowance is given to vessels leaving Buenos Aires or La Plata.

LIGHTENING ANCHORAGE: Vessels wishing to lighten cargo and perform topping-off operations may do so in the following positions:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Position No. 1 | 34° 42.0′ S. | 57° 57.2′ W. |
| No. 2 | 34° 44.1′ S. | 56° 48.0′ W. |
| No. 4 | 34° 43.9′ S. | 57° 57.2′ W. |

For ships performing such operations in the River Parana, after passing Martin Garcia, the respective zone is between km. 172 and km. 173 in the river Parana Guazu, outside the channel. It is forbidden for ships not lightening or topping off to anchor at these points.

SPEED: Maximum speed in Ports, Channel and rivers – Vessels operating in the proximity of an open port, close to quays or loading places where other vessels or barges are operating, will reduce speed to a maximum six knots.

In particular, this refers to

|---|---|
| Rosario | between Saladillo and Punta Barrancos (La Florida) |
| San Nicolás | between km. 347 and 351 |
| Ramallo | between km. 322 and 326 |
| Zárate | between km. 104 and 111 |
| Campana | between km. 96 and 98 |

FUMIGATION: (a) Exemption. Vessels of foreign registry will be fumigated when proof is not shewn that fumigation has been effected by competent authority, and in a port duly authorized by the International Office of Public Hygiene, or that they have been exempted from such operation by the Health Ministry at authorized ports, within the last 6 months. Vessels arriving with an expired Fumigation or Exemption Certificate, will be fumigated except where a request of one month's grace is made to allow vessel to return to home Country or a request is made for an inspection. Should the vessel be in either case in a sanitary condition and have no trace of rats, an Exemption Certificate will be granted.

(b) Certificates are of no value if vessel is not in good sanitary condition. The Authorities will not recognize the validity of any Certificate or issue any Exemption Certificate to those vessels which in the opinion of the National Health Ministry, after inspecting the vessel, are not in a good sanitary condition. Both cyanide and sulphur (Clayton process) Fumigation Certificates are accepted by the Health Ministry.

(c) Permit to commence loading of vessels ordered to fumigate. No vessels which have had an annotation on their Free Pratique Certificate to the effect that they must be fumigated or inspected, are permitted to commence loading before these requisites are complied with. To this effect the necessary advice will be passed by the Customs or Port Authorities to the Health Ministry for intervention.

(d) Ports where vessels can fumigate. The sulphur fumigation is exclusively effected by the Health Ministry at the ports of Buenos Aires, La Plata and Rosario. The cyanide process is effected by private companies at practically every port of the Republic, provided sufficient notice is given, as at some ports it is necessary to bring the equipment from other ports (full information in this respect is given under each port).

Captains are recommended to ensure that their vessels are in good sanitary condition and free from traces of rats on arrival. Even although vessels may be given a Free Pratique Certificate, this does not always free vessel from fumigation if on arrival at port of loading, the Authorities discover traces of rats on board. The granting of Free Pratique has, in fact, no relationship to the granting of fumigation exemption, and permission to load.

(e) Weevil. The National Grain Board is very strict on inspecting for weevil on board vessels destined to load grain.

TIDES: Following data indicates the tidal range at Spring and Neaps in feet and tenths of a foot indicating the Argentine chart number on which the respective datum is given, and the height to be added to or deducted from that datum at the various-ports, which are given in North/South rotation.

DRY DOCKS AND FLOATING DOCKS: There are two dry docks at Buenos Aires and two at Bahía Blanca, and six floating docks at Buenos Aires, with smaller ones available at Rosario and Corrientes.

The four dry docks are under the control of the Ministry of Marine as are some of the floating docks, but all are available for merchant vessels, and private repair companies are permitted to carry out work in these Government docks.

(a) Applications for entering either Dry or Floating Docks are the same:

Name and class of vessel; flag, characteristics; NRT as per Register; nature of repairs; estimated stay in dock, date when ready to enter dock; vessels' Register number and plans for docking.

Tank vessels must also supply a "Gas Free" certificate.

No. 1 493 feet (150 metres), breadth at top of entrance 66′ (19·75 m.) gradient 1: 300.

(c) Bahia Blanca.—The two dry docks are in the Naval Dockyard base.

No. 1 is 705 feet (215 metres) in length, width on sill 72′ 6″ (22·12 m.)

No. 2 is 672′ 6″ in length (closed) (205 m.)

FUEL: Bunker stocks of diesel oil are available in bond at Buenos Aires, Bahía Blanca and Montevideo, thus these ports are the most convenient for taking Diesel bunkers. It is available at other ports, but has to be transported by lorry from Buenos Aires. Lorries are unable to go alongside at some of the elevator berths, and there are no oil barges at Rosario, San Nicolás, or Necochea.

At Buenos Aires there are barges of 150 to 550 tons with tanks to carry all classes of oil. If smaller quantities are required transportation can be effected by lorries from the tanks, the cost being cheaper than barging.

Oil can be transported by lorry to any berth in the port of Buenos Aires.

STEVEDORES: Working hours have been modified, and are now 07.00/13.00, 13.00·19.00 on ordinary time, and 19.00/01.00, 01.00/07.00 on 50% surcharge. Saturdays 13.00 to 19.00 – 50%, 19.00/01.00 – 125%, and 01.00/07.00 Sunday 200%. Sunday through the day 100%, and night 200% (Monday 01.00/07.00 as a weekday). Hiring for all overtime shifts must be done at latest by 17.30, next hiring being 07.00.

In Parana River ports from 06.00/12.00, 12.00/18.00, 18.00/24.00 and 00.00/06.00.

Stevedoring damage. It is essential that Master and/or Agent leaves on immediate record any damage done to vessel or cargo by the stevedores, in order to assist in recovering the cost of repairs.

Paid Feast Days. With 48 hours or six shifts worked in the preceding ten days, this must be paid in full, plus double wages if worked. Similarly, if the day preceding the holiday is worked, and any of the five following days, the holiday must also be paid.

Stevedores Day. 21st December, no work is done except on vessels with a fixed departure date.

Christmas and New Year's Eve. It has become a custom that many of the stevedores do not turn up on these dates in the afternoon.

Ordinary Holidays, denominated Non-working days are those on which Government Offices, Customs, Banks and Insurance companies close, by law, while for commerce and industry in general closing is optional. Usually business works at least a half day and some factories full time. Stevedores and port labour in general are only entitled to a normal day's pay if worked, though there is friction as some of the Government entities, such as Grain Board, Meat Board, Customs, etc., get double pay, if worked.

It is possible to work these days in port, but it often happens with direct delivery cargo that importers or shippers will refuse to work alongside, so that many "non-working" days are in fact just that, or at least partially lost time. For Centrocon or other charter party purposes, unless exempt, they count as lay time.

Special Holidays. Special holidays are decreed on occasions by the Federal or Provincial Governments. These latter refer only to the ports in the Province in question.

Shipping and Stevedores' Days. 7th August and 21st December have been declared Shipping and Stevedores' Union Days, respectively. A Merchant Marine day has also been declared for 25th November, but it is not yet clear if this embraces or is additional to the two shipping holidays mentioned. If so, no work is possible on such days, and there may be trouble in obtaining tugs for entering or leaving.

Saturdays. Banks and public offices are closed on Saturdays, but other activities continue on Saturday mornings, hence stevedores and port workers only collect ordinary pay, but work until 13.00 only, going on to overtime if work continues after that hour. Custom guards collect double pay if working Saturdays.

Local Holidays. There are also a number of local holidays, usually the Patron Saint's day, affecting the locality in question, and considered as non-working days for payment purposes.

Drinking Water. A good supply of drinking water should be available on board, and in hot weather this must be iced.

WATCHMAN: The use of watchmen is obligatory in all ports, and they are the auxiliary delegates of the Maritime Authority. One man per gangway must be placed. Masters may also place a crew member on watch, but in ports where there is an official service the official watchmen must be used. His duties are to control access to the vessel, control the shipment or discharge of prohibited articles, to revise all packages brought on board or landed, see that the moorings are in order, that the gangway is duly illuminated and that rat guards are in place.

WHARF CLEANING: It is the Master's duty to see that the Wharf is properly cleaned up before his vessel vacates a wharf. Port authorities can do this, and charge the Agents of the vessel last berthed with the cost.

HATCHES: Opening and closing normally carried out by the stevedores in each port. All hatches must be kept closed when vessels are not operating, and when leaving port, must be well battened down and covered with two tarpaulins.

As part of the rat control gangways must be painted white and fully illuminated at night. Fines are imposed for non-compliance.

FENDERS: At all ports, vessel must be boomed off the quay at least one metre fifty centimetres. Any type of fender meeting this requirement will do, but at San Nicolas, special fenders are supplied.

NIGHT LIGHTS: All vessels when made fast must illuminate that side towards the water with at least one screened light. When vessels are double berthed, the one lying second off must comply with this rule. Similarly, vessels moored with either stern or bows to shore must show a light over the anchor chain to seaward. Vessels laid up or being dismantled are exempt from this, but owners are responsible for any resulting damages.

DESTINATION CHANGE: When at sea if there is any change in destination, within the Argentine, Masters must report this by radio to the Marine Prefecture, indicating the reasons for such change.

DESPATCHES: Once despatch is granted, this is valid for twelve hours only, after which period new despatches must be requested, and reasons given for not sailing. In ports where local conditions impose a longer limit, the maximum allowable is thirty hours.

SEAMEN'S INSTITUTES, HOME AND CHURCHES: There is one hostel for seamen, and five institutes operating in Buenos Aires and one in Rosario, as follows:

THE RIVER PLATE

The River Plate, or Río de la Plata, is formed by the rivers Paraná and Uruguay, and is one of the greatest river systems in the world, the Basin covering nearly four million square kilometres. It is some 150 miles long, and the mud and sand in the waters give a thick brownish colour. Tides are small, but the water level is subject to frequent and sudden fluctuations on account of the weather.

The official depth at zero of the long entrance channel from Recalada to the Port of Buenos Aires is presently (this varies slightly from time to time):

| | Width of channel | Depth | Alternative width | Depth |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Punta Indio | 110 metres | 29′ | 200 metres | 26′6″ |
| and of the access channel from the Roads (km. 37 to km. 9·8) | 55 metres | 30′ | 80 metres | 29′ |
| North Channel (km. 9·8 to Anteport) | 60 metres | 27′ | 80 metres | 24′ |
| South Channel (km. 8·2 to Boca) | 30 metres | 24′6″ | 50 metres | 19′ |

From Recalada Lightship West the Bay is all fresh water.

Vessels drawing 31′ or even 32′ (fresh water marks) frequently navigate safely. The tidal rise and fall is from three to five feet, but the state of the river is influenced to a far greater extent by the force and direction of the wind. There is no guarantee that a vessel drawing 31′ may not be caught by low water caused by a North wind, which carries the water seawards. Just as a North wind will reduce the depth of water, so a Southerly or South-easterly wind raises it considerably, often several feet.

Winds from S.W. to E.N.E. through N. make the level drop, North being the strongest in this sense.

Between S.W. and S.S.W. or N.E. and E.N.E. the influence of the winds is much less.

Vessels often touch bottom, or even bump slightly, but as the bed of the river is soft mud and silt, one never learns of these ships reporting damage. The Plate Pilots, of course, warn Masters of this not infrequent occurrence. The docks and basins in the port also have soft mud bottoms, except for the entrance between North Basin and Dock 4, and it is quite customary to see vessels lying safely aground when loading or discharging.

RECALADA LIGHTSHIP: Vessels enter the Plate system passing the Recalada Lightship, 16·8 miles South of Montevideo at 35° 10′ 06″ S. and 56° 19′ 06″ W. At this point it is obligatory to take an Estuary Pilot, if proceeding West, and a minimum 48 hours notice must be given both to Agents in Buenos Aires and to Recalada Lightship.

The lightship also has a fog signal, period thirty seconds sounding for three seconds and silent for 27.

Radio call sign is LOJ on 500 kc/s. type A1, A2, transmitting in clear every hour from 05 to 08 and 35 to 38 minutes. Operator on watch 08/10, 12/14, 16/18 and 20/22, also listens on 462 kc/s.

Punta Indio Channel and Privileged Zone

The term "privileged Zone" comprises the zones of the main channel of the River Plate which extends 500 metres to either side of the buoy at kilometre 57 and Buoys No. 30 at Punta Indio Channel, likewise 300 metres on each side, outwards, of the pairs of buoys marking the Punta Indio Channel between Buoys No. 30 and No. 1.

Vessels navigating in these zones have equal privileges to those navigating the Punta Indio Channel, which comprises the zone of the general channel of the River Plate between Buoy No. 30 and the Recalada Lightship following the route buoyed for ocean going vessels by the Ministry of Public Works.

Vessels drawing over 24 feet entering or leaving the River Plate are obliged to traverse the Punta Indio Channel from Buoys 1 to 30, and the Privileged Zones existing between Buoys 30 and km. 57.

Vessels drawing 21 feet and up to 24 feet inclusive must follow the route of the general channel and the corresponding privileged zones and may make use of the Punta Indio channel or not, depending on the depths of the river.

Vessels drawing 19 feet but under 21 feet must use the general channel of the River Plate and the corresponding Privileged Zones, but can only use the Punta Indio Channel between Buoys 19 and 23 when depth of the river makes this advisable.

Vessels drawing less than 19 feet, wishing to follow the route of the main channel, may do so through the corresponding Privileged Zones but are forbidden to navigate along the Punta Indio Channel.

INTERSECTION LIGHTSHIP: This pilot station, near km. 33·5 and 169 km West from Recalada is on the North side of the principal channel, at 34° 39′ 30″ S. and 58° 00′ 04″ W.

Hull, mast and superstructure are painted sky blue and the inscription on the hull is "Practicos Interseccion" in black letters. At night, two lights are shown on the fore-mast, one white about 11 metres from the deck, and below this a red light at about 7 metres.

Radio call sign LOI, on 500 kc/s. wavelength 600 m. Operator on duty from 8 to 10, 12 to 14, 16 to 18 and 20 to 22.00 hours.

At this point the estuary Pilot concludes his stint, inwards, or takes over outwards, and port Pilots for Buenos Aires take over or finish. Similarly up river Pilots for vessels bound for Uruguay or Paraná rivers take over or deliver vessels here.

If, owing to bad weather or force majeure, the pontoon's launch cannot trans-ship Pilots, by day the blue flag with the letter "P" normally flown at the fore will be struck, or by night the red and white pilot lights will be extinguished, and a red light exhibited at the stern.

At Intersection vessels anchor while waiting for draft to proceed to the Parana or Uruguay rivers, as well as those awaiting berth in Buenos Aires. Such vessels should keep well clear of the Pontoon to leave ample room for those taking or disembarking pilots.

The holding ground here is not good, being soft mud. All ships drawing more than 15′ must, before leaving Martin Garcia or Interseccion outward bound, ascertain the state of the channel from LOI (Radio Interseccion) who will give the departure time, draft, and speed of vessels navigating in the channel. Only after receiving this dual information can Masters and Pilots decide to proceed, and then must communicate time, draft and speed to Radio Interseccion. Vessels drawing less than 15′ can navigate freely between Martín García and Interseccion, but must give way to vessels of deeper draft.

INTERSECTION TO MARTIN GARCIA: From Intersection (km 38) to Martín García (km. 106) vessels will anchor near km. 37 until there is sufficient water, with one foot under the keel and a rising tide or river. If it is calculated that the vessel will have one foot clear through the whole passage, she may leave, but on a falling or stationary river, she must adjust speed to avoid the difficulties between km. 37 and km. 79.

From Martín García to Intersection, vessels drawing 22′6″ or more will leave when conditions assure one foot of water under the keel. It is essential to radio LOI as above to check on tides, etc. Such vessels coming down river must also communicate to LOI the passing of km. 101 and 38, while those going up river must communicate passing km. 38, 72 and 101.

Maximum draft permitted between km. 39 (Intersection) and km. 93 (Canal Nuevo) is 26′ and a speed of ten knots or over, or with 8 to 10 knots, maximum 24′.

In the sector Intersection/Martín García vessels will anchor in any suitable place until depth of water permits them to go upstream on a rising river.

Vessels drawing 22′ or more are recommended to cross only between km. 72/74, 80/82 and 96/96. Those drawing less than 22′ and with at least three feet under their keel can also cross between km. 52/56 and 98/100.

MARTIN GARCIA BAR: The Flats (rock outcrops) in the estuary from Martín García Island down to Farallon have remained practically unchanged for fifty years. The Island itself, in lat. 23° 11′ S. and long. 58° 17′ W. is an almost circular mass of granite, about 27 metres high and some three miles in circumference. Shores are muddy and mostly rocky.

It commands the entrance to the Rivers Parana and Uruguay, and all vessels using these rivers must pass within half a mile of the shore on the South side, or within less than a mile by the Northern channel. There is an Argentine Naval detachment there.

Light House. At an elevation of 38 metres a light is shown from a circular stone tower standing 13 metres high in the centre of the island.

Radio communication. The lighthouse is provided with a wireless station (call letters LOH) which transmits the depth of water on the semaphore at the following hours: 2, 5, 8, 11, 14, 17, 20, and 23.00 hours.

Day Signals

The figures given below the corresponding signals indicate the level of the river in feet and inches either above or below zero mark.

To obtain the effective depth in Martin Garcia Channels, 26 centimetres (10″) should be deducted from the draft of water indicated on the semaphore

Depth of water here varies from hour to hour, with no pattern, and is not dependant on the depth of water in the Paraná. The only relation between the River Paraná and Martin Garcia and San Pedro Bars, seems to be that with a full and strong river, the water which is blown into the Plate Estuary by southerly winds against the strong head of the river, makes deeper water than a similar southerly wind opposed to a smaller stream from the river. Likewise, the water blown out to sea by Northerly winds causes lowers depths when the river is running strongly than when it is low. The effect is almost that of a new or full moon on the lunar tides.

It must always be remembered, therefore, that the dominant factors from Martin Garcia seawards are the direction and force of the wind. A Southerly wind will bank up the water, while a Northerly wind will blow it out. There may be, say, 30′ in the Paraná, with a strong North wind, and less than 20′ on Martin Garcia. With the wind in the S.E., the depth at Martin Garcia can rise in a few hours up to 30′.

A prudent course is never to attempt to cross Martin Garcia drawing more than 25′ even with the river at its highest.

Martín García lies at km. 99·4 from Buenos Aires, vía Intersection, i.e. at km. 62·4 from Intersection.

Vessels continue North to km. 140, at which point the Uruguay and Paraná rivers meet to form the River Plate. This is opposite Nueva Palmira in Uruguay, and at this point the River Uruguay buoy numbers start from km. 0, while the Paraná numbering continues from 140 on through the Paraná Bravo, which is the Northerly arm of the extensive Paraná Delta.

WEATHER: The yearly average direction of winds of Force 7 or more, as observed at Recalada lightship shows:

| 0·8 | 1·3 | 2·7 | 3·4 | 5·2 | 3·7 | 1·9 | 1·3 |

expressed in per cent of winds observed, the least frequent being the North. Division is relatively even over the year, with perhaps August showing a higher incidence of storms.

The average velocity of winds from the various directions, over the year, is 6·8 knots on the coast or 12·5 knots at Recalada Lightship, the highest figures being from S.E., S. and S.W. at 8·3, 9·3 and 9·2 knots respectively.

| N. | N.E. | E. | S.E. | S. | S.W. | W. | N.W. | calm |
| 12·7 | 15·8 | 14·4 | 14·2 | 11·3 | 9·7 | 6·8 | 9·2 | 5·8 |

Visibility in the Plate area is normally good; rain storms may temporarily affect it, but these are usually of short duration. Fog (visibility less than 1,000 metres) or mist (visibility 1/2,000 metres) occurs from April to October, with June showing the highest percentage of fogs (13%). North winds seem to favour the forming of fog, as these figures show.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Calm | %fog | 11 | SE | 12 |
| N | | 24 | S | 6 |
| NE | | 17 | SW | 0 |
| E | | 5 | W | 3 |
| | | | NW | 13 |

Fog on the river forms by a cooling from below of warm air which drifts from E. or N.E., and is formed only when the temperature of the air is greater than that of the water. If the current augments its velocity, the fog lifts and visibility improves at sea level. Shore fogs usually affect only the coast and are of short duration.

Rain falls, on average, 92 days a year, with a total of 1,089 mm. yearly in Buenos Aires, spread evenly through the year with a high in January of 113 mm.

Electric storms are not frequent, and usually limited in extent.

Average yearly temperature is 16·6° C, in Summer 22·2°, Autumn 17·2°, Winter 11·2° and Spring 16°. Extremes correspond to January 43·3° (all-time high) and minus 5·6° in July.

ACTION OF THE WIND ON TIDES: In this large body of enclosed and shallow water winds up and down its axis raise or lower the water level very appreciably.

Cross winds in general have much less effect, and the inner and centre sections of the Plate show greater variations than the outer part. We show below a table as estimated by the Hydrographic Office, based on many years observations showing the variations, in centimetres, due to speed and direction of the winds. The values quoted must be applied to the astronomic tidal figures to arrive at a net level over datum.

Four new tide-gauges have been installed – two in Punta Indio Canal, at km. 99 and km. 180, and two up-river. Eventually four more will operate at Palermo, Banco Ortiz, Martin Garcia and Atalaya. Connected to the Hydrographic Office, the date will be incorporated into the regular tidal bulletins.

The tidal forecasts transmitted regularly over LRA (870 kc/s.), in telephony, in Spanish are, therefore, a combination of astronomical tide figures and meteorological influences on this basis.

Wind direction also affects the hours of the tide. In general, time of high water is not affected, but low water can be delayed or advanced by the wind force.

MITRE CANAL: The proposed new Coastal Channel from Buenos Aires to the Paraná should by contract be ready by mid-1975. The Canal will run some five miles offshore, starting from km. 12 in the access channel, and will mean a saving of some 30 miles for vessels going up river (or much more to the oil port of Campana), as well as the saving of time loss incurred in waiting for water depth to the Martin Garcia Bar.

Opposite San Fernando the canal enters the Paraná de las Palmas branch of the Parana, through the "Las Viboras" channel. From here on this arm of the river is deep enough to need nothing beyond the straightening of two or three sharp curves, to accommodate long vessels.

Logically, this does not guarantee 30′ draft up river at all times, the normal rise and fall of the river controls this, but during most of the year 30′ will be obtainable to Rosario and San Lorenzo, In actual fact, the Parana River is tidal up to Rosario, and tides are felt all year round to Villa Constitucion, and in low water seasons, to Rosario itself.

PARANA RIVER: Maximum drafts permitted up to km. 585 (Santa Fe) are governed by the Martin Garcia Bar, and must also, logically, take into account river conditions.

The River Parana rises in Brazil, and is formed by a junction of a number of rivers, the principal tributary being the Paraguay river.

It is a great river at all times, conveying an immense volume of water to the Atlantic. The Northern bank is comparatively high and rocky, the Southern bank low.

The stretch above Rosario is entirely riverlike in behaviour with an annual flood, rising and falling yearly. From Rosario to Martin García Bar, where the river joins the Uruguay river to form the River Plate, there is also an annual flood, but this part is also influenced by the Plate tides. This section can be divided into two, from San Pedro to Villa Constitucion where the tidal fluctuations are always felt, and from Villa Constitucion to Rosario where the tide makes its influence felt only in periods of low water in the river.

Maximum depth in the river is normally reached in March and the low in September, but it is irregular in behaviour. There is a possibility that the series of dams being built in Brazil for hydroelectric purposes may eventually regularize the river by permitting some control over the seasonal increases.

When the river commences to fall, care must be taken in calculating loaded draft a few days ahead, as the official figures may be reduced one or more feet without warning.

HIGH AND LOW WATER: Maximum and minimum figures registered between Rosario and San Pedro in the last ten years.

MAXIMUM DRAFT UP RIVER: When vessels by reason of their loaded draft have to complete loading at Buenos Aires or La Plata, they should never load deeper than two feet less than the official draft on the river Parana.

In the sector San Lorenzo/River Plate, when the height of the river is 4′ or more, one foot must be calculated below keel depth; when the river is under 4′, two feet clearance must be calculated.

In the sector Parana (Santa Fe)/San Lorenzo, when the height of the river on the hydrometer at Santa Fe is 5′ 7″ or more over zero, 2′ must be calculated under the keel with vessels of under 50 fiscal units, or 2′ 6″ over that size. When the depth on the hydrometer is less than 5′ 7″ (1m70) then 2′ 6″ and 3′ 6″ respectively must be allowed.

These safety margins for the Parana/San Lorenzo/Santa Fe zone refer to river navigation; in access channels and ports a margin of one foot is sufficient.

A falling or rising river will also be taken into account.

BRIDGES: A road and rail bridge is being built from Zarate (km. 107 on Parana de las Palmas) across the various islands and arms of the Parana to Brazo Largo (km. 180 on the Parana Bravo). The span on this arm of the river will be over 200 metres and clearance at high water 45 m. Until the bridge is officially opened, probably in 1974, night-time navigation under it is prohibited.

A bridge from Resistencia (Capital of the Chaco Province) connects with Corrientes (Capital of Corrientes Province). This does not affect ocean shipping, beyond that going to Asuncion, and the clearance of the main span is 40 metres above high river level.

Two bridges are also under construction over the River Uruguay, one at Paysandú, which will not affect ocean shipping, and another at Puerto Unzue to Fray Bentos, in Uruguay. This latter will have a 220 metre span with 36 metres clearance above river level.

APPROACHES: Access is by the "Punta Indio" channel, commencing just West of the Recalada Lightship, which is situated some 30 kilometres due South of Montevideo. The channel winds up to the Outer Roads which are some 37 kilometres from the port. Direct entrance is by a channel, dredged to 30′, 55 metres wide, allowing 29′, 80 metres wide, to within 10 kilometres, where the channel divides into North channel, with 26′ and the South channel, with 22′. All depths given here, and later, are referred to the zero of the Riachuelo tidal indicator and semaphore in Buenos Aires port.

The fixed zero mark on the tidal indicator and semaphore is practically corresponding to the level of the ordinary lowest waters and is marked 0·72 metres under the average medium level of tides.

When large passenger liners are entering or leaving, it is possible to have the access channel closed to all other traffic for a period of four hours, on account of the narrowness of the dredged channel.

Vessels with draft of up to 32 ft. FW have proceeded safely through the main channel.

ROADS: The Outer Roads are between Buoys 25 and 37, according to draft. The Inner Roads are between Buoys 12 and 15. Intersection Pontoon, or pilot station, is at Buoy 37, North side.

PORT: The port, which is artificial, comprises:

| | |
|---|---|
| A. Puerto Madero | North Basin, Docks 4, 3, 2, 1 and South Basin. |
| B. New Port | Basin A, B, C, D, E and F. |
| C. South Dock | First and Second sections. |
| D. Liquid Gas Basin | On the South side of the South Channel before reaching S. Dock. |
| E. Inflammable Basin | On the South side of the South Channel, between Liquid Gas Basin and South Dock. |
| F. East Basins | On the North side of the South Channel. |

PUERTO MADERO: This is the oldest part of the Port. Oceangoing vessels mainly operate in North Basin, and Docks 4 and 3.

A. Central Zone

North Basin. Built in the form of an irregular pentagon, with the entrance, 100 metres wide in one angle. The two piers at the entrance are 200 and 225 metres long, respectively. The West side is 390 metres long and the South 377 metres, North 335 metres, and with a depth presently 22′.

As the basin was built for a depth of 21′, and later dredged, when vessels load deeper than 20′ they should be careful to keep well off the quay wall to prevent grounding. Up to three vessels can discharge at anchor.

There are two dry docks in the basin, and a repair shop.

Usually only one berth, section 6, is used for loading/discharging operations, and sections 1 and 2 are used by vessels repairing or laid up, while sections 3 and 5 are for Navy use. The warehouse of section 7 is used by the Custom house.

Dock 4. Connected to North Basin by a lock 197 metres long, and 25 metres wide. The dock itself is 630 metres long and 160 metres wide, with 20′ water. This lock was originally fitted with lock gates, as was that from Dock 1 to South Basin, but these have not been used for many years. The bottom of the lock, between all the docks, is of concrete.

On the West side there are four warehouses, each 4 storeys high and twelve 3-ton cranes. Berths, or sections, numbered 1 to 4.

On the East side there are four two-storey warehouses and twenty-three 2½-ton cranes. There are also several sheds behind and parallel with the warehouses which give on to the dock, sections numbered 5 to 8.

Between berths 6 and 7 on the East side there is a large open space where vessels or lighters can discharge direct to trucks or to railcars. Trucks may also go alongside at the other berths, at all of which there are railway lines, but space is limited.

Dock 3. South of Dock 4, connected by a cutting 70 metres long by 20 metres wide, with a swing-bridge. This dock is 690 metres long and 160 metres wide, depth also 20′.

On the West side, berths 1 to 5, there are four four-storey warehouses, and there are thirteen 3-ton cranes. There was a fifth warehouse at No. 3, burnt down and not rebuilt; this now forms part of the open space for general discharge and storage of imperishables.

On the East side, which is fitted with six 3-ton cranes, there are two elevators for grain. Unit Three, with capacity for 6,000 tons in bulk and 1,200 tons in bags, fitted with 3 tubes and 3 chutes, can load 500 tons an hour bulk, or 160 bagged, by one spout only at a time. It is used for the smaller vessels in the trade with Brazil only. The other elevator in this Dock, No. 5, is used for storage.

Between the elevators, on the East side, there are open spaces where vessels may berth and discharge lumber or drummed cargo, but this section is limited to medium and small vessels only.

Dock 2. This is connected with Dock 3 by a cutting 60 metres long, and 20 metres wide, with a swing-bridge. The Dock is 570 metres long by 160 metres wide and 20′ deep at zero.

On the West side there are four berths, each with a warehouse, Nos. 1 and 4 being three storey, and 2 and 3 four storeys high. There are fifteen 3-ton cranes.

Section one is used for storing dangerous or noxious cargo, and Section two for postal parcels.

There are elevators and loading appliances in this dock, on the East side, used for smaller vessels, while the dock heads are used for discharging barges with gravel or sand.

Dock 1. Connects with Dock 2 by a cutting 80 metres long, 20 metres wide, with 19′. This dock is chiefly used by Government-owned river craft. On the West side there are 5 warehouses, and 18 cranes. There are also ample open spaces. On the East side there is an elevator, capacity 27,000 tons in bulk, and three sheds between Docks 1 and 2, at about 300 metres from the quay.

None of the lock gates in Docks 1 to 4 are used as water gates, water level is tidal, and the gates are simply means of communication. There are only gates proper into Dock 4 and Dock 1 from the North and South basins respectively. These have not been used for many years, although they were originally functional and formed one lock of all the docks.

The basin is 1,029 metres long and an average width of 110 metres. It is used by river craft, cross river passenger ferry boats, coasters, etc. A new ferry boat terminal has been built here, on the land side of the basin, with waiting rooms, Customs section, etc.

B. New Port. The New Port, lies to the North of Puerto Madero, and entrance is via the Northern Channel. A breakwater extending from the North anteport protects the basin of the New Port from rough seas, and extends as far as Basin D, from which point another breakwater protects Basin E. Between the two, a channel is kept dredged for the movement of coasters to and from upriver. Basin F is entirely used for small coasters and river craft.

The five basins of this part (excluding F, coastal) offer good accommodation for the larger vessels entering Buenos Aires, and in all the berths there is sufficient water to float any vessel which can navigate the entrance channels.

Basins are numbered from South/North.

Basin A. Used by passenger vessels as well as general cargo. A landing station for passengers has recently been opened here and all vessels carrying over 50 passengers must land them here, shifting later to another berth if necessary.

The basin is 365 metres long by 140 metres wide, with 870 metres of wharfage. Northern side can accommodate two medium/large ships. Western side is frequently reserved for the Argentine navy. On the South-west, passenger section, there is room for one vessel. On the South-east another berth is available if the vessel operating at the Maritime Station is medium size only.

Pier head No. 1 is 100 metres long, but is mostly used as waiting berth for river-going vessels. There are two railway lines on each side of the basin, and also at the back of the deposits. There are five warehouses and a total of 14 three-ton cranes.

Basin B. Used for general cargo vessels, and is 525 metres long on the North side, 464 metres on the South and 151 metres wide at the Western end, with 1,165 metres of wharfage with room for seven medium/large ships.

There are ten warehouses, and a total of 29 cranes, all three tons.

Pier head No. 2 is 202 metres long. There are three 3-ton cranes, and as a rule large passenger vessels occupy this berth after shifting from the passenger station.

Section 6 and 7 of this basin are reserved for the State Fleet vessels, or if used by others must be vacated if required by the national vessels.

Basin C. This is 495 metres long on the North, 585 metres on the South and 175 metres wide at its Western end, with 1,284 metres wharfage for seven medium/large vessels.

On the South side there are three warehouses, built 20 metres back from the quay to facilitate operations. There are thirteen 3-ton cranes.

On the North and West sides there are no sheds, and this is used for operating directly to or from trucks or rail cars.

There are seven 3-ton cranes on the North and three on the West side.

On Pier head No. 3 which is 236 metres long there are two 3-ton cranes and a 20-ton crane.

Railway tracks are fitted with a third rail for narrow gauge traffic.

C. South Dock

First section. Has continuous quays on both sides, a width of 90 metres for most of its length, widening to a turning basin before reaching the correcting channel. The west quay is 911 metres long, and the east side is 1109 metres long, both being used for general cargo and produce.

On the West side the meat-packing plant which is presently inactive, can load direct to vessels from the freezer.

On the East side of the turning basin there is an elevator with capacity 6,500 tons, with four tubes and three chutes, and another storage shed capacity 19,000 tons grain. Loading is only possible over one tube at a time, rate 400 tons per hour. There are also tanks for edible oils here, pumping rate 150 tons per hour.

There are six warehouses and a total of 23 cranes on the East, ranging from 5 tons (4) down to 1½ tons (9). There is also a 30-ton fixed crane and two fixed 10-ton cranes.

Second section. The connecting channel is 90 metres wide, with earth banks. Jetties for discharging petroleum are placed along the East side, while on the West there is a continuous quay 1000 metres long, on which there are four 3-ton cranes and eight 1½-ton cranes for discharging sand.

There are seven berths, five of which are for general use, one for the power plant for discharge of coal, with a 5-ton grab, and one elevator berth, unit ten, capacity 23,500 tons. The loading bridge has five turrets, each with two tubes and one chute. Only one can load at a time, rate 400 tons per hour.

There are eight petroleum jetties on the East side for discharge of tankers and loading oil barges ex shore tanks. The jetties are marked A to H.

On reaching a draft of 23′ 6″ vessels must shift to New Port.

D. Liquid Gas Basin. At the moment, propane and butane gas are being discharged over several intakes in South Dock, until such time as the special Liquid Gas Basin is ready. This is under construction on the South side of the South Channel, immediately to the East of the Inflammables Basin.

E. Inflammable Basin. This is situated outside the South Channel in front of kilometre 0·500 and about 300 metres distant from the axis of the Channel and at a right angle. The dimensions are as follows: length: 483 metres on the East side, 323 metres on the West side, 185 metres on the S.W. side and 72 metres on the South side. The dock walls at the entrance are 44 metres long on each side. The entrance is 50 metres wide. All the dock walls of this basin are of cement, as well as the intakes and landing dolphins. It has 6 intakes, 6 dolphins and 12 jetties for mooring vessels. The present tank storage in South Dock lies to the S.E. of this basin at a distance of about 1,000 metres. The land lying between the South Dock and the Inflammables Basin is used for erecting tanks.

Ocean-going tankers discharge at the piers on the West side. There are no facilities of reaching the city by land and therefore all the transport of officials, crew, stores, etc., must be done by launch.

The oil for the Y.P.F. tanks on the East side of the Basin and the M.O.P. workshops is sent from South Dock by piping under the South Channel.

F. East Basin. At the entrance to the South Anteport, a breakwater and two new basins have been constructed.

Basin No. 1 is used exclusively by the Port Works Department for laying up and repairing dredgers and other maintenance craft. It also contains a dry dock and a shipyard. Depth of water is 24′ in the basin but only 16′ at the entrance.

Basin No. 2, in form an irregular quadrilateral, is separated from No. 1 by a mole, and is 146 metres wide at the entrance, 170 at the base and with walls 372 metres long to the S.E. and 294 metres long to the West, allowing a number of vessels to berth. Alongside this mole is the SEGBA Power Plant. Depth in the basin varies from 24′ to 14′ at the entrance.

From No. 2 there is a mole parallel to the South Access channel, 260 metres long, with a central salient 120 metres long, and two side salients 15 metres long each, and at 55 metres from the central mole. This is used by tankers discharging fuel for the Power Plant. There is one crane, 15 tons, and a narrow gauge railway line.

The breakwater has been built on the South side of the access channel as a protection for the basins, and commences 100 metres South of the light buoy on km 1 of this canal.

South Anteport. The construction of the Inflammables Basin, and of the East Basins, before arriving at the entrance to South Dock, Riachuelo or South Basin has created an Anteport. The North part has a mole 384 metres long from East Basin No. 1 to South Basin. This is used by the Port Works Department for workshops, deposits and offices.

The Prefecture has an office here, on top of which is a mast two metres high, used as a signal station. A white-edged red flag by day or a flashing red light by night indicates that a vessel is entering by the southern channel from km 8 to the Anteport. This signal will remain until the vessel reaches the Anteport, and signifies that the Channel is closed to all except tugs, sand hoppers and river passenger craft, provided draft does not exceed 14″.

TUGS: From vessels drawing up to 22′, service is rendered by a bow tug from kilometre 5, and a stern tug from kilometre 1, or vice versa, and to or from kilometres 8 and 4 respectively when draft exceeds 22′.

Stand-by time will be charged if a vessel is delayed in entering or leaving by bad weather, fog, low water, no berth, etc., plus usual Sunday/holiday surcharge.

Tug hours now coincide with ordinary port working hours and time is counted from the hour they leave their moorings and until they return.

When a vessel is leaving port, and tugs are ordered to accompany her beyond normal limits, an overcharge will be made on an hourly basis.

Once a vessel is moored, all further service in the same section will be charged by hour. If the vessel shifts section, this movement is charged plus the sections traversed.

A special compensation charge is made when tugs are ordered but not used.

For the services of tugs supplying electricity or steam, charges are made per day and per hour, varying with the size of the tug.

If vessels do not use their engines while under tow, a surcharge of 50% is made.

Tow ropes must be supplied by the vessel, but can also be hired. The towage company is not responsible for breakages, fouling of propeller, expenses of diver or any other consequence.

DENSITY: Fresh water.

FRESH WATER: There are hydrants at all berths, with very few exceptions, and at which vessels can take water at a charge per cubic meter.

There are no hydrants in the Inflammable Basin, and only at Berth No. 1 on either side of Basin E in the New Port.

Delivery rate varies from 5 to 10 tons per hour, depending on the number of vessels taking water, time of day, etc. An extra charge is made in overtime.

FUEL: Available, by barge.

CARGO: Classification of import cargo. Argentina being a tariff protected country, all cargo landed is subject to Customs control.

To facilitate control, there are Custom House Warehouses on the city side of the dock zone, on the quays, in the South Dock, and others away from the quays. The Dock Zone is enclosed.

In addition to Government Warehouses there are fiscal warehouses, privately owned but worked under Government control.

All fine cargo, cargo in cases, and most baled cargo must be discharged to Custom House Warehouses, direct from the ship, by means of dock cranes.

Other cargo in cases, barrels, etc., which might be damaged if stowed in the open air, also cargo which from its nature might damage other cargo stowed with it must go to the Custom House Warehouses away from the quays, and is conveyed there by port railway wagons that take the cargo from alongside the ship. This same class of cargo can also be sent to private fiscal warehouses and is similarly conveyed there from the Ship's side by railway wagons.

Cargo that can be stowed in the open air without risk of damage, such as cases of glass, motor cars, sanitary ware, etc., is also conveyed from the ship's side by railway wagons to open spaces (plazoletas) within the dock zone, reserved for the stowage of such cargo.

Certain classes of cargo, such as bales of gunnies, jute, rice, agricultural implements, and all articles the nature of which can be seen at a glance, can be discharged direct to consignees' carts, motor lorries, etc., from the ship's tackle. Also certain classes of rough cargo, such as coal, lumber, iron, cement, etc., must be discharged direct in this way.

The Custom House, in order to expedite despatch, has enlarged the list of goods that can be discharged in this manner, and also authorises the carrying out of these operations outside ordinary working hours, which has hitherto been prohibited.

Storage of goods in Custom House Deposits has been limited to 3 months, counting from the date of the vessel's entrance to port.

Discharge to lighters can take place in all sections of the port.

Use of special deposit called "Transit" for reception of general cargo. In order to facilitate the discharge of vessels with general cargo for delivery to Fiscal Warehouse, the Custom House authorities have authorised the direct discharge from vessels to a special warehouse which receives all the cargo as it comes out of the hold, labour being supplied by Agents.

This facility is only available at certain sections of the port and whenever a vessel discharges at a berth where there is a "Transit" deposit, this must be used unless the vessel carried homogeneous cargo or of such a nature that it does not require the use of the "Transit" deposit.

The cargo discharged in these special warehouses must be delivered by the agents at ship's expense, into the Customs warehouses.

Cargo in transit for Paraguay is deposited either in the sheds where the ocean carrier is operating, or in a special shed in Section 1 of Dock 2, where the river vessels load for that country.

Cargo in transit for other countries can be deposited in any approved space. In all cases, special permit must be obtained in order not to lose the status of "transit cargo".

Time limit for the permanency of "In transit" cargo in lighters. Maximum time limit is set at ninety days, but it is possible to renew this, while on the expiry of such authorisation, the cargo must be discharged to fiscal warehouses, and be subject to all the rules and conditions governing this operation.

The Custom House is authorised to grant an extension of time when the interested party requests this before expiration date, and providing the causes are, in the opinion of the Custom House Authorities, justified.

Cargo in transit that is discharged by mistake to fiscal deposit, has to be removed from there within 48 hours; otherwise it must be added to the cargo manifest as a surplus discharge.

A tariff in the style of railway tariffs is in force with a variety of charges, all depending on the class and nature of the cargo that is being trans-shipped. Therefore, Shipowners, their Agents and Forwarding Agents should, in every case, communicate with their Agents in Buenos Aires to ascertain the exact cost of these charges. Subsequently to the new tariff being enforced, various increases were declared, so that the extra freight on cargo trans-shipped is now an important item to be considered when accepting through bookings.

Delivery of cargo. The receiver of the merchandise or holder of the Bill of Lading must deliver this document to the Custom House to clear the goods. The merchandise, whether for deposit or direct despatch is delivered to the Consignees without the intervention of the Master of the vessel or the Agents. The Bill of Lading remains with the Custom House, under whose control the cargo is delivered. The Custom House verifies the legitimacy of ownership, and whether all the import dues or services have been paid on the merchandise before leaving warehouse.

Collection of freights on imported goods. In the Argentine, the Custom House releases the cargo, and not the Agent, therefore the only means of ensuring collection of freight when payable at destination, is for the Agent to place a judicial embargo on the entire cargo. This action necessitates the Consignee first obtaining the Agent's conformity to the documents before the Custom House will accept them and deliver the goods.

Without an embargo the Agent, once he has presented the Cargo Manifest, cannot intervene between the Custom House and Consignee. Not even the retention by shipper of all the signed original Bills of Lading is a safeguard, because the Custom House, which is only concerned with the delivery of the cargo to the lawful Owner and is in no way concerned with the freight payment, will deliver the cargo against production by Consignee of a bank guarantee that the Bills of Lading will be forthcoming in due course.

From the foregoing it may be gathered that freight should always be prepaid when possible.

The Custom House usually does not release the cargo, if the Bills of Lading are claused "Payable at destination", until the importer produces an account for freight, duly receipted by the Agent, but this is not a sufficient cover, as the Customs are not under any legal obligation to effect this control, and therefore cannot be held responsible for the freight of good delivered without it being paid.

Cargo discharged to or loaded from vehicles. The Custom House Administrator has authorised the access of vehicles of all classes to the quays of this port for the reception or delivery of cargo of any class, size or weight.

It is necessary for the importers, exporters or Custom House brokers to obtain a permit for this, and the applicant is held responsible for any damage to port installations caused by said vehicles. Sufficient space must be left between truck and sheds to allow passage of Port Authority vehicles and fire engines.

The authorities will not be responsible for any accidents to the vehicles, their crew or their cargo. The vehicles must be so handled as not to interfere with the railway traffic.

Discharge of Sulphur. It is compulsory to have a motor launch fire extinguisher alongside vessels during the discharge of sulphur. An extra man is also required at each hold for carrying water to the stevedores.

Delivery of fresh fruit. The Custom House allows the consignees of fresh fruit to take away their cargo immediately on vessel's arrival, upon presentation of a special permit endorsed by a bank and agents, and whereby the receivers guarantee presentation of the Bill of Lading in due course.

Placing of Lighters between Vessel and Wharf. When lighters are placed between the vessel and the wharf for the convenience of discharging a vessel's hold, full Port Service Dues are charged.

Lighters may be placed between the vessel and the wharf when the vessel's work to shore is not interfered with thereby. In such cases the vessel will continue to pay full dues. Lighters are, in fact, not considered as occupying any berth unless they are allotted a special berth by the Custom House to load or discharge. It is only when lighters are so commissioned by the Custom House, that a vessel going alongside these lighters would be charged in the category of a vessel lying second off.

Discharge of Heavy Lifts. There are three floating cranes, one for lifts of up 60 tons, another of 100 tons and a new one of 250 tons. The first two may have lost part of their capacity. The 250-ton crane can navigate carrying its cargo, so making special movement of the vessel unnecessary, but the two smaller cranes must operate between ship and shore in swivelling movement.

There is also a floating crane capacity 30 tons belonging to the Navy, and two others, each 75 tons capacity, belonging to the State Fleet.

Hire counts from getting the crane alongside, and in condition to work, until work is completed, plus an extra hour to compensate crews from getting the crane back to its mooring place. Slings must be supplied by the lessee, and no responsibility is accepted for damage or breakage, the charge being on a tonnage/hour basis.

The 250-ton crane is not self propelled, and has a length of 45 metres, 23 metres beam and draft of 5 metres, displacing 1,400 tons. If required it can be used in salvage operations, towage being for account of lessee.

Normally these cranes, except for the 250-ton crane, navigate under their own power, but the Craneman has the right to employ a tug or tugs for lessee's account when he considers it necessary and two tugs are also generally employed.

Wharf Cranes. The hire of shore cranes is charged by the Port Administration to the Agents of the vessel requesting their use. Special permission must be obtained for overtime work, and also to have shore cranes handle ship's machinery, ballast, or any other non-commercial commodity.

Movable Cranes. Charged per hour from arrival until work finishes. These are used for shifting cargo from one wagon to another, or for shifting cargo for convenience of consignees.

Advertisements. Advices of arrival of vessels with cargo, inspections of general cargo and notices of general average are published in the local press.

Notarial Protest and extensions. When vessels arrive with cargo it is customary to note protest before a Public Notary, for which there are fixed fees per page to be filled in, plus further fees should an extension be necessary later.

To indicate that no signals are being made at the semaphore, a flag is hoisted to the masthead, and another at the yard-arm.

A weekly bulletin issued by the public works ministry and widely distributed among Pilots and Agents reports depths referred to the zero of the Riachuelo Indicator in channels, passages, basins and berths and it is possible to know the real depths at that moment in each part of the port area.

GENERAL: Port Zone. No one is permitted to enter the port zone on Sundays or holidays, or any working day after 1800, unless supplied with a pass. Visitors to ships must have cards issued by the Agents and approved by the authorities.

There are several access gates open during day time, but after working hours and on Saturdays/Sundays and holidays only those at Cangallo Street (by Dock 4) and Maipú (New Port) are open on a 24-hour basis.

Allotment of Berths. Vessels to discharge are allotted berths by the Port Authorities in strict turn, as from arrival in the roads, and according to the nature of the cargo to discharge or load and its quantity. A certain time is granted for completing operations, though an extension can usually be obtained, the Port Authority reserving the right to order a vessel out if operations are not completed on time.

Berths are allotted in South Dock when the greater part of a vessel's cargo is for the factories in that zone.

Berths at the Elevators. These are allotted in accordance with the certificate given by the National Grain Board, and in strict order of arrival in the roads.

Time limit for occupying berths and commencing operations. Vessels which do not commence operations within four hours of the first ordinary period, are liable to have the berth given to others. Similarly those which suspend operations without due cause may lose the berth.

ELMA berths in New Port. Any vessels may solicit one of the reserved berths, if vacant, but must shift as soon as a State vessel requires the berth.

Discharge of Inflammables. Consignees must take delivery from alongside. Should Customs clearance for such cargo not be ready, it must be discharged into lighters and the authorities will indicate where it must be placed.

Entrance. Vessels can enter or leave at any time of day or night, with advance notice to the authorities.

Movements. Vessels are not allowed to shift if their draft is not at least ten inches less than the depth of water on the semaphore, with a rising river. No vessel can interrupt the operations of another to shift within the port, but if ready to sail, the other vessel must facilitiate its departure whatever the hour may be.

All vessels moored alongside one another, at the quay, must reciprocally facilitate their operations, and open out when the vessel on the inside finishes her operations, and must leave or change berth. They must also make room for lighters with cargo for the vessel next to the quay, outside working hours.

When a vessel has to shift along the quay up to one ship's length to discharge or load from another hatch, neither towage nor pilotage is necessary when the shift is between the forward hatches, or the after hatches. Prior permission must be obtained.

Shifting from North to South or vice versa. There is no set rule, but usually vessels going from say, South Dock to New Port, will let tugs go and sail out to Intersection Roads to turn round and take up tugs again in the North Channel. It is also possible to have tugs follow out to km 9, where the North and South Channels meet, turn there and come into the new berth with the same tugs, if length of vessel permits.

It is for the Master and Pilot to decide where the vessel will turn, depending on weather, draft, current, etc.

Opening of Dock bridges. The established time table, twice an hour is not observed, and Agents arrange for this when a vessel is ready to move through. Vessels should not attempt to pass the lock gates if clearance is less than ten centimetres and the river is not rising. It must be remembered that the sole of the locks in each case is of concrete.

Prefecture Control. On both entering and leaving the Prefecture officers may control with the crew list that all members of the crew are on board, particularly on sailing.

Draft on sailing must be checked by the Pilot and Master, and duly recorded in the Pilot's book. Load lines are strictly checked; in case of hogging, drafts fore and aft are taken while in sagging marks will prevail.

Shiftings and manoeuvres in port are carried out under the responsibility of the Master, but Pilots are also responsible, at least to the Prefecture, since they are under direct authority and at the same time considered assessors to the Prefecture.

Trim is also controlled, no list is allowed, and maximum tolerance for difference of draft fore and aft is 6 to 7′ according to vessel's length overall. Vessels should not be down by the head.

Hatchways. All hatches must be kept closed when a vessel is not working. If hatches are found open when a vessel is idle, the vessel is fined.

Garbage. A garbage barge goes round the port every morning to take away the garbage, which must be left in drums slung over the stern ready for lowering into the barge. It is also possible to arrange for a barge to take off refuse from holds, old dunnage, bedding, etc. Collection is often a rushed affair, and good watch must be kept for the barge. Fines are imposed if garbage is not removed.

Working Hours. Ordinary working hours are now fixed as from 07.00 to 13.00 and 13.00 to 19.00. Tugs are now also on this same time table.

Overtime can be worked from 19.00 to 01.00 and from 01.00 to 07.00, but Stevedores are not allowed to take two consecutive shifts.

Custom House guards and other official workers follow the same schedule from Monday to Friday, but earn overtime on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

TELEPHONE: There is no special installation for vessels in port. Many Agents have one or more lines of their own, which can be placed on board, if there are connections available in that sector. The telephone company makes a connecting charge each time, at a high cost to the vessel, plus the usual charges for the service.

(Province of Buenos Aires) "B" category port

N.B. Refer to beginning of Argentina I) and River Plate Ports pages 6 and 12.

The port is mainly used for receiving and despatching petroleum and its products. There are also facilities for handling timber and general cargo, as well as steel tubes for the petroleum industry, both for internal requirements and for export, which are made here.

MAX. SIZE: Up to 27ft. draft, dependent on local river conditions.

TUGS: Not required.

BERTHS: From North to South the berths are:

National mole. 20′ alongside, used for shipment of the steel tubes and movement in general. The mole is 116 metres long, with three electric cranes, 4 ton capacity and two mobile cranes.

Esso Mole H. Concrete pierhead, 16 metres long, over which crude oil is discharged through an 8″ line. There is deep water at this mole which is mainly used for import cargo. There is also a belt conveyor equipment for loading petroleum coke in bulk.

Esso Mole G. A mile South of Mole H, fitted with an 8″ line for discharge of crude from smaller tankers, in 18′. Length 14 metres.

Esso Mole E. 130 metres long, with 24′. There are two intakes on this mole, of 6″, the former being used for shipments of clean products and the latter both for crude and for shipment of clean products.

Esso Mole F. In 26′, 16 metres long, with a 10″ line which can be used crude and for lubricants.

200 metres downstream there is a wharf, 70 metres long, in 14′ used for discharge of timber and sand.

There are no facilities for handling of grain or other produce.

HEALTH: Free Pratique can be obtained in the usual way, by notifying Buenos Aires Agents. Tankers lightening part of their cargo in Buenos Aires Roads, can take pratique here, provided that the convoy formed by the tanker and barges follows up to Campana, and no one on board has any contact with shore until after the medical visit. If the vessel is "unclean" however, pratique is taken before lightening.

MEDICAL: Doctors and hospital available.

DENSITY: Fresh water.

FRESH WATER: Available at Esso Moles.

FUEL: Available at Esso berths. No barges.

CONSULS: At Rosario and Buenos Aires.

REPAIRS: Can be effected.

CONCEPCION DEL URUGUAY: 32.29 S. 58.12 W. (See Plan)

Km. 183 – River Uruguay (Province of Entre Ríos) "B" category port.

APPROACHES: Access to the port is by a channel 1,000 metres long, 45 metres wide, which is now only 11′ 5″ at zero.

The roads of the port extend from the buoy marking the entrance to the channel, and about 2 kilometres up river, where vessels may anchor if awaiting berth.

Access is governed by the water on the Montaña and Altos y Bajos passes, where there is normally no more than 17′ and this draft should be taken as a determining factor.

RESTRICTIONS: Day and night navigation allows. Channel dredged to 20 ft. LW. Depth on bars, 17 ft. LW.

MAX. SIZE: Maximum permitted draft in Uruguay River is 18 ft. Fresh water, subject to local conditions.

HEALTH: 8 hours before arrival, radio Agent advising last port of call, number passengers and crew on board and health condition of vessel requesting free pratique. If this procedure is followed there should be no delay in obtaining pratique when officials board on arrival, provided vessel's health conditions are satisfactory.

Masters may either advise their agents in Buenos Aires, or direct to Agents in Concepcion del Uruguay, using station LSQ 57, on 477 k/cs. A 1, and may proceed direct from sea to this port.

LA PLATA: 34.54 S. 57.55 W. (See Plan)

(Province of Buenos Aires) "B" category port.

This port is situated on the left bank of the estuary of the River Plate from seaward, 30 miles South of Buenos Aires. It is the capital of the Province of Buenos Aires and is rapidly becoming industrialised.

APPROACHES: Access to the port is by a channel, which leaves the main entrance channel to Buenos Aires at km. 57. This is constantly dredged, being usually at 28′ maximum.

PILOTAGE: Coming from the sea, or Montevideo, the Recalada or Uruguayan pilot will take the vessel to La Plata Roads 27′ where a La Plata Port pilot comes aboard.

From up river to La Plata, the river Pilot is dropped at Intersection, where a new pilot takes the vessel to La Plata Roads for the Port Pilot to come aboard.

RESTRICTIONS: Vessels navigating in the entrance channel have preference over those in the River Santiago, and those which be reason of size must turn at Four Mouths have priority over others in their vicinity.

There must be no crossing or overtaking of vessels over 75 metres long or 11 metres beam, or 20′ draft and for this reason vessels ready to sail from Gran Dock will not let go while any vessel is entering by the Entrance channel.

Vessels over 200 metres in length can only manoeuvre in daytime, with a minimum visibility of 1,000 metres and with a wind not exceeding ten knots.

On entering or sailing on a rising tide minimum depth cannot exceed vessels draft, and on a falling tide there must be 50 cm. (1′8″) under the keel.

Regulations for the Santiago River channel prohibit movement between sunset and sunrise for vessels over 140 metres long, or drawing over 24′. Vessels over 11 metres beam cannot cross or overtake, and vessels in this channel must not interfere with those moving in Four Mouths.

ANCHORAGE: Four miles S.E. of Recalada. The Navy controls a reserved zone between 34° 46′ and 44° 48′ S. and between the meridian 57° 48′ W. and a true bearing 220 from the buoy km. 7,700 at the end of the Eastern arm of the port, for Naval ships only.

MAX. SIZE: Regulations limit length, beam and draft to 215 metres, 30 metres and 9·15 metres (30′) respectively.

HEALTH: Free Pratique – radio messages should be sent direct to Agents in La Plata if vessel is entering direct.

RADIO: Station LOM 524 kc/s., A 2. State oilfields have a VHF service, range 50 km. for communication with their vessels on 156·5 Mc/s. during the first fifteen minutes of each hour.

TUGS: Two tugs must be used, each of a minimum 820 h.p. Normally join vessel in entrance channel.

BERTHS: The port comprises Rio Santiago, Gran Dock and the Propulsora berth, five kilometres up the river Santiago, also known as port Ingeniero Rocca.

Rio Santiago: Two grain elevators, capacity 400 tons, 3 berths, depths 22 and 28 ft. alongside.

Propulsora. A cold rolling steel mill has been built inland and a 5-kilometre channel dredged to 30′ from "Cuatro Bocas". There is one berth here, 154 metres long, though vessels of up to 205 metres length o.a. have operated here. The material used in the mill is imported in coils, and exports of cold rolled sheets and wire are also handled. There is one crane, 30 ton capacity and rate of discharge can reach 3,000 tons per 24-hour day.

Some 600 metres from the wharf itself, there is a turning basin 300 metres diameter. Vessels go in bow first, as there is less water to the south end of the wharf, and turn in this basin before returning down channel to La Plata proper. Only one vessel can operate at a time here. Vessels are secured to bollards on shore at the bow, and a mooring buoy astern.

TANKERS: Four tanker berths in Gran Dock, which are used exclusively for YPF. No facilities for slop discharge:

Armour Terminal handles fuel oil only, 8 in. hoses.

Swift Terminal handles fuel oil only, 8 in. hoses.

Gran Dock is now used only for tankers by the National Oilfields. The turning basin at the South end being only 180 metres in diameter is insufficient for the larger vessels now operating here, and a new turning basin at Cuatro Bocas or Four Mouths, is dredged to 30′ on a 400 metres diameter. This is at the junction of the access channel, river Santiago, and Gran Dock. Tankers head in to Gran Dock and reverse back to this basin.

In the eleven berths the intakes include one 24″ line, and several of 16″, 14″ and 12″.

Special regulations for Gran Dock permit vessels to moor with bows either inwards or outwards, indiscriminately. Those moored bows inwards (facing south) will be assigned, preferably to intakes 4, 5, 10 and 11, and must sail immediately after finishing operations, taking preference over others about to sail.

Vessels between 175 and 215 metres length, or drawing 22′ or more can navigate ahead or astern, and will turn in Four Mouths on entering or sailing as the case may be. When such vessels are moving stern first, the Prefecture will make sure that there are no craft of more than 5 metres beam moored on either side of the Armour Freezer, shifting these if necessary.

Vessels of less than 175 metres length or with a draft of less than 22′ must turn in the Turning Basin on entering or sailing.

Turbine steamers of over 140 metres in length will only use the Turning Basin in daylight.

For safety reasons there must be one tug and one fire-fighting craft on service and ready to sail.

No mooring second off is permitted except for tugs and vessels receiving dirty ballast or liquid from cleansing of tanks, or when supplying steam.

Degassing tanks is prohibited in port.

MOORING: Vessels of up to 150 metres length will employ four men for mooring, and those over 150 metres, six men. Mooring hours in ordinary time are from 06.00/18.00 on week days, 06.00/12.00 on Saturdays. There is a 50% extra from 18.00/24.00 on week days or from 12.00/18.00 Saturdays, and 100% at all other times.

SEMAPHORE: For night signalling of the depth of water in the access channel, the system is analogous to that used at Martin García and Riachuelo, Buenos Aires. By day signals are hoisted on a tower at km. 4,460 on the access channel arm if tide is rising. If the river is stationary or falling, no flag is hoisted.

MEDICAL: Doctors and hospital facilities available.

REPAIRS: All repairs can be effected except those requiring a dry dock.

CONSULS: Following countries are represented in La Plata: Belgium, Brazil, Great Britain, Italy, Norway and Spain. All other consuls at Buenos Aires.

AUTHORITY: Capitan de Puerto de La Plata.

AGENT: See "Buenos Aires".

RAMALLO: 33.32 S. 59.59 W. (See Plan)

Km. 326 – River Paraná (Province of Buenos Aires) "B" category port.

APPROACHES: The port is on the left bank of the Paraná from seaward, where the river is divided into two by the Isla de las Hermanas. Traffic up river normally keeps to the starboard channel at this point, or the port when downstream and the entrance into Ramallo, although buoyed, is not lighted. No depths are given for the access but as a guide, when the main channel of the Parana is at say 24′, then vessels can safely load to 18′ in Ramallo. However, with the building of a new elevator, 20,000 tons capacity to replace that damaged some years back, movement has recommenced and the River Bulletin publishes 21′ for the elevator mole, and 24′ 6″ for the hardboard mole. Nevertheless, it is advisable to check on access depths.

PILOTAGE: According to the Maritime Digest, port Pilot must bring the vessel in from the main channel, and take her out there again, a distance of 5 miles. The roads are technically in the main Paraná, but it is usual to anchor 150 metres off the wharves.

BERTHS: Apart from two damaged moles, out of use, there are, from South/North:

Grain Board Mole. There is an elevator, capacity 12,000 tons and two loading belts, load rate 250/300 tons per hour each. The berth, for one vessel not over 145 metres length, consists of a small jetty and several dolphins and two mooring buoys.

National Mole. Concrete wharf 100 metres long, with three sheds on it, used by sand hoppers, and by river craft.

Fiplasto Mole. Used for discharge of fuel to the hardboard factory, from tankers. There are two dolphins with 24′6″ water. As the current runs fast here, vessels may roll with any wind, and it is recommended to put out more ropes than usual, both fore and aft.

FUEL: Not available.

MEDICAL: Attention available, but no hospital.

ROSARIO: 32.57 S. 60.33 W.

Km. 420 – River Paraná (Province of Santa Fe) "B" category port.

APPROACHES: Outer Roads, between buoys 410 and 413.

PILOTAGE: The port Pilot will come on board off km. 411, by launch. Vessel should whistle for him if not here to meet the ship (two long, one short).

ANCHORAGES: Between kilometres 410 and 413. Both anchors should be used.

RESTRICTIONS: Fog. In thick fog, special permit must be obtained to enter or leave. There is an average of six days fog per month in the period April/August but only one day per month in the rest of the year. Electric storms are frequent.

Maximum speed in Zone. From Saladillo stream North, there is a limit of six knots, up to Punta Barrancas.

There are no restrictions as to length and breadth of vessels, but draft and size of vessels are subject to river depth, which is very variable and no standard information can be given. Vessels up to 27 ft. draft are permitted to navigate the River Parana up to Rosario and San Lorenzo, provided vessels speed exceeds 10 knots and that there is at least 1 ft. keel clearance. Above Rosario controlling depth 22 ft. Vessels loading in Parana Ports must keep close contact with Agents for daily forecasts of admissible draft crossing Martin-Garcia Bar to avoid risk of overloading and consequent delays.

HEALTH: Free Pratique, use Radio LSQ 38, on 477 kc/s., or via Buenos Aires radio.

TUGS: Two tugs are available, controlled by Port Authority. However, tugs are not normally required for berthing or unberthing.

RADIO: All messages through Pacheco Radio, call sign LPD, operating on 425 kHz. Pilots equipped with VHF radio Channel 16.

BERTHING: Alongside quays. There are seven elevators with the rate of loading up to 300 tons per hour of grain. Also there are four warehouses for loading light grains or seed. Between these closed sheds are paved spaces which are used for delivery of cargo to road vehicles and vice versa.

Montserrat wharf. Used by river craft only.

Unit I. Of the four jetties, only Nos. 1 and 2 are in use, and can deliver 170 tons of Grain per hour each, accommodating one vessel in 21′.

Unit II. Only one berth in 24′ 9″ with two spouts, 200 tons per hour each or 125 tons by-products.

Unit III. Known previously as Unit IV, can work with 2 tubes, 250 tons each, berth for one vessel only. The space between Units 2 and 3 is now out of use.

Unit IV. This is still under repair, a belt joining the three sheds previously known as Units 5, 6 and 7 is being installed. Eventually there will be two loading tubes and berth for one vessel.

Old Unit No. 8 has been dismantled and taken to Victoria.

Deposits 3 to 17 are still in use for import cargo, but under the new plan will become the Free Zone for Bolivia, and probably, eventually Paraguay.

Sheds 29/30 have been rented, and the wharf being used in breaking up the navy aircraft carrier.

Unit V. Is the Old Unit X, renumbered. Two vessels can berth here and there are two spouts workable per vessel at 200 tons per hour each spout.

What was Unit XI is now rented for the storage of oilseeds, and Unit XII has been dismantled. Vessels can berth here to load Wharf Offals.

New Pier. At this point the new pier, 616 metres long, has been built, and will operate in the future in import cargo, releasing Deposits 3 to 17 for the Free Zones. This pier will have ample water. Immediately behind this is larger basin is being dredged, to 30′, which will add 4,250 metres of new quay frontage to the port. It is intended to centralise here the movement in fuels, coal, gravel, sand, etc., and to use it for discharge of grain barges which now form a large part of the pusher trains in use on the river, and which have materially changed the type of river transport. Dredging of the basin itself is well advanced, probable date 1975. Work on an 80,000 ton elevator at the south end of the 616 metre wharf has commenced, to load either to the river side or into the new basin berths, to the west.

Unit VI. The South Elevator, previously numbered Unit XIII now has 29′ alongside at zero, and can handle two vessels, if both under 150 metres, or one if over that length. Load rate is 1,200 tons per hour per berth. There is storage capacity here for 360,000 tons, in the whole port. In berths 3 and 4 are the inflammable deposits, and finally the cattle ramps, in deep water.

The port zone proper ends at Saladillo stream, on the south side of which the Swift Meat Packing plant has a pier, 175 metres long, for the loading of its products. There is also a line here for loading vegetable oils in bulk, capacity 100 tons per hour.

The projected basin will have its entrance between the Inflammables zone and the Cattle berth, and south of the Cattle berth a shipbuilding yard is projected.

Cranes. There are a large number of electric cranes, and the port is built in such a way that with few exceptions all cargo discharged must be handled by shore cranes. If the river is high, and shore cranes cannot operate to the vessel, the ship may discharge to shore, for the shore crane to place on railway cars, etc.

Bills of Lading covering lifts of 2½ tons or more should be claused in such a manner that any extra expense in landing them is for account of the cargo.

Floating cranes. There are two, 90 and 50 tons.

Allotment of berths. May depend on the availability of grain to the particular shipper, but normally berths are allotted in order of arrival. Loading on second tier is not customary now, as the capacity of the port is such it is not necessary.

Fenders. Vessels must use fenders for keeping them off, and can use their own or hire from the port.

Ashes, etc. Arrangements can be made with Agents for daily removal.

STEVEDORES: Gangs supplied according to vessels requirements by private companies under Government supervision.

120 to 140 tons per shift general cargo.

MEDICAL: Private and state-owned hospitals. All facilities available.

TANKERS: Discharge at Moles 3 and 4.

FUEL: All grades available, by barge.

SAN LORENZO: 32.45 S. 60.38 W. (See Plan)

Km. 442 – River Paraná (Province of Santa Fe) "B" category port.

The port includes the separate sections of Puerto Borghi, Puerto San Lorenzo and Puerto San Martin.

ANCHORAGE: Vessels may anchor in the roads between buoys 447 and 449.

TUGS: Not required.

MAX. SIZE: Up to 27 ft. draft depending on river depths.

HEALTH: Vessels coming in from abroad, should take pratique in Rosario roads, advising agents there in good time.

RADIO: Use Radio Rosario LSQ 38, on 477 kc/. A1. This broadcasts, in Spanish at 13.05 daily depth of water in the river between Santa Fe and Rosario.

BERTHS: Puerto Borghi. Is a privately owned berth used for loading zinc ores, cinders and sulphuric acid. It consists of 3 dolphins each 6 × 9 metres, spaced 21 metres apart, giving 60 metres alongside which vessels can lie. Both anchors must be laid out and moorings taken to shore. There is a conveyor belt, rate 60/80 tons per hour, fixed by a crane to work at an angle of from 20/25 degrees, so that if vessels are loading both fore and aft they must shift to position their holds. The belt is reversible, and can be used for discharging vessels fixed with bucket dredge gear in each hold. There is ample water alongside.

This port comes under Rosario for Customs, but under San Lorenzo for Maritime Prefecture control, and stevedores are taken from San Lorenzo.

San Lorenzo proper is a third category Custom House and thereby independant of Rosario. There is an important petrochemical complex here which is being extended, which may lead to an improvement in port facilities.

The roads are between buoys 443 and 445 in the main navigation route and within this area vessels may anchor to await entrance to port, without paying dues.

This was originally a grain port but this now takes second place to industrial developments.

There is a grain elevator at Unit VIII (ex. 14), with a total storage capacity of 80,000 tons, and 39′ alongside. The elevator has one tube, with a load rate of 150/180 tons per hour.

There is also a pipeline at this berth for loading vegetable oils in bulk, rate from 30 to 70 tons per hour (if using tanker trucks).

A line for loading fuel oil has also been installed here.

State Oilfields YPF have a large cracking plant here, with 3 concrete piers of 80, 60 and 80 metres long respectively, in deep water and situated just north of Unit VIII. Piers 1 and 3 operate in the discharge of crude from overseas or coastal tankers and in the loading of products with four 6″ and 10″ lines. No. 2, with the same size lines is used for coastal tankers only.

Esso have two dolphins here for discharge, with 6″ and 10″ lines respectively, but in 23′ only.

San Martin is immediately alongside San Lorenzo, and the access channel commences off San Lorenzo, by the cross river car ferry terminal (service San Martín to Victoria, on the left bank of the Paraná).

This channel is 75 metres wide, dredged to 20′ at zero, and two miles long.

At the entrance to San Martín is the ferry basin in 6′ 6″ and also a small basin for river craft.

Immediately North of this is the State Gas mole, in deep water used for handling liquid gas and fuel oil.

Unit 15 is no longer used for shipping, but the storage capacity is made use of. Linseed oil is loaded over the Pereda mole, in deep water with a 10″ loading line. This mole is also used for the discharge of tankers and nearby is another mole used for discharge of oilseeds.

Unit X (ex 17), in 29′ 5″ has capacity of 52,000 tons, load rate 150/180 t.p.h. over one spout.

At km. 451, there is a petrochemical plant which has a concrete mole 96 metres long, with 26′ 2″. There is one 2½ ton crane on the mole, which is authorised to work with light fuels.

FUEL: Available.

FRESH WATER: Not much available; Masters are recommended to take elsewhere if possible.

MEDICAL: Attention available.
REPAIRS: Small repairs attended to. It is also possible to bring specialists from Rosario if bigger jobs have to be handled.
CONSULS: Consular clearances must be made at Rosario.
AUTHORITY: Administracion de los Puertos Parana Medio.

Km. 343 – River Paraná (Province of Santa Fe) "B" category port.

APPROACHES: Between San Nicolas and Rosario are the "Paso Paraguayo" and "Abajo Yaguaron" passes, and below San Nicolas, apart from Martín García, the "Tonelero" and las "Hermanas" passes.

The old-time characteristic of a grain port has been submerged in the industrial complex which has grown up around the steel mill, but grain is still shipped here.

The entrance channel to the port from the river is kept dredged to 24′ 6″ at zero.

RADIO: Use LSQ 38, Rosario, on 477 kc/s. A 1.
BERTHS: From North to South the sections of this port are:

Old Port. Alongside the city of San Nicolas, originally composed of seven sections on a cliff some 18 metres high, and under which vessels moor, having to keep themselves off with an anchor and a kedge. Only two sections now work and loading of grain is carried out from the sheds or from railway wagons on the cliff, by chutes. Sections 1 and 6 can load at 90 tons per hour from each of the two tubes at each berth.

Section 2 can only load bagged cargo, again by chutes.

Shed capacity is 16,000 tons, increased by direct discharge from railcars. Depth of water alongside 26′, in almost still water.

New Port. Three kilometres downstream from San Nicolas. It consists of a berth formed by a dolphin 60 metres upriver from the end of a concrete mole 287 metres long, with ample water alongside, there being room for two vessels.

On the mole there are five portal cranes (3 of 1½ tons and 2 of 3 tons) as well as two cranes, capacity 20 tons at 15 metres radius, or 12 tons at 25 metres. Railway lines are installed but there are no sheds on the wharf.

Just downstream from the wharf a loading gallery is being built for a new 16,000 ton elevator, to be connected by belt to the large warehouse of the old Alcohol Distillery, which will be used for storing grain, capacity 75,000 tons. There will be berth for one vessel here, with five tubes, two to load simultaneously at, it is expected, 500 tons/hour each. Once this elevator commences to operate, the remaining berths in the old port, which are in very poor condition, will be closed.

This new berth also incorporates the short jetty once known as the Distillery mole.

Superusina Mole. This is the last of the sectors of San Nicolas proper, and consists of a concrete mole 200 metres long, with ample water alongside. There is a fixed heavy lift crane here, with a reach of 25 metres and capable of lifting 140 tons out of the square of the hatch of a vessel, or 180 tons from on deck. This part of the mole is reinforced.

There are also a 16 ton and an 8 ton crane for grab discharge of coal to an endless belt system working a coal stacker, handling 1,500 tons daily.

Puerto Buitagro lies south of the Ramallo brook, and comes under the district of Ramallo, although administered by the San Nicolas port authorities. It handles all the movement of the State Steel Mill, Somisa, the capacity of which is presently being increased to produce 2,500,000 tons of steel per year.

Again, from North to South, the moles are

Ing. Buitagro general mole. 300 metres long, for movement of general cargo. It is 16 metres wide and has one 30 ton crane and two 15 ton cranes.

Gotaas Larsen berth. This consists of four dolphins, 35 metres apart, with mooring bitts on the 1st and 4th and is used for discharging lightening vessels which shuttle from the Plata with coal or iron ore for the Steel mill. A fleet of six 24,000-tonners operates with coal from USA, and lighten 10,000 tons to a specially designed converted T2 off Recalada. This operation is done in less than 24 hours, and the two vessels, ocean collier and lightening vessel, then proceed in convoy to Buitagro, and the collier discharges at the Buitagro wharf proper, while the T2 uses the Gotaas Larsen berth again, discharging in less than 20 hours by reversing the self loader.

Ing. Buitagro wharf. 680 metres long, immediately south of the Gotaas Larsen berth. Dredging is carried out continuously and there is 26′ at zero alongside. Four vessels of up to 22,000 tons can operate, plus two more in second tier. Storage capacity in the yards adjacent to the wharf is 1,370,000 tons Iron ore and 300,000 tons of coal. Discharge is by grab, one of 45 tons and two of 12 tons each giving a discharge rate of 4/500 tons per hour each provided hatches are sufficiently wide to permit easy working.

At Puerto Buitagro all discharge or loading is carried out by factory personnel, no outside stevedores intervening.

TUGS: Compulsory for vessels over 1,000 NRT at Old Port. It is usual, however, to use tugs only once, when entering if the vessel is turned and remains with her bow facing the entrance channel, or on leaving if moored with bow upstream, and therefore having to turn to leave. If vessels operate without a tug. Master is responsible for any damage incurred to installations, etc., and when there is a high wind it is advisable to use one. For movements in port use of a tug is optional, but again, high winds may make it advisable.
DENSITY: Fresh water.
FRESH WATER: Available at berths.
FUEL: Only available by barge.
MEDICAL: Doctor, hospital facilities available.

SAN PEDRO: 33.42 S. 59.39 W. (See Plan)

Km. 277 – River Paraná (Province of Buenos Aires) "B" category port.

APPROACHES: There are no bars below this port, except Martín García, and vessels can therefore load to this limit almost the year round.

HEALTH: Free Pratique can be taken, but it is advisable to radio Agents at Buenos Aires for them to arrange, since there is no radio here and the Doctor must come from San Nicolas.
RADIO: None; use Rosario LSQ 38, 477 kc/s. A1, or Buenos Aires.
ANCHORAGE: Vessels can anchor if necessary about 500 metres from wharf.
TUGS: Can be made available if required.
MAX. SIZE: The entrance depth has been dredged to 25 ft. The factor governing draft is the water level in the Parana River at the Martin Garcia Bar.
BERTHS: The main mole has been rebuilt and a loading gallery 35 metres high installed, working with 7 telescopic tubes, though only one can work at a time, load rate being reported at 1,000 tons/hour. Storage capacity in the elevator is limited, maximum 7,000 tons but there are nearby deposits for 90,000 tons.

As rebuilt, only one vessel can load from the grain elevator, maximum length, according to Ports Department, 200 metres.

There is a second berth available for operating from portable belts, etc., in 24′ 6″. There are no railway lines on the berths and no cranes.

There is also a wharf for river traffic in 8′.

DENSITY: Fresh water.
FUEL: Not available.
MEDICAL: All medical assistance can be obtained. Hospital.
REPAIRS: Minor repairs can be effected.

SANTA FE: 31.40 S. 60.37 W. (See Plan)

Km. 585 – River Paraná (Province of Santa Fe) "B" category port.

APPROACHES: Entrance to the port is through an access channel, 6,085 m. long, and with 24′ at zero.

On this section of the river, from Rosario to Santa Fé, vessels must keep 2′ under the keel if measuring less than 50 fiscal units, or 2′6″ if over that when the hydrometer at Santa Fe indicates over 1m.70 of water over zero, or, respectively, 2′6″ and 3′6″ with less than 1m.70 (5′7″).

PILOTAGE: Port Pilot comes aboard in the Parana, at the mouth of the entrance channel. Six hours advance notice is required for the pilot to be in position.
ANCHORAGE: Vessels awaiting entrance will anchor below the mouth of the Entrance channel, at about km. 583 on the River Paraná. It is absolutely forbidden to anchor in the entrance channel, and if this should occur, the Authorities will order immediate shifting, with tugs, pilot, etc., for vessels' expense.
SIGNALS: There is now a signal station on the top of the tower of the new elevator (unit 1) in visual and radio contact with the control station tower at the river end of the access channel, where the signals are hoisted. It is also possible to observe movement in the roads from here.

| | |
|---|---|
| By day (shown at both ends of the access channel) | |
| White globe, 60 cm. diameter | Channel free for overseas vessels. |
| Red biconic mark | Exit only for overseas vessels. |
| Green cone | Free movement of coastal vessels. |
| Yellow cone | Movement of coastal vessels allowed, but with precaution. |
| By night (interior signal staff only) | |
| White flashes | Entrance free for overseas vessels. |
| Red flashes | Exit free for overseas vessels. |
| Green flashes | Free movement for coastal vessels. |
| Green and red flashes | Coastal movement only with restrictions. |

Absence of signal – Signifies port and channel closed.

All vessels will await the corresponding signals, which can be asked for by whistling, repeating one long, three short, for overseas vessels, or two short, one long, for coasters.

Should the absence of signals be due to a failure of the system, instructions will be sent by the Authorities.

NAVIGATION: In the Channel. Maximum speed in the entrance channel is 9 knots, or in the port area, 5 knots for passenger vessels, and for others 6 knots and 4 knots, but the Pilot should control this. In the entrance channel, two ocean-going vessels should not cross, although coasting vessels may do so, the channel being only 40 metres wide.

Movement by night is possible, but usually pilots will not take a vessel out after 15.00, since navigating the passes down river might oblige a vessel to lie in the roads, and turning there would require the use of two tugs, it being easier to wait until through transit down stream is possible.

During fog. During fog, usual international precautions must be observed, but if the fog is very thick, entrance or departure of vessels is prohibited without special permission. There are no official statistics as to frequency of fog, but in the period May/August there may be five to six foggy days a month, and in the rest of the year one or two a month.

RADIO: Regulations in this port prescribe that Agents or Consignees must give written notice to the Port Authorities 24 hours before ETA, with details of vessel, cargo carried etc, or if in ballast, indicating for account of whom the vessel will load.

ETA should be confirmed if there is any change, since the port pilot and tugboat must be sent out to the main river to meet the vessel. This will also allow the preparation and presentation of the Notice of Readiness without delay.

TUGS: Normally join vessel in anchorage between km. 583 to 584. Vessels must take one tug on entering, and a second if assigned to Dock I and there are other vessels moored there which may effect manoeuvres. A second tug is also necessary if assigned to the Elevator Terminal and there is another vessel berthed there, and also if wind force exceeds Beaufort 5 on leaving.

BERTHS: The port is composed of four parts:

Dock No. 1, with stone wharves, 564 metres frontage on the East and 672 metres on the Western side, 120 metres wide and well equipped with cranes, and sheds; 24′ at zero.

Between Dock 1 and Dock 2, on the pierhead, there is a fixed 20 ton crane for heavy cargo.

Dock 1 is the main import area, while in berth No. 2 there are tanks for vegetable oil, capacity 5,000 tons and pumping capacity 2/300 tons per hour.

Dock No. 2 lies parallel to Dock 1, and has a piling frontage 900 metres long on the east, 720 metres on the west and 120 metres wide. 22′ at zero.

Both docks are served by broad and narrow gauge railway lines.

Derivation Channel. 2,178 metres long, lies to the west of Dock 2. It has open banks, with no stone or wooden frontage. There are a number of dolphins and mooring facilities. It is reserved for Inflammables and there are also two deposits for Quebracho Logs and for Bones. Although there are railway lines, there are no cranes or facilities for handling cargo. Vessels awaiting orders or effecting repairs can lie up in the Eastern side of the Channel, North of the Esso plant. Shell and YPF plants on the Western side, where vessels may take on bunkers.

Coastal Wharf. Concrete wharf, 810 metres long, lying between the West side of Dock 1 and the Elevator at Unit 1. Used for river craft mostly.

Allotment of Berths. Allotted by the port by order of arrival. If berthing in the Derivation Channel, spars must be placed to fend the vessel off the bank, and an anchor may also be cast, but this must be done under the direction of the port Pilot.

Loading Grain. There are two units here, comprising three elevators in use. Unit 1 on the South end of the West quay of Dock 1, next to the coastal section, can berth two vessels in 24′. The elevator, which is new, has a capacity of 50,000 tons, and the loading gallery has eight spouts with three belts, so that both vessels can operate simultaneously, although no more than three spouts can be in use together, with a load rate of 300 tons each, rising to 400 tons in favourable conditions, or when only one vessel is loading.

Unit 2 is now composed of the ex Bunge Elevator on the North-west of Dock 2, capacity 12,000 tons, and with 6 tubes, loading simultaneously by two at a rate of 200 tons per hour each, and also of the De Ridder Elevator, on the South-west side of the dock, capacity 6,000 tons, and with two tubes, capacity 200 tons per hour each.

FRESH WATER: From hydrants in Docks 1 and 2, or by tug in the Derivation Channel.

REPAIRS: Can be arranged. There are several tugs and lighters equipped to render assistance to vessels.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: For consumption on board each man allowed 40 to 60 cigarettes a day and one litre of spirits a week.

Km. 365 – River Paraná (Province of Santa Fe) "B" category port.

On the left bank of the river Paraná from seaward, 33 miles below Rosario and 197 miles by river from Buenos Aires.

PILOTAGE: Port Pilot available, and obligatory.

MAX. SIZE: Up to 25 ft. draft depending on river depths.

TUGS: Vessels over 1,000 NRT must use two tugs.

BERTHS: In Villa Constitucion the old overseas moles are closed, owing to bad condition. The coastal wharf is also being dismantled, but a concrete mole next to it is being used for this trade.

In Unit Two. Two vessels can load grain, but the condition of the installations is very precarious and may well be condemned.

At the Elevator berth two vessels can operate, in 27′, North and South. At each berth there are several loading tubes, but only one can operate at a time, giving 3/400 tons per hour on each berth.

Capacity of the elevator is 50,000 tons, plus 170,000 tons in underground deposits. There is also a belt for bag loading.

Puerto Acevedo. Two kilometres South of Villa Constitucion is Acindar Mole, otherwise known as Puerto Acevedo, where a large steel mill is installed. The port is under the jurisdiction of Villa Constitución and pending a definite resolution as to Villa Constitución Roads, vessels awaiting berth anchor off the Acindar mole.

The mole is 110 metres long by 34 metres wide, in 29′ and is used for the discharge and storage of steel billets. It is fitted with two 45-ton electric cranes.

Port Pilot from Villa Constitucion attends here, but tugs are not necessary. No facilities are available, except for water, to obtain which a vessel will have to supply a long hose to be coupled up to the factory itself.

Rate of discharge depends to some extent on capacity of ship's derricks, with three-ton lifts 80 tons per hatch hour can be maintained, but with only one-ton lifts, no more than 40 tons per hour.

FUEL: Not available.

MEDICAL: Doctor and hospital facilities available.

BAHIA BLANCA: 38.47 S. 62.16 W. (See Plan)

APPROACHES/PILOTAGE: Entrance channel. Commences at Rincon Light Buoy, which is a whistling buoy, fitted with radar reflectors and Direction Finding Beacon, and is stationed some 17 miles S.S.W. from the Recalada Lighthouse. It is a large buoy, painted with black and white vertical stripes, it can shift or be extinguished, being rather exposed. In case of doubt vessels are recommended to sound and stay outside the ten fathom line until daylight or fog has cleared. Pilots must be requested 24 hours in advance.

From this buoy vessels must proceed past buoys 1 to 9, and the Bay Pilot comes aboard between buoys 10 and 11 (39° 05′ S. and 61° 48′ W.). There is no pilot ship on station, and unless a Pilot has been ordered, vessels arriving at this point after sunset must stand off until daybreak, unless a pilot has been ordered and is approaching, when vessels can anchor and wait between buoys 9 and 10. To avoid delay and waiting time, Masters should keep Agents well advised by radio to station LPW 2, which listens from 07.00 to 24.00 on 500 kc/s. from 18 to 25 minutes to the hour, every hour. As the coast is shallow here, with S. or E. winds it is advisable to stand well off at night as there is also a tidal current favoured by these winds.

The Bay Pilot takes the vessel to the Bahía Blanca roads, which commence for Ing. White and Puerto Nacional between Naposta brook and the South Elevator. For Galvan he takes the vessel as far as the South Elevator. At either of these points the port Pilot comes aboard for actual berthing operations.

Vessels bound for Punta Cigüeña, Punta Ancla, Rosales or Puerto Belgrano, take on their port Pilot (ordered in advance through the Agents by radio), at buoy 17.

In the access channel the following regulations must be observed: between buoys 09 and 12: no crossing, outbound vessels have preference but Navy vessels have preference either way.

In the remainder of the channel, the outbound vessel must give way. The channel is 150 yards wide with light buoys which make the access or leaving possible at any hour. It has been dredged to 32′ at zero, with a width of 150 metres, except between buoys 26 and 28, where it is only 90 metres wide. This is to be widened.

The entrance channel having been deepened to 32′, by the use of explosives on the two "humps" by buoys 14/15 and 22/25, will gradually be dredged down to 35′ or 38′, making the port available to 45′ vessels in the future.

Buoys 01, 02, 03, 04, 05, 06, 09, 18, 19, 20 and 21 are mid-channel, and all illuminated. There is a degaussing buoy between Nos. 18 and 19, conical, painted blue and white checks.

Special warning. At very low neaps, and with strong N. winds there may be up to five feet less water than is shown on charts.

Tidal range is 12·6′ at springs to 6·4′ at neaps, but as much as 19′ has been observed with S.W. winds, whose action is similar to the Plate winds.

Inner Roads. From Ing. White to Galvan there is room for two vessels drawing 32′ to anchor, as well as a number of vessels drawing 24′. The access channel to Galvan has been dredged to 32′ for the new Inflammable berths, and a turning basin 400 metres in diameter at 33′ dredged due South of Galvan pier. The Inflammable berths are also at 33′, the intention being to dredge down to 38′ at zero.

ANCHORAGE: Limiting zone between positions 39° 00′ 12″ S. 61° 53′ 30″ W. and 39° 01′ 24″ S. 61° 49′ 48″ W. Merchant vessels may also anchor between buoys 11·7 and 11·4; tankers in the vicinity of buoy 20. YPF vessels anchor in the vicinity of buoy 22. Depth of water in the outer anchorages is about 40 ft.

Vessels in Quarantine, or awaiting medical inspection, will anchor near buoy 25.

RESTRICTIONS: Controlled by minimum depths in the channel, which are 33 ft. between buoy 1 and Puerto Belgrano and 32 ft. between Puerto Belgrano and Puerto Ingeniero White. Vessels may enter at night, times depending on height of tide.

MAX. SIZE: Draft up to 33 ft. 6 in. (Dredging is in progress at the elevator berths at Bahia Blanca to increase the depth to 30, 34, 35 and 40 ft. respectively. The new max. draft will be 36 ft. 7 in.) Further dredging will be carried out along the access channel, the general cargo and fruit berths.

RADIO: LPW 2 on 500 kc/s. A2, working frequency 431·5 or, LPW 45 on 4415·8. A3.

For weather forecasts in English, use either Radio Pacheco at Buenos Aires LPD 5 on 512 kc/s. A2, or Radio Comodoro Rivadavia LPX 2 on 474 kc/s. A2.

TUGS: No tugs are required at Punta Ancla or Punta Cigüeña. For Rosales and Puerto Belgrano tugs are requested from the Naval Base at Puerto Belgrano, and make contact between buoys 24 and 25.

For the other ports (White, etc.) tugs come alongside in the anteport, where the port Pilot boards.

Argentine vessels are berthed by the Bay Pilot at any of the berths, but foreign flag vessels take a port Pilot, who comes on board at the Inner roads on one of the tugs, regulations for which are as follows:

Vessels over 3,000 tons gross require two tugs, those from 500 to 3,000 tons, one tug, and under 500 tons none.

For the Iron mole, vessels up to 10,000 tons do not need a tug, from 10,000 to 15,000 gross, one tug and over 15,000 tons two tugs.

For Puerto Galvan, vessels over 3,000 tons gross take two tugs on entering, and one on leaving provided they berth bows outwards, otherwise they need two tugs. Between 1,000 and 3,000 tons one tug if berthing bows inwards, otherwise none.

These rules are for normal weather conditions. Masters can ask for more tugs, or alternatively not pass cables to the tugs if this could be dangerous to the vessel or tugs, but in this case, tugs must accompany the vessel during the manoeuvre to act in emergency.

BERTHS: N.B. Agents must give fourteen days advance notice of arrival of reefer vessels to the authorities, and check this with 48 hours confirmation of arrival. Precedence for berthing granted in accordance with arrival at Buoy 11 at the entrance channel. All requests for free pratique by radio are made in the usual manner to Agents, with twelve hours advance notice.

|---|---|
| Punta CigueñaPuerto RosalesPuerto Belgrano | adjacent to each other between buoys 21 and 22 of the access channel. |
| Ingeniero WhitePuerto Nacional | also adjacent, and some 14 miles West of Puerto Belgrano. |

Punta Cigüeña and Punta Ancla

There are rotary head buoys at each of these points, in 60′ with connections on port side of the tanker, 30″ line, with six mooring buoys astern in each case. Pumping capacity 3,000 cubic metres per hour, tank capacity on shore 80,000 cubic metres.

Puerto Rosales

An old grain port which is being reconditioned as a fisheries port, has been dredged to 20′ but there is no activity there as yet, beyond preparing it for use as a distribution centre for fish. The entrance channel is 2,100 metres from buoy 21 and is 700 metres long, with a blind buoy painted black and white vertical stripes in mid-channel.

Puerto Belgrano (Saluting base)

This is the principal Argentine Naval Base. It consists of an anteport and basin, at the end of which there are two large dry docks, repair sheds and a hydroplane mole. Dry docks and repair sheds can be used subject to Naval permit.

The entrance channel, two miles West of Punta Cigüeña buoys, is 1·7 miles long, 150 metres wide and dredged to 30′ at zero.

There is a reserved zone for Hydroplane, between 38° 51′ 7″ S. 62° 06′ 08″ W.; 38° 52′ 04″ S 62° 09′ 03″ W.; 38° 54′ 06″ S. 62° 07′ 02″ W. and the buoy at the end of the S.W. breakwater.

Most of the heavy machinery for the power plant at Chocon has been landed in this port, and it will again be used for the requirements of the petrochemical plant to be installed in Ingeniero White in 1974.

Gunnery Exercises. Captains are warned that in order to avoid any danger, the greatest care should be taken when navigating or anchoring in the security zone, between the coast and an imaginary broken line which passes through the following:

(A) Lat. 39° 00′ 01″ S. Long 61° 37′ 01″ W.
(B) Lat. 39° 05′ 02″ S. Long 61° 40′ 01″ W.
(C) Lat. 39° 02′ 05″ S. Long 61° 47′ 09″ W.

During gun practice at the Naval Base of Puerto Belgrano, navigation is prohibited in the circular area of 180° from the central point of the Signal Station which extends from 152° to 332°. The boundary of this area passes 9 miles off the Signal Station.

While gun firing is being carried out, the Signal Station will hoist during the day two "B" flags of the International Code on the same yard-arm. This signal will be hoisted half an hour before practice commences and will be furled when firing ceases.

At night the signals will be substituted by three vertical lights, the top one, red, and the following two, white. In addition a searchlight will sweep the zone every fifteen minutes, casting a beam of three minutes duration.

The Sub-Prefecture of Ingeniero White will notify all ships in good time of the expected hour and date on which firing practice will commence.

Should exercises not commence on the date and hour fixed for same, the fire signal will be hoisted half an hour before the appointed time, and on the other yard-arm, the flag "N" (negative of the International Code). These signals will be shown for half an hour from the time they are hoisted.

During exercises, the firing intervals will be signalled in the following form: during day, by hoisting "N" flag, and at night by two vertical lights; the top one white, and the bottom one, green.

Ingeniera White

This section of the port has a storage capacity for 221,000 tons of Grain in the port elevators, and 470,000 tons within ten minutes trucking distance.

There are four piers.

| | Berths | Length | Load Rate |
|---|---|---|---|
| South Elevator | 29′ (four) | 640 metres | Berths 1 and 2: 8 spouts, 2 belts, 250 tons per hour each.Berths 3 and 4: 12 spouts, 2 belts, 500 tons per hour each. |
| Central Elevator | 30′ (four) | 620 metres | Berths 5, 6, 7 and 8: 5 spouts, 1 belt, load rate 480 tons per hour each berth. |
| New Elevator | 35′ (one) | 234 metres | Berth 9: 12 spouts, 2 belts, 1,000 tons per hour each belt, total 2,000 tons. |
| Iron mole | from 22′ to 29′ (five) | 975 metres | Used for general cargo and fruit, discharge or load to or from rail or truck. There are no cranes on this mole now. Coal is usually discharged in berth II. |

Muelle Nacional

Lies behind and to the North of the Iron mole. There are four berths in this section, three on the North, or land side, which is in total 450 metres long in 20′ to 26′ at low water, fitted with six electric cranes × 3 tons on an apron 25 metres wide with three rail tracks. There are several cold storage chambers here for fruit, capacity over 500,000 boxes mainly apples/pears. On the South side of the basin there is one other berth, No. 6, 210 metres long in 26′ with three 3-ton cranes and a 125,000-box cold storage plant. There is yet another cold storage chamber on the so called "high mole", 100,000 boxes, and one with 300,000 boxes in town, making a total capacity of over one million boxes.

Loading Fruit. The authorities have fixed maximum loading times for staying alongside at the Nacional berths, and also at the Iron mole, as follows:

|---|---|---|---|
| up to 51,000 | cases | 3 | days |
| 51/66,000 | ,, | 4 | ,, |
| 66/86,000 | ,, | 5 | ,, |
| 86/111,000 | ,, | 6 | ,, |
| 111/141,000 | ,, | 7 | ,, |
| 141/176,000 | ,, | 8 | ,, |
| over 176,000 | ,, | 9 | ,, |

these times can be extended according to circumstances, and other vessels can also be allotted the fruit berths as need arises. Normally, loading is as fast as vessels can receive, and these periods are fixed to cover the occasional delays due to any temporary delay in receiving fruit from the interior.

Galvan

The oil companies have their tanks near the port, with the following lines all connected to berths 5 and 6:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Esso | one 11″ line | State Railways | two 8″ lines |
| | one 10″ line | Shell | two 6″ lines |
| La Isaura | one 8″ line | YPF | two 6″ lines |
| | one 6″ line | | |

A new wharf for tankers, two berths, had been completed facing on to the access channel, West of the entrance to Galvan, with a pool at 33′, the intention being to dredge this to 38′ and transfer here all petroleum movement, including gas.

Berths 1 and 3 of the old port have been reconditioned, and the old-elevators taken down. These berths, in 30′ are used for general cargo and loading of minerals, until berths 5 and 6 are readied. All four of these berths can take vessels of up to 150 metres long. The remaining berths in Galvan are for coastal use only.

Work started on a 250 metre long mole due South of the old No. 6 berth in the National port, now No. 20, and facing on to the main channel in 32/35′. Once this is ready, the Iron mole will be dismantled, so removing one of the problems experienced with berthing large vessels at the No. 9 berth (new elevator). It will then be possible to make another berth where numbers 15 and 16 are, and connect up in a straight line with berth 9, possibly as another deepwater grain berth.

DRY DOCKS: Capacity of the dry docks is:

No. 1 215 metres OA, width on the sill 22·12 metres or at 34′ above the sill, 26·25 metres.

No. 2 235,45 metres OA, afloat, or 205 metres closed there is also a floating dock for smaller vessels 65·8 metres OA, beam 13·46 metres, capacity up to 750 tons.

FLOATING CRANE: There is a 50-ton floating crane in the Naval base at Puerto Belgrano, which can be hired for use in other ports. Apart from hourly hire, the user must pay for towage and overtime. Towage must be effected in daylight hours and in good weather.

LOAD-LINE: Vessels North- or East-bound may load to Summer Marks all year round.

WEATHER: Average velocity of winds is 11 knots, direction N. and N.E. 30%, and W. and N.W. 32%.

Maximum temperature in Summer about 31° C, with an absolute maximum of 42·5° C, and a minimum of about 15° C. In Winter, maximum of about 15° C, average minimum 3·5° C, and absolute minimum minus 8·8° C.

MEDICAL: Good attention available. Hospital.

FRESH WATER: Available at any berth at Ing. White, Galvan and Puerto Belgrano, at ten tons per hour.

FUEL: All grades available ex-wharf or by barge.

COMODORO RIVADAVIA: 45.51 S. 67.27 W.

On the San Jorge Gulf, 947 miles South of Buenos Aires.

ANCHORAGE: Anchorage within the five or six fathom line offers little difficulty for regular work to lighters, but the reserved zone off the YPF pier must be respected.

RESTRICTIONS: Port should be entered at high water in daylight only.

MAXIMUM SIZE: Dry Cargo, Length 150 m., draft 15 ft. Tankers up to 30 ft. draft.

RADIO: For radio regarding free pratique, or reporting ETA call LPX 2, on 474 kc/s. This station transmits weather forecasts in English at 0400 and 1800 GMT. Radiotelegraphy 500 kHz. Radio telephone 4123, 8786, and 12,133 kHz.

TUGS: Not required.

CARGO: It is advisable to stow inwards cargo aft for this port, as lighters lying at hatches one or two receive little protection from sea and swell, and in any case, owing to the limited number of lighters, vessels usually work with two or three gangs at most.

To avoid loss of time, it is the custom in this port to leave the sling loads "as is" in the lighters and therefore a large quantity than usual of slings have to be hired from the Agents.

It is advisable to establish in Bills of Lading that lighterage is at the risk of the cargo.

National wharf. At the end of the breakwater built over the Punta Borja reef, and still unfinished. It is L shaped, presently 1,160 metres long, with 23′ at the extreme. Vessels can only go alongside in the last inner sections, with 15′ at zero. The breakwater gives some protection from the S.W. and S.E. winds, but vessels with large superstructure should not go alongside, and it is recommended to leave the pier after work is finished each day in case N. or W. winds blow strongly.

Apart from inward cargo, wool is shipped in quantities over this berth, where there is a Titan crane, now permissible up to 30 tons only two 9-ton electric cranes and two 5-ton steam cranes on the pier, which is also equipped with railway lines connected to the State Railway.

If working here to lighters, the best anchorage is in 25′ at zero, 700 metres from the wharf and with the light buoy at the end of the YPF mole bearing 329°.

YPF Mole also known as kilometre 3, is built over the Coronel reef a short distance north of the town. It has a length of 956 metres and 21′ at low water. It is used exclusively for discharging cargo consigned to YPF and for loading their oil and other products, so that special permission from YPF is required to operate here. There are two 15-ton cranes and one 4-ton crane on the mole.

The privileged zone extends 150 metres either side of an imaginary line projected from the mole, and 2,500 metres seawards, reserved for tankers loading YPF products, and other vessels cannot moor in this area. There are five mooring buoys, two each side of the mole near to its head, the fifth is 200 metres from the beacon at the sea end of the mole hearing 020°.

Kilometre 5. Three miles North of the town there is a wooden wharf, 75 metres long, with only 3′ at low water. Vessels using this wharf for discharge over lighters anchor 1¼ miles off the coast.

The wharf shows a fixed red light at its head and is used for cargo consigned to the Railways. There is one 8-ton electric crane and two 5-ton steam cranes on the wharf. With E. or S.E. winds the wharf cannot work.

TANKERS: The oil berths within the Comodoro Rivadavia port area are, from North to South:

A loading berth for crude, which can only operate by day. A minimum of twelve hours advance notice of arrival must be given to agents in Comodoro Rivadavia. There is a launch which assists in mooring to the four buoys, which are cylindrical painted black and clearly numbered. There is another cylindrical buoy, also black, but unnumbered marking the end of the line.

It is necessary to obtain, in advance, from the pumping station the regulations, instructions and signal code in use, signals which are made from a semaphore mast, 13 metres above sea level (land height 7·4 metres) both by day and night. There is a small wharf for landing of passengers, crew, etc., and a floating crane, capacity 30 tons. All supplies, water, etc., must be made through Comodoro Rivadavia.

Caleta Cordova, at 45° 43′ S. and 67° 21′ W. approximately, and some ten miles north of Comodoro Rivadavia, to which it is connected by phone. This is also a loading berth for crude. Four light beacons on shore indicate the entrance. Astra, showing its light at 40 m. elevation, Loma Blanca at 55 metres (white light). With these two lights in line the concrete block, in 34′ which sustains the end of the loading line, is 1,325 metres from Astra. Vessels should enter bearing these two lights or marks on 268° and anchor where the cross bearings of this line intersect with the line from the Novales beacon, a white light at 79 metres height, and Cordova, also a white light at 53 metres.

This point is 300 metres from the block or pillar, in 36′. Vessels then swing on their anchor to moor by the stern to the four moorings buoys. Anchorage is good, in spite of an uncomfortable sea with winds in the 1st, 2nd or 3rd quadrants. S.E. storms are dangerous, however, and it is necessary then to go out to sea at the first sign thereof.

There are two small wharves for small boats, in the S.W. of the bay, one for high and another for low-water, the latter being covered at half tide.

There is also a floating crane for heavy lifts, but as in Olivares, all supplies, etc., must be taken via Comodoro Rivadavia.

Caleta Olivia, the third oil-loading berth, is South of Comodoro Rivadavia at 46° 26′ S. and 67° 31′ W.

There are two petroleum intakes here, North and South, a mile apart, each well buoyed.

A small wharf, 70 metres long, is used for discharge of lighters or landing boats at high tide only. Stores are available here, and the small town is connected by phone with Comodoro.

WEATHER: Prevailing wind is offshore, but with fresh Easterly winds vessels must be prepared to leave their anchorage at any time.

Temperature. Summer maximum is 25·5° and minimum 13·4° C, while in Winter maximum averages about 11° and minimum 3°.

Tidal range. From 19·6′ to 7·4′.

WATCHMEN: Recommended. Normally arranged by Agent.

MEDICAL: Hospital available.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: Only sufficient for normal daily consumption on board. Custom House. Fully authorised for import/export cargo, including reception of explosives for commercial use.

REPAIRS: Urgent repairs can be carried out by the oil companies, and there is a permanent service of divers, equipped to operate to 150′.

CONSULS: British, Chilean, Dutch, Greek, Italian, Belgian and Spanish.

POLICE/FIRE/AMBULANCE: Regional Hospital 2451; Clinica Central 2282; Police 2778; Fire Brigade 2505.

MAR DEL PLATA: 38.00 S. 57.32 W. (See Plan)

APPROACHES: The port is some 3 miles South of the main town, sheltered by two breakwaters (Northern arm 1099 metres long, Southern arm 2750 metres, entrance, facing North 300 metres wide). Both breakwaters carry roads and access is open to all traffic, so that car head lights and street lighting can cause confusion at night on taking the Southern bearing.

DEPTHS: Currents constantly form a sandbank off the end of the Southern arm, which requires continuous dredging, and ruling depths are announced constantly by the authorities. Usual minimum depth on the bar is 22′ at zero, but under favourable conditions this may be up to 25′. This requires checking before committing a vessel near these limits, as in the past vessels drawing up to 30′ have entered and sailed. Tidal range is from 3·8′ spring to 1·2′ neaps, but sudden storms can destroy a month's dredging in hours.

There is often a heavy swell in this port, causing vessels to range in all berths, fenders being essential. It is safer to lie outside in 36′ to 42′ if awaiting berth than in the anteport within the breakwaters.

PILOTAGE: Pilotage compulsory. Pilots requested through Agent, or in emergency, direct to Prefecture Maritime Station frequency 500 kHz. ETA by radio to Agent required 24 to 48 hours in advance.

ANCHORAGE: Possible within two to three cables from port entrance. Bottom sand and mud. Occasional gales may be expected in winter months.

The best anchorage bears 191° on the Southern breakwater light beacon and 313° on the Cape Corrientes buoy, or even farther out. Holding ground is good and strong winds may safely be ridden out here, even with a big swell.

MAX. SIZE: Draft dependent on state of tide. Keel clearance of 2 ft. 6 in. required. Normal maximum draft 27 to 30 ft., or up to 33 ft. maximum in best possible conditions.

RADIO: For radio regarding free pratique or reporting ETA call LPM 2 on 512 kc/s. A2. English weather forecasts from Radio Pacheco, Buenos Aires, LPD 5, on 512 at 01.48 and 16.30 GMT.

TUGS: Towage compulsory for vessels in excess of 1,000 tons. Two tugs available controlled by Port Authority.

BERTHING: Big swell causes vessels to range, therefore Captains recommended have ready fenders for use at berth. Vessels can enter or sail any time day or night.

Basin A: Used only by fishing trawlers.
Pier Head No. 1 20 ft. depth.
Pier Head No. 2 30 ft. depth.
Basin C: Grain elevator 27 ft. depth.

There is considerable activity with the fishing fleet, consisting of some 300 coastal craft and 55/60 deep-sea trawlers, and the Southern part of the basin is reserved for the fishing boats. A protecting breakwater has been built out 280 metres long, from the inside of the Southern breakwater, 1,200 metres from land to minimise swell and to protect the fishing basin, and is also equipped with bunkering facilities for the fishing boats.

250 metres father North from this there is a quay, with two dolphins, in 22′ for discharge of Butane and or Propane gas, connected to the tanks inland.

There are three commercial basins in the port, the Southerly one being reserved for small fishing craft. The central basin originally had eight coastal berths, but now seems to be taken over by the trawlers. There is 22′ here.

The third basin has a length of 178 metres on the south side, and 300 metres on the North, all in 30′. On the Northern side there is a new grain elevator, with a loading capacity of 400 tons per hour on each of two belts, with a total of eight tubes available which can be divided between two vessels, or leave 4 or 5 available for one vessel. On the south side there are two loading towers for grain, capacity 350 tons per hour each.

On the inside of the northern breakwater arm, there is a berth for passenger/tourist vessels, admitting vessels up to 220 metres l.o.a. but with no facilities beyond those for landing tourists with vessel's gangway to a paved road. Depth alongside is 30′. Vessels at this berth must moor bow to the South, laying out their starboard anchor.

Floating crane. There is a 40-ton floating crane (Navy), present capacity 20 tons, and also four mobile two ton cranes.

MEDICAL: Assistance obtainable alongside. Captain should telegraph Agent in good time expected date and hour of arrival. Hospitals and sanatoriums.

DENSITY: Sea water.

FRESH WATER: Available, vessels must provide hoses, 2 in. diameter hydrants at following berths: Basin "B", sections 1 to 9, four hydrants: supply 7 tons/hour; and Basin "B", sections 11 to 14, seven hydrants: supply 10 tons/hour. No water boats. At Basin "C" 3 water intakes on South side. None on North side. Hoses hired at a conventional price. Watchmen to look after these, if water supplied during night. North breakwater wharf, three hydrants: supply 60 tons/hour.

FUEL: Bunkering in Basin "C", Pier Head No. 2, also Basin "B". Subject availability and permission from Govt. Oil Dept.

DEVELOPMENTS: Dredging to obtain depth of 30 ft. in channel and port.

WATCHMEN: Compulsory. Arranged by Agent.

STEVEDORES: Gangs engaged by Port Authority according to vessels requirements.

70 to 100 tons general cargo.

OPENING/CLOSING HATCHES: Can be performed by crew, but in any case subject to charter party terms.

CARGO: Loading marks. Vessels can load to their summer marks all year round if sailing northbound.

Import cargo. This is a fully authorised Custom house. Berth 6 in the central basin is the most appropriate berth for handling import cargo, there being little space on shore at the other berths. Berth seven, the pierhead here, has 30′ and is also reasonably suitable for discharging, but in the northern basin there is little or no room for depositing cargo alongside.

Import of Potatoes. Is permitted here, this being near the main potato growing region but permission must be obtained for the discharge of certified seed potatoes.

WEATHER: Wind. There is no really predominating wind, 42% being from W., N.E. and N.W., average velocity being 11 knots.

Rain. Rainfall averages 941 mm. evenly distributed.

Temperature. Summer maximum about 25° and 13° minimum, while in Winter the maximum averages 14° and minimum 3·5°. Absolute maximum and minimum are 41·6° and minus 6·7° C.

REPATRIATION: Can be arranged.

CONSULS: French, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish, Uruguayan.

AIRPORT: Six miles distant. Two regular lines: Austral and Aerolineas Argentinas, two services/day between Mar del Plata and Buenos Aires.

HOLIDAYS: None. Work every day during year.

TELEPHONES: No telephones are available on board or on the berth.

DELAYS: In accordance grain elevator capacity. Normally none.

PUERTO DESEADO: 47.46 S. 65.54 W. (See Plan)

988 miles South of Buenos Aires. The port is situated on the right bank of the river, and at its mouth. There is a meat packing plant.

APPROACHES: The approaches and entrance to the harbour are determined by two pairs of beacons as range or leading lights. Care must be taken not to confuse with installed portal cranes, each 18 metres high, with the beacons, which are painted the same colour.

There is 27′ on the bar, at low water: tidal range is 17·2′ to 6·2′.

PILOTAGE/ANCHORAGE: The Pilot will be on board, under standard instructions, but if for any reason he has to be picked up here, he will only come out about one mile, for lack of suitable craft. In such cases vessels should anchor in the roads at 47° 47′ 5″ S. and 65° 47′ 8″ W.

BERTHING: Vessels moor starboard side. Best time for entering is on an ebb tide and sailing on a rising ride, and for berthing within the hour of high tide. With a narrow entrance channel flow of tides often exceeds five knots. There is a mud and gravel bank almost opposite and slightly West of the wharf, some 200 yards out from it, with only 16′ at zero. When sailing, a back current runs inside the bank, and assists in opening the bows from the wharf. Vessels then usually steam across the bank, drop anchor on the outer edge and swing on the still rising tide until facing the entrance.

No tugs are available.

The fiscal wharf has been extended to 118 metres overall, in 27′, and there are two portal cranes on it, each 12 tons capacity. West of this, there is a space of 90 metres which is being filled-in to extend the wharf, and then a 62 metres concrete wharf also in 27′, but bearing 312° while the fiscal wharf is on 284°. Both sections of the wharf have wooden fenders and there is ample storage space. Rail connections have not yet been extended to the more Westerly section, where coastal vessels discharge direct to trucks.

RADIO: For radio regarding free pratique, or reporting ETA call LPO 5 on 461 kc/s. A1. For weather reports in English, tune Comodoro Rivadavia LPX 2, on 474 kc/s., at 04.00 and 18.00 GMT.

FUEL: Not available.

MEDICAL: Attention available.

REPAIRS: Minor repairs only.

WEATHER: Conditions are generally good, and winds seldom exceed 40 knots. If anchored awaiting Pilot or berth, care should be taken to watch for strong winds against the current. When a strong W. wind blows there can be heavy dust storms, which impede proper visibility; in such cases it is advisable to keep position by radar and stand off or anchor until the visibility improves.

Yearly average for winds is 14 knots, 63% of the time from W., S.W. or N.W.

Rainfall is low, 202 mm. yearly with an average 74 days a year evenly distributed. Maximum temperature in Summer months is 35·6° C, while in Winter maximum ranges to 15·6° and minimum to minus 8.6°.

PUERTO MADRYN: 42.46 S. 65.02 W. (See Plan)

BERTHING: When going alongside to take advantage of several hours work at suitable tides, vessels should go in very slowly as a precaution against winds, generally offshore but not too strong.

The new pier for the aluminium plant is 1,477 metres long, the first part consisting of a viaduct 1,133 metres long, 12 metres wide, of which 3 metres are for the installing of the conveyor belt for discharge of Bauxite. Then there is a general cargo berth, to the South side, 130 metres long and with 31′ to 37′, 55 metres wide, plus two dolphins which will permit vessels of up to 160 metres long and 30′ draft to operate. Between this berth and shore, in 20 to 24′ there is a second general berth for smaller vessels, or those awaiting berth.

To seawards is the bulk berth proper, 217 metres long, with 37′ at the shore end and 50′ at the other, and 34 metres wide, with four dolphins to take vessels of up to 220 metres in length and drawing up to 35/49′.

Discharge of Bauxite to be by elevator crane, with a discharge rate of 750 tons per hour in bauxite, or 600 tons per hour with petroleum coke.

Tonnages to be loaded are calculated at 280,000 tons of bauxite and 65,000 tons of coke, based on the initial output of 140,000 tons of aluminium. Production is likely to be early 1975.

PUNTA MEDANOS: About 280 km. South of Buenos Aires

QUEQUEN/NECOCHEA : 38.35 S. 58.42 W. (See Plan)

On the Atlantic Coast, 375 miles South of Buenos 'Aires, Necochea, is on the right bank, and Quequen, on the left bank of the Quequen river. The ports, whose administration is centred in Quequen, are the outlet for a very rich agricultural zone.

APPROACHES: The port is at the mouth of the river, protected by two breakwaters, the western arm being 1,192 metres long, lying from N.W. to S.E., and the easterly arm 572 metres long and lying North/South. The passage between the arms is 210 metres wide, and the entrance channel proper 100 metres wide. The channel is at present dredged at 27′ but improving constantly.

PILOTAGE: Pilots must be applied for as usual through Agents at least 24 hours ahead, using Radio Pacheco LPD 5 on 512 kc/s. A2, since there is no radio station at Quequen. This can be done by phone from Buenos Aires or other ports if vessels are not coming from abroad.

No Pilots will come out in bad weather. The small pilot boat is painted green, with a yellow deckhead, and the pilot comes abroad about 1½ miles off the South end of the breakwater.

ANCHORAGES: Not advisable to anchor in bad weather due extremely dangerous winds from West through South to East. Anchorage in open sea 800–1500 metres from cliffs.

RESTRICTIONS: Not permitted enter or sail at night. Vessels with length in excess of 175 metres require channel navigation permit obtainable from Maritime Prefecture.

| | |
|---|---|
| 150 metres o.a. | 26′ 07″ at zero |
| 175 | 26′ 02″ |

However, vessels lying close up to the dolphins often find less depth, as the dredgers could not work too close in. The pool inside the breakwater is at 30′ but as there are no buoys for mooring, it is safer for vessels to await their turn outside.

HEALTH: Free Pratique is now given only when alongside, or in the pool. Master should advise Agent in advance of health situation aboard. If proceeding from another Argentine port, health inspection not required. Deratisation certificate to be shown.

RADIO: For radio regarding free pratique, or reporting ETA call Radio Pacheco LPD 5, on 512 kc/s. There is no station here and advice to Agents can be given by phone or telegraph from Buenos Aires or other ports, also Costera del Mar de Plata (LPM).

TUGS: Two tugs must be used both on entering and leaving and these come alongside at the entrance, and are also needed for movements in the port. Both are old, however, and within sufficient power for anything other than work inside the port. Ship's lines used.

Two vessels cannot be in the entrance channel at the same time. Should the weather make it imprudent for the safety of the ship and/or tugs to make fast ropes in any position, the tugs will continue at the side of the vessel to be engaged when necessity arises. In every case tugs must be paid for, used or not, and any damage done by the non use or late engagement of the tugs will be attributable to the vessel.

BERTHING: Allotments of berths is effected by order of arrival, and vessels awaiting turn to load must do so in the outer roads until the pool inside the breakwater is fully dredged. Shippers consider the Outer roads as open sea, and will not accept Notice of Readiness until a vessel enters port.

There are only eight berths in the port, one of which is not yet in service. No work lying two abreast is possible, since the tubes will not do more than just reach, and with the restricted number of loading points only one vessel could work at a time.

Total storage capacity of grain in the port and anteport can be estimated at 600,000 tons.

Loading marks. Vessels are authorized to load to their summer marks all year round, provided they are northbound.

Movement inside the Port. At this port it is customary for the vessel lying second off to pay for the tugs attending her own movements. Vessels lying second off must shift to allow the inside vessel out, and then occupy the vacant berth, effect two movements, as there are only two tugs available. Of these two movements only one is charged to the vessel second off, but if either of the movements is in overtime, the extra is also charged.

Fenders. Good fenders are often needed in this port, although surge has diminished with the extension of the breakwater. It is recommended that these should be at least three feet thick.

QUEQUEN SIDE

Unit I National Elevator "Ministro de Tomaso" (Dolphins 3/4 5/6 l. h.)

This elevator, built by the Government, has a capacity of 80,000 tons, a loading bridge with 8 tubes but only four conveyor belts. Two vessels can load simultaneously. The berths consist each of 2 piers 10 metres wide and 70 metres apart, with 2 railway sidings (broad gauge) running parallel to them. There are twelve mooring bollards distributed between these landing places. A loading bridge has been constructed for the new berth from the Elevator Terminal, while it receives directly from an automatic truck discharging plant at 600 tons per hour, but this berth has not yet been put into service, and being at a slight angle it is feared will interfere with a vessel of more than 140 metres long loading at Dolphins 5 and 6.

Unit II (Ocean going vessels and Ultramar Prolongation)

On this wharf which is 350 metres long there are 12 mooring bollards and two large sheds, one of 7,650 tons storage capacity and the other of 16,000 tons. There are also 2 railway sidings running parallel to it. On the cliff at the back of the sheds there is an elevator of 14,000 tons connected to the Ultramar berth by a loading bridge 85 metres long. The Ultramar Prolongation berth has a loading bridge with 2 tubes and 2 conveyor belts, and is fed from adjacent piles and waggons. These two bridges are connected by an underground conveyor, load rate 230 tons per hour, each two vessels being to berth here, one tube each.

Unit III (Dolphins 1 & 2 r.h.)

Beyond Unit III, in the direction of the breakwater, there are 4 sheds with a capacity of 29,750 tons and two piers reinforced concrete, 10 metres wide and 70 metres distant from each other. A pipe line runs alongside the pier for the purpose of eventually discharging tankers. Beyond these two piers, and at right angles to them, a breakwater of 120 metres length has been built as a further protection to ships at this berth.

NECOCHEA SIDE

Unit IV (Coasting vessels: Dolphins 1, 2 & 3 l.h. and 4 & 5 r.h.)

Situated on the western bank of the river and consists of the following berths: (Coasting vessels) A concrete pier 300 metres long with 12 mooring bollards. There are three brick-built sheds known as "Galpones A, B & C" of 5,000 tons each. Two vessels can moor at the same time, and load bagged cargo depth between 18′ and 20′.

Dolphins 1, 2 & 3 l.h. and 4 & 5 r.h. consists of three piers 18 metres wide and 70 metres apart and two piers 18 metres wide and 70 apart respectively. There are two direct discharge lines for Fuel oil for the Power plant.

There are two sheds, Nos. 4 and 5 of 9,750 tons, one at each pier. Vessels can load bags or bulk by cutting bags on board. There are 7 mooring bollards distributed between two berths. These, however, are not used now for export movement.

The old railway bridge is now used for road traffic, and the railway crosses higher up the river. The previous road bridge has been cut in the middle, and the area between the two bridges is being converted into a fishing port, which in turn will ease the congestion in port, especially on the Necochea side where trawlers and fishing vessels presently operate.

BARROW ISLAND, W.A.: 20.49 S. 115.33 E. (See Plan)

DOCUMENTS: Refer to "Melbourne".
TERMINAL OPERATOR: West Australian Petroleum Pty Limited
LOCATION: The Barrow Island Tanker Terminal is a crude oil loading installation located on the east side of Barrow Island, Western Australia. The tanker moorings are located approximately 32,400 ft. offshore at latitude 20° 48′ 52″ South, longitude 115° 33′ 04″ East.
PILOTAGE: A terminal Mooring Master will meet and board tankers bound for the Island Tanker Terminal in approx. position tanks (conspc.) bearing 300° and two miles off the moorings. Tankers waiting to berth, etc., are requested to anchor in this position.
RESTRICTIONS: Vessels equipped with adequate searchlights may be berthed during the hours of darkness. Two × 12 in. reflector diameter searchlights, one fitted to each port and starboard wing of the bridge in such a manner as to provide a wide scanning range, are considered adequate. Tankers not fitted with searchlights, may berth in daylight hours only.

Slack water at the terminal moorings occurs approximately two hours after HW and LW at springs and 1½ hours after HW and LW at neaps. The direction of the flow is approximately 245° flood tide and 065° ebb tide, and attains a rate of approximately one knot at springs.

MAX. SIZE: The minimum depth of water in the berth is 46 ft. and an under keel clearance of 5 ft. is required. Tankers exceeding the following dimensions cannot be accommodated at the sea berth:

Deadweight tonnage (loaded): 70,000 tons
Overall length: 820 ft.
Moulded depth: 58 ft.
Draft: 41 ft. plus height of tide above Chart Datum.

HEALTH: Tankers arriving from foreign ports must make prior arrangements for quarantine and customs clearance through their Agents. Port Hedland, Western Australia, is the nearest port where customs and quarantine clearances can be obtained.

RADIO: All tankers proceeding to the Barrow Island Terminal shall notify the West Australian Petroleum's Perth Office, tel. 25–0181 or cable address "Wapet Perth", their estimated time of arrival, not less than ninety-six hours before arrival amending or confirming this ETA at intervals of forty-eight and twenty-four hours prior to arrival. A final ETA is to be confirmed twelve hours before arrival at Barrow Island. Failure to comply with the above procedure may result in a Berthing Master not being available on the tanker's arrival. Quantity and condition of ballast on board should be advised in original ETA message.

During normal daylight working hours, the Company's Marine Superintendent, Barrow Island, can be contacted by means of the International Maritime VHF radio-telephone. Frequencies in use are:

Channel 16: 156·8 Mc/s safety and calling
Channel 12: 156·6 Mc/s terminal operations; ship/shore
Call sign: "Barrow Island"
Channels 6 & 14 are also fitted.

At times other than normal working hours, contact may be made by pre-arranged scheduling. In all events tankers are required to tune their VHF sets to Channel 16 when within 100 miles of Barrow Island.

MOORING: Vessel berths at a seven-point conventional buoy mooring. Tankers must have at least one set of mooring bitts on the port and starboard sides at the after end of the main deck and a minimum of four sets of mooring bitts on the poop deck to which mooring lines and/or wires can be hove tight and made fast. Self-tensioning winches will not be accepted in lieu.

Both bow anchors are required to have a minimum of ten shackles of chain. All anchors and chains are to comply with the requirements of a Classification Society recognised by the Australian Department of Shipping and Transport.

Tankers should have sufficient mooring ropes and/or wire so that single or doubled up, they have a total breaking strain of 80 tons to each of the six mooring buoys. Six such lines or combinations not less than 120 fms in length are required.

Permanent 5-in. circumference wires are fitted to No. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 6 mooring buoys. These wires are provided to supplement the tanker's own lines relative to the prevailing weather conditions at the time. These wires are fitted with 110/200 ft. of 3⅛in. wire and 4½in. ×100 ft. Terylene messengers. A good ship's rope messenger is required to bring the 4½in Terylene messenger to the tanker's winch drum.

The sea line delivering the oil is 20 in. OD × ⅜in. steel pipe with a 2 in. thick concrete external coating. The line is terminated with 200 ft. of flexible submarine loading hose consisting of 150 ft. of 16 in. and 50 ft. of 12 in. hose. The sea end of the 20 in. pipeline is marked with a white spar buoy, and the pick-up end of the flexible hose is marked with a white cone buoy.

The submarine line is left full of crude oil between tanker arrivals. After picking up and connecting the hose, the system will be pressurised to about 25 psi. After the hose has been hoisted and secured at the ship's rail, the blank flange on the end of the hose assembly is removed and the hose connected to the tanker's manifold by the deck hose and the adaptor spool assembly previously delivered to the tanker by the mooring launch.

The tanker should furnish necessary personnel to perform all work involved in the connecting and disconnecting of the cargo hose. During these operations a senior officer must be present to approve the hose connections and supervise the tanker's crew members in this work.

25 ft. × 10 in. and 18 ft. × 10 in. deck hoses and 14 in. to 12 in. and 12 in. to 10 in. reducers are available.

All flanges are U.S.A., Standard. An adaptor from 10 in. diameter U.S.A.S. (flange pitch circle diameter 14¼ in.) to 10 in. diameter British Standard (flange pitch circle diameter 15 in.) is available.

BALLAST: There are facilities for receiving ballast from vessels loading at Barrow Island. Tankers are required to arrive ballasted to at least one-quarter of their deadweight. Owing to the time factor involved in pumping dirty ballast ashore, it is recommended that tankers arrive with clean ballast and preferably deballast concurrently with loading. However, if required, ballast on arriving tankers may be pumped to shore using ship's pumps through the 20-in. submarine line then through a 12-in. deballasting line to the ballast receiving pond. The following deballasting procedure is used at the Terminal:

After the hose has been connected, at least one-third of the cargo must be loaded before deballasting. Part of this oil is to be used to displace ballast from the submarine line after all the ballast aboard the tanker is pumped to shore. The line displacement of the 20 in. loading line is approximately 12,250 barrels (1,650 tons).

It is necessary to load at least one-third of the cargo before deballasting operations begin in order to keep the ship in as heavy a condition as possible and thereby minimise the effects of sudden changes in sea and weather conditions.

When the preceding operation is complete, deballasting operations start. When the oil-water interface is detected onshore, the stream is diverted from the crude oil storage tanks to the ballast receiving pond. Pumping of the ballast continues until all ballast is discharged from the ship.

At this time, the Barrow Island crude oil previously loaded is pumped into the line in order to displace all ballast from the submarine pipe-line.

When the water–oil interface is detected ashore, the stream is then diverted to the shore tanks and the ship's pumps are requested to be stopped. During the displacement operations, pumping rates should be kept as high as possible to keep line contents in a turbulent condition in order to sweep the line as clean of water as possible.

LOADING: CAUTION – Whilst loading, the flow of oil from the shore pumping station via the submarine pipe-line is not to be shut off by closing ship's valves or the pipe-line valve without prior approval of the Mooring Master. At least one tank is to be fully open to the inflow of oil from the submarine pipe-line at all times, and in order to reduce back pressure as many tanks as possible should be open during loading. In all events, the back pressure at the ship's rail is not to exceed 100 psi.

The loading pumps are rated to deliver a maximum of 17,000 bbls. per hour of crude oil to tankers with a nominal pressure of 50 psig at the ship's side.

Barrow Island crude oil has an approximate API gravity range of 35·5 to 37·1 and an approximate temperature range of 74°F to 98°F.

The Mooring Master is to be advised when 200 tons is required to complete loading so that pump motors can be eased down slowly, and again at 50 tons when the pumps will be stopped and loading completed by gravity. On completion of loading, the manifold valve is to be closed slowly to minimise the surge of oil in the pipeline and the consequent quick build up of back pressure.

Portable radios are supplied for communication between tankers and the Terminal. To minimise the possibility of a dangerous position arising due to an undetected radio failure, tankers are required to keep an hourly test call schedule with the Terminal at which time they should advise the Terminal of the rail pressure.

MEDICAL: No facilities at the Tanker Terminal.

FUEL: Not available.

REPAIRS: No facilities available.

CONSULS: None at Barrow Island.

(b) Where the berth is not available: 6 hours after the vessel drops anchor at a nearby anchorage. Laytime ceases for the period of time taken for the vessel to move from the anchorage and is resumed when the vessel is all fast at the berth.
(c) Where a vessel with inadequate lights arrives at night; 6 hours after daybreak following arrival or when the vessel is all fast at the berth – whichever occurs first.

BULK LOADING FACILITIES: Hamilton Wharf Berth No. 4; gross handling rate for loader is 700 tons per hour. Moveable conveyor system services 360 ft. of wharf.

Pinkenba Wheat Wharf; two belt conveyors serving seven loading spouts of which four can be used simultaneously. Nominal handling rate per hour is 1600 tons.

Rutile Sand: Stowage factor 18–20. Loading rate 7,000–9,000 tons per day.

This is a new plant on the old No. 2 wharf officially opened 17th Feb. 1973. A privately owned single traversing conveyor system with one loading head supplied from eight storage tanks each of approx. 2,500 tons capacity, together with additional supply from road transport as required to augment the tanks. A further storage is still to be built.

The "Shiploader" traverses 370 ft. along the wharf. The loading head has an endless belt type trimmer and telescopic chute for lowering into the hatch of the vessel being loaded and the trimmer has a throw of 30–50 ft.

In the stowed position the bottom of the trimmer is 28 ft. above the existing wharf level and has an extension of 54 ft. – this is 40 ft. beyond the edge of the wharf but does not take into account the vertical pile fendering which is approx. 1 ft. diameter logs, therefore outreach would be approx. 39 ft. When in the extended position the telescopic chute and trimming head can be lowered 45 ft. into the hatch – or 17 ft. below existing wharf level.

The trimming machine on the end of the telescopic chute is approx. 4 ft. square, and therefore cannot be used to load into underdeck grain spaces with the normal small "manhole" type loading holes.

Control is effected from a cab 52 ft. above the wharf level.

There is nobody from the installation on board the ship. Communication is by a telephone situated on one of the bogies at the foot of the travelling conveyor. Local union/labour troubles will not permit a telephone to be placed on the ship or even the use of "walkie-talkie's" as supplied to most ships. If a telephone or "walkie-talkie" is used the local unions demand stevedore labour be used.

Loading rate is expected to be approx. 1,500 tons per hour when the plant is fully run in, at present about 650–750 T.P.H. is being realised.

So far only sorghums have been handled, but the next cargo is expected to be woodchip, and mineral cargo as well as grain is expected to be handled in the future.

There is 32 ft. of water at LWOST alongside.

TANKERS: Two refineries at mouth of Brisbane River. Gas-freeing facilities not available, but chemist available to issue Gas-free Certificate. There are slop discharge facilities at both refineries.

Amoco Bulwer Island Refinery: on North bank, oil bunkering and export berth, 800 ft. length, 32 ft. depth LWOST.

Amoco Luggage Point Wharf: on North bank, crude import berth can accommodate vessels up to 770 ft. length. Berth length 900 ft. depth 40 ft. LWOST.

Ampol Refinery Wharf: on South bank, berth length 550 ft., depth 32 ft. LWOST. At Fisherman's Island, up to 40 ft. draft and berth length 810 ft.

Philips Refinery Wharf: can accommodate tankers up to 550 ft. length, depth alongside 30 ft. LWOST.

Shell Wharf: on North bank. Berth length 650 ft., depth 32 ft. LWOST.

PORT LIMITS: The waters in Milner Bay bounded by a line commencing at the HW mark on the N.W. coast of Groote Eylandt in position lat. 13° 50′ 05″ S. long. 136° 24′ 29″ E. and proceeding in a 260° 44′ 10″ direction to a point in lat. 13° 50′ 28″ S. long. 136° 22′ 3″ E. at the high-water mark on the East coast of Connexion Islet; thence by a line following the contour of the coast of Connexion Islet at the HW mark to "Boulder" in position lat. 13° 50′ 46″ S., long 136° 20′ 14″ E.; thence by a line bearing 151° 30′ to a position lat. 13° 53′ 34″ S. long. 136° 21′ 47″ E.; thence by a line bearing 80° 44′ 10″ to a point being lat. 13° 52′ 54″ S. long. 136° 25′ 58″ E. thence by a line following the contour of the coast at high-water mark to the point of commencement.

PILOTAGE: There is a Port Officer at Milner Bay who will assist Masters in berthing and departing from the jetty. Approaching Groote Eylandt from the Northwards, vessels should steer to a position 10 miles North of the North-east Islet, which is rocky on the Northern coast and rises to grassy hills. From the above position, steer to pass about 3 miles North of Chasm Islet until the recommended track on chart Aus. 14 is reached. This track 221° passes about 1 mile East of Brady Rock (light GP. FL. (3) ev. 12 seconds) and continues on this course until Hand Islet (FL. 5 secs.) bears 250° when the course should be altered to steer for Hand Islet on the recommended track (250°) until reaching the position to alter course to 195° to pass down the middle of Warwick Channel. It is recommended to remain on this course until reaching the patch south of Connexion Island.

If vessels enter via the Connexion passage, care must be taken to avoid the 3 fathom patch off N.W. Bluff and keep clear of the 27-foot patch about 3½ miles N.E. of Connexion Islet.

ANCHORAGE: Good holding ground is found 1 mile West of the jetty where there is a good sand bottom free of obstructions with about 40 ft. of water. Quarantine is granted at this anchorage.

MAX. SIZE: The maximum LOA is 700 ft. and max. breadth 96 ft. The maximum draft is 35 ft.

RADIO: The Port is able to communicate with vessels which are fitted with VHF radio through normal international Maritime Channels and the call sign is "Groote Eylandt". However, the shore station is only open during office hours unless prior telegraphic arrangement is made. Office hours are 0800 to 1645 Monday to Friday and 0800 to 1230 Saturday.

ETA's are required at least 72 hours 48 and 24 hours prior to arrival.

Telegraphic address is: Manager, GEMCO, C/-Hematite, Darwin. Telex AA70858. Or Manager, GEMCO, Alyangula, N.T. 5798. Radio telephone: Darwin 81–6589, or Cairns 3547.

PRATIQUE: Twenty-four hours before arrival at Milner Bay, vessel's Masters are requested to cable "QUARANTINE GOVE" stating their last port of call, date sailed, number of crew and nationality, any sickness on board and whether all smallpox and cholera vaccinations are current and valid.

BERTHING: The ore-loading jetty is situated in approximately 13° 56.5′ S. 136° 25′ E., with a depth of water alongside of 35 ft. MLWOST with a tide range of 6 ft. A small tug is available to assist in berthing vessels and a launch is provided for running lines. The jetty consists of a central landing 324 ft. long and 36 ft. wide, with two breasting dolphins on the North and South ends of the central landing. A roadway extends from the shore to the central landing, virtually parallel to and on the North side of the loading conveyor belt. As there is no tidal information for this area, the tidal direction should be checked with the shore prior to berthing, as the tidal stream is sometimes different half a mile from the jetty.

The line of dolphins is offset 8° from the jetty stem which runs out 1,350 ft. from the shore in a 249° 45′ direction so that care must be exercised in placing the vessel for loading. All breasting dolphins are fendered with vertical timbering. When berthing, vessels should keep well clear of the loading head in the centre of the jetty, as it is possible that a vessel on a too fine approach could cause damage to the loading boom with the flare of the bow.

Vessels must have rat guards in position at all times (except while shifting ship), otherwise they will be liable to a fine. As Groote Eylandt is a reserve this requirement is rigidly enforced.

Loading rate is 900–1,100 tons per hour and the vessel is required to shift ship to load each hatch as the loading boom is fixed. Shore labour is available to shift lines, etc., as required. Shore labour will not trim manganese ore, which is dump loaded from the conveyor.

FUEL: Not available.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: 200 cigarettes, one bottle spirits, three bottles of beer per man.

MEDICAL: There is a hospital and medical staff available if necessary. Valid vaccination certificates are required, covering the requirements of the Australian Government Department of Health.

FIRE PRECAUTION: A permanent fire-fighting facility is installed on the ore-loading jetty. It is an automatic system which starts as soon as a fire hydrant is turned on, and delivers a 140 psi through a 2½-in. hydrant with a 5 TPI V Thread connection.

All shore hoses are 2½ in. and are equipped with fog nozzles. Foam equipment is also available on the jetty with an output of approximately 1,000 gallons per minute. Fire-fighting lines on the jetty deliver salt water only.

TIME: Time kept is Northern Territory "Standard Time" GMT plus 9 hr. 30 min.

WEATHER/WIND/TIDE: Tides cause some eddying in both the Connexion and Warwick channels, but these cause no concern provided normal care is exercised.

Prevailing winds from May to October are South-east and blow strongly at times during the day but ease off considerably after sunset.

There are occasional heavy fogs in the area in June and July in the early morning and these sometimes persist until 1000 or 1100 hours.

From November to May the wet season prevails with winds blowing mainly from the S.W. with heavy rains and, occasionally, more than moderate seas.

REPATRIATION: Can be effected to most countries from Groote Eylandt via Darwin which is regularly serviced by British Airways and Qantas. All necessary bookings and reservations are easily made through the local airline office and seamen's discount fares, where applicable, and utilised.

AIRPORT: MacRobertson Miller Airlines operate a daily jet service to Darwin, Monday to Friday, flying time is approximately one hour.

Bush Pilot Airways operate two flights per week on Tuesdays and Fridays to Cairns, Queensland. Flying time is approximately four hours, in twin engined light aircraft.

ACCOMMODATION: Visitors accommodation in the GEMCO township of Alyangula, is severely limited and shipowners who are arranging for a change of personnel at Groote Eylandt are requested to ensure that the arrival of crew members at Groote conincides as closely as possible with the arrival of the vessel.

NOTARY PUBLIC: The Mission Superintendent at Angurugu is a Notary Public.

MARINE SERVICE: A privately operated service provides marine advisory assistance to ships bound for Northern Territory and Gulf of Carpentaria ports, mainly Gove and Groote Eylandt, and details may be obtained from Carpentaria Marine Services, 94 Pie Street, Aspley, Brisbane, Queensland 4034. Tel.: Brisbane 595977. Cables: "Carpenserv Brisbane", or Gove Office: POB 469, Nhulunbuy, NY 5797.

HOLIDAYS: Cargo worked on most holidays by arrangement.

SHORE LEAVE: The area is a nature reserve and shore leave is allowed provided the vessel has a permit which is supplied by the agent on berthing.

AUTHORITY/AGENT: The Groote Eylandt Mining Company Pty. Ltd. act as ships' Agents in all cases.

DOCUMENTS:

| | No. of copies required |
|---|---|
| Form M & S 11 (List of crew) | Two |
| Form 42A (Store List) | One |
| Form C & E 886 (Ports of call) | Three |

Of the above, Forms 42A and 5 need only be compiled at first port of call in Australia. Passenger – individual Passenger Cards are utilised therefore no list of passengers required. Agents require seven copies of Manifest of cargo on board and at least one set copies Bills of Lading. These normally received by airfreight or airmail direct from Agents at loading port outside Australia therefore not necessary for Masters to be in possession of either Manifest of cargo on board or appropriate copies of Bills of Lading.

PILOTAGE: Two vessels, Wyuna and Akuna, one of which kept on station outside Port Phillip Heads, within limits of cruising station, except for short periods when making shore contacts and from 0900 to 1100 local time each Monday. Wyuna has two masts, buff coloured hull and funnel with white painted superstructure.

The Akuna relief pilot vessel, steamship, one mast, buff coloured hull, funnel and white painted superstructure. Pilot vessel on station exhibits by day from foreyard mast, horizontal striped flag, upper half white and lower half red. At night lights as prescribed in International Collision Regulations for a pilot vessel over 65 ft. in length.

Cruising Station: Cruising station extends seaward to 15 miles 221° from centre of fairway between Port Phillip Heads, from which position the Western boundary extends in 334° direction towards coast at Zealey Point, and Southern boundary in 092° direction towards Cape Schank until Arthur's Seat bears 050°, which line towards coast forms Eastern boundary of station. Generally, pilot vessel cruises from 2 to 5 miles 225° from Point Lonsdale Lighthouse in order keep Westward of confused seas caused by tide race through entrance.

Radio message sent direct to pilot vessel 24 hours prior to arrival advising ship's deepest draught and estimated time of arrival at Port Phillip Heads, subject to confirmation pilot vs. If not in sight, vessels stand off at least 5 miles from Point Lonsdale and make inquiries addressed by visual signals or VHF radio telephone to Point Lonsdale Signal Station.

ANCHORAGE: Quarantine Anchorage: if, from Quarantine Regulations, southerly gales, or other causes, it is necessary to anchor off Quarantine Station, a vessel drawing more than 20 ft. should anchor to Northward, with jetty bearing 195°, in depths of from 48 to 54 ft., from 3 to 6 cables off-shore; and at night in white sector of jetty light, visible from 126° through South to 195°, preferably with that light bearing 180°, and Point Lonsdale light bearing 280°.

Symonds Channel Anchorage: good anchorage clear of all fairways, in red sector of Low light, and well to windward of southern shore in northerlies, is to be had in the middle of Symonds Channel close to its Southern end. A good berth is in a depth of about 40 ft. with Queenscliff High Light bearing 286°, and No. 3. (Tuckey) West Channel in transit with Coles Channel Light. Queenscliff Anchorage: in anchoring off Queenscliff, care should be taken to keep clear of West Channel fairway by bringing up as near as possible to Northwestern side of channel. A good berth in a depth of 38 ft. and in red sector of Low light, may be obtained with High Lighthouse bearing 284° distant half a mile, and fixed green light at Queenscliff South pier head bearing 336°.

Vessels awaiting berths in the Port of Melbourne are normally directed to anchor at pilot's discretion South of Gellibrand light and clear of the Melbourne ship channel.

RESTRICTIONS: Mean Tidal Range is 0·50 m. and mean of all High Waters for 1972 was 0·76 m. Tide is used for the navigation of vessels having drafts in excess of those given in Column 4 of "Max. Size". For the navigation of channels, a minimum under keel clearance of 0·6 m. is required for vessels drawing up to and including 10·9 m. and a clearance of 0·9 m. for vessels having a draft between 10·9 m. and 12·2 m. Vessels over 183 m. in length. Pilots require 10% of maximum draft under keel clearance to navigate River Channel at all times, subject to draft restriction in Column 5 "Max. Size".

MAX. SIZE:

In the Port of Melbourne, draft and length limitations for navigation of vessels are determined by the Port Philip Sea Pilots, and these divisions are outside the jurisdiction of the Port Authority, the Melbourne Harbour Trust Commissioners.

BRIDGE: Clearance under Westgate Bridge is 53·6 m. at LW.

PRATIQUE: All overseas vessels at first port of entry to Australia or at any subsequent ports, subject to quarantine until pratique granted or until vessel released from quarantine. If examinations and inspections satisfactory vessel granted pratique for all Australian ports, provided all on board have satisfactorily completed Certificate of Vaccination within last three years, or if vessel is fourteen days or more from date of departure from last overseas port. A list of names and addresses of passengers also required at first port of entry. 24 hours quarantine clearance of overseas vessels available. Treatment of crew members for illnesses other than quarantinable diseases arranged by private practitioners through ship's Agent.

Radio Pratique: Concession of Radio Pratique is to all vessels carrying surgeons, provided these officers medical graduates of a university. Following requirements to be met in the case of a vessel requiring Radio Pratique.

(a) (1) ETA.

(2) that individual inspection of all persons on board has been made by Ship's Surgeon within twenty-four hours of expected time of arrival and no cases of quarantinable diseases or varicella in an adult or coloured person, not associated with cases in children, then existed on board or had occurred or had been on board within previous fourteen days: and

(3) that all members of crew currently satisfactorily vaccinated against smallpox (i.e. not less than eight days nor more than three years previously in the case of revaccination) and a satisfactory Vaccination Register is kept on board;

(4) that all passengers over age of 12 months have been satisfactorily vaccinated against smallpox before embarkation and are in possession of current valid International Certificate of Vaccination against smallpox (i.e. all certificates, duly authenticated, show that vaccination has taken place not less than eight days nor more than three years previously in the case of primary vaccination and not more than three years previously in the case of revaccination) except those who before embarkation submitted a medical certificate stating that they have a medical disability which would make vaccination inadvisable and except those who before embarkation signed a statutory declaration stating that they object to vaccination on religious grounds.

(b) Commonwealth Director of Health will advise master by wireless whether Radio Pratique is granted or not.

(c) A vessel granted Radio Pratique will fly "Q" flag by day and Quarantine signal by night and will on arrival at quarantine anchorage be boarded by Quarantine Officer with Immigration and Customs Officers. Quarantine Officer will inspect crew Vaccination Register and passenger manifest on which must be stated full name, address in Australia and vaccinal status of each passenger and will see cases of illness brought to notice by Ship's Surgeon, including all cases infectious disease and will receive Primary Health Report. If no cases of illness as referred in sub-paragraph (a) (2), Quarantine Officer will confirm Radio Pratique and issue Pratique Certificate for all ports. Master will not be required to submit Supplementary Health Report at subsequent ports. When Pratique confirmed, "Q" flag may be lowered.

(d) Notwithstanding that pratique for all ports may have been granted, Master will still be responsible for reporting any case of infectious diseases which may subsequently occur whilst vessel in Australian waters.

Should a case of infectious disease (not being a quarantinable disease or varicella in an adult or coloured person not associated with cases in children) occur on board whilst vessel at sea in Australian waters Master will be required to advise by radio Commonwealth Director of Health for State in which next port situated, who will arrange for a Quarantine Officer to see case on arrival, Master will not be required to fill in a Supplementary Health Form and vessel will be permitted to proceed direct to berth without flying "Q" flag.

Should a case of suspected quarantinable disease or a case of varicella in an adult or coloured person occur on board whilst at sea in Australian waters, Master required radio details to Commonwealth Director of Health for State in which next port situated and await instructions. Commonwealth Director of Health will decide according to circumstances whether inspect vessel outside Quarantine Line or permit it to proceed to berth and will advise Master.

(e) Should it come to notice in any particular case that Radio Pratique has been granted as a result of a wireless message sent in accordance with sub-paragraph (a) whereas in fact wireless message contains false information, matter will be investigated throughly and reported to the Director General of Health who will decide whether Radio Pratique will be denied in future to vessels on which Master and the Ship's Surgeon hold responsibility.

RADIO: Melbourne Radio VIM.

A Shipping Control Centre referred to as "Harbour Control" is established on the southern side of Victoria Dock entrance. It is a two storied structure supported on a rectangular tower with an overall height of 39·6 m. Traffic signals are exhibited at a height of 36·6 m.

Movement of traffic within the Port of Melbourne is controlled by the Harbour Master through Control Officers operating from this Centre who direct all shipping movements in and out of the port, and co-ordinate all ancillary services connected with shipping movements on a 24 hour basis.

The radio call sign is "Harbour Control", and the following frequencies and channels are available—

156·3 mHz Channel 6 used generally for Interstate Shipping.
156·4 mHz Channel 8 pilots and tugs (continuous watch).
156·6 mHz Channel 12 working.
156·8 mHz Channel 16 calling (continuous watch).

When approaching the Port of Melbourne radio communication is made with "Harbour Control" initially on Channel 16 and then on a channel as directed for berthing instructions and information regarding the movement of other vessels. The Master of a vessel proceeding inwards shall not pass Gellibrand Pile Light until permission has been granted by Harbour Control. Breakwater Signal Station may be used as an alternative to communicating with "Harbour Control".

TUGS: Tugs attend for inward-bound vessels at or in vicinity of Gellibrand Light for vessels proceeding either up River or to Port Melbourne berths. On departure and should vessels require attendance down river, service terminated in vicinity of river entrance. Tugs present for service at any point required by Owner or Agent. Ships lines, or tug lines at charge of A$10.00. Crews of tugs will not accept wire tow line. Wire tow line with rope end of 5 or 6 fathoms acceptable, rope section being available for tugs towing hook.

APPROACHES: Port Hedland, entered between Airey Point (Lat. 20° 18′ S. Long. 118° 35′ E.) and Hunt Point, about 3¼ cables N.N.W., is a secure harbour with dredged channel giving a depth of 12·8 metres below datum, a turning basin with a depth of 8·84 metres below datum, and a small craft anchorage with depths of 5·18 metres. The channel extends some 7¾ miles seaward from the turning basin and is defined by beacons, buoys and leading marks.

The most conspicuous object in daylight is the Crushing Plant owned by the Mt. Newman Mining Company. This plant is 47·24 metres above sea level, and is of oblong shape, situated 095° (T) by 1,383·74 metres from the Shipping Control Tower at Lat. 20° 19′ S.

*United Kingdom Passports may be held for surrender only if grantee is agreeable, otherwise an Australian Identification card must be available.

Masters are reminded that crew members' travel documents and Commonwealth of Australia Forms M315, where applicable, are to be retained in the custody of the Master at all times and are to be produced to Customs Boarding Officers upon demand.

PILOTAGE: Pilotage is under the control of the Harbour Master and is compulsory for all overseas vessels and for Australian vessels over 6,500 grt. Pilots will board vessels either by helicopter or pilot boat.

(a) Within the hatchtop area there shall be a termination area consisting of a square having sides with a minimum length of 38 ft. 6 in.

(b) Surrounding the termination area there shall be an area not less than 35 ft. in width in which there shall be no obstructions likely to hazard the rotor-systems.

(c) The combined termination area and obstruction free area shall constitute the helipad area.

(d) Within the termination area there shall be no obstructions likely to hazard the flotation systems.

(e) The touchdown area shall be so situated within the termination area that when the floats are positioned within the touchdown area, the main rotor shall be contained within the termination area.

(f) The perimeters of the termination area shall be masked with white reflective tape having a minimum width of 5 in. (under review). This tape is made by the 3M Company and is designated Scotch Lane Brand Pavement Marking Stripe No. 5620 and comes in 150 ft. rolls. A primer No. 4448 will be required to give suitable adhesion.

(g) Any minor obstruction on the hatchtop shall be marked in a distinctive colour.

(h) The approach paths to the helipad and across both sides of the ship shall be free of obstructions above hatchtop level.

(i) The helipad shall be illuminated with flood lights positioned at both wings of the ship's bridge with the beams crossing over the helipad.

All crew members should be kept clear of the landing area and should not attempt to approach the helicopter unless requested to do so. When the pilot has disembarked an officer should be available to guide the pilot to the bridge.

Vessels which are selected for night operations will be visited by the helicopter pilot who will indicate the precise markings required and will advise Masters with regard to any questions that they might have. The helicopter to be used is a Bell 471–2A weighing, 2,200 lb.

It is most important that a lee be given to allow the Pilot to board, whether the vessel be under way or at anchor. In the latter case with the anchor still down, a steady ahead movement on the engines with the helm hard over usually affords the necessary lee. Failure by the Master to afford a lee may result in the Pilot being unable to board, with consequent delay.

Vessels will be advised of Pilot Boarding and in the interest of expediency whenever required, vessels should be under way before the Pilot boards. Pilot ladders should be clean and properly constructed, fitted with spreaders to prevent turning and spacing pieces to maintain treads in a horizontal position. Manropes of 3 in. Manila should be rigged on each side of ladder and the full length thereof.

Where pilot ladders are led over bulwarks, suitable stanchions should be rigged and steps provided inboard. In addition to cleanliness of the pilot ladder on arrival, the gangway or accommodation ladder must be washed down after completion of loading, before the Pilot boards for departure.

Unless the ladder is satisfactorily washed down and free of ore dust, Pilot may refuse to board with resultant loss of time and expense until ladder is washed down to Pilot's satisfaction. Failure by Masters to comply with these requirements in the past in Australian ports has resulted in delays and off-hire situations in the case of time chartered vessels, heavy fines for the Master plus court costs and substantial compensation for the injured against the owners.

ANCHORAGE: Vessels should anchor North of a line between Spoil Ground Buoy (flash red every 20 seconds) and No. C 6, as the area immediately North of this line is the pilot boarding area. The bottom is sandy but the holding ground reported to be good.

A prohibited anchorage exists, bounded as follows: From No. 15 buoy (20° 14′ 46″ S. 118° 34′ 00″ E.) 309° 1·63 miles, thence 046° 2·00 miles, thence 180° 2·31 miles to No. 16 Beacon (Lat. 20° 14′ 4″ S. Long. 118° 34′ 00″ E.)

RESTRICTIONS: All channels from seaward as far as the Swinging Basin are dredged to 12·8 metres below datum, and 183 metres wide in the straight sections, widening to 244 metres on curves. The N.W. section of Swinging Basin is dredged to 8·84 metres below datum. Total width of Basin is 600 m.

MAX. SIZE: Maximum size vessels entered: Length 1030 ft. dw 167,000 LT. Draft 55 ft. Vessels over 925 ft. are normally not handled at night.

| Draft of vessel | Clearance inside harbour | Clearance outside harbour |
|---|---|---|
| Up to 12·3 | 1·0 metre | 1·2 metres |
| 12·3 to 12·5 metres | 1·2 metres | 1·5 metres |
| 12·5 to 13·1 metres | 1·2 metres | 1·8 metres |
| 13·1 metres and over | 1·2 metres | 2·1 metres |

Arrival Draft: The Harbour Master has instructed that vessels arriving at Port Hedland should trim to 17 ft. forward, and 21 ft. aft for 50,000 tonners, increasing to 24 ft. forward and 26 ft. aft for 100,000 tonners. Other vessels should retain maximum ballast and advise their draft to the Harbour Master, 24 hours prior to arrival.

PRATIQUE: The Quarantine Officer will board by the gangway which should be turned out and rigged ready for lowering prior to entering the harbour. Vessels should show the appropriate pratique signals whether by day or night. Only in exceptional cases at the convenience of the Health Department will vessels be boarded by the Quarantine Officer to seaward of Hunt Point. The Quarantine Office will inspect the crew on arrival at the berth.

Vessels may be cleared at any time during the day or night subject to the Quarantine Officer being available and willing to do the clearance, and providing the Master forwards a radio message not more than 24 hours before arrival giving following details.

(b) Confirmation that the Master has individually inspected all on board within 24 hours of arrival and that there are no cases of febrile illness (high temperature or fever) or skin rashes on board.

(c) Particulars of any cases of illness on board.

(d) Confirmation that all persons on board are satisfactorily vaccinated against smallpox (i.e. vaccinated not less than 8 days and not more than 3 years previously in the case of primary vaccination and not more than 3 years previously in the case of revaccination). A vaccination register, signed by the Master or individual international certificates for all crew members, must be retained on board, and all passengers should have International Certificates of Vaccination.

Vessels may proceed direct to the berth to await clearance there, subject to the requirements specified above, and providing that adequate security is provided to ensure that there is no contact between ship and shore prior to the granting of pratique. Under no circumstances must anybody be permitted to leave the vessel and have contact with shore until the vessel has been granted pratique. This also includes the Pilot. There is no objection to the Pilot, Customs and Immigration Officers boarding the vessel before the

If the Quarantine Officer is not available because of medical emergencies ashore, the vessel may be permitted to go alongside and commence loading, providing there is no physical contact between any person on the ship with the shore, until pratique is granted, excepting the special provisions made in the preceding paragraph. Rat guards are required on all mooring lines.

RADIO/VHF: Vessels trading Japan to Port Hedland use Sydney, Darwin and Broome Radio Stations. There is no Radio Station in Port Hedland. Broome Radio transmits navigation warnings including alterations to buoy positions in the approach to Port Hedland.

Vessels bound for Port Hedland should advise the Harbour Master 48 hours and 24 hours before their arrival, indicating their draft, fore and aft, and last port. A continuous watch is kept in the Port Shipping Control Tower, which is fitted with VHF, and vessels should call "Port Hedland Harbour" on Channel 16, 2 hours before arrival at anchorage to confirm their ETA and in order that they may be kept acquainted with berthing instructions and the movement of other vessels. The Tower will also assist ships by giving them their bearing and distance by radar from the Tower. No ship may enter the dredged channel or depart from any berth without permission from Port Control. Signals will be exhibited from the Tower at night to indicate if the port is closed and the state of the tide. The height of tide is no longer indicated, but such information is available and will be transmitted to vessels by VHF or Aldis upon request.

Vessels equipped with VHF should guard Channel 16 (156·8 Mc/s) when in range of Port Hedland, and also whilst at anchor. This channel is in direct communication 24 hours a day with Port Control (call sign "Port Hedland Harbour") and will avoid superfluous launch trips to advise Masters of changing conditions. Visual signals may be used in addition to a constant VHF watch. Should the Master of a vessel at anchor wish to communicate by VHF with another vessel, then he must first advise "Port Hedland Harbour" who will allot him a working channel.

TUGS: Five tugs, each of 2,400 h.p., are available. A sixth anticipated. Line-running launches and ferries are also available. Two small tugs of about 350 h.p. are also available.

BERTHING: Due to the tidal range and strength of current, ships over 10,000 tons dwt. do not sail on the ebb tide. When the tidal range is more than 19 ft. no ships sail on the ebb. Vessels usually berth close to low or high slack water.

Goldsworthy Pier: This is situated on the Western side of the Harbour on Finucane Island, and lies South-west of Hunt Point Beacon (No. 29). The face of the jetty extends over a distance of 177 metres, and lies in the line 017–197° (T) and consists of six breasting dolphins, each of which has a floating fender unit. There are two dolphins ahead and astern of the jetty to facilitate the mooring of vessels. These dolphins are set back from the line of the berth face and have no fenders.

The distance from the No. 1 or North Dolphin to the No. 10 or South Dolphin is a total of 378 metres and the dredged mooring basin 366 metres long, 61 metres wide, has a depth of 15·85 metres below datum. The shiploader has an overall length of travel of 180 metres and a maximum capacity of 4,500 t.p.h.

Fresh water and fuel are not available at this berth.

Vessels will normally berth port side to, heading out to sea. Ship's gangways should be rigged prior to berthing on the off-side as gangways are not acceptable on the jetty. A launch service is available to ferry personnel to the town. Ship's personnel are not allowed on the loading facility. Provision for a future second loading berth ahead of the existing jetty has been made.

No. 1 Berth completed August 1974. This landbacked berth lies in a 350°–170° direction and has a length of 213 m., with a mooring dolphin 58 m. from the Northern end. Depth alongside is 12·2 m. A dry cargo storage shed adjacent to the berth has a floor area of 5,300 sq. ft. and general cargo will be handled by fork lift vehicles to and from the vessel. Provision for tanker berthing. Provision for heavy lift crane/and/or bulk handling installation in the future.

Stack load on berth 3,418 kg/m$^2$. Fork lift capacity 27·2 m/t. Max. axle loading 8 tonnes on dual axle. Raykin fender system.

No. 2 Berth: A wooden jetty at Mangrove Point forms No. 2 Berth. The jetty runs in a direction 345°–165° (T) for a distance of 121 metres. Depth alongside is 6·7 metres below datum, but siltation does occur and this may, at times, be reduced.

Cargo is handled by fork lifts and/or road trucks to a cargo receival shed a short distance away. The berth is equipped to receive bulk fuel. Limited grades of bunkers and fresh water are available. Fresh water can be supplied at the rate of 35 tons per hour, and bunkers at 80 t.p.h. Amounts of 200 tons of water are always available, and vessels requiring more than this are requested to give at least 48 hours prior notice, through their Agents.

The No. 2 Berth is also used for the loading of manganese by means of a bulk loader giving a loading rate of approximately 200 t.p.h. The loader has a small range of travel and it is usual for the ship to warp itself up and down the wharf as required. On the ebb tide, strong currents run through the Southern end of this berth at approximately 45 degrees to the line of the wharf. Masters must ensure that mooring lines are properly tended at all times as, in addition to the strong currents, large iron ore carriers of up to 160,000 tons dwt. pass this berth. A pipe-line for loading bulk drilled mud is fitted and is operated by a private company.

No. 3 Berth: No. 3 Berth is situated to the South of Mangrove Point and runs in a 117°–297° (T) direction for a distance of 183 metres, with dolphins 46 metres ahead and astern to facilitate the mooring of vessels. There is a mooring basin 274 metres in length dredged to 12·20 metres below datum alongside the berth and dolphins.

Cargo is handled by form truck into the sheds or storage area at the rear of the shed, or loading direct into road truck. The full length of the wharf is protected by a fender system.

A mechanical bulk-loading facility is operated by the Leslie Salt Company on this wharf. The loader has a capacity of 1,500 t.p.h.

Mount Newman Piers A and B: These two berths form a continuous line running in a 117°–297° (T) direction from a position immediately South of No. 3 Berth towards Nelson Point. Pier A is the Northward berth and extends for a distance of 305 metres, the depth alongside being 18·29 metres. Pier B, the Southward berth, has a length of 353 metres and is dredged to a depth of 17·07 metres below datum.

The two shiploaders are fully retractable and have an average capacity of 6,000 t.p.h. each. No. 1 loader, at "B" Berth, has a boom reach of 28 metres from the wharf face, and the height of the underside of the loader is 23·5 metres above datum. Loader No. 2, "A" Berth, has a boom reach of 29·6 metres and a height above datum of 26·5 metres. Vessels will normally swing on entry and berth starboard side to on these berths. Starboard gangways should be rigged prior to arrival so that no delay is incurred in the boarding of Quarantine and Customs Officials on berthing.

Bunkers are not available on these berths.

MEDICAL: Medical attention may be arranged through the Agent. No person will be attended unless he is provided with a letter from the Master authorising such treatment. All charges incurred will be charged to the vessel.

DENSITY: Average 1026.

REPAIRS: Minor repairs only can be effected. Radio and radar technicians, electricians, plumbers, welders and divers are available. There are a number of machine shops and a foundry is being constructed. Sand-blasting equipment and fumigation facilities are available.

STOWAGE FACTORS: Basis most recent experience, stowage factors of iron ore cargoes loaded at Port Hedland have been approximately as follows, per ton of 2,240 pounds: Lump ore approx. 15 cubic ft. Fines approx. 13 cubic ft.

However, as these factors sometimes vary from cargo to cargo, it is recommended that Masters check with loading Agents for each shipment before finalising stowage plans.

If the Master wishes to anchor outside prior to proceeding to sea, he must advise the Pilot when leaving the berth, and the Pilot will advise suitable anchorage. The Master will advise the Pilot estimated time of departure in order that this may be reported to the Port Control.

Delays of port operations, including delays of other vessels waiting for berth, caused by a vessel which for any reason is not prepared and able to move from the berth when so ordered, are chargeable to the vessel which causes such delays.

PORT KEMBLA, N.S.W.: 34.28 S. 150.54 E. (See Plan)

PORT LIMITS: In the absence of any specific clause in the Charter Party, the local custom is that a vessel, having obtained pratique, is considered to be an "arrived ship" when it is anchored off the port.

PILOTAGE: Pilotage is compulsory for all foreign vessels and Australian Masters without an exemption; this service operates 24 hours per day. When entering or leaving the Inner Harbour, the Pilot requires 3 ft. clearance under the keel. Pilots equipped with VHF.

The pilot boarding station is at the Wollongong Head Light House, bearing 310° – distance 1·25 miles from Harbour entrance.

RESTRICTIONS: An artificial harbour, formed by two breakwaters with an entrance of 1,000 ft. and a depth of 50 ft. ISLW at the entrance. Leading from the Outer Harbour there is an inner harbour basin, which is entered through a 370 ft. wide channel, having a depth of 36 ft. ISLW. The port consists of two harbours, locally referred to as the Outer Harbour and the Inner Harbour. In the Outer Harbour the swinging basin is approximately 1,500 ft. with a minimum depth of 35 ft., and in the Inner Harbour the swinging basin is approximately 1,200 ft. with a minimum depth of 36 ft. Major deepening has already commenced at the Inner Harbour. It is intended to deepen the entrance channel from the Outer Basin to the Inner Basin to 50 ft. and the Inner Harbour Discharge Berths to the same depth. The Coal Berth and the Multi-purpose Berth to be dredged to 43 ft. This work is anticipated to be completed by the end of 1975.

RADIO: A continuously manned communication centre maintains constant contact with the Pilot, pilot tender, tugs and launches. In addition, a VHF radio-telephone system (operated by the Central Control Point in Sydney) provides communication for vessels at sea or under the control of a pilot.

Whilst anchored off the port of Port Kembla, it is necessary to maintain radio watches, as officially a vessel is at sea until entering the breakwaters into the port.

TUGS: At the present time three tugs are available, 24 hours per day, provided previous notification is given.

BERTHING: Point Samson

Neck approach to jetty is 2,269 ft. long extending then to berths, one on each side of spring piling system on each side of jetty. Heavy coir moorings are used in conjunction with ship's moorings as a precaution against swell conditions.

Vessels berthed "head in" and extra mooring arrangements enable vessels of up to 475 ft. to be moored alongside, but with vessels in excess of 400 ft. in length, No. 1 hatch cannot be used, either for loading or discharging. Although minimum depth of 22 ft. of water in normal berth, at LWOST it shallows to shoreward and vessels over 400 ft. should only allow a depth of 18 ft. forward.

Cape Lambert

Cape Lambert Service Jetty is owned by Cliffs Western Australian Mining Co. Pty. Limited. The neck is 1,500 ft. long and the berthing head is 510 ft. long. Off each end of the head is a mooring dolphin some 90 ft. away. This permits a vessel of about 600 ft. long to berth. There is a minimum depth of 30 ft. at LWOST. The height of the jetty, above LWOST, is 35 ft. Cargo is handled by ship's gear. The jetty is designed for road transport only.

Ore Jetty owned and operated by Cliffs Western Australian Mining Co. Pty. Ltd. extends about 1¼ miles into the sea, double-sided and capable of handling ships up to 150,000 dwt. The depth of water on the South side, 57 ft. The depth of water on the North side, 63 ft. There is a single ship loader operating at 6,000 tons per hour.

CARGO GEAR: See "Melbourne".

FUEL: Not available.

TIME: GMT plus 8 hours.

AUTHORITY: Harbour and Light Department, PO Box 402, Fremantle, is the authority with local authority being the Harbour Master, Harbour and Light Department, Box 21, PO Roebourne.

DOCUMENTS: Refer to Melbourne.

PILOTAGE: Compulsory except for exempt Masters. Pilot boards ¼ to ½ mile from main breakwater.

Approach from the West: A safe course into Portland Bay can be maintained by rounding Lawrence Rocks at a distance of 1½ miles and altering until a course of 330° can be steered, which will clear the Southern side of the Bay between Danger Point and Portland by 1½ miles. Steer this course until Whaler Point Lighthouse bears 270° about 2½ miles distant where course can be altered for the harbour entrance.

ANCHORAGE: Portland Bay is clear of all dangers and safe anchorage may be found ¼ to ½ mile North and North-east of the main breakwater and for smaller vessels between the lee breakwater and the Easterly lamp standard on the breakwater. Holding ground is good, and excellent shelter is obtained from Westerly weather. Anchoring is not recommended in strong Easterly or South-easterly weather, as there may be a confused sea and swell.

RESTRICTIONS: The Harbour is bounded by two breakwaters, enclosing 250 acres. The entrance is 800 ft. wide.

Swinging Basin: Between the two breakwaters, bounded by No. 6 Berth and the Lee Breakwater.

Depth of water in the harbour is based on a datum of 0·63 ft. above LWOST, which ensures a depth of not less than 36 ft. under all tidal conditions. Mean rise and fall is approximately 2½ ft. but the prevailing wind has a certain influence on the tide.

MAX. SIZE: The largest vessel to use the port to date was 741 ft. long and 104 ft. beam.

Deepest vessel to use the port to date was with a departure draft of 36 ft. 7 in.

Depth alongside is 36 ft. LW with limestone and sand bottom. Maximum draft is 34 ft. 6 in., which may be increased if written application made to Harbour Master, stating the maximum required.

No. 1 Berth is suitable for bulk or general cargoes. It is also used for the discharge of diesel and fuel oil and for bunkering. It is a berth ideally suited for the assembly and handling of containers or unit loads as both road and rail transport can be utilised.

Service manned continuously on watch-keeping basis, each watch being under control of qualified Master Mariner, known as Port Operations Officer, who is responsible to Harbour Master.

Rules to be observed by shipping contained in Port Operations and Information Service Manual, and all shipping using port will be required to observe these rules.

TORRES STRAIT:

MAX. DRAFT: Maximum draft for vessels piloted through Torres Strait is 39 ft. (12 metres) subject to height of tide and keel clearance required by Pilots.

Gannet Passage and Prince of Wales Channel: These are the controlling areas for traversing Torres Strait and the whole of the Barrier Reef. Survey in April 1970 found depths of 31 ft. (9·5 metres) on the former recommended track between the buoys in their previous positions; in consequence, the recommended track was re-established by Australian Notice to Mariners 242/1970 with a least depth of 32 ft. (9·75 metres). The buoys were moved to new positions. (This could occur from time to time.) Most of the water along the recommended track from Gannet Passage to Twin Island through the Prince of Wales Channel is between 37 to 45 ft. (11·3 to 13·7 metres).

Mean HHW at Booby Island is 11·9 ft. (3·6 metres) and the Mean LLW is 3·1 ft. (0·925 metres). Mean HHW at Goods Island is 8·8 ft. (2·5 metres) and Mean LLW is 2·3 ft. (0·7 metres). HWS at Twin Island is 8·7 ft. (2·45 metres) and LWS is 1·3 ft. (0·35 metres). An automatic telemetric gauge has been established at Booby Island by Australian Notice to Mariners 138/1970 for the promulgation of the exact tide at Gannet Passage. Further tide gauges are to be erected at various positions in the Prince of Wales Channel.
KEEL CLEARANCE: The Queensland Coast and Torres Strait Pilot Service will pilot vessels through Torres Strait and the Inner Route with a minimum under-keel clearance at Gannet Passage of 3 ft. (1 metre), in the South-East season from 15th April to 14th December, inclusive, and with a minimum under-keel clearance of 5 ft. (1·5 metres) in the North-West season from 15th December to 14th April, inclusive. The maximum draft at no time is to exceed 39 ft. (12 metres), subject to review as circumstances alter. Masters of deep draft vessels are advised that reduction of speed may be necessary under certain circumstances.
PILOTAGE: Pilots can board or land either 1½ to 2 miles (2·4 to 3·2 kilometres) West of Gannet Passage buoys or 1½ to 2 miles (2·4 to 3·2 kilometres) West of Harrison Rock buoy as required by the Master. Masters of all vessels requiring Pilots are requested to advise giving ample notice to "TORRES" Sydney of their maximum draft, ETA and where bound, and specify which boarding station is required. Twelve hours before arrival Master should radio "STRAITS-PILOTS" Thursday Island confirming or adjusting this ETA. Pilot cutters based at Thursday Island are fitted with VHF Radio:

(a) Base Station – Call sign "THURSDAY ISLAND HARBOUR", will maintain listening watch on Channel 16 and operate on Channel 12.
(b) All ships traversing Torres Strait are requested to maintain continuous listening watch on Channel 16 between Carpentaria Light Vessel and Wyborn Reef or Bet Reef.
(c) Pilot launches will maintain watch on Channel 16 when on station.
(d) Owing to the limited manoeuvrability of the deep draft vessels in the narrow channels between the pilot's boarding and disembarkation stations and Gubbins Reef on the Inner Route and the pilot station and Bramble Cay, Great North East Channel. Shipmasters are requested, between these points, to switch on their VHF Channel 16 on sighting another vessel and leave it on until the vessel is past and clear.

(e) For the same above reason and also for pilots' boarding times etc., Shipmasters are requested to keep International Radio watch times from Carpentaria Light Vessel to Bramble Cay, Great North East Channel and between Carpentaria Light Vessel and Gubbins Reef in the Inner Route.

In addition to the above, Pilots for vessels proceeding from Eastward to Westward are available by arrangements with "TORRES" Sydney:

(c) For the Inner Route or Queensland Ports – from Brisbane pilot cutter off Cartwright Point or off Gladstone Fairway Buoy.

(d) From any mainland port of New South Wales or Queensland.

(e) Other ports and/or places by arrangement with "TORRES" Sydney.

(9th April 1971)

Australia Pilot, Vol. III, 1960, p. 26; Australia Pilot, Vol. IV, 1962, pp. 26 and 27. Department of Harbours and Marine, Brisbane, Notice No. 49/1971 (AH70/116).

TO ORDER A PILOT

Southbound

Radio "TORRES" Sydney about 6 days before arrival Thursday Island advising maximum draft, date and time due off Goods or Booby Island, and where bound. Radio "STRAITSPILOTS" Thursday Island 24 hours before arrival (use local time), confirming ETA and again at Carpentaria Light Vessel. (Pilot cutters at Thursday Island are fitted with VHF Radio (Channel 16).)

Northbound

If in an Australian port, instruct Agent to arrange giving as much notice as possible. If from an overseas port, radio "TORRES" Sydney about 6 days before arrival at embarkation point, advising name of ship, date and time due, maximum draft and where bound. Radio "TORRES" Sydney 48 hours before arrival, confirming or amending ETA.

Intermediate (boarding-off ports)

Radio "TORRES" Sydney 5 days before arrival at embarkation point advising name of ship, date and time due and where bound. Advise "TORRES" Sydney of any material change in ETA and definitely confirm 12 hours before arrival. "TORRES" Sydney will acknowledge all messages.

All ships awaiting a Pilot should maintain listening watch on VHF Channel 16 at least 2 hours prior to Pilot boarding time, have engines on stand-by at least one hour before boarding time, and be ready to proceed in accordance with the Pilot's instructions given by VHF.

Steer 180° until Lacrosse Island light house bears 040°, distance 2 miles. Alter course to 145° to a position with Shakespeare Hill and Cone Hill in transit (086°), Cone Hill distance 4 miles. The course should then be altered to 225°. Course clears Guthrie and East Banks and puts Black Cliff right ahead.

It will be noted that a conspicuous hill (un-named) is sighted immediately behind Black Cliff Point and these together form an excellent lead down this part of the Gulf to a position off Islet Point. From this point onwards pilotage is fairly complicated. There is a submerged wreck off the jetty, which must be considered when berthing and unberthing. Large vessels may only navigate the Hard Channel at half tide or better, as there is a 21 ft. patch in the fairway.

HEALTH: Wyndham is a first port of entry. CARGO HANDLING: By ship's gear only direct to railway wagons and motor transport. One 12-ton Coles slewing crane and two 5-ton mobile cranes are available, provided sufficient notice is given. A short railway connects the jetty, goodshed, and meatworks. Forklift trucks and pallets are used for handling general cargo where suitable.

Thus, tidal streams set Eastwards for about 18 hours a day and Westwards for only about 6 as the tide is semidiurnal.

At Cockatoo, tidal streams set Westwards for a period of about 6 hours, from 2 hours before high water to about 4 hours after high water, and Eastwards from 2 hours before low water to 4 hours after low water.

Cockatoo Island

The jetty head consists of six dolphins aligned in a 117½° T–297½° T direction over a distance of 210·3 m. and a further berthing dolphin is located 111·9 m. and 82·9 m. from the centre of each West and East end dolphin, respectively.

The Shiploader is positioned between the two centre dolphins and has a loading rate of 1,700 t.p.h.

Due to the fixed nature of the loader, Shipmasters are required to bring each hatch in sequence under the boom by warping the vessel alongside the jetty, and Company employees are in attendance for handling the shore end of mooring lines during the operation. The Shipmaster holds full responsibility for the warping operations at all times.

The dolphins are well constructed with a complete facing of timber fendering between the wharf decking and low water level offering maximum protection to shipsides.

Depth alongside is 12·8 m. at MLWOST with a tide range of 10·67 m.

Vessels of up to 65,000 tonnes dwt. with a length of 224·3 m., beam 36·5 m. and a draft 13·7 m. have been loaded at this jetty.

Koolan Island

The loading berth at Koolan Island consists of substantial well fendered wharf 170·7 m. long. Additional mooring dolphins are located each end to accommodate vessels of up to 100,000 dwt.

The depth of the water alongside the wharf is 15·8 m. at MLWOST with a tide range of 10·67 m.

The Shiploader consists of a travelling, retractable luffing, conveyor boom, capable of delivering 3,000 t.p.h. and moving a distance of 118·9 m. along the wharf.

A 33 ton capacity crane is located on the Eastern end of the wharf for the discharge of general cargo if required.

STEVEDORES: Shore labour is available only for use as mooring gangs, loading and handling of cargo on the wharf only. There are no ship foremen.

Bahrain

TRAVEL TO SAUDI ARABIA: See "Sitra".
REGISTRATION: A scheme of registration of vessels arriving in Bahrain for discharge of cargo has been introduced.

Agents should indicate to the Harbour Master prior to arrival whether or not an expected vessel wishes to avail itself of the registration scheme.

Should the vessel wish to register her turn it will be boarded by a representative of the Directorate who will inspect the cargo plan, and may inspect the cargo in the vessl's holds, to ascertain that all the regulations are complied with. On being satisfied that all conditions have been complied with the vessel will be registered as having arrived and will be given an estimated date and time of berthing at Mina Sulman. The vessel may then proceed to an alternative port or ports until required for berthing at Mina Sulman.

1. No vessel will be considered for registration unless all Bahrain cargo is clear for discharge at time of registering.
2. If a vessel proceeds to another port after registration for discharge of cargo, no Bahrain cargo may be shifted to facilitate the discharge of cargo in the alternative port.
3. Registration may take place at Sitra Anchorage within Mina Sulman port limits between 06.00 hrs. and 18.00 hrs. Vessels arriving outside of those hours will be listed and registered in order of arrival. Note: Arrival shall mean time of passing Sitra Beacon inwards.
4. A fee of B.D. 100 will be charged on every vessel registered.
5. Any false declaration of stowage of cargo will result in loss of privilege of registration and may also incur a heavy fine for false representation.
6. Failure of any registered vessel to be present within Mina Sulman port limits and in all respects ready to proceed alongside the allocated berth at the time when the berth is allotted will result in cancellation of the registration. The next on turn vessel will then be allocated the berth and the defaulting vessel will be required to re-register.
7. The anticipated berthing date given to the vessel at the time of registration is to be considered only as an estimated date and time of berthing and may be liable to change. The Directorate will not be responsible for any loss incurred by alteration of such dates.

DOCUMENTS:
International Declaration of Health.
5 Crew Lists.
Ship's Report (given by Customs on arrival).

Exports to Bahrain: Shipping documents for exports to Bahrain should include a certificate of origin bearing the stamp of a Bahrain embassy or consulate, where such representation does exist. Alternatively the stamp of any other Arab embassy or consulate will be acceptable.

SITRA: 26.09 N. 50.40 E. (See Plan)

TRAVEL TO SAUDI ARABIA: Travellers are permitted to travel from Bahrain to Saudi Arabia, provided: (a) They hold a valid International Vaccination Certificate showing that the holder was immunised at least five days before travelling to Saudi Arabia, but not more than six months previously; (b) that any traveller proceeding to Saudi Arabia from Bahrain should have taken the prescribed doses of Tetracycline over the 48-hour period immediately before travelling. The fact that the passenger has taken the Tetracycline should be certified by the Bahrain Health Department.

PORT LIMITS: A vessel is normally considered to be an "arrived vessel" when the vessel passes due South of Sitra Beacon, unless, in the case of large vessels, she has been instructed to anchor by company officials in the deep water South-East of No. 27 buoy.

The Port of Sitra is an open roadstead situated on the N.E. side of Bahrain. Some protection is afforded to the anchorage during the prevailing N.W. wind by Muharraq Island and outlying reefs which lie to the North of the anchorage.

During Southerly winds some protection is also afforded by outlying reefs and sandbanks which lie to the Eastward of Bahrain Island. Prolonged winds from an Easterly or South-easterly direction make the anchorage uncomfortable for small vessels.

OPERATORS: The Bahrain Petroleum Co. Ltd., Awali, Bahrain. Cables: "Bapco Bahrain".

DOCUMENTS: Crew list 3 copies. Passenger list 3 copies. Customs Declaration 2 copies. Health Declaration 2 copies. Log Book for Inspection by Customs Officers.

Cargo and bunker documents are delivered to the vessel as soon as possible after the vessel has been cleared on quantity and quality. Delays are sometimes incurred. As a result, the Company reserves the right to unberth a vessel and deliver documents by launch so as to minimize berthing delays to subsequent vessels.

Early Departure Procedure (E.D.P.) is available on Master's request.

PILOTAGE: Not normally provided between Bahrain Light Vessel and Sitra Anchorage. For vessels navigating Sitra Deep Water Channel with drafts in excess 40 ft. Mooring Master boards vessel on arrival Sitra Beacon if berth available. If pilot does not approach vessel arriving, vessel should anchor in anchorage. Pilot will board from a tug or launch exhibiting International pilot flag by day and lights by night.

Company Mooring Masters will advise and assist vessels in berthing, unberthing, mooring and navigating in the port of Sitra, and shall, in all cases, be present on board vessels coming alongside or leaving Company and Alba wharves.

The services of the Company Mooring Masters are mandatory for berthing and unberthing, and are provided without charge.

If no berth is available, vessels should anchor in the prescribed anchorage until such time as a berth is available. Every endeavour will be made to give the Master berthing instructions prior to the boarding of the Mooring Master, and to this end, Masters are requested to maintain a continuous watch on the VHF. In cases where it is impossible to give prior berthing instructions, the Master and Chief Engineer are requested to co-operate with the Company by getting the vessel's engines ready for use with the least possible delay.

APPROACHES: Without accepting any responsibility, following suggestions made by Bapco marine staff, for Masters not familiar with approaches to Sitra. Courses inbound will depend upon draft. Vessels wishing utilise "Deep Water Departure Channel" should follow reciprocal of courses described for "Deep-water departure Channel". Vessels with drafts less than 30 ft. requested to Keep Clear of this channel, and use "Sitra Inward" buoy as follows.

(a) Under 30 ft. Draft

(i) From position (Lat. 26° 27.8′ N. Long. 51° 00′ E) 2½ miles S.E. of No. 3 Beacon (Lat. 26° 28.5′ N. Long. 50° 57.4′ E) course should be set to position ¾ mile North of "Sitra Inward" buoy (Lat. 26° 21.2′ N. Long. 50° 49.7′ E), leaving "Caisson Wreck" buoy (Lat. 26° 24.2′ N. Long. 50° 52.7′ E) at least ½ mile to starboard.

(ii) From position ¾ mile North of "Sitra Inward" buoy course should be set towards No. 16 buoy (Lat. 26° 12.9′ N. Long. 50° 46.3′ E).

(iii) When vessel has reached a position with No. 16 buoy, 1½ miles ahead, course can be adjusted to due South, passing westwards of "Vidal" buoy (Lat. 26° 14.1′ N. Long. 50° 47.2′ E) until "Sitra Beacon" bears due West. Course can then be altered to pass South of No. 18 buoy (Lat. 26° 10.3′ N. Long. 50° 43.9′ E), and thence to Sitra Anchorage, thus keeping clear of the deep water channel.

(iv) "Sitra Beacon" located at South end of North Shoals (see "Pilotage" and "Anchorage").
If a Company Mooring Master has not met the vessel, proceed to an anchorage North of an imaginary line between "Sitra Middle Ground Buoy" and "Sitra Beacon". This line delineates the southern limit of the anchorage, the departure channel is then kept clear for deep-drafted vessels entering or leaving the port.

(v) The Northern extremity of the South Shoals is marked by "South Shoals Beacon" which should be passed on the vessel's port side. This beacon lies approximately 1·4 miles South-west from Sitra Beacon.

(vi) The colours of Beacon structures and buoys are often obliterated by guano.

(b) Deep-water departure Channel

(i) Following "Alteration of Course" Positions, based upon radius of turn of 5 cables. This may necessitate an increase in Engine Revolutions, together with Full Helm, in some vessels.

(ii) The Company Mooring Master unberthing the vessel will normally leave vessel after having crossed Sitra Middle Ground Bar; and with the vessel proceeding to pass 2 cables South of "Sitra Beacon" (Fl. 3.3 sec.) and close North of No. 18 Buoy (Qk. Fl. R.).

(iii) When No. 18 Buoy comes abeam, course should be altered to 090° (T) which will bring Sitra Beacon dead astern, bearing 270° (T).

(iv) As No. 27 Buoy (Qk. Fl. W.) comes abeam to port, course should be altered to 022° (T), until buoys 21, 23 and 25 are sighted in line, bearing 344° (T), whence course should be altered to 344° (T).

(v) On course 344° (T) Buoy No. 25 (Fl. 5 sec.) and Buoy No. 23 (Int. Qk. Fl.) will be passed close on the port side and Buoy No. 16 (Fl. R. 6 sec.) a "Middle Ground Mark" on the starboard side.

(vi) As No. 21 Buoy (Gp. Fl. (3) 5 sec.) comes abeam to port, course should be altered to 015° (T), which should bring Buoy No. 12 dead ahead and Buoy No. 21 dead astern. The bearings of these buoys should be watched closely to gauge and correct for cross set which is sometimes quite strong on this course and the next. On this course No. 14 buoy (Fl. R. 10 sec.) will be left to starboard.

(vii) On No. 19 Buoy (Fl. 3 sec.) coming abeam, course should be altered to 002° (T) bringing Buoy No. 15 (Occ. 5 sec.) dead ahead. Buoy No. 12 (Fl. R. 2 sec.) will then be left close to starboard and No. 17 Buoy (Qk. Fl. W.) will be left to port.

(viii) In order to pass over a cable eastwards of Buoy No. 15, course should be altered to 016° (T) as Buoy No. 10 (Gp. Fl. (3) R. 10 sec.) comes abeam to starboard and then altered to 356° (T) as Buoy No. 15 comes abeam to port. This course would pass 3½ cables West of Bahrain Approach Beacon (Gp. Fl. (2) R. 10 sec.). It may be advisable to reduce engine revolutions shortly after steadying on course 356° (T), in order to be able to increase if required to provide better steerage on rounding the beacon.

(ix) When the Bahrain Approach Beacon bears 051° (T) course should then be altered to 051° (T). As this heading is approached, it should be found that Buoys No. 8 (Fl. R. 2 sec.) and No. 6 (Gp. Fl. (3) R. 6 sec.) are in line to starboard, as Bahrain Approach Beacon comes abeam at 2½ cables, and then should commence to open. Buoys No. 13 (Int. Qk. Fl.) and No. 11 (Qk. Fl.) are parallel to the course on the port side of the vessel, give clearance on the 43 ft. patches and give the exten of the bar which should be traversed at Slow Speed.

(x) On No. 11 Buoy coming abeam to port, course should be altered to 054° (T) passing between No. 9 Buoy (Fl. 10 sec. and Buoy No. 4 (Qk. Fl. R.), followed by Buoy No. 7 (Fl. 5 sec. to port.

(xi) When Buoy No. 2 (Gp. Fl. (2) R. 10 sec.) bears East, course should be altered to 071° (T) to pass close South of Buoy No. (Fl. 3 secs.).

(xii) Buoy No. 5 should be close abeam to port, when the course altered to 057° (T) and speed reduced to cross the spit which extends in a southerly direction from No. 3 Beacon (Fl. 6 sec.) a minimum depth of 44 ft. at Chart Datum.

(xiii) When Buoy No. 1 (Fl. 1 sec.) bears 040° (T), course should b altered to 040° (T) bringing the Bahrain Light Vessel (Gp. Fl. (3) 20 sec.) on the starboard bow. One and a half miles after Buoy No. 1 has been left to port, the minimum depth of water is greater than 50 ft., and it is safe to go Full Ahead.

(xiv) Masters can expect to have to make adjustments from time to time, to the recommended courses, due to set. Effects of tide and current should be watched for at all times.

ANCHORAGE: Within Port of Sitra vessels must anchor North of imaginary line between Sitra Beacon and Sitra middle ground outer buoy, order keep departure channel clear. Good holding ground in about 8 fathoms. Vessels must not obstruct fairway or approaches to wharves by anchoring South of above-mentioned imaginary line. Northern limit of anchorage marked by North Shoals Beacon on 5-fathom line. Due presence of pipes and power lines, anchoring or use of anchors prohibited in vicinity of or between No. 1 (Island) Wharf and No. 2 wharf except upon advice of Company Mooring Master.

If the anchorage is congested or with vessels over 100,000 dwt. they should anchor in the area to the South of No. 27 Buoy.

RESTRICTIONS: Berthing carried out night and day. Merchant vessels carrying explosives not permitted entry Sitra Anchorage unless permission has been granted and anchorage allocated. Such vessels advised anchor in position 2 miles South-east of South Shoals Beacon.

The Deep Water Channel between Sitra Anchorage and Bahrain Lightvessel has minimum depth of 44 ft. below chart datum. This permits unrestricted use of channel for vessels drawing up to 40 ft. Drafts up to 44 ft. permitted by utilisation of tidal range over shoaler areas. Additional channel for drafts up to 30 ft. provided to South-east of main deep-water channel. The purpose of this channel is to keep main deep-water channels free for deep-drafted vessels.

Masters who intend to utilise deep-water Departure Channel with drafts in excess of 40 ft. are requested to advise port Captain, Sitra, not later than 48 hours in advance.

Masters of departing vessels requiring utilise rise of tide, to cross bar N.E. of Bahrain Approach Beacon, and that South of No. 3 Beacon, should be under way, passing Sitra Beacon not later than 3½ hours before next predicted High Water Mina Sulman, or at a time not later than that which would allow vessels to make the passage between Bahrain Approach Beacon and No. 3 Beacon at reduced speed of 8 knots, having full benefit of tide, and passing first Beacon 1½ hours before predicted High Water Mina Sulman.

MAX. SIZE: Bapco Terminal: Vessels up to 40 ft. draft, under normal circumstances, or up to a maximum of 44 ft. draft, making use of the tide.

Alba Marine Facilities: Up to 35,000 tons dwt., up to 35 ft. draft.

HEALTH: Bahrain Port Health Regulations based on International Sanitary Regulations adopted by World Health Organisation May 1951. Quarantine signals must be prominently displayed approaching Sitra. Pratique normally granted by Bahrain Government Port Health Officer or Agents' representatives. If neither available, Company Mooring Master also authorised grant Pratique to healthy tankers scheduled for immediate berthing.

No person, excepting Agent's representative or, in the case of healthy tankers, Mooring Masters, is permitted to leave or board a vessel until pratique has been granted.

Rat guards should be properly placed on all mooring ropes as soon after berthing as practicable.

The gangway or other access should be lighted at night.

The port of Sitra is not classed as a "Plague Port" but all crew members must have in their possession valid certificates of vaccinations and inoculations in accordance with current Health Regulations.

The Bahrain Government Port Health Officer has an office on Sitra Causeway Pierhead and is available from 10.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m. daily except Fridays. By arrangement through vessel's Agent the Port Health Officer, in addition to official duties, will provide consultation and treatment for other than quarantine purposes.

Deratisation and Deratisation exemption certificates are obtainable in Bahrain. Requests should be made through the vessel's Agent.

RADIO: All incoming vessels scheduled to load or discharge at either BAPCO or ALBA facilities should establish radio contact with BAPCO via "Cable & Wireless" at Manama, Bahrain, at least 48 hours prior to arrival giving a firm ETA, arrival draft and the requirements if any for bunker fuels.

The Company does not operate a coast radio station, long-distant radio communication being routed through Cable and Wireless Coast Station "Bahrain Radio" "A9M" of Manama, Bahrain, upon which a regular watch should be maintained. The cable address is "Bapcoship Bahrain". When within 50 miles of Bahrain, communication should be established with "Sitra Port Control", by VHF.

All communications to the Company should be quoted in Greenwich Mean Time, and the appropriate letters, GMT, inserted after the time.

All vessels are requested to keep "Bapcoship Bahrain" fully advised regarding estimated times of arrival. It is requested that vessels provide "Bapcoship Bahrain" with an ETA and arrival drafts, not later than 48 hours steaming time from the port of Sitra.

A separate radio message should be sent to the Government Port Health Officer, Bahrain, advising last bill of health and present health conditions on board.

OIL WHARVES: No. 1 (Island) Wharf: No. 1 (Island) Wharf consists of one main central platform supported on steel piles with four inter-connected mooring dolphins, two positioned to the North-west, and two to the South-east; giving the wharf an overall length of 923 ft. This wharf, which is supplied by submarine pipe-lines, provides two berths protected by berthing beams.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Berth No. 5 | 45 ft. at Chart Datum | (13·700 m.) |
| | Max. draft at these berths 44 ft. | |

No. 2 Wharf: No. 2 Wharf is a pile driven "T" head structure with three inter-connected dolphins, two mooring dolphins, positioned to the North-west, and a warping dolphin positioned to the South-east, giving the wharf an overall length of 1,666½ ft. and provides four berths, two on the outside and two on the inside. Both outside berths No. 1 and 2. and the North-west inner berth No. 3, are protected by berthing beams. This wharf is connected to the mainland by a causeway, 3 miles in length.

|---|---|---|

There are length limitations as follows:

Berths 1 and 2 normally 820 ft., but may be exceeded depending upon the configuration of the vessel, and the vessel utilising the other berth.

Berth No. 3; 560 ft. (170m.)

Berth No. 4; 550 ft. (167 m.)

Berths 5 and 6 normally 825 ft., but may be exceeded depending upon the configuration of the vessel.

Coastal Tanker Wharf: This wharf which lies 023° to 203° is limited to vessels of under 240 ft. in length and less than 16 ft. (4·90 m.) draft. The wharf is a pile driven structure connected by a catwalk to the causeway.

BALLAST: The discharge of dirty ballast within the territorial waters to Bahrain is strictly prohibited. As a further measure to avoid pollution by oil of the Marine environment, masters of tankers are requested not to pump any oil overboard within the Gulf area.

There are limited facilities for the receipt of oily residues at Sitra Wharves. Vessels, which require to discharge ballast at Sitra Wharves after berthing, must, therefore, ensure that the ballast is clean prior to arrival in the Gulf Area.

In the event of a vessel spilling oil in Sitra harbour the Company will, at its discretion, clean up the oil and recover costs by charging the vessel.

| Deadweight-tonnage | Feet | | Metres | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | F. | A. | F. | A. |
| 16,000 to 20,000 | 12 ft. | 20 ft. | 3·60 | 6·00 |

| Over 90,000 | 25 ft. | 29 ft. | 7·60 | 8·80 |

Mooring Masters may decline berth vessels if not sufficiently ballasted. Berthing operations conducted on 24-hour basis at discretion of Mooring Master; wind, weather, tide and other circumstances permitting. Mooring Masters will decline berth vessels if not properly equipped with satisfactory mooring lines, or if deck appliances inoperable, or if steering gear, telegraphs and whistles not in an efficient condition. Anchors and cables should be cleared ready for letting go. Master should notify Mooring Master of any defects or peculiarities pertaining to vessel. Masters requested maintain continuous watch on VHF for berthing instructions. Vessels must be equipped with at least five lines forward and four lines aft. These lines must be sufficient length enable moorings to be "doubled up" in bad weather. Method of mooring at discretion of Mooring Master. The "offshore" anchor should be cleared and lowered to the waterline, ready for letting go, before approaching the berths.

Anchor buoys are not to be used whilst moored alongside.

ALBA MARINE FACILITIES: The Alba Marine facilities consist of an artificial island built in shallow water, approx. 2¾ miles off the coast of Sitra Island, and a jetty in deep water, which is connected to the island by a roadway 560 ft. long, above which runs a conveyor which carries raw materials from the jetty to the coke and alumina store situated on the island. The jetty is 562 ft. long and 47 ft. wide. The seaward berth, depth 35 ft., provided with berthing heads, to accept vessels up to 35,000 dwt. The landward berth is provided with fendering to accept vessels up to 12,000 dwt. Mooring dolphins at each end of the jetty.

Loading and Unloading Facilities: Bulk carriers unloaded at seaward berth by two 10-ton capacity grab cranes. Metal exports loaded at landward berth, using ship's gear, or possibly at seaward berth when the jetty cranes may be used.

Services: Vessels using Alba Marine facilities are assisted by Bahrain Petroleum Company Limited Mooring Masters and tugs. Only transportation between the Alba jetty and mainland is by launch which must be provided by Agents. No fresh water available at Alba jetty.

Operators: Company cable address is "Metalba Bahrain".

TUGS: Tugs normally join in Sitra Anchorage after pilot has boarded. Tugs lines used during berthing operations. During unberthing ship's lines used for forward tug, and tug's line for after tug. Mooring Master will decide number of tugs.

MEDICAL: Advance notice to Agents preferable. Good hospital and medical facilities.

Emergency hospital cases will be treated as such, and will be handled by the vessel's Agent or by Company facilities, whichever is first available. Under normal conditions, the vessel's Agent should handle all personnel from vessels other than "Company" vessels.

Heat exhaustion. Experience over many years has shown incidence of heat stroke and heat exhaustion cases among the crews of vessels visiting Bahrain during the hot season, with some fatalities. The Company medical authorities have prepared notes on this subject which may be of assistance to Masters, but skilled medical assistance should be called for immediately a case of heat exhaustion or heat stroke is observed.

To enable heat exhaustion cases to be treated expeditiously a Heat Exhaustion Unit is located in the Port of Sitra shipping offices at the Wharf gate.

RESIDUES: Limited slop tank facilities for oily residues at all berths.

LOADING/DISCHARGING:

Readiness: The following will apply in regard to Notice of Readiness.

Notice of readiness to load is a warranty on the part of the Master that the vessel is in all respects ready to load and that the tanks, pipes, pumps and accessories of the vessel are fit to receive the cargo to be loaded.

The Master or his representative is required to hand to the Company, within normal business hours, a written Notice of Readiness to load. Receipt of such Notice of Readiness by the Company does not necessarily imply acceptance.

The Company will make every effort to accept Notice of Readiness when tendered on arrival, provided vessel is in all respects ready to load. The Company will endeavour to load vessels upon arrival and/or as promptly as a berth is available.

Arrival, where used above, means when the vessel passes "Sitra Beacon" when proceeding either straight to the berth or to anchor in Sitra anchorage. In the case of vessels coming from Mina Sulman it is the time when passing North range beacon. In cases where vessels are required to anchor in the area South of No. 27 Buoy, then the time of anchoring will be used providing that the presence of the vessel is made known to Sitra Port Control by VHF or BAPCOSHIP via Bahrain Radio on radio telephone, Awali 2662 at the time of anchoring.

Responsibility: Loading will not start until the vessel's loading officer reports the vessel is ready to receive cargo and the Company's Loading Master is satisfied with the preparations for loading. Any inspection made by the Company's Loading Master in this regard is performed without the Company assuming any liability.

All operations on board the vessel in connection with loading and discharging are the responsibility of the vessel.

A Company Loading Master will be available throughout the loading to offer advice to the Master on loading procedures and loading hazards.

Warning is given of the danger of closing a valve against an incoming oil stream. This procedure will create excessive pressures which may result in damage to the loading hoses, vessel's pipe-lines or Terminal facilities. Vessels will be held liable for damages resulting from failure to observe this precaution.

Hose handling: Without assuming any liability on behalf of the Company, Company employees will assist in connecting and disconnecting hoses to vessels. A ship's officer must be present, and the ship's deck officer on duty must approve the hose connection on board.

The Company has modern air-operated hose-handling equipment on all berths at the No. 1 (Island) Wharf and the No. 2 Wharf, except No. 4 Berth. However, the vessel's hose rigging derricks should always be in a constant state of readiness to give additional assistance as necessary. Company employees will not operate ship's derricks or winches.

Cargo inspection service: The service of the Bahrain Government Petroleum Inspectors are available for the inspection and certification of the condition of a vessel's tanks, pipes, pumps and appurtenances. The Agent will, upon request, arrange for the services of this Inspector.

The Company will not issue any certificate purporting to state that vessel's tanks, pipes, pumps and appurtenances are clean or acceptable for receiving cargo. In the event a Company representative either alone or accompanied by the Bahrain Government Petroleum Inspector, inspects the vessel, the Company will make no representation nor assume any responsibility in connection with the condition of vessel's tanks, pipes, pumps and appurtenances, nor will the Company assume any liability for contamination of cargo aboard ship caused by the condition of the ship's tanks, pipes, pumps or appurtenances.

| Product | | Barrels per hour | |
| Motor gasoline | up to | 7,000 | on 2 S/Ls |
| Jet fuel | ,, | 10,000 | on 3 S/Ls |

| Black diesel | ,, | 2,500 | on 2 S/Ls |
| Fuel | ,, | 25,000 | on 3 S/Ls |

Loading rates of kerosines and jet fuels are restricted due to static electricity hazards. These rates will be made available by the Company Loading Master.

A maximum pressure of 150 lb. is allowed on the loading hoses.

Discharging Rates: The discharge rates will be governed by the vessel's pumps, which must be limited to 150 lb. pressure.

DENSITY: Average 1030 oz. cu. ft.

FRESH WATER: Limited quantities of well-water available at Sitra Wharves is saline and mainly used for washing purposes, although can be used for drinking. Delivery rate about 15 tons per hour. Nominal delivery charge. Vessels berthed for water only in emergency and additional docking charge. Water by lighter available Sitra Anchorage by arrangement with Agents.

FUEL: Bunkers available all berths and by Lighter. Fuel Oil maximum 1,500 secs. Redwood. Marine Diesel. Diesel Gasoil. Vessels should give at least 24 hours notice.

Facilities: Bunkers can be supplied at all oil berths and can be loaded simultaneously with bulk cargo.

Bunker quantities are measured by "Brodie" positive displacement meters.

Chief Engineers, on request to the Company's Loading Master, can avail themselves of the opportunity of checking the opening and closing counter readings on the meters supplying bunkers to the vessel.

| Product | Bunkering Rates are approximately | |
|---|---|---|
| | Bbls/hr | Tons/hr |
| Fuel oil | up to 2,500 | up to 360 |
| Marine diesel | up to 1,500 | up to 200 |

Bunker Barge Service: The Company operates a bunker barge service principally to supply bunker fuels to vessels at Mina Sulman. This service is also available to vessels in the Sitra Anchorage and Alba wharves, but may be temporarily suspended due to adverse weather conditions.

The service is maintained by the barges "Bapco 1" and "Safala".

"Bapco 1". The barge with a loaded deadweight of 1,200 L.T. has a cargo capacity of approximately 8.900 barrels. Its approximate maximum capacities are as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Marine diesel | 1,800 bbls (240 tons) | | 5,200 bbls (720 tons) |

The discharge rates for the "Bapco 1" are:

| | | |
|---|---|---|

"Safala". The barge has a capacity for 1,300 bbls (170 tons) of diesel gas oil which it can discharge at rates between 50–760 bbls/hr. (5–100 t.p.h.).

Application for the use of the bunker barge service should be made to the Company via the vessel's local Agent and it is desirable for the vessel to give as much advance notice as possible.

In order that lubricating oils may be promptly delivered, Masters of vessels are requested to radio "Bapco Bahrain" their requirements at least 48 hours prior to their arrival at the port of Sitra.

Drummed products: Limited quantities of gasoline, kerosine and diesel gas oil in drums are available at short notice.

To facilitate prompt delivery Masters are requested to radio "Bapco Bahrain" at least 48 hours prior to their arrival for orders exceeding ten drums.

FIRE PRECAUTIONS: Vessel receives full details/regulations on berthing. Vessels must have firewires, and engines must not be immobilised whilst alongside.

GANGWAY/DECK WATCHMEN: An officer must be on deck during all loading or discharging operations. A deck watch must be maintained for moorings and hose connections.

CHALNA (Khulna): 22.35 N. 89.32 E.

DOCUMENTS: See "Chittagong".

PILOTAGE: Compulsory. Master should in addition to usual ETA to Agents keep in touch with pilot vessels stationed at Hiran Point about 45 miles from the base calling AQFA or AQFI, depending on which vessel is stationed at the time. Pilot vessels are equipped with radio and maintain regular watches on 500 metres from 0600 to 0800, 1000 to 1200, 1400 to 1600 and 1800 to 2000 local time. If a message is not being picked up, by Khulna Radio call sign ASV it should be relayed through Chittagong Radio or the pilot vessel.

Ships over 17 ft. draft are usually piloted on the flood to cross the bar and the pilot vessel, which has been in contact with the incoming ship leaves from Hiran Point, in time to coincide with the arrival of the vessels at the pilotage ground, situated about 7 miles Northwest of Fairway "Lighted" buoy where ships can anchor in 9 fathoms of water. The channel from Fairway up to the Anchorage has been marked with lighted buoys and pilotage is done in daylight.

In rough weather and especially during the monsoon, ships are led into calm waters by the pilot vessel, which maintains close radio contact, and Pilots board inside the river.

RESTRICTIONS: Entrance to the Pussur river is about 6 miles wide at the mouth and has a bar over about 5 miles where the depth is 3 fathoms.

MAX. SIZE: Ships drawing up to 23 ft. can cross the bar in all seasons. In S.W. monsoons vessels up to 24 ft. 5 in. can be accommodated on spring tide.

HEALTH: On arrival at the mouth of the Pussur River, vessels are required to wireless "Quarantine" Khulna, giving health report, to avoid difficulties with Port Health Authorities.

TUGS: Two powerful tugs available to assist in emergency. Not required for berthing.

BERTHING: Fifteen swinging moorings and unlimited anchor berths. No jetty or wharves available in the harbour.

DENSITY: The density of water at the Outer Bar varies from 1005 to 1025 and at Mangla from 1002 to 1020.

FRESH WATER: Available by barges.

BUNKERS: Coal and fuel oil can be arranged in emergency cases. Usually 5 days notice required.

WATCHMEN: On orders from the Master, the stevedores will arrange to supply watchmen by day and night.

CARGO GEAR: All loading and discharging is performed by ship's derricks.

HOLIDAYS: Eid-ul-Azha (27th/28th February); Muharram (29th March); Eid e Miland un Nabi (29th May); Independence Day (14th August); Defence Day (6th September); Death of Quaid-e-Azam (11th September); Revolution Day (27th October); Jamat-ul-Wida (5th December); Eid-ul-Fitr (11th/12th December); Christmas Day (25th December).

DEVELOPMENT: East Bank of the Pussur River in the present harbour area has been selected for constructing a permanent port. First phase of the permanent port scheme would provide 8 general cargo berths, one foodgrain terminal, and one bulk cargo terminal with transit sheds, warehouses and cargo handling equipment, and also an oil terminal and one repair berth with slipway and workshop. Work on this project has already been started and it is expected to be completed by 1973.

GENERAL: Since there is no shore accommodation available at the Anchorage a Customs Officer and two Licensed Measurers have to be accommodated on board. Also a cabin or covered deck space has to be provided for the members of the stevedore company's staff.

AGENT: See "Chittagong".

CHITTAGONG: 22.21 N. 19.53 E.

DOCUMENTS: Before vessel's arrival:

2 copies Freight Manifest.
2 sets Bill of Lading.
3 copies Stowage Plan.
15 copies Passenger List.
4 copies Cargo Manifest.
3 copies Hatch Lists.
1 copy Exception Lists.
2 copies Passenger Money Manifest.

With vessel:

2 copies List of favour Parcels.
3 copies Ships Stores Lists on local Customs forms.
Cargo Gear Certificates.
Deratisation Exemption Certificate.
International Load Line Certificate.
Radio & Safety Equipment Certificates.

Inward ships must present themselves at Fairway Buoy at least three hours before high water to enter on a particular day.

Masters should send following information to Port Khulna, via Khulna Radio, call sign ASD and to duty pilot vessel call sign AQUI and pilot station, call sign ASDI, 24 hr. prior to arrival at Khulna Fairway Buoy:

(a) ETA Pussur Fairway Buoy.
(c) Speed available.
(e) Vessel's gross tonnage.
(f) Fresh-water requirements.

Ships are to follow strictly the instructions given by Pilot while crossing the outer bar and anchor two miles S.E. of Hiron Point and wait for the Pilot. The time of crossing the outer bar is given by the pilot vessel or pilot station under instructions from the Pilot.

APPROACHES: Since South Patches lightvessel is missing, it is advisable to make for Elephant Point/Cox's Bazaar, and then shape course to pass West of South Patches. Due allowance must be made for the state and rate of tide. In this area, the tide runs in a North–South direction.

Once it is ascertained that the vessel is West of South Patches, course can be shaped to pass 8–9 miles off Kutubdia Lighthouse. The buoys indicating the channel to Chittagong outer anchorage are mostly out of place or missing and cannot be relied upon. The buoys are unlit and without radar reflectors and navigating in their vicinity during hours of darkness can be hazardous.

Vessels must reach pilot grounds at mouth of river Karnaphuli 3 hours before high water during daylight hours. No berthing after sunset.

ANCHORAGE: The Anchorage is considered safe and the holding ground is good. The bed of the river is soft mud and is harmless in case of grounding.

Spring tides at outer anchorage are very strong (6 to 8 knots) and at times of freshets the rate may be more. It is advisable to keep engines ready at all times during Spring tides, and maintain continuous and efficient anchor watches.

RESTRICTIONS: Though a river port, Chittagong is a tidal harbour, and presently ships enter and leave only on the day tides, therefore, ships should endeavour to arrive at least three hours before high water of the day's tide. The channel width for navigation is 800 ft. at its narrowest point. There are no signals or markers for night navigation.

During Spring tides vessels under 7 knots will not be handled. Vessels over 10 knots having efficient steering and bridge control, can be brought in with 9/12 in. more than the predicted draft for the day.

Vessels with a speed of over 10 knots but less than 500 ft. length overall and fitted with VHF radio telephone are entitled to an additional draft of 4 in.

Vessels arriving at Chittagong with more than 34 ft. FW draft, drop anchor off Kutubdia Island Lighthouse and lighten up to 34 ft., then proceed to outer anchorage to complete discharge.

LIGHTENING: No pilotage facilities available and vessels must proceed outer anchorage without Pilot. Vessels lightening berth alongside storage vessels.

Tanker Manhattan is presently being used as a storage vessel and is stationed off Kutubdia Island. Should loaded vessels have to go alongside Manhattan to discharge, the services of a Pilot can be arranged through the Agents, but this is expensive as Pilot has to come from Chittagong, about 40 miles away.

Customary type of lightening vessels used to discharge bulk wheat are general cargo ships ranging from 5,000 tons dwt. to about 10,000 tons dwt. In addition, there are numerous "Mini bulk carriers" operating in the port, which are well suited for lightening purposes, their capacity being about 2,000 tons dwt.

Discharging carried out by vacuvators and baskets using ship's cranes.

MAX. SIZE: Anticipated safe drafts are predicted three months in advance. The depth of water over the Outer, Inner and Gupta Bars is maintained at 12 ft. at low water throughout the year. The bars are situated at distances of half, one and 4½ miles from the entrance. In order to calculate the draft for entering and leaving port, the depth of 12 ft. over the bars is added to the height of water in the tide tables for day tides. Tankers: see next column.

HEALTH: All vessels must send the standard quarantine messages by radio. Vessels which have touched ports between Port Sudan and Durban, on the East Coast of Africa including these two ports, or any other yellow fever port or other port on the continent of Africa, or ports which are declared from time to time as quarantine areas, are suspected vessels on account of yellow fever or jigger, or other infectious disease as the case may be and may not have communication with the shore till declared by the Port Health Officer, who attends only between sunrise and sunset, except in special circumstances. The incubation period for yellow fever is 9 days, but vessels arriving later than 9 days are still not free from quarantine because there is no incubation period for jigger.

RADIO: In addition to Khulna Radio (ASD), harbour control station (AQDC) and pilot station (ASVI) maintain 24 hours' WT watch on 500 kHz and RT watch on 2182 kHz. VHF Channel 12. Pilot vessels AQEI or AQSA have an operator on watch on 500 kHz.

Radio beacon at Hiron Point is operating continuously from 1630 to 2359 GMT and in case of poor visibility will continue until it clears. QTG service available on request to ASVI and in special cases beacon service can be made available on request.

Chittagong Radio (ASC) can be contacted on HF/8 M/cs and 12 M/cs and MF 500/484 kHz when within 600 miles. No R/T facility.

VHF: Call on VHF Channel 16. Port operations Channel 12. Range about 35 miles.

TUGS: Available, under direction of Pilot. None available at outer anchorage.

BERTHING: Thirteen berths of varying lengths having a continuous jetty face of 7,000 ft. Twelve berths are equipped with cranes and all are rail served. In addition, there are two pontoon jetties, and two light jetties without cranes and rail tracks. These are suitable for 500 ft. vessels.

There are 8 mooring berths, of which 2 have pontoons for supporting pipe lines. The largest can take a 500 ft. vessel.

TANKERS: Crude oil tankers up to a draft of 34 ft. can be handled at off-shore oil terminal. A special pilot is required to place the tanker alongside the buoy. Submerged pipe-line to petroleum buoy (fl. (2) every 10 seconds in position 22° 15′ W. 91° 45′ E.) exists but not used as reported leaking. Tankers anchor off the buoy and lighten into other tankers. If under maximum length permitted in the river, can proceed upstream and discharge at the tanker berth in the vicinity of the Esso Jetty.

Clean tankers enter the river and berth at petroleum jetties inside the port, restricted to length of 550 ft. overall, and subject to published river draft.

Tankers up to 60,000 dwt. discharge into lighters at Kutubidia anchorage where depth is 20 metres.

DENSITY: From 1000 to 1004.

FRESH WATER: Available from quays. Also available at outer anchorage. Require 3–4 days notice. Capacity of water barge about 300 tons. Supply daylight hours only.

FUEL: All grades available at oil berths. Otherwise supplied by barge.

REPAIRS: Facilities for repairs available. No dry docks. Ships' engines may not be dismantled or immobilised whilst at berths or moorings without the prior sanction of the port Authority.

HATCHES: Opened by ship's crew.

REPATRIATION: Available.

HOLIDAYS: Eid-ul-Azha (27/28th February); Pakistan Day (24th March); Muarram (29th March); Eid e Miland un Nabi (29th May); Independence Day (14th August); Defence Day (6th September); Death of Quaid-e-Azam (11th September); Revolution Day (27th October); Jamat-ul-Wida) (5th December); Eid-ul-Fitr (11th/12th December); Christmas Day (25th December).

CARGO GEAR CERTIFICATES: International Cargo Gear Test Certificates not more than twelve months old must be presented to the Dock Labour Inspector before a vessel is allowed to use derricks/winches. Annealing and testing of gear at Chittagong is an expensive process. In certain cases dispensation can be obtained at the discretion of the Dock Labour Inspector.

AIRPORT: Patenga Airport about 5 miles from Chittagong. Three flights per day to Dacca, where international connections.

AUTHORITY: Chittagong Port Trust.

PILOTAGE: Access to River Scheldt is:

1. One in Schouwendiep between lightbuoys SD and MZ where Pilots for incoming vessels are available.
2. One in Middeldiep near the lightbuoy MSB for taking off the Pilots of outward-bound vessels.

The pilot cutters of both cruising stations can be called by the signals of the international code. They can also be contacted on VHF Channel 6.

ETA: Pilot cutter Wielingen or pilot cutter Oostgat should be given at least 4 hours notice before arrival at the pilot cutter, respectively via Ostend Radio (OST) to "Pilotage Ostend" or via Scheveningen Radio (PCH) to "Pilotage Flushing".

In case pilot service is suspended because of weather conditions, Flushing Pilot Station can be contacted on VHF Channel 14. At Flushing, the sea Pilot disembarks and the river Pilot boards the vessel and pilots her to the riverside berths or to the locks. For vessels bound for a berth in the docks, the dock Pilot takes over in the lock until the vessel is moored in berth.

DEEP SEA PILOTAGE: See "Brixham" or "Cherbourg".

ANCHORAGE: There is sufficient anchorage for deeply loaded vessels at all times around the A.1 buoy, and for smaller vessels around the MSB buoy. There are unlimited possibilities for anchoring at Flushing roads. Anchorage is limited at Middelgat.

RESTRICTIONS: No restrictions on night entry. Tankers larger than 2,000 g.r.t. destined for berths on the river upwards of Baudouin–Van Cauwelaert-locks are not allowed to transit during hours of darkness.

LOCKS: Royers Lock, length 590 ft., width 72 ft. 2 in., depth at high tide 36 ft. 4 in.

Zandvliet Lock, length 1,639 ft., width 187 ft., depth at high tide 60 ft. 8 in.

MAX. SIZE: At high water under normal weather and tidal conditions vessels up to 820 ft. length, on a draft of 42 ft. (F.W.) and 820 ft.–880 ft. length on a draft of 39 ft. (F.W.) may enter. Max. beam 125 ft. However, it is advisable to check in each case what maximum draft will be allowed for a specific vessel. Vessels with less than 26 ft. draft can enter at all stages of the tide.

HEALTH: No special requirements to obtain free pratique. Vaccination Certificates must be valid. Recent Derat Certificate required. In case of contagious illness aboard, advise Agent.

RADIO: Cable agents ETA Flushing, maximum fresh water draft, and requirements via Ostend Radio–OST or OSU (radio telephone). Radio Antwerp–OSA operates only on medium frequency.

TUGS: Tugs for berthing at a riverside berth or entering the lock are ordered at river Pilot's request according to weather conditions and tide. Generally at Lieftkenshoek for Van Cauwelaert and Baudouin locks and between Saftingen and N. Ballast Fort for Zandvliet lock. For super-tankers, tugs may join at Bath. Ship's lines are usually used for towage. If ship asks for tug lines there will be an extra charge per line.

The number of tugs required in the dock area shall be mentioned on the "hailing bill". Eventually, "according to dock Pilot's advice" can be mentioned.

BERTHING: Deeply loaded vessels normally moor at their berth in the docks two hours after high water.

RADAR/VHF: A radar chain established from Saftingen to Kruisschans Roads, but only used to help Pilot determine position. In fog, vessels do not normally proceed. Masters can keep close contact day and night on VHF on the following channels: Pilot cutter, Channel 6 (156·30 mHz); Flushing Radio, Channel 14 (156·30 mHz); Zandvliet Radio, Channel 12 and Kruisschans Radio, Channel 14 when in appropriate sector. Harbour Office, Channel 18.

Vessels not equipped with VHF can rent a portable portaphone. The Scheldt information service gives information by VHF within an area extending from the sea to the mouth of the river Rupel, situated upstream of Antwerp. On every full hour plus five minutes until that hour plus ten minutes, vessels should switch to Channel 16 to listen to the traffic list and navigation reports, issued by Antwerp radio.

On every full hour plus 35 minutes, Flushing Radio (Channel 14) and Kruisschans Radio (Channel 12) transmit information regarding visibility, water level, hindrances, anchorages, etc.

As soon as one of the stations reports a decrease of visibility under 3,000 metres, visibility reports are transmitted by Antwerp Radio on every hour plus 48 minutes.

DENSITY: Strong outflow of Amazon and its tributaries is such that water at Salinas is only semi-salt. In the river itself, the water becomes slightly brackish, and half way to Belem, is absolutely fresh.

PILOTAGE: All manoeuvres will be undertaken by the vessel's Master, with the help of a Carmopolis Mooring Master, who will board the vessel in the anchorage area and advise the Master on all operations such as mooring, connecting hoses, unmooring, loading, etc. It is important to emphasise that the services of the Mooring Master are afforded without charge and upon the express undertaking and condition that Petrobras shall not be liable for any damage or injury resulting from any advice, assistance or actions given or made by such Mooring Master. In the event it becomes necessary to disregard the Mooring Master's advice, in order to ensure safety of the vessel, the Master must forward a full written report of the circumstances for delivery to the Captain of the Port through the Terminal. It is the responsibility of the Master to notify the Mooring Master of any special conditions or peculiarities such as defective navigation equipment, tackle, gear or lack of necessary equipment which might impose hazards related to handling, mooring and loading the vessel.

Unsatisfactory conditions will be reported to the Superintendent of the Terminal, who is empowered to reject the ship for future calls unless the reported difficulties have been remedied.

APPROACHES: When approaching the terminal, as well as the landmarks (Aracaju Light), there are also three fixed lighted platforms, located in the following positions, and can be visible in clear weather for a distance of 22 miles:

When for the first time approaching, and during night hours, contact can be made with the platforms, which maintain VHF Channel 16, and certain information can be obtained regarding anchorage, berthing time, etc.

ETA: Vessels bound to Aracaju or Tecarmo should transmit directly to "Fronape Rio" (PPA 25) a message informing vessel's name, flag, port of registry, classification, gross and net tonnage, horsepower, speed, number of crew, Owner's and Master's name.

ANCHORAGE: Due to the peculiar conditions of the terminal, mooring should be undertaken at daylight only. For vessels arriving at night, the advisable anchorage is in position: Lat. 11° 03′ 00″ S. Long. 36° 59′ 00″ W.

Anchorage may be obtained in a depth from 13 to 15 fathoms East or E.S.E. from the mooring buoys, and at a distance of one mile. The bottom is a good holding ground.

Anchoring is prohibited West and South-west of the terminal due to the existence of pipe-lines, which are newly laid down and unmarked on the charts. Strong currents prevailing along the coast line, which occasionally attain rates up to three knots.

RADIO: Vessels bound for Terminal Maritimo de Carmopolis should advise their ETA 48 hours prior to arrival, direct to PPA 25 (8,492 kHz, Petrobras own radio station) as well as to Agent in Aracaju (through Rio Radio, Olinda Radio or Amaralina Radio). In turn, these stations will send messages to the terminal.

ETA should be in local time, giving name of vessel, Master's name, number of crew, net tons, gross tons, nationality and dwt.

Confirmation or change of ETA should be cabled 24 hours before arrival.

When vessel is within about 50 miles of the terminal, contact may be made by VHF radio-telephone on Channel 16 (156·80 mHz) or SSB (2·182 kHz).

MAX. SIZE: Tankers up to 65,000 dwt. can be accommodated. Max. draft 15 metres.

TUGS: There are no tugs available to assist berthing and unberthing.

BERTHING: The terminal consists of one berth (six buoys) designed for loading crude oil. The berth is located 7,150 metres from the shore. Loading of vessels is effected by one 26-in. submarine pipeline.

Maximum permitted draft for the terminal is 15 metres in order to ensure a safe bottom clearance, even under extreme operating sea conditions.

Amidships derrick or crane capacity must not be less than 5 tons, so that hose can be hoisted and connected.

HOSES: There is a submarine pipe-line from shore installations direct to the terminal, which are divided into two flexible hoses long enough to reach the ship's manifold. Usually, only one hose is connected, of 10 in. diameter, from which 19,000 bbls. is the maximum loading rate. Shore labour used to connect hoses. Hoses are lifted on the starboard side.

MEDICAL: Medical treatment and/or hospitalisation, if required are provided at Aracaju private hospitals. Dentists are also available in Aracaju. Agent will make such arrangements.

For emergency cases (injury etc.), Petrobrás first aid may be requested by the master.

MOORING: Vessels moor using both anchors forward with two lines from the port bow to No. 2 mooring buoy and from the stern run 8 to 10 ropes to the buoys, depending upon weather conditions and strength of currents.

BALLAST: No slop facilities are available for dirty ballast.

Brazilian Laws are very strict with regard to the pollution of coastal waters. Vessels are not allowed to discharge dirty ballast into the water. Heavy fines are imposed for violations. To offenders, fines will be charged (besides resulting delays) according to the ship's tonnage.

WEATHER: During winter months, weather conditions are not favourable. Heavy swell prevailing at the sea berth from S./S.E. direction which causes a continuous rolling on the ship during the whole time of loading operations. The terminal is only sheltered from the North to West, and W.S.W. winds which are very rare during the winter months.

FRESH WATER: No water available.

AIRPORT: There is an airport at Aracaju.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: Brazilian Laws are strict with regard to smuggling, and Masters are requested to instruct their crew not to retain cigarettes in carton lots, cigars, tobacco, alcoholic drinks, drugs, souvenirs, etc.

By no means will any commercial transactions be tolerated be it either among terminal employees, crew members or anyone else.

The following must also be observed:

1. All vessels (tankers) manoeuvring at quays which are not terminals will be assisted by tugs as shown in section (d).
2. The requirements in sections (a), (b), (c) and (d) will apply when the manoeuvre is effected under normal conditions.
3. In abnormal conditions, and according to the Pilot's judgement, other necessary measures will be adopted to ensure safety of the manoeuvre.
4. When a vessel is manoeuvring with the aid of a tug, the Pilot may call for a further tug with power compatible with the requirements of the manoeuvre.
5. A tug will be considered as large where its power is in excess of 600 h.p.

BERTHING: Berth usually accessible day and night. Ratguards obligatory.

For vessels loading iron ore, it is important that hatch combings are not higher than 31 ft. above the water-line in order to pass under the loading belt.

DOCUMENTS: Inward clearance is effected aboard immediately after arrival by Government Port Officials and agent's representative. The following documents must be ready:

5 copies Crew List.
3 copies Store List.
3 copies Personnel Effects List
3 copies Passenger List.
3 copies, one visaed, Cargo Manifest.
3 copies Bill of Lading.

APPROACHES: The safe access to the Terminal is made through a main (deep but narrow) channel swept to 17 m. (55 ft.) that begins between the Island of Cotunduba and the Point of Leme. It extends as far as the East neighbourhood of the South Dock-Island East Berth. As long as the ship does not exceed 11·3 m. (37 ft.) the access can also be undertaken through the N.–S. axis passing by Ilha Rasa and the bar's entrance (secondary entry, larger but shallower).

A long bridge (Rio–Niterói), under construction, linking Ponta do Caju (West) to Ilha do Mocanguê Grande (East) will cross the swept channel. Three navigable empty spaces: – the central one 300 m. (980 ft.) wide; 50 m. (165 ft.) high at MLWS, the side ones with 200 m. (650 ft.) in width – will maintain the safe access for ships.

A shoal (reef) in 11·5 m. (36 ft.) deep lies about 0.3′ E.N.E. of Lage Is. just after the bar's narrow entrance (between São João and Santa Cruz Points). A wreck marked by a green buoy (CS) lies sunk nearly 1·3 miles eastward of Cotunduba Is.

ANCHORAGE: Vessels should anchor North-eastward of Ilha Fiscal for port authorities clearance. After pratique has been granted they should change anchorage site while awaiting for a berth alongside.

Vessels should anchor clear of the 17 m. (52 ft.) swept channel. They must take care to avoid dropping their anchors on the route of submarine cable near to a line joining the islands of Villegagnon and Boa Viagem.

Prohibited Anchorage: In no circumstances should ships drop anchor Westwards and between South and North platforms due to the existence of submarine pipe-lines connecting Ilha D'água to the platforms and to Ilha Redonda.

READINESS: Arrival is usually considered the time the vessel reaches the anchorage area or the time the Pilot boards the vessel, whichever occurs first notice of readiness will be accepted at the time the tanker is in all respects ready to operate.

PILOTAGE: Pilotage is compulsory after the ship's free pratique has been granted. From that moment on all movements within the port limits will be made under the assistance of a Pilot. Request for pilotage service may be made either right to the Harbour Pilot's Working Co-operative (pilot station VHF Radiotelephone – Channels 16 and 12. Listening period from 0600 to 1800 hours local time) or, through ship's agent, 24 hours beforehand.

For tankers larger than 100,000 dwt Pilots usually board the vessel outside the main channel's entrance. This will occur if weather conditions permit and by daylight only.

Ships could also use, in most circumstances, a secondary entry which N.–S. axis passes through Ilha Rasa (larger but shallower) as long as their draft does not exceed 11·3 m. (37 ft.). In certain cases and at the discretion of the Pilot, according to the prevailing conditions, ships will use this channel with a draft up to 12·5 m. (41 ft.).

Ships may anchor 1·8 mile on the North of Ilha Rasa for awaiting the Pilot, who will board the ship and proceed by day or night according to ship's draft, visibility conditions, etc.

A pilot-ladder must be safely rigged for immediate use and be long enough to reach the Pilot's launch. At night adequate lighting must be rigged so as to enable the Pilot to approach and board the vessel. In addition, a boat rope should be led along the side, from well forward. A lifebuoy with 27 m. (15 fathoms) of rope must be conveniently placed in the vicinity of gangway for use in emergency. Vessels should always make a lee. Tankers of 40,000 dwt or over are requested to have a pilot ladder (preferably with a centre gripping line) rigged alongside the accommodation ladder in order that the Pilot may transfer to it after about 2 to 3 m. (6 to 10 ft.).

MAX. SIZE: Tankers up to 135,000 dwt will operate in the terminal. Draft is 15·8 m. (52 ft.) at low water.

Berthing capacity is limited by structural resistance of installation, actual depth of the swept channel and weather conditions.

South Dock Island (main)

East Berth (PP1) – Tankers up to 15·8 m. (52 ft.) draft will moor and unmoor at any time.

Structural resistance of pier was designed to handle tankers up to 115,000 t.d.w. but under special circumstances this limit will be extended to 135,000 t.d.w.

West Berth (PP2) – By day tankers up to 13·1 m. (43 ft.) draft will moor according to the range of tide.

By night only ships up to 35,000 t.d.w. will moor.

Shifting ship from East to West Berth only be daylight, draft 12·8 m. (42 ft.), fair weather and wind speed up to 2 Beaufort;

North Dock Island (secondary)

East Berth (PS1) – Tankers up to 35,000 dwt will moor either by day or night.

At low tide, the maximum draft permitted is 10·2 m. (34 ft.).

West Berth (PS2) – At night tankers up 14,000 dwt will manoeuvre. Whenever another tanker is already berthed to the Butadiente Dock-Island, night mooring to the North Dock-Island is not advisable. West-berthing will be undertaken with ebb tide, i.e. the set of the current is South, preferably.

At low water maximum permitted draft is 8·2 m. (27 ft.).

Butadiene Dock-Island (PAB)

Manoeuvres will be undertaken at daylight only. Maximum permissible draft at low water is 8·5 m. (28 ft.).

Ilha Redonda Pier (IR)

LPG tankers will moor by day only, limitations concerning draft is 7 m. (23 ft.) at most. Maximum ship's LOA is 100 m. (360 ft.).

Vessels over 100,000 tons should have approximately one-third of the vessel's deadweight in ballast.

RADIO: Vessels under charter to Petrobrás bound for Rio de Janeiro should advise their ETA 48 hours prior to arrival to PPA25 (Company's own radio station) as well as to their agents when it will be the case, through PPR (Rio Radio – Government Coast Station). Confirmation or change of ETA should be cabled 24 hours before arrival. When within range, tankers may also call Torgua or Fronape VHF radio-telephone stations for instructions. All ETA's should indicate whether it is local time or GMT.

The terminal radio and communication centre is located in the Oil Handling Control Room situated at Ilha D'água. There is a RT set operating 24 hours a day, on Channel 16 (Delta) and manned by terminal operators.

It is strictly prohibited to use vessels wireless transmitters in the port of Rio de Janeiro.

Non-compliance with this regulation may result in a fine being imposed on vessel by the authorities.

TUGS: Tugboat assistance is rendered by two Petrobrás 1,430 h.p. tug boats (twin motors equipped with controlled pitch propellers). Private tugboats are also available. While rendering such assistance tugs act under the orders of the harbour Pilot. Petrobrás tugs are fitted with fire pumps and monitors (including mechanical foam) to assist in fighting fires. All manoeuvring orders will normally be given by VHF telephone on channel 13 (Alpha) – 156·65 mHz, however, they usually keep watch on channel 16 (Delta) – 156·8 mHz. Ships not provided with radiotelephone, orders will be conveyed to the fore tug by a mouth whistle and to the aft tug by the ship's whistle. All orders received by tugs will be acknowledged with a distinct short blast. Hawsers are always supplied by the ship except when tugs are manoeuvring alongside ship in which case the towing lines will be given by the tugs.

The tugs are usually stationed either at the terminal dolphin or "L" pier on Ilha D'água. The Pilot in consultation with the Master, will decide the number of tugs required for each berthing or unberthing operation. Safety of the Terminal installations demands, at least, two tugboats, even for bow thruster equipped ships.

BERTHING:

Petrobras: Torguá is an oil terminal consisting of four distinguished mooring sites located on different places inside the Guanabara Bay.

All these mooring sites are linked to Ilha D'água and then to the mainland (Duque de Caxias Refinery – REDUC) by submarine pipelines. Three of them are dock-islands, i.e. island-type offshore platforms lying near to the Eastern edge (about half mile away) of Ilha D'água (where storage tanks, operation controlling room and part of the administrative staff are placed). Two of these dock-islands are squared platforms (South and North) with two berths each (East and West). The South one is designed for larger tankers consisting of two mooring and two breasting dolphins on each side of the platform. It is normally used for the discharge of crude oil.

The North Dock-Island (smaller) has only two mooring dolphins on each side. Two berths (East and West) are also available. It is generally used for handling derivatives. The third Dock-Island (the smallest and round shaped one) is actually the dolphin of the North Dock-Island square platform. It is known as the "Butadiene Pier" and only one vessel at a time can be berthed there (East) either for discharge LPG/butadiene or loading light grades. Besides these three mooring sites there is a fourth located on Ilha Redonda (approx. 2 miles E.N.E. of Ilha D'água). This installation comprises one single berth (West), head of a small pier. It handles LPG only. Two spherical refrigerated storage tanks (2,000 tons) can easily be seen from incoming vessels.

Other Terminals: Manguinhos Terminal – Operators: Refineria de Petroleo de Manguinhos. At Manguinhos terminal a draft of 36 ft. is permissible. Conventional buoy berth in which two ship's anchors and four buoys are used, one on starboard forward of the bow and three buoys aft. Two ship's lines run to each buoy. The terminal is situated in the inner harbour of Rio de Janeiro and close to the quays. Three 8-in. hoses from an underwater pipe-line are connected to the ship's manifold. Maximum back pressure is 100 ppsi, at the ship's rail. Discharge rate is about 1,000 tons per hour. Care is to be taken that the vessel shall not exceed a draft of 40 ft. during discharge. Bunkering is permitted when discharging cargo.

Shell Terminal – ,, ,, 31 ,,
Texaco Terminal – ,, ,, 29 ,,

MEDICAL: Medical treatment and/or hospitalisation, if required, is provided in private local clinics. Dentists are also available. For emergency cases (serious illness or injury) Torguá first aid may be requested by the Master. Internal telephone no. is 39.

If patient does not speak Spanish, Portuguese or English an interpreter should accompany him. A nominal amount is charged for any supplies or medicines furnished by the terminal.

FRESH WATER: Facilities may be arranged to supply water in North and South platforms only. Water supplying barges are also available.

FUEL: The Terminal is equipped with blending valves and can deliver any type of fuel – as Bunker C fuel oil, marine gas oil, marine diesel oil and intermediates of any grade – concurrently with tankers working cargo, at international prices.

The supplying rates are of about 300 mt/hour for Bunker C, 180 mt/hour for MGO and 450 mt/hour for intermediates.

Order of bunkering should be placed, with a minimum of 48 hours in advance, to: Marine Fuel Division, Commerical Department. Telegraphic Address: Petrobrasecope. Telex number: 031422 or 031423. Rio de Janeiro – Brazil.

BALLAST: All ballast should be pumped out to the terminal slop tanks. Under no circumstances should it be pumped into the sea even if the ballast is said to be clean. As soon as the ship is moored, the Terminal Representative must be told of the quantity of ballast on board and the estimated time to pump it out. Right after discharging a sludge ballast of high pour point (HPP) oil, tankers are asked to flush the line with water from the main suction inlets. The Terminal Representative must be notified 30 minutes before the ship will be out of ballast.

There are two sludge tanks with a total capacity of about 8,900 cu. m. (56,000 bbls.). The terminal is particularly interested in having vessels complete the deballasting operation promptly after berthing in order to minimise time at berth. Simultaneous loading and deballasting is encouraged on properly equipped vessels.

REPAIRS: Repairs of all kinds can be effected in Rio de Janeiro. There are floating cranes with a capacity of 100 tons. Divers service may be obtained. Dry dock to hold ships up to 33,000 t.d.w. are available. It is suggested that charges should be discussed with ship's agent prior to proceeding with any repair work.

SURVEYORS: Lloyd's Register of Shipping, American Bureau of Shipping and Bureau Veritas have representatives in Rio de Janeiro. Advance notice should be given in order to arrange for an appointment through Fronape on ship's agent.

Chas. Martin & Co. petroleum inspectors are available in Rio de Janeiro. Contact may be through Agent. E. W. Saybolt & Co. inspectors are also available in Santos.

GENERAL:

Gangway: All vessels using the port of Rio de Janeiro must provide a safe gangway. The use of rung ladders (sea ladders) is contrary to port regulations and port authorities will not board except by means of a safe gangway or accommodation ladder. A lifebuoy with 27 m. (15 fathoms) of rope must be conveniently placed in the vicinity gangway for use in emergency. It will be the responsibility of ship to provide and maintain this equipment.

At night, the gangway must be adequately lighted. In addition, a boat rope should be led along the side, from well forward. In the near future a special safe gangway will be provided in the South and North dock-islands.

Repairs: Repair and maintenance services for radar, radio, gyro compass, echosounder, etc., are available. The repair man should be contacted through ship's agent.

Stores: Provisions and stores are available. Requisitions should be conducted through the agents. Ship chandlers are normally permitted to visit ships when specifically instructed by agent.

Launches: Launch service for the transportation of personnel ashore must be arranged through ship's agents. Terminal boats are intended for operational assistants and they are normally stationed at a small "L" pier on the South of Ilha D'água (Barge Dock).

Laundry: Laundry service is available throughout each working day. Such service should be requested in the vessel's ETA message to agents.

Ratguards: Ratguards must be fitted to all mooring lines.

Sea Pollution: Brazilian law is very strict in regard to the pollution of harbour and coastal waters. Vessels should not discharge dirty ballast, ashes, refuse, etc., into the water. Heavy fines are imposed for violations. All overboard discharge valves from cargo tanks and bilges are to be conducted with the greatest care and vigilance in order that errors or delays in handling cargo valves may not result in overflows. All deck scuppers should be plugged to avoid harbour contamination should an oil spill occur.

Similarly, any hull leakages will be subject to equal restrictions. To offenders, fines will be charged (besides resulting delay) according to ship's tonnage, i.e. 2% of the largest country's minimum wage per each ship's (gross) ton.

Emergency towing wires: Two towing wire ropes (fore and aft) should be hung overboard to the water's edge in such way that tugs can easily make fast if an emergency situation arises.

Shore Leave: Shore leave is normally permitted. Baggage and packages are subject to examination upon entering and leaving the Terminal property and vessels, either by Petrobrás watchers or by custom's officers.

Cleaning: Several contractors in the area provide labour for tank cleaning and mopping. Masters need of this service should submit their requirements to ship's agent who will contact and request a contractor to go on board to discuss details and estimate costs of work to be effected.

It must be pointed out that the Master of the vessel is solely responsible for the fitness of the ship's tanks for loading his next cargo, and will therefore be held liable for any contaminations of the cargo after loading, due to inadequate tank cleaning. Therefore it is up to him to decide the degree of tank cleaning necessary. He may, of course, seek advice from petroleum inspectors in this respect whenever there is any doubt.

Compass Adjustment & RDF Callibration: Compass adjustment or radio direction finder callibration can be effected by competent hydrographers and extra-masters. Contacts with agents or through the pilot's station.

Custom's Watches: Sometimes while vessel is in port, Brazilian custom's officials are assigned on board to ensure compliance with custom regulations. Meals must be supplied to these officials during regular meal hours.

PILOTAGE: Bar pilotage is compulsory, on approaching Rio Grande contact can be made with Pilots by VHF Channel 16, pilot boat is easily identified as it is painted red. Requests for a Pilot to be made by Agent at least 12 hours in advance for vessels entering and two hours for vessels sailing. Bar Pilots either bring vessels with cargo to discharge/load direct to berth, or up to inner anchorage (when no berth is available or in the case of vessels en route to Porto Alegre).

ANCHORAGES: Official anchorage situated at a point between inner light buoys Nos. 4 and 5, just before entrance proper to inner approach channel. In case of necessity, vessels may discharge/load to/from lighters at anchorage where depth is over 35 ft.

RESTRICTIONS: Depending on weather conditions and subject to prior arrangements with Bar Pilotage, vessels drawing less than 24 ft. may enter or leave any hour of day or night. Draft subject to change as access channel is being dredged to 42 ft.

MAX. SIZE: Bar max: subject alteration, see Restrictions.

Anchorage and bar fourth section: Fourth section is where new super port of Rio Grande will be situated. The natural draft inner roads is 50 ft. therefore if draft at access channel confirmed, foresee no difficulties vessels drawing heavy draft entering and operating at anchorage or super port grain and fertilizer terminals.

Inner New Port (Porto Novo): Subject to alterations.

HEALTH: (a) Vessels arriving from a foreign port of call must receive visit of Port Health Authority. Each passenger (whether to land or in transit) and crew member must be in possession of a valid international vaccination certificate against smallpox.

(b) Maritime Health Declaration has to be made out and handed to Doctor at time of visit. When all papers have been examined and found in order, the Doctor will authorise lowering of the yellow flag and hand over free pratique.

(c) Vaccination against smallpox can be made on board and respective international certificate issued.

(d) In case of death, suspected disease, serious accident, etc., on board before vessel arrives in port, Master should radio Agent giving full particulars so that necessary steps may be taken with Health/Police authorities.

RADIO: Radio Junção, call sign PPJ, situated on outskirts of Rio Grande, is a receiving/transmitting station, operating on a wavelength of 600 metres (500 kc/s). There is telephone communication between radio station and shipping offices so that, normally, messages are relayed without any appreciable delay. Radio messages may also be despatched through Florianopolis Radio, via Western Telegraph, and these are also received quickly, under normal conditions.

TUGS: Compulsory for vessels over 2,800 dwt. Five tugs available. Tugs usually join vessel as soon as she has come through approach channel, in the port proper, but in the case of deeply-laden vessels, normally attend before vessels enter inner approach channel. Ship's lines always used.

Tug Requirements:

Vessel 2,800–5,000 dwt. 1 small Tug. 5,001–10,000 dwt. 1 small and 1 medium tug. 10,001–15,000 dwt. 1 medium and 1 large tug. Over 15,001 dwt. 2 large tugs.

BERTHING: New Port: Length of quay, 640 m., depth 8·5 m. 38 cranes, capacity 2·5 tons to 10 tons.

Old Port: Length of quay, 1,522 m., depth 4·5 m. 13 cranes, capacity 2·5 tons to 5 tons.

No mooring buoys. Vessels berth alongside quay to load/discharge. If weather conditions permit, recommended that vessels should berth starboard side to wharf in order to facilitate sailing, especially if there is a possibility of night departure. Turning vessel round before coming alongside, however, may not always be advisable or safe because of wind and current conditions at time. Vessels loading down to maximum safe draft must be starboard side to quay on sailing. If weather does not allow ship to turn on arrival, she must do so as soon as conditions permit, before being too deeply laden.

Oil Carriers: Tankers measuring over 200 metres long have entered and berthed at Rio Grande, coming alongside port side to berth. On sailing, they go out stern first, turning after negotiating approach channel and reaching anchorage. Favourable conditions of wind and current necessary for this manoeuvre.

Installations for discharge of petroleum products: All fuel oil discharged at tanker berth within port proper – i.e. subject to a maximum draft of 29 ft. White petroleum products may also be discharged at this berth. A deep-water tanker pier has been constructed close to the anchorage but it is in limited operation for white products only, because pipe-lines to main storage tanks and refinery have not yet been installed. This pier, which is capable of accommodating two vessels of 160–180 metres overall length, has a depth of over 35 ft.; it also has installations for supplying fresh water which may, in case of necessity, be used by cargo vessels. No facilities for the discharge of residues.

BULK HANDLING FACILITIES: New port; depth alongside varies from 26 ft. to 29 ft. depending on berth and has the following facilities:

CESA Terminal: One silo with a capacity of 55,000 tons used for grain and soya beans. Conveyors feed two pneumatic chutes, each 150 t.p.h. The facility is being improved to handle 1,000 t.p.h.

Port-owned Terminal: Two silos with a total capacity of 70,000 tons. Loading is carried out by a single retractable arm, max. reach 20 m. Average loading rate 1,500 t.p.h.

Samrig Terminal: One silo with a capacity of 35,000 tons. Loading is carried out by two movable chutes each with a capacity of 200 t.p.h.

Cotrijui Terminal: At Rio Grande Superport.

This privately-owned terminal has storage capacity of 100,000 tons with a further storage facility of 110,000 tons under construction, which should be operational in 1975.

The loading rate is 3,000 t.p.h. through eight chutes. Depth alongside 55–59 ft. only one vessel is able to berth alongside the pier, length 180 m.

The terminal only handles soya beans and gives preference to self trimming vessels and bulk carriers.

The Superport will eventually cover 8 km. along the waterfront with provision made to handle fuel, chemicals, oils, salt, fertilisers, minerals, containers and roll-on/roll-off traffic.

STEVEDORES: Working hours, straight time, 0730/1130 – 1300/1700 (week-days). During week-days, labour for morning shift which commences at 0730 hours, may be ordered up to 0715 hours; at 1245 hours extra gangs may, if necessary, be engaged for afternoon shift commencing at 1300 hours. For night work longshoremen (i.e. dock labourers as distinct from stevedores) must be ordered before 1600 hours; stevedores, tally-clerks, etc., for night work may be engaged up to 1845 hours for shift that starts at 1900 hours. Sunday/holiday work must be ordered previous day, up to 1600 hours.

MEDICAL: Two hospitals available which have adequate facilities to deal with majority of cases. Only vaccination required at present is against smallpox.

FRESH WATER: Supplied at main quay at a rate of 10 to 15 t.p.h. or at tanker pier where rate is about 25 to 30 t.p.h. Port has a barge Gutemberg which can supply water (100 t.p.h.). It is only used in extreme cases where no other supply is feasible, as cost is high due to high overtime rates and tugs standing-by during whole operation.

FUEL: Bunkers may be supplied by Esso, Shell or Petrobras at tanker pier at a rate of up to 300 t.p.h. Same has to be previously stemmed aboard and supply is only effected when confirmation of stem is received. Cost varies according international demand. Barges for supply at roads are sometimes on hand.

DEVELOPMENTS: Dredging continues to a depth of 14 metres at the entrance and 13 metres in the inner channel.

GANGWAY/DECK WATCHMEN: Gangway watchman is compulsory. It is advisable to use deck watchman when pilferable cargo is accessible. The rate is 50% higher than that for a gangway watchman.

OPENING/CLOSING HATCHES: Opening and closing of conventional hatches normally done by stevedores, without any extra cost; advisable, however, for steel hatches to be handled by crew.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: Each crew member allowed one carton cigarettes (or the equivalent in pipe tobacco) and one bottle of spirits, per week. Ships that remain in port for over a week may request Customs, through their Agent, to open bond for another weekly issue.

IDENTITY CARDS: Foreign crew members not permitted to go ashore without presentation of identity card, on which is a photograph of holder and personal details. These cards are provided by the Agent upon arrival. The identity card must be delivered on disembarkation to the Federal Police who will return it to the crew member on re-embarkation.

Ships calling at Salvador are normally boarded by the authorities at any time, day or night, when required. If there is no special urgency, however, the visit is effected the following morning at 06.30 hrs.

PILOTAGE: Application for Pilot cabled by Master to Agent who makes all arrangements with Pilots' Association. Advance notice of ETA should be cabled by Master 48 and 24 hours before arrival. Pilot boat painted red. The location where Pilot has to be taken is indicated on all charts.

Pilotage is not compulsory but Pilots are used by all foreign vessels for entering and leaving the dock. Sometimes they are also used to shift ships to anchorage for the Authorities visit.

Pilots belong to the Pilot Association which is controlled by the Port Captain.

Payment of pilotage is made by the Agency against vouchers signed by the Master showing the service rendered (pilotage fees do not include charge for motor launch for the Pilot, ropes for mooring, etc.).

When vessel arrives during the day, and a berth is immediately available, a Pilot is sent to meet her before anchoring, to be brought alongside. In such instances, a gangway must be kept lowered for the authorities to board the vessel. If a berth is not available, the vessel must anchor at the quarantine anchorage to be visited by authorities. When arriving at night, the vessel must anchor at the quarantine anchorage, to await daylight, unless she is to be brought alongside immediately on arrival, in which case the Agent will cable the Master and arrange Pilot accordingly.

The Pilot Association may be contacted on VHF, Channel 16 (Channel 11, working).

ANCHORAGES: Inner anchorage can accommodate vessels with a draft of up to 33 ft., but there is sufficient depth of water in the outer anchorage to accommodate vessels with any draft.

RESTRICTIONS: There is sufficient depth of water in the outer anchorage to accommodate the largest vessels afloat with safety, and the anchorage can, in addition, take a considerable number of vessels at any one time. The average depth of water in the channel leading to the dock warehouses is 33 ft. (10 m.) except opposite Shed No. 2 where 28 ft. (8·50 m.) is the maximum depth. The dock quays are sheltered by two breakwaters, one running parallel with the shore for just over half a mile. Because of the shallow draft opposite No. 2 shed, all vessels entering or leaving the port with more than 28 ft. normally enter the northern channel.

MAX. SIZE: Maximum draft 30 ft., maximum length about 250 m. The 10 metre quay situated next to the docks, where tankers discharge chemical and other vessels bulk cargoes, max. draft 33 ft., maximum length of about 250 metres. Also see "Tankers".

ARRIVAL INFORMATION: Required before vessel's arrival:
(a) Vessel – ETA; deepest draft.
(b) Cargo – Quantity of cargo to be discharged and specification of hatch list.
(c) Passengers – Number of passengers disembarking.
(d) Bunkers – Quantity required.
(e) Water – Quantity required.
(f) Labour – Quantity required.
(g) Any other information – Number of mailbags to be landed, etc.

1. Vessel's name.
2. ETA Salvador.
3. draft.
4. Number of passengers disembarking.
5. Number of mail bags to be landed.
6. Quantity of bunkers required.
7. Quantity of water required.
8. Number of gangs required.
9. Any other information.

FLAGS: On entering the port the vessel should fly the following flags:
1. Brazilian flag on fore mast top.
2. Quarantine flag when Salvador is first Brazilian port of call, or when there is a passenger for Salvador from a foreign port.
3. Customs flag (white star on blue background) after the vessel has been visited.
4. Flag "B" if dangerous cargo on board.
5. Pilot flag.

PRIORITY: Passenger vessels and wheat vessels have priorit over cargo ships and the so-called "navios mixtos", i.e. cargo ship with a limited passenger accommodation. Passengers vessels ar those that carry 60 or more passengers; except when loading 1,00 tons or over in which case they loose their priority.

HEALTH: The Doctor only boards the vessel when Salvador is firs Brazilian port of call or when there are passengers from abroad t disembark, in which case Master should advise Agent who will the take the necessary steps required by Port Health. A yellow fla should be flown if Port Health Doctor is required on board.

RADIO: Master should always endeavour to contact Agent throug Radio Amaralina coastal station, call sign PPA, and Agent wi contact Master the same way. Since this station has a limited rang the Agent at Salvador may be contacted via Rio Radio when nort bound, or Olinda Radio/Fortaleza Radio when South-bound.

TUGS: Tugs are rarely used for berthing, but occasionally used fo unberthing. When used, the line is supplied by vessel. Vesse unberthing at Salvador usually avail themselves of a line to a buo For tankers berthing at 10 metres quay, a tug is usually supplied t help vessel moor and unmoor. When coming alongside tug joi vessel inside port.

| | |
|---|---|
| 1 tug 400 h.p. | 1 tug 600 h.p. |

BERTHING: No restrictions, but if draft over 28 ft. some Pilo prefer to manoeuvre in daylight. Tankers at 10 metres quay m unberth at any time, but Pilots usually refuse to berth during hours darkness because of the bad lighting on this length of quays.

The wharf at Bahia is protected by two breakwaters. There a two channels for vessels entering and leaving. On the wharf the are eleven sheds and between some of the sheds sheltered stora spaces. About 24 electric cranes are available on the quays, wi lifting capacities ranging from 1·5 to 3·2 tons; there is one 5-t crane in front of No. 11 Shed. New cranes with a capacity for 6 a 10 tons are also to be installed.

| No. | | Depth at low water ft. |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Out of use | — |
| 2 | Only used for "Aid" cargo | 23 |
| 3 | Coastal vessels | 23 |
| 4 | Export cargo, foreign vessels | 23 |
| 5 | Import cargo, foreign vessels | 23 |
| 6 | Export cargo, foreign vessels | 23 |
| 7 | Import/Export cargo, foreign vessels | 30 |
| 8 | Export cargo, foreign vessels | 30 |
| 9 | Import cargo, foreign vessels | 30 |
| 10 | Export cargo, foreign vessels | 30 |

There is also a length of quay (commonly called 10 metres quay – depth 31 ft.) on which there is no shed or equipment for the handling of general cargo. There are, however, two conveyor belt systems for loading magnesite and chrome concentrate. This quay is also used for loading other bulk ores with buckets, refrigerated meat, discharging sulphur and other bulk cargoes.

Explosives would be discharged into lighters at the proper anchorage for discharge of such cargo and taken to special deposits. Forewarning must be given for this cargo in order that arrangements may be made in advance.

STEVEDORES: The Agents at Salvador act as stevedores.

The work at Salvador, especially loading, is considered amongst the best in Brazil, as a rule, sufficient gangs are available.

Masks, gloves are supplied by the stevedores. All other material such as slings, nets, etc., shall be supplied by the vessel.

The ordinary working hours are 07.00–11.00, 13.00–17.00, Mondays to Saturdays incl.

For overtime work, permission must be obtained in writing from the Customs and Rural Department. As it would be difficult to obtain permission before each overtime period, a general permission covering ship's stay in port shall be obtained prior to arrival.

11.00–13.00 hrs. Special permission must be obtained from the Dock Company which is only given to passenger vessels, or for cargo vessels to finish the cargo, or under special circumstances.

17.00–19.00 hrs. Continuation period. Advice must be given to workmen at 16.45 hrs.

19.00–23.00, 00.00–04.00 hrs. Considered as night work. Advice must be given to the Deck Company at 16.45 hrs. and to the stevedores at 17.00 hrs.

23.00–24.00 hrs. same as 11.00–13.00 period.

06.00–07.00 hrs. Second night continuation period. Can be worked under special circumstances to finish the cargo.

Vessels discharging/loading bulk cargoes, or loading/discharging reefer cargo, are allowed to work round the clock.

To work on holidays, advice must be given to the Dock Co. before 17.00 hrs. the previous working day. For Sunday work advice must be given before 11.00 hrs. on Saturday. The same applies for stevedores/tally/coopers.

CARGO INFORMATION:

Inward cargo. When cargo is discharged from the vessel it is checked, weighed and weight noted by the shore tally-clerk (for account of the ship), by the Dock Company tally clerk and by the Custom House. If there is a difference in weight, the ship is held responsible and has to pay double duty on same. Once the goods have been checked and weighed ship's responsibility ceases.

Goods are delivered to the consignees on presentation of the bill of lading to the Dock Warehouse.

Transhipment cargo. Foreign cargo for transhipment at Salvador must be so declared on the manifest, and after it has been discharged the Agents have to obtain special Customs permission to tranship it to the port destination and also sign a guarantee that the goods are going to that port and that duty will be paid there. They will be held responsible for that duty until a declaration issued by the Custom House at the port of destination is received by them and handed over to the local Customs.

Transhipment charges vary considerably with the type of cargo and are very high compared with foreign freights.

Outward cargo. Generally, cargo to be loaded is deposited in the dock shed prior to vessel's arrival.

Dangerous cargo. Vessels with explosives and inflammables on board are not permitted to come alongside. All vessels carrying this kind of cargo must fly the "B" signal and remain at the proper anchorage. Advance notice must always be given of any vessel carrying explosives and inflammables. Under special circumstances it may be arranged for vessels to come alongside if they only have a minimum quantity of dangerous cargo on board, and the hatch in which it is stowed is not to be opened at Salvador.

When vessels are boarded by the harbour officials, the Master must hand to the Customs Officer and the Federal Police the Dangerous Cargo list.

Corpses as cargo. Notice should be given to the Port Authorities of such cargo carried, if possible, before vessel's arrival.

Vegetable oil in bulk. Vegetable oil in bulk is loaded directly from lighters where the oil is deposited prior to vessel's arrival. Vessels are usually required to supply steam for pumping when they can.

Loading and discharging rate. The average rate for loading bagged and baled cargo is 16–20 tons per gang per hour. (Tobacco has been loaded at 28 tons and cocoa at 30 tons per gang hour.) Discharging rate of general bagged cargo is about 10 tons per gang hour.

Heavy lifts. For heavy lifts of more than 3 tons, a request shall be made to the Dock Co. to use the 80-ton capacity floating crane. Heavy lifts may also be discharged directly to the quay with the vessel's own gear when, due to a light draft (under 24 ft.), they can come directly alongside without the use of a pontoon. It is recommended that the Agent be consulted before booking any heavy lifts for Salvador as the heavy lift crane is sometimes out of working order.

Inflammables, fuel, & diesel oils, etc., as cargo. Bulk crude oil, diesel, fuel, inflammables, lubricants, etc., are discharged at the Madre de Deus Terminal, which belongs to the Government owned Petrobras.

Damaged cargo. When cargo is discharged damaged or pilfered, it is immediately checked and weighed by the Dock Co. and the Customs and separately stored.

Bulk wheat is discharged to two mills at Salvador, namely the "Moinho Salvador" and "Moinho da Bahia". Average discharging rates (23 hrs. work per day) are respectively 1,500 and 800 tons.

Handling of mail. Timely notice should be given to the Agents in case there is mail to be landed, stating the number of bags.

As regards outgoing mail, the Agents will be advised by the Post Office if there is any and issue the Post Office Pass. The bags shall be placed at the quayside, loading being for the account of the ship.

MEDICAL: When vessels arrive over week-ends or during holidays advisable that Master cable Agent giving advance notice of medical attention required if case is serious. For routine medical attention no previous advice required as ample medical and hospital facilities available.

TANKERS: All tankers loading/discharging inflammables, lubricants, etc., must do so at the Madre de Deus terminal, which is privately owned by Petrobras, the Brazilian Government-run oil company.

The Madre de Deus terminal is a T-fashioned quay situated within All Saint's Bay, 18 miles from Salvador. All vessels calling at Madre de Deus must be cleared at Salvador where Agent and authorities board the vessel before proceeding to Madre de Deus. This terminal is equipped only to handle tankers. Water, bunkers and deballasting facilities are available.

Maximum drafts are 41 ft. for vessels loading and 37 ft. for discharging, and length 240 metres.

DENSITY: Salt water.

FRESH WATER: Advance information recommended. Rate 15 tons per hour. If several vessels are in need of supply, pressure may not be enough to supply all at once. No water barges available in the port, and all vessels are replenished alongside.

Lubricants are supplied in drums.

DEVELOPMENTS: The normal dock quay has been joined to the 10 metres quay closing off a small basin. Dredging is presently being undertaken and vessels will be able to come alongside the new length of quays in the future with a draft of up to 30 ft. When the closed off basin has been completely filled in, new warehouses are to be built for the handling of dry cargo. The breakwater running parallel with the quays is being extended in its Northern end by about 280 metres. Work however, on both these projects is comparatively slow, and it is impossible to foresee when either will be completed.

GANGWAY/DECK WATCHMEN: All foreign vessels must employ a gangway watchman by law. Hold watchmen are optional, depending on request by Masters/Agents.

OPENING/CLOSING HATCHES: Normally carried out by stevedores.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: Customs officials will place cigarettes and "souvenirs" belonging to crew members under lock and seal. Excepting the Captain, each crew member may keep in his possession only one carton of cigarettes and one bottle of spirits with seal broken. The Customs will periodically renew the seals for vessels staying in the port for a lengthy period thus enabling new issues to crew.

LIGHTERS: Soc. Alvarengagem de Ilheus are operating four lighters in the port with a combined capacity for about 670 tons.

REPAIRS: The Navy operates a dry dock at Aratu with the following capacity: 35,000 tons; length 230 m.; width 30 m.; depth 8·5 m. Various small vessels can be attended at the same time. There are a number of workshops in Bahia fitted for repairing vessels, but it is recommended that large repairs be effected at the Aratu dry dock. When time allows, repairs may be made whilst the vessel is alongside the wharf. There is no time-limit but, as a rule, a vessel is not supposed to remain idle at the wharf if the berth is needed for another vessel which has to load/discharge.

SANTANA: 0.03 S. 51.10 W.

DOCUMENTS:
Maritime Health Declaration.
Vaccination Certificates.
5 Crew Lists.
3 Stores Lists (incl. deck/engine).
3 Personal Effects Declaration.
Bunkers Declaration.
Passenger List or negative passenger list.

From each loading port a Manifest plus simple copy of each Bill of Lading addressed to "Inspector of Customs". If vessel called at any port (including Brazilian ports) where no cargo was loaded for Santana, a negative declaration of cargo must be presented.

PILOTAGE: No Pilots available either for the North Channel entrance and/or for docking and casting off operations.

As it is impossible to traverse the river from Port Santana to the open sea in one stretch, two places for anchoring are recommended by the Port Superintendent of Santana, (i) Punta de Ceu, and (ii) after passing Banco do Meio. At both places the river current is strong and unpredictable, but at the anchorage, after Banco do Meio, the vessel would have more manoeuvring room in the event of the anchor dragging.

RIVER NAVIGATION: At the entrance to the river in ballast the vessel should have a draft of about 17 ft. in order that the ship can be manoeuvred along the whole length of the river, even at low water. At this time the Captain has the opportunity to observe and carefully study all points necessary to navigate the vessel fully loaded outward bound.

The ship should be loaded up to 34 ft. 6 in. maximum, depending on the season.

When loaded and outward bound, the Captain should study carefully the tides and direction of currents, and if necessary contact ICOMI Radio ZZK–5 for further instructions.

RESTRICTIONS: Vessels can depart at any stage of tide. Night transit in North Channel is at Master's discretion.

Channel transit restricted to 33 ft. in low water. Due to shifting of mud banks it is recommended that a set of up-to-date Brazilian nautical charts, covering from outer bar to Santana Port, should be used.

Tidal range on outer bar area is about 8 ft., on "Banco do Meio" area is about 16 ft. All data published on Brazilian nautical chart refers to average spring low-water tide.

The Brazilian Hydrographic Office publishes annual tide tables for Barra Norte do Rio Amazonas (Ilha do Brigue) 00° 55.0′ N. and 05° 04.5 W., and Santana Roads (00° 03.4′ S. and 051° 10.8′ W.).

MAX. SIZE: On East side of floating ore pier, general cargo pier has a depth alongside of 30 ft. Along floating ore pier depth ranges from 35 to 90 ft. (at low water). 35 ft. on East end of pier. Tidal range about 9 to 11 ft. Tidal current at middle of river ranges from 2 to 3 knots, while close inshore along ore dock it runs approximately 1–1½ knots. Amazon river water at Santana is fresh in spite of tides.

HEALTH: Health authorities visit vessel arriving from abroad. Authorities require regular ship's gangway to be lowered. Jacob's ladders not accepted. After Master having handed over Declaration of Health, medical authorities issue free pratique. If entering after calling at another Brazilian port, free pratique automatically granted.

RADIO: Vessels scheduled to load ore at Santana must radio Belém (Pará) Agents (preferably via Chatham or Amagansett Radio at least 48 hours prior to ETA North Channel. Other means o communication not satisfactory and result in delay. ICOMI maintain own radio-telegraph service between Macapá and Belém. Macapa station located at port of Santana, call letters ZZK5, sends on 6765 kc and receives on 6200/6400.

TUGS: No tugs available.

BERTHING: Recommended that amidship hatches be used fo Santana cargo. Vessels berth according to direction of tidal curren Berthing operations assisted by a motor craft to place lines on shore East of pier. On West side, lines moored to the bitts on floating fender. Linesmen available to assist berthing and shifting. Ore carrier have preference when docking.

When berthing, use of the anchor must be avoided except in a emergency. This facilitates shifting the ship during loading and als when leaving the berth. Because of the strong current, the confine space for entering the berth and 50–60 metres depth of water, th anchor is not easily lifted and the ship is exposed to the danger o drifting to the adjacent bank.

STEVEDORES: Stevedores come from Macapá about 25 km. b road from the port. Also checkers and coopers. Conveyor belt fo ore loading fixed, consequently vessels must be shifted by ow winches to load various hatches. Effective average loading rat 1,000–1,100 long tons per hour. Special caution must be taken no to pump all ship's ballast before loading starts, since the height o boom is 40 ft. above water level. Cargo belt trimmed only. Hire o trimmers is for ship's account and is performed at anchorage.

MEDICAL: Medical attention may be arranged at Macapá throug ship's Agent.

TANKERS: Discharge at the Dolphins Pier, about 150 metre West of floating pier. Pipe-lines lead to tanks ashore (distance fron pier 1,000 metres). Storage tanks have capacities for 35,000 barrels o diesel oil, 9,500 barrels of gasoline and 60,000 barrels of fuel oi Discharge of different bulk liquids effected after flushing pipe-line Vessels liable to fines, by Port Captaincy, for bulk liquids discharge in port areas.

DENSITY: The Amazon river water at Santana Port is fresh wate at any stage of tide. The temperature of river water being normall around 82°F. makes it possible that a density below 1,000 may b found. Checking density during load operations is recommended.

FRESH WATER: No drinking water available.

OPENING/CLOSING HATCHES: Ore-carriers: service carrie out by crew. General cargo vessels: service executed by stevedores

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: Limited quantity for use durin ship's stay.

CARGO GEAR: No additional requirements as to gear. A heavy-lif stiff leg derrick mounted on the pier. Boom: 60 ft., Mast: 37 ft. 6 in. Capacity: 65 metric tons. Mobile crane (maximum lift 2·5 tons) available for discharge of general cargo from small vessels.

IDENTITY CARDS: Foreign crew members not permitted to go ashore without presentation of identity card, on which is a photograph of holder and personal details. These cards are provided by the Agent upon arrival. The identity card must be delivered on disembarkation to the Federal Police who will return it to the crew member on re-embarkation.

CONSULS: None. Documents which are to be visaed by a Consu must be sent to Belém.

REPAIRS: Only in cases of extreme emergency and then onl minor repairs.

AIRPORT: Macapá airport 25 km. from Santana near city of Macapá. Numerous scheduled domestic flights from Macapá to Belém, a trip of 1 hour and 15 minutes.

TIME: GMT minus 3 hours. Summertime (one hour forward) as from November 1st till February 28th.

HOLIDAYS: New Year's Day (January 1st); Tiradentes (April 21st); Martyr of Independence; Labour Day (May 1st); Independence Da (September 7th); Proclamation of the Republic (15th November); Christmas Day (December 25th).

TELEPHONES: No facilities for placing telephones on board.

GENERAL: Port of Santana: For establishment of tide times a Santana (00° 03′ 26″ S.–51° 10′ 58″ W.), 40–45 minutes must be adde to the times shown in the tables for Macapá.

Alongside the ore-loading pier, the tidal current continues to ru for 10–15 minutes beyond the time computed from the tables. I mid-stream, the delay in the change of current is 60–90 minutes.

Vessels can dock or depart at any time without regard for tid conditions. Special caution must be taken not to pump all ship' ballast before loading starts, since the height of the boom is 40 f above the water level.

PILOTAGE: Pilotage compulsory and request for Pilots should be made through Agent at least 3 hours in advance. Pilot station equipped with VHF phone operating on Channels 10, 11, 13 and 16. Pilot launch is about 12 metres long, red in colour and flies a red flag with a black "P" in the centre. Pilot prefers to board on portside. When pilot launch unable to meet vessels in outer roads due to bad weather Pilot Association will contact Masters with instructions to proceed closer to port, with indication of a given point, where Pilots can be safely transferred.

Anchoring West of 46° 22′ 15″ and North of 24° 00′ 24″ is not allowed. Pilot will normally board at this area; however when requested by pilot station (VHF Channel 6), usually in bad weather, vessels should proceed from their anchorage to lat. 23° 59′ 57″ × long. 46° 20′ 05″ and from that point take true course 057° to lat. 23° 59′ 33″, long 46° 19′ 26″ proceeding from there on at 094° until meeting pilot boat (maximum 1 mile).

MAX. SIZE: Regulations in force stipulate that vessels drawing maximum 28 ft. and not exceeding 750 m. in length may enter/leave the port at any state of tide, day and night. Those drawing 28 ft./30 ft. are subject to tide. These are the official drafts for the port, however in practice, depending on tide, vessels up to 32 ft. may also enter/leave the port.

RADIO: Santos Radio, call sign PPS.

HEALTH: Port Health Authorities consisting of one doctor and one assistant will check all vaccination certificates and issue a free pratique pass, which shall remain on board for presentation at subsequent Brazilian ports of call. Masters can obtain free pratique by radio, which does not mean that the doctor will not come on board, but only that other authorities can board the ship before his arrival.

Free pratique by radio: Master should radio to Agent (in Portuguese) as follows: "Para Sa Portos condições sanitárias a bordo satisfatórias" (Master's name) which means: "Sanitary conditions on board satisfactory". N.B. "Sa Portos" is the cable address of Port Health Authorities.

TUGS: Five tugs available, equipped with two radios (VHF Channels 10, 13 and 16). Up to 1,600 h.p.

Tugs' service for mooring/unmooring not compulsory and depends on Masters' decision with Pilots' advice.

Special cargo handling facilities. Refrigerated cargo: Refrigerated cargo after discharge is deposited in the cold storage (between warehouses 23 and 25). The Receiver is usually responsible for cartage and storage arrangements as well as for the required temperature to be maintained in cold chambers.

Bulk cargo. Grain elevators: There are 3 elevators in Santos from which wheat can be discharged direct into freight cars, owned by: Cia. Docas (with external silos) between Sheds 25 and 26; Moinho Paulista between Sheds 12A and 13; Moinho Santista between Sheds 8 and 9.

Cosipa Terminal, depth 10 m.; Ultrafertil Terminal, depth 10 m.

Fertiliser, sulphur, etc. in bulk can be discharged at any point along the quay where 6-ton cranes equipped with automatic motor-driven grabs or shovels are in operation. Alternatively, cranes with ordinary hand-filled buckets are used. The usual place for handling this type of cargo is by the Saboo bend.

Heavy lifts: Cia. Docas operates 2 floating cranes – one 60 ton and one 150 ton. The 150 ton crane reaches 22 metres in height and can handle lifts within a radius of 10 metres. During 1974 two cranes of 250 tons and 65 tons to be installed.

Special/valuable cargo: Special or valuable cargo, objects of art, precious metals, etc., are discharged without special formalities and may be kept in Shed 12A, where there is a special safe.

BULK HANDLING FACILITIES: The Ultrafertil Terminal is situated East of the Cosipa Terminal and both make use of the same manoeuvring basin with depth of 10 metres, connected with the Port of Santos by a dredged channel 8 km long, 10 metres in depth and 60 metres in width.

Cosipa Terminal consists of a pier 150 metres in length and 22 metres in width, built on concrete tubing, with a depth of 10 metres, allowing for the berthing of vessels of up to 22,000 tons dwt. Future plans foresee the lengthening of the pier to 250 metres and a depth of 13 metres, enabling it to receive vessels of 45,000 tons dwt.

Equipment for the discharge of coal and ore is installed at the pier, capable of handling 600 tons per hour, as well as equipment for the loading of steel plates produced at the plant.

Ultrafertil Terminal is an open dock in the form of an "L" built on concrete tubing, 240 metres in length and 15 metres in width. At its main point, vessel of 23,000 tons dwt. and drawing 10 metres may berth. The secondary point permits the berthing of vessel of up to 3,000 tons dwt. (liquid gas carriers).

The terminal is especially equipped for the discharge of bulk solids at a rate of 500 tons/hour and is likewise equipped with pumps and adequate pipes for the discharge of liquified gas.

Macuco Novo Quay: Export terminal for cereals. Length 280 m. Max. draft for vessels is 13 m. Storage capacity 60,000 tons. Loading rate 3,000 t.p.h.

Container Terminal at inner part of port. Equipped with three heavy weight shore cranes, capacity 30 tons each. Loading/discharging rate: 20 pallets per hour, using fork lifts.

STEVEDORES: All longshoremen are in employ of Cia. Docas, which holds charter for general operations at Santos Docks. Their services can be requisitioned up to 1500 hrs. for vessels at berth/expected to berth next day. Stevedores ordered but not used shall be paid full day or night. Therefore, if the men should be kept standing by (inactive) at 0700 hrs., their period runs up to 1700 hrs., and at 1900 hrs., their period runs up to 0400 hrs.

FRESH WATER: Adequate supply of fresh water is always available from hydrants along the quay (day and night) or from water-barges (Pilões). Water barges cannot supply more than 2 ships per day, their capacity being only 250 tons, which can be pumped into the ship's tanks at the rate of 80 tons per hour. Cia. Docas should be advised 24 hours in advance, priority being given to passenger vessels.

FUEL: MFO, MDF, and gas oil can be supplied at Vallongo by Shed No. 1 or at the Saboo New Quay Extension, or by barge, if up to 300 tons. Applications for supplies should be made a few days in advance to avoid delay in delivery.

TANKERS: Discharge terminals at Saboo Quay, Alamoa and Ilha Barnabé.

Alamoa Terminal: Allows simultaneous mooring of two tankers with capacity of up to 50,000 dwt. Length of wharf 630 m. Depth of 12 m. at LW. Sixteen "Chikson" arms available. Unloading rate 500–2,000 t.p.h.

Ilha do Barnabé: Length of dock 301 metres, depth 10 metres. The dock is used for loading, unloading and storage of liquid fuel.

REPAIRS: There are several workshops at Santos; however only capable of handling small jobs. Complicated engine repairs should be avoided as much as possible.

WATCHMEN: Masters of vessels may at their own discretion have crew members posted as watchmen, but are strongly recommended to have shore people for the job, specially when vessel is carrying any kind of pilferable cargo.

GANGWAY GUARDS: The Maritime Police and Customs House, frequently send on board some personnel to keep gangway watch during vessel's stay. On passenger liners the Maritime Police keeps a guard of 5 men plus one foremen while Customs keeps 3 men. On cargo ships, 2 men and 1 man, are assigned respectively. These officials always expect to be granted a cabin, plus regular meals.

OPENING/CLOSING HATCHES: May be performed by ship's crew or by stevedores.

DEVELOPMENTS: Dredging operations being carried out in order that vessels up to 45,000 tons with a draft of 12·3 metres can come into the port and go alongside Conceicaozinha. As a second phase, this dredging will be extended to the estuary to attain a depth of about 14 metres. From this locality up to the Cosipa channel, the dredging should reach a depth of 12 metres.

For the prolongation of the Macuco Quay, a depth of about 13 metres is contemplated. A section of another 375 metres with a depth of 11 metres and another of 230 metres with a depth of 13 metres will be made in an extension of 605 metres.

Construction of a petrochemical discharging terminal at Ilha Barnabé started in 1973. It is planned to instal 38 tanks of varying storage capacities.

A sugar export terminal is to be constructed within the port.

A grain terminal is to be built on the left bank (tenders out at present). The depth at the quay will be 13·5 m. and will be able to receive vessels of 76,000 dwt. The capaity of the silos to be 100,000 tons.

HEALTH: Port doctor visits all ships on arrival and requires Maritime Declaration of Health, Deratisation Certificate, 2 Crew Lists. Vessels from another Brazilian port automatically receive free pratique and should not fly Quarantine Flag. If suspected disease or fever on board it is advisable to cable Agent before arrival.

RADIO: Vessels under time-charter to Petrobras bound for São Sebastião should advise Company of ETA 48 hours before arrival direct to PPA 25 (Petrobras own radio station) as well as to Agent's cable address through PPR (Rio Radio Brazilian Post Office radio station). In turn they will pass message to the terminal. Confirmation or change of ETA should be cabled 24 hours prior to arrival. Vessels equipped with VHF radio telephone should call on Channel 16/DELTA: 156·8 mHz (and then change to another agreed channel) when within range for berthing instructions. All ETA'S should indicate whether it is local time or GMT. English is generally understood by Pilots and terminal representatives. Weather forecasts as well as Notices to Mariners are transmitted by PWZ and PPR radio stations. Radio equipment should not be used at the piers. Communication ship-to-shore will be by telephone.

The following tug signals which have been approved by the local Captain of the Port are listed below for a Shipmaster's guidance:

(a) For calling tugs: 4 long blasts followed by 1 or 2 short blasts of ship's whistle will call 1 or 2 tugs respectively.

(b) Before towing line is made fast: 2 short blasts; prepare to push on bow or to pick up line from ship's bow. 3 short blasts; prepare to push on stern or to pick up line from ship's stern.

(c) After towing line is made fast: 1 long blast; pull to starboard. 2 short blasts; pull to port. 3 short blasts; give up pulling.

(d) Manoeuvring alongside ship's hull: 1 short blast; to pull, 2 short blasts; to push.

All orders received by tug will be acknowledged with a distinct short blast.

As both tugboats are provided with VHF, manoeuvring orders may be given by radio.

Usually orders to fore tug are given by a mouth whistle and to aft tug by the ship's whistle. Two long blasts followed by a short one is used either to call small craft or pilot launches. To call motor-boat (launch), 1 long blast followed by a short one; both tugs are fitted with blinker signal lamps.

GENERAL CARGO WHARF: Commercial Quay: Length 150 metres, depth 8·2 metres. Fresh water available, rate 10 t.p.h. Fuel available by road tanker in small quantities. Seven cranes, one of 11 tons and six of 4½ tons.

Maximum Height: Max. height of hoses above platform: Position 1: 21·5 m. (70 ft.); Position 2: 17·8 m. (58 ft.); Positions 3 and 4: 16 m. (52 ft.).

Pipe lines: Two 34-in. diameter pipe-lines, 2,300 m. (7,500 ft.) link the South pier to the shore tanks. Two 24-in. diameter pipe-lines, 2,000 m. (6,500 ft.) link the North pier with the shore tanks.

LOADING: Maximum permissible pressure: Both piers 8 kg/cm². (120 p.s.i.).

Pumping Rates: South pier: 100,000 bbl/h. if using two 34 in. lines and 3 or 4 hoses; up to 50,000 bbl/h. if using one 34 in. line and 3 or 4 hoses.

North pier: up to 48,000 bbl/h. if using two 24 in. lines and two hoses; up to 28,000 bbl/h. if using one 24 in. line and 2 hoses.

BALLAST: Brazilian laws are very strict in regard to the pollution of harbour and coastal waters. Vessels should not discharge dirty ballast, ashes, refuse, etc., into the water. Heavy fines are imposed for violations. All overboard discharge valves from cargo tanks and bilges are to be secured before any loading or discharging commences. All deck scuppers should be plugged to avoid harbour contamination should an oil spill occur. To offenders, fines will be charged (besides resulting delays) according to ship's tonnage.

Facilities for receiving dirty ballast are available. However, amount is dependent on space in shore tanks at the time.

MEDICAL: Medical treatment and/or hospitalisation, if required, is provided in the private local hospital. Dentists are available in the area. For emergency cases (serious illness or injury) TEBAR first medical aid may be requested by the Master. Internal telephone number is 20. If patient does not speak Spanish or Portuguese, an interpreter should accompany him.

FRESH WATER: Fresh water can be supplied, if necessary; however, supplies are limited to essential requirements (up to 400 tons). Rates: Minimum 91 t.p.h. Maximum 148 t.p.h.

FUEL: Available. However, prior arrangements should be made with Petrobras in Rio de Janeiro.

Diesel oil is available. However, prior arrangements should be made with Petrobras. Lubricating oil not readily available in São Sebastião so should be ordered well in advance of arrival.

Simultaneous bunkering and discharging operations. Considering that the loading/discharging hoses cannot be crossed with bunkering hoses, the simultaneous bunkering and discharging operations will depend on the position of the ship's bunkering manifold. If the ship has two bunkerings manifolds at each board – one at each side of cargo manifolds – the bunkering and the discharging may be effected at the same time. However, supposing a tanker has only one bunkering manifold at each board (located to the aft part in relation to cargo manifolds), this simultaneous operation will only be possible if the ship is berthed port side at position 3 or starboard side at positions 1, 2 and 4. Contrariwise, upon completion of loading/discharging the ship will have to be shifted a few metres forward to receive bunkers.

SURVEYORS: Petroleum Inspectors: None available in São Sebastião. If required, arrangements should be made well in advance. A representative of Chas. Martin and Co. is based in Rio de Janeiro and E. W. Saybolt & Co. in Santos.

REPAIRS: Repairs of minor nature can be effected in São Sebastião. When alongside pier, vessels must maintain engines and propulsion machinery in readiness to leave the berth under full power on short notice. No repairs are permitted which would interfere with this requirement. In the event of a ship unable to leave the pier under its own power, when requested to do so by the terminal, the terminal reserves the right to arrange to have the ship towed from the pier. Any expenses incurred or delays resulting from such an operation will be for the account of the ship.

CUSTOMS ALLOWANCES: For each crew member, 2 packets of cigarettes and one bottle of wine or spirits. While the vessel is in port, Brazilian custom's officials are assigned on board to ensure compliance with customs regulations. Meals must be supplied to these officials during regular meal hours. Brazilian laws are strict in regard to smuggling and Masters are requested to instruct their crews not to take cigarettes or other articles ashore. Cigarettes in carton lots, cigars, tobacco, alcoholic drinks, souvenirs, etc., should be collected prior to arrival in port, listed with the items in the slop chest and placed in the custody of the Master for deposit in the slop chest or closet which will then be sealed for the duration of the vessel's stay in port. By no means will any commercial transactions be tolerated, be it either among terminal employees, crew members or anyone else. Cigarettes or other stores in bond are not obtainable in São Sebastião.

CONSULS: No consular representatives are reported to exist in the area.

TIME: Local time is GMT minus 3 hours.

SHORE LEAVE: The access pier is 1,600 metres long. The crew can use it to get ashore, but special passes are required for this purpose. There is, however, a launch service provided by Agent.

GENERAL:

Brazilian Flag: Authorities are exercising rigorous inspection as regards the condition and the correctness of measures, colours, etc., of the Brazilian flag flown by vessels in port. In principle, the flag should be flown from 0800 to sunset. Heavy fines are imposed on the ship if these instructions are disregarded. In case no suitable flag is found on board, a radio message should be sent a few days in advance, so that this item may be supplied upon arrival.

Watches: An efficient watch must be maintained on board the ship, deck and engine room and a sufficient number of crew members should always remain on board to cope with emergency or port operation situations.

Customs Watch: Whilst in port, customs officers may be assigned to remain on board the ship to ensure compliance with customs regulations. Should this happen, meals must be supplied to these officers during regular meal hours; also the necessary accommodation.

Ratguards: Ratguards must be placed in all mooring lines.

Visit of Authorities: In case the ship enters and berths directly, the official visit of Authorities together with the Agents will take place as soon as she is tied up and the gangway is lowered. However, if the ship is not berthed immediately upon arrival (e.g. in view of the pier being occupied, or any other reason), the visiting party will proceed to the ship by motor-boat as soon as she drops anchor. If the ship arrives after 21.00 hours, it is possible that Authorities will decide to visit the ship next morning at 08.00 hours; however, the ship is authorised to operate normally and crew members are allowed to go ashore.

Seamen left ashore: Ships are not permitted to sail until all crewmembers are on board. Should, however, a crewmember definitely not be found, his passport (or seaman card) and his international vaccination certificates must be given to the Agents, together with a letter requesting him to be repatriated.

Weather and Tide Conditions: The weather at São Sebastião is generally very favourable: no strong winds, no speedy currents an usually not even a swell is observed in the channel. The winds ar unpredictable for more than a few hours in advance; usually it blow from N.N.W. or S.S.W. As regards rain, the annual precipitatio averages 2,000 mm. The visibility is mostly fair, although in autum and winter it may become rather poor in the early morning. Th temperature ranges from 15° C (59° F) in July to 39° C (104° F) i January. The relative humidity of the air is usually high, often exceeding 85%. The normal range of tides is around 1·2 m. (4 ft.). Althoug higher ranges of 2 m. (6·5 ft.) have been noticed during spring. Th currents are irregular but usually follow the direction of the wind according to the intensity and the duration of the wind, the dri may range from 1 to 4 knots.

Derating Certificate: In case the Derating Certificate has expire and needs to be renewed, a radio message should be sent to th Agent a few days before arrival, so that they are able to make th necessary arrangements with the São Sebastião Port Health Inspector.

Renewal of Vaccination Certificates: For the same reason mentioned above, the master should send, beforehand, a radio messag stating how many vaccinations of each kind will be required. Th vaccinator has to come from Santos.

Passengers: Passengers are not permitted to disembark in Sã Sebastião. Owners' representatives, guarantee engineers, officer wives, or any other person travelling on board a tanker, should no be regarded as passengers but must be included in the crew-lis In this case, there is no difficulty in disembarking and repatriatin via São Paulo (or via Rio de Janeiro).

Visitors: Only the personnel duly authorised by Port Authoritie may come on board the ships; this excludes all visitors. Relative of crew members may obtain from Port Authorities a licence to go o board.

Constant Readiness: During the time the ship is berthed alongsid her engine and propulsion machinery should be in readiness t leave the berth on short notice. No repairs are permitted which woul interfere with this requirement.

Smoking: Smoking in open areas of the ship and on the pie is strictly forbidden. The crew are not to throw lighted cigar cigarette butts overboard.

Emergency Towing Wires: Two towing wire ropes should b always hanging to the water's surface so that the tugs can easi make fast should an emergency arise.

Gangways: All ships calling at São Sebastião must provide safe gangway. Authorities may refuse to board the ship if a sa gangway or accommodation ladder is not provided. At night, th pilot ladder must be adequately lit. The terminal is not equipped wi platform ladder. The ship's ladder must be used.

Lifebuoy: A lifebuoy with 15 fathoms (27 metres) of rope shou be kept nearby the gangway for use in case of emergency.

Ship's Fire-fighting Equipment: At least two fire hoses shou be connected to hydrants on main deck: one forward and the oth abaft the cargo valves manifolds. A third hose with an NPU nozz and two mechanical foam containers should be kept nearby t pump-room. The ship's main fire-extinguishing system should kept under constant pressure.

Minimum Draft for safe Manoeuvring: Although not very critic tankers should be sufficiently ballasted to ensure safe manoeuvr

Bond Wire: Before the connection of shore hoses, the bondi wire will be connected, by a terminal employee, to ensure a go grounding electric contact.

Boiler Tubes and Sparks: Whilst alongside the pier, no boi soot blowers may be used. The use of derricks is also forbidd (excepting the poop derrick, when lifting stores, provisions, etc Likewise, the use of objects and/or tools which may cause spa is also forbidden.

Fire Signal: Should fire break out in any part of the ship, the alarm should be given: a continuous sounding of seven short blas on the whistle, followed by a long one.

Transportation of Stores, etc., from shore to ship: The terminal do not permit the carriage of items through the jetty. Consequen the ship has to use the services of a motorboat, of a tugboat or o floating craft (which is towed to the ship's side). The motorb or the tugboat may only approach the ship by the sea side. derricks may be used, although the terminal has no objection to use of the poop derrick or crane (sea side). Depending on the nat and the weight of the items involved, they may be taken on bo using the gangway (sea side).

Laundry: Considering the usual shortness of the ship's s in port, it is prudent that the Agent is informed by radio beforeha so that they are able to make the necessary arrangements for time of the ship's arrival.

Provisions and Stores: Provisions and stores are supplied shipchandlers contracted directly by owners or masters, or thro the agents. Usually they have to be brought from Santos, wh requires a radio advance request, in view of the distance invol It is hoped that in the near future provisions and stores in la quantities may be easily obtainable in São Sebastião.

SHIPMASTER'S REPORT

Anchorages: The holding ground for VLCCs is not very good, appears good for smaller vessels. (We had three cases of sh dragging during our 2½ weeks stay, all VLCCs.) The current n Northerly or Southerly depending on the wind.

Medical: Dental and routine medical matters available. Specia are available some miles away. For inoculations the doctor comes from Santos.

Fresh Water: Rates are dependent on number of vessels watering and can be as low as 10 t.p.h.

Customs Allowances: Two cartons cigarettes per man. Customs no longer stay on board the vessel.

Repatriation: Is possible, but involves lengthy car ride to Santos or Rio de Janeiro. The best and nearest airport is outside Sao Paulo, where International flights are available. This is quicker than going to Rio.

Telephone: Available in jetty control rooms.

Shore Leave: When berthed the Agent can arrange a minibus service from the T-head of the jetty.

Port Regulations: Vessels throwing or discharging anything into Brazilian waters are subject to a fine equalling 2% of the minimum Brazilian basic wage multiplied by the vessel's gross tonnage. Garbage disposal is difficult to arrange and they will only accept dry garbage.

General: Communications are poor, no Telex and messages have to be telephoned to Santos. Best method is to use ship's equipment when at anchor.

SEPETIBA TERMINAL, Guaiba Island: 23.00 S. 44.02 W.

LOCATION: About 50 miles West of Rio de Janeiro, is the site of a bulk iron ore terminal located off the South-east end of Ilha Guaiba about 7 miles due North of the bay entrance.

PILOTAGE: Compulsory for all ships entering the bay and berthing and unberthing at the ore facility. Pilots board in the vicinity of 23° 08′ 39″ S., 44° 04′ 36″ W. A pilot ladder, boat rope, and gangway must be properly rigged with the landing platform of the gangway lowered to within 5 m. (16½ ft.) of the water. Adequate lighting should be provided at night.

ARRIVAL INFORMATION: Vessels bound for Baia de Sepetiba should send an ETA to their Rio Agents, via Rio Radio, 6 days, 48 hours, and 24 hours prior to arrival. Any significant change in this ETA should be corrected as soon as possible but not less than 8 hours prior to arrival. Also see "VHF".

ANCHORAGE: In the vicinity of the Pilot boarding area. Ships should not proceed beyond this point unless a Pilot is aboard and instructions have been received from Sepetiba Marine Operations to proceed.

HEALTH: Radio pratique should be requested 72 hours prior to arrival by transmitting a quarantine message to the Port Health Authorities through the ship's Agent. This message should contain the following information: name and nationality of vessel; last port of call; number of crew and passengers; general conditions of health on board.

VHF: Vessels are requested to contact Sepetiba Marine Operations directly when within VHF radio-telephone range. Channel 16 is the calling channel and 11, 12, and 13 are the working channels. Anchoring or berthing instructions should be requested 4 hours prior to arrival or when within VHF radio-telephone range.

TUGS: Tug assistance is compulsory for all manoeuvring in the vicinity of the pier and three powerful twin screw tugs are available for this purpose. All ships should be equipped with a wire cable tow line with a nylon pendant. Radio-telephone communication is maintained between the tugs and the Pilots on Channel 6.

BERTHING: Facilities consist of a deep-water pier located about 400 m. (1,312 ft.) South of the island. The South berth has a depth of 24 m. (78¾ ft.) alongside and the North berth has a depth of 19 m. (62 ft.). A mooring dolphin at the West end of the pier provides an overall mooring length of 470 m. (1,541 ft.) alongside the South berth. Bollards are spaced along both pier faces and quick release hooks and capstans are fitted for breast, bow and stern lines.

BULK HANDLING FACILITIES: One travelling shiploader serves both berths and has a boom clearance of 22 m. (72 ft.) at shipside. Ore is stacked in a storage area and is delivered to the shiploader by conveyor belt which is loaded by either of two stackers having an average capacity of about 7,000 metric tons per hour each.

TRAMANDAI (Porto Alegre): 30.01 S. 50.06 W. (See Plan)

ALMIRANTE SOARES DUTRA TERMINAL: Terminal Marítimo Almirante Soares Dutra – TEDUT, is located 6 km. from Tramandai, which is 134 km. from Porto Alegre, Capital of the state of Rio Grande do Sul. The Buoys (SBMs) are positioned 1·9 and 2·4 miles from the beach and their geographical co-ordinates are:

SBM–1 (West), Lat. 30° 00′ 40″ S., Long. 50° 05′ 42″ W,
SBM–2 (East), Lat. 30° 01′ 06″ S., Long. 50° 05′ 10″ W.

DOCUMENTS: Inward clearance is effected on board after the ship's arrival. The following documents must be ready on arrival:

8 copies Crew List.
3 copies Personal Effects List.
3 copies Passenger List.
3 copies (one visaed) Cargo Manifest.
2 copies Bill of Lading.

PILOTAGE: Sea Pilot not required. All manoeuvres will be undertaken by the vessel's Master with the help of a TEDUT Mooring Master who will board the vessel in the anchorage area and advise the vessel's Master on all operations such as mooring, connecting hoses, unloading, unmooring, etc.

ANCHORAGE: The advisable anchorage site is 1·5 miles N.E. of SBM–2 (East), geographical position, Lat., 29° 59′ 30″ S., Long., 50° 04′ 30″ W. Depths, 21 metres. Seabed, fine sand and mud. Mooring Masters will board arriving tankers in this area.

APPROACHES: There are three conspicuous water towers named Tourist, Agrimer and Tramandai. There is also a small radar and meteorological watch steel tower nearby the pier in position Lat. 29° 58′ 34″ S., Long. 59° 07′ 18″ W.

RESTRICTIONS: Due to the peculiar conditions of the terminal, mooring undertaken only at daytime. Sometimes the leaving of launches seawards depends on the height of tide and the strength of the waves. Tankers may have to wait for favourable weather conditions so that mooring may safely be started.

MAX. SIZE: SBM– (West), designed for 105,000 dwt tankers, max. draft 16 m. (52 ft.). SBM–2 (East), designed for 200,000 dwt tankers, max. draft 17 m. (55 ft.). The distance between the vessel's bow and manifold must not be more than 140 metres for mooring to the SBM–1 (West) or 180 metres for mooring to the SBM–2 (East).

RADIO: Vessels bound for Tramandai should advise their ETA 48 hours prior to arrival direct to PPA 25 (Petrobras own radio station) as well as to their Agents (through PPR – Rio Radio – government station). In turn these stations will send messages to the terminal. Confirmation or change of ETA should be cabled 24 hours before arrival. Vessels may also contact TEDUT's radio-telephony station either in AM or SSB on the following channels and frequencies:

VHF, conventional frequencies, Channels 11, 13, 14 and 16 on 156, 55/165, 65/165, 70/156 mHz respectively.

SSB, frequencies 2182/2815/4383·38/8770·8 and 2647·5/4·078·8 8120·8 kHz for listening.

When within range, vessels equipped with radio-telephone should call first on Channel 16/DELTA-156·8 mHz and then change to another agreed channel, preferably 14/CHARLIE-156·7 mHz for mooring instruction. All ETA's should indicate whether it is local time or GMT. Weather forecasts as well as Notices to Mariners are transmitted by PWZ and PPR radio stations.

PRATIQUE: Display of quarantine signal – "Q" flag – on approach Tramandai must be maintained until free pratique is granted. The National Brazilian flag should remain hoisted throughout vessel's stay in the terminal. Port doctor visits all ships on arrival and requires Maritime Declaration of Health, Deratisation Certificate, two Crew Lists. Vessels from another Brazilian port automatically receive free pratique and should not fly Quarantine Flag. If suspected disease or fever on board, it is advisable to cable Agent before arrival.

LAUNCHES: Mooring, unmooring and connection operations are assisted by the terminal's launches. While rendering such assistance the boats act under orders of the Mooring Master. Usually two service boats are at his disposition. Besides operational assistance they undertake transportation of Mooring Masters, personnel, Agents, ship chandlers, port authorities, etc.

ARRIVAL: Arrival time is considered to be the time the vessel reaches the anchorage vicinity or the time the Mooring Master boards the vessel, whichever occurs first. However, notice of readiness will not be considered as the time of arrival unless the vessel is in all respects ready to discharge. In the event berthing is delayed by weather conditions, tankers will be unloaded in turn. If, however, the weather is so bad that the port is closed and vessels awaiting discharge have to go out to sea, TEDUT may discharge another vessel on reopening if it arrives before the return of other waiting vessels. More rarely, the terminal Superintendnt may grant priority to a particular vessel out of turn, in special circumstances only. Exceptionally, and at the discretion of the Superintendent, two tankers will discharge at the same time.

MOORING: The Mooring Master will advise on the method of securing the ship. Tankers are usually moored by two bow nylon hawsers of 13 in. diameter and 45 metres length. Vessel's messenger nylon lines are shackled – one at a time – to the pick-up wires of the chafing chains by the launch crew and hove in (through the vessel's windlass warping bollard) until the lengths of the chafing chains are brought over the vessel's roller chocks/fairleads. Ship's engine may help the lead-in ropes (vessel's messenger) in coming up to the SBM.

The following items must be observed: Anchors must be well at home and secured with stoppers and brakes. Windlass warping bollards must also be ready to lift chain stoppers, wire strops, shackles, senhouse slips, crowbar, hammer, spikes and other gear to be placed on board for mooring purpose (equipment supplied by TEDUT). Two good eye-spliced (9 in. at least) nylon hand-inlines must be ready, at each side, on the focastle head, to be given to the launch, who in turn will shackle them to the hawser's pick-up wires (marked by little spar buoys).

HOSE CONNECTION: The Mooring Master will direct the terminal's working men in lifting, connecting and lowering the hoses. After the vessel is securely moored, the 16 in. floating hoses must be individually lifted to the rail by the ship's gear. Sundry hose securing and connecting equipment (strops, gaskets, nuts, bolts, wrenches, etc.) will be supplied by the terminal and put aboard the ship just after arrival. Hoses will be lifted by ship's derrick, preferably on the port side. Minimum lift of 5 tons capacity required. When wind force reaches about 8 beaufort scale and waves are 2·5 metres high, emergency disconnecting operation will take place, even at night time.

LOADING: Pumping must not be started without permission of the Mooring Master. The maximum allowable pressure is 10 kg/sq. cm. (150 p.s.i.). While the vessel is moored, the vertical angle formed by the nylon hawsers and the sea level should not exceed 30 degrees, for safety of the SBM's turntable. When necessary, due either to excessive pitching or by being too much trimmed by the stern, pumping of ballast must be concentrated in the fore-tanks, even if interruption of unloading becomes mandatory. So the Mooring Master may require cargo to be discharged, in certain stages, either from aft or for'd compartments.

As a rule, when unloading is over, the ship should have ballast on board at least 40 per cent of her total dwt tonnage. Besides the Mooring Master himself, some terminal workmen stay aboard ship. Therefore, room and meals for one officer and six crewmen should be supplied. Upon completion of discharge the Mooring Master will require the ship to pump sea water through the submarine pipe-lines to displace the remaining oil.

BALLAST: No slop facilities are available for dirty ballast. Brazilian laws are very strict with regard to the pollution of coastal waters. Vessels are not allowed to discharge dirty ballast into the water. Heavy fines are imposed for violations.

Tramandai is the largest Rio Grande do Sul seaside resort and any pollution of the sea in this area will cause damage to the beaches. Hence, no dirty ballast or any oily residues must be pumped overboard within a range of over 50 miles, if no safer alternative exists.

MEDICAL: Medical treatment and/or hospitalisation, if required, are provided at Tramandai or Osorio private hospitals. Serious illness will usually be treated in Porto Alegre. Dentists are also available in Tramandai. For emergency cases (injury, etc.) TEDUT first medical aid may be requested by the Master. As usual, Agent will make such arrangements.

FUEL: Not available.

FRESH WATER: Not available.

CONSTANT READINESS: Since moorings are in open roadstead, vessel's engines and gear must be ready with full power for immediate use through the period the vessel is moored and the ship must be able to clear the mooring immediately on the advice of the Mooring Master or Superintendent of the Terminal.

Whenever necessary, vessels may use their own power to prevent riding upon the SBM.

CUSTOMS REQUIREMENTS: Brazilian laws are strict with regard to smuggling and Masters are requested to instruct their crews not to retain cigarettes in carton lots, cigars, tobacco, alcoholic drinks, drugs, souvenirs, etc. These should be collected prior to arrival, listed with the items in the slop chest and placed in the custody of the Master for deposit in the chest or closet which will then be sealed for the duration of the vessel's stay at the mooring.

By no means will any commercial transactions be tolerated, be it either among terminal employees, crew members or anyone else.

CONSULATES: No consular representatives are reported to exist in the area; however, there are consulates of most maritime nations in Porto Alegre.

TIME: Local time is GMT minus three hours.

AUTHORITY: Petroleo Brasileiro, S.A.

PILOTAGE: Compulsory. Pilots board inbound vessels at Anse-aux-Basques (near Les Escoumains) to bring ships as far as port of Québec where Pilots are exchanged for the trip to Trois-Rivières. Pilots are again exchanged at Trois-Rivières before ships may proceed to Montreal.

For further information refer to Quebec.

ICE ADVISORY SERVICE: Ships inbound from seaward between 15th December and 15th April should advise the Ice Information Officer, Sydney, N.S., 36 hours prior to entering Cabot Strait stating their position, destination, whether loaded or in ballast. This procedure will facilitate the passing of ice information to the ship as necessary.

On request, ice information is also available from Marine Radio Stations at Halifax, Camperdown, Seven Islands, Twillingate and Grindstone. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation maritime network also broadcasts ice information daily during the winter navigation season. Supplementary ice information may also be obtained from Canadian Marine Service ice breakers.

ANCHORAGE: Available at Longue Pointe abreast of the Island of Montreal close to upper harbour. Also at Lanoraie, approx. 3 miles above Sorel harbour limits, and at Pointe-aux-Trembles anchorage below berth 110. Also opposite Canadian Vickers. Boatmen services are available to vessels at anchor.

Anchorages will be allocated by the Harbour Master (Montreal), through the Marine Traffic Control Centre, Montreal.

HEALTH: Except in case of coastwise vessels free of disease and arriving in Canada from ports or areas that are not infected, every vessel coming from a port outside Canada is inspected by the quarantine officer, and shall not make customs entry until it has received pratique.

"Coastwise Vessel" means a vessel operating exclusively between Canada and the island of St. Pierre and Miquelon or between Canada and the United States, including Alaska. A "coastwise vessel" loses coastwise status and is subject to quarantine inspection on its next arrival at a Canadian port when at any time it touches a foreign port other than those mentioned above.

Where sufficient quarantine information can be given by wireless, radio pratique may be obtained between the hours of 0900 and 1700 the day preceding arrival:

(b) From "Quarantine Saint John" by vessels bound for Saint John, New Brunswick.
(c) From "Quarantine Quebec" by vessels approaching Canadian ports via the Saint Lawrence River.
(d) From "Quarantine Victoria" by vessels bound for ports in British Columbia via the Strait of Juan de Fuca, other than vessels coming from an Asiatic port except ports in Japan.

(b) Ports called at during voyage.
(c) Date and place of last fumigation or derating exemption certificate.
(d) Nature of cargo.
(e) Number of crew.
(f) Number of passengers.
(g) Port of destination and name of agent.
(i) Condition of health of all on board with details of any sickness or death which has occurred during the voyage.

Valid Smallpox vaccination certificates required.

To facilitate the quarantine clearance of vessels entering the St. Lawrence Seaway, the Montreal quarantine facilities have been augmented by opening a new office in Montreal East near the entrance to the Seaway. Vessels proceeding directly into the Seaway may now receive quarantine inspection and clearance while at anchor awaiting entrance to the Seaway.

RADIO: All communications via Montreal radio, call sign VFN. Marine traffic control handle VHF traffic as follows: Between Tracy and Cap St. Michel, VHF Channel 10 (156·5 mHz.). From Cap St. Michel to Montreal, VHF Channel 13 (156·65 mHz.). Ship to ship communication, VHF Channel 6, (156·3 mHz.). Port radar service available.

SHORE LEAVE: Permitted.

DELAYS: Occasionally Easterly weather conditions may delay vessels berthing.

GENERAL: Grain vessels: Vessels ordered to anchor should do so in the recommended Anchorage. Failure to do so may result in delays to vessels from being boarded by Port and Government Authorities.

Vessels arriving in ballast should ensure they are in good trim for safe handling into the harbour, bearing in mind the loading rate so as not to cause any delay in loading due to deballasting. However, should a vessel not be sufficiently ballasted at the time of proceeding into the harbour, the pilot may request further ballasting depending on the prevailing weather conditions. If in doubt, Master should contact the Port Office by radio telephone.

Vessels should have main engines and deck machinery operable at all times. when alongside the berth. Permission contrary to the above must be obtained from the Port Authority through the Agent.

Tankers and OBO vessels having discharged Petroleum products at last port and not in possession of a Gas Free Certificate by an independent Chemist will advise accordingly in the 72 hour ETA, and arrangements will be made to have a chemist available on arrival at vessels expense.

All vessels discharging or loading grain will at all times have adequate ratguards on all mooring lines.

Ore carriers:

Loading Conditions: Quebec Cartier Mining Company will load ore at Port Cartier into vessels conforming with the Specifications hereinafter set forth. Quebec Cartier Mining Company has installed equipment at Port Cartier having a rated capacity for free loading at 6,000 gross tons per hour. Any trimming beyond that necessary for the safety of the vessel which is desired by the vessel and is consented to by Quebec Cartier Mining Company and which must be limited to lower holds, shall be at vessels expense.

Loading Minimum and Vessel Specifications: Each vessel designated to accept delivery of ore at Port Cartier, must conform in construction to the following specifications and conditions:

1. Not less than 4 ore hatches of at least 18 feet square, except Great Lake Bulk carriers where the minimum width of hatches shall be 9 feet, to accept Ore Cargo direct from loading tower at Port Cartier.
2. All vessels nominated must be suitable for the loading and the transportation of concentrates and capable of taking the entire cargo to be loaded in the lower holds without "peak-up" above the between deck levels. The vessel shall load and stow in accordance with the Canada Shipping Act and Regulations promulgated thereunder.
3. Hatch opening sufficiently clear of obstruction on deck to permit free and direct contact with loading tower.
4. In case of combination Ore Carrier and Tanker type vessels, the Master must present a Gas Free Certificate before Notice of Readiness will be accepted.

Rules and Regulations

Ships will be loaded in regular turn of vessels arrival off Port Cartier provided they present with hatches open and do not have ballast pumping time which will exceed the loading time. In the event a vessel cannot take on ore for any period of time while at Berth No. 1, it may be required by the Port Authority to leave the berth at its cost and shall be obligated to resubmit Notice of Readiness. Quebec Cartier Mining Company's Port Authority will be the final Arbitrator in case of dispute.

Any vessel which discharges a cargo of grain and is to load a cargo of iron ore will be considered in turn for loading only after the vessel has completed discharging grain and is in all respects clean and ready to receive iron ore.

Loading plan must be presented to the loading foreman on arrival at the berth.

Ships will leave the loading berth immediately on completion of loading. If any delays occur on documentation, crew members missing, etc., ship will leave the dock and all matters will be handled from anchorage or another berth.

All shipboard work necessary for docking and loading, including but not limited to line handling and tending, opening and closing hatches, and normal deck cleanup, shall be done by the vessel's crew.

Any owner or charterer with more than one vessel awaiting turn to load may interchange his vessels, provided they are of comparable capacity (deadweight). Any interchange of turn must be arranged with and have the approval of Quebec Cartier Mining Company.

All weights shown on the Bill of Lading and/or Manifest will be the same as recorded on the weighing facilities of Quebec Cartier Mining Company.

The Port will be in operation 24 hours a day, 7 days a week; however, ore vessels will not be loaded on New Year's Day (1st January), and on Christmas Day (25th December), nor will they be loaded from 0800 hours Sunday to 1600 hours Sunday, nor during the same period on the following holidays: Good Friday; St. Jean Baptiste Day (24th June); Dominion Day (1st July); First Monday of August; Labour Day (First Monday of September); Thanksgiving (Second Monday of October); Immaculate Conception (8th December).

Arrangements have been made so that loading operations will commence as soon as possible after the vessel's arrival at the loading berth.

Vessels which have completed discharging of grain and are to load Iron Ore should have ratguards fitted to all mooring lines at all times.

Vessels ordered to anchor, should do so in the recommended area as shown under Anchorage. Failure to do so may result in delays to vessels from being boarded by Port and Government Authorities.

Vessels arriving in ballast should insure they are in good trim for safe handling into the harbour, bearing in mind the loading rate, so as not to cause any delay in loading due to deballasting. However, should a vessel not be sufficiently ballasted at the time of proceeding into the harbour the Pilot may request further ballasting, depending on the prevailing weather conditions. If in doubt the Master should contact the Port Office by Radio Telephone.

Vessels should have main engines and deck machinery operable at all times when alongside the berth. Permission contrary to the above must be obtained from the Port Authority through the Agent.

Vessels usually dock port side to at Ore Berth.

Ore-Oil and OBO vessels having discharged petroleum products at last port and not in possession of a Gas Free Certificate by an independent chemist will advise accordingly in the 72 hour ETA, and arrangements will be made to have chemist available on arrival at vessel's expense.

Quebec Cartier's iron ore is a type of iron ore concentrate which weighs on the average 192 lb. per cubic foot, and stows at approximately 12–13 cubic feet per gross ton.

The iron ore contains an average moisture content from 1·5% to 2·3%, and could sometimes in the Summer season be shipped at as high as 4%. The character of this ore is self draining. It will retain moisture up to about 1·5%, but all moisture over and above this will drain on compaction of the material, and also, if the ore is left for long periods in stock-pile or in the hold of a vessel, this drainage of moisture will sometimes leave a considerable quantity of water in the hold of the vessel, and could cause some inconvenience when discharging the cargo. For this reason all bilge strums or wells should be sounded regularly and pumped out at regular intervals so as to keep the bottom of the hold as dry as possible.

Quebec Cartier's iron ore is considerably abrasive, and could cause damage to bilge pumps. Masters of vessels are advised to cover all bilge strums or wells with burlap in a similar manner as when receiving a grain cargo in bulk; so as to permit a free flow of the water and retain the iron ore in the hold of the vessel.

All holds for the acceptance of this cargo should be clean prior to the arrival of the Vessel.

Pilots board inbound vessels at Anse-aux-Basques. The Master of every ship inward bound in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence and destined for ports West of Anse-aux-Basques must report ETA to Pilots Montreal, via Marine Traffic Control on VHF radio Channel 14 or by other means of communication to Seven Islands Radio Station, giving any information Control may require.

A minimum notice of 12 hours must be given. This notice must be confirmed 3 hours prior to arrival at the pilot station.

Note: Pilot boats (2) and pilot station keep watches on 2182 kc/s. and have VHF facilities, which are only used for local instructions from one to the other.

Pilot boats (2) in operation: Pilot No. 9 Canada and Pilot No. 10 Canada. Hull painted black, white superstructure. Pilot-jack welded on stack – all-steel vessels. Equipment: Radar – echo sounder - radio VHF/all frequencies. A.M. – all frequencies – electric whistle - loud hailer – searchlight.

Pilot station can either be raised by radiotelephone frequency 2182 kc/s. by morse lamp – semaphore – by just blowing the code letter G consecutively or displaying code flag G. Exact location of Pilot station Anse-aux-Basques, on North shore of St. Lawrence river. Lat. 48° 19.2′ N. Long. 69° 24.9′ W. Pilotage ground limits are rectangular distance of 2 miles from the station. Any changes regarding pilot boat service obtained through Marine Traffic Control.

Vessels using pilot boarding stations within St. Lawrence River - Seaway – Quebec Harbour – Lakehead, requested provide accommodation ladder. Landing platform of accommodation ladder should be 10 ft. above water.

Vessels arriving Anse-aux-Basque without having previously stated ETA pilot station 12 hours in advance, or during such time as pilotage service held up for any reason, vessels normally proceed to anchorage off Ile-aux-Basques on Southern side of river, where good anchorage ground can be found. Further instructions will be given to Vessel by Marine Traffic Control or Pilot Station on VHF or 2182 kc/s.

ANCHORAGE: Anchorage berth in 4 to 20 fathoms.
MAX. SIZE: The harbour of Porto Grande can accommodate vessels up to any size. Also see "Berthing" and "Tankers".
HEALTH: Free pratique can be obtained before arrival on application by radio to Guarda Mor (port doctor) of Sao Vicente de Cabo Verde confirming that crew are good health. The port doctor, however, usually boards vessel on arrival in company with police and Customs guards, order provide any medical assistance which may be required. (* This pier is open to the sea and usable subject to prevailing winds and swell).

Floating and suspended fenders are available at the piers. Suspended fenders are each of 3 lorry tyres, 3 ft. wide with a diameter of 2 ft. 6 in. suspended at intervals of 70 ft. Floating fenders are of 5 tyres with a wooden core and are 4 ft. 6 in. long and 3 ft. 6 in. in diameter and are placed at intervals between the suspended fenders. Cruising vessels normally berth at pier No. 2. Max. draft 33 ft.

Height of Pier No. 2 above sea level approximately 2 metres. Vessels moor port side to pier. No shore gangways available. Cruising vessels with drafts too deep to berth alongside piers can anchor in harbour about 1,250/1,500 metres distance from Custom House pier where passengers may land. Ship's launches must be used for the transport of passengers to and from shore. With tug assistance vessels may berth or unberth at any time of day or night at piers Nos. 2, 3 and 4, but in adverse weather or other adverse conditions berthing at night may be prevented. Berthing and unberthing at night at other piers generally not possible.

STEVEDORES: If quantity for loading or discharging is of 10 tons or under, and in comparatively small parcels, then cargo can be loaded or discharged using the only small lighter available for vessels at anchorage. If larger quantity to be handled vessel must berth alongside quay. In both instances ship's tackle must be used. Discharging rate for bagged cargo, i.e. flour, rice, etc. is about 30 tons per hour per hatch. In all cases vessel's derricks and winches are used. There are no lighters available, therefore as described above all cargo in excess of 10 tons must be loaded or discharged at the piers. The opening/closing of hatches is the responsibility of the crew on board, but can be done by the stevedores by arrangement with the master under the supervision and responsibility of the ship's officers.

Discharge effected by barge from starboard side of tanker at anchorage, also through submarine pipe line in harbour at: Lat. 16° 53′ 30″ W. Long. 25° 00′ 50″ W. Length of line, 1,000 metres; diameter, 20 in.; berth, Buoys; hoses, 12 in.; number of hoses, 7; position of hose connection, midships starboard side; Maximum rate per hour, 2,000 metric tons; density of water at berth 1025.

Submarine pipeline buoy berth. Tankers moored to one forward buoy and three stern buoys. Tanker also uses port anchor which is dropped before tying up to buoys. Nature of bottom is coarse sand and gravel. Berthing at buoys carried out daylight only and port tugs of up to 1200 h.p. used always on berthing and on unberthing according to weather conditions.

Cleaning tanks: 50 miles from shore only.

Gas freeing: At present no facilities available.

FRESH WATER: Can be supplied at anchorage or at piers or ex lighter day or night. Water suppliers request at least 48 hours notice giving quantity required. A minimum charge covering costs of supply of 20 tons is made on supply for under that quantity. To supply over 750 tons during a 12-hour stay in port with two lighters, giving between 25 to 50 tons per hour per hose, would be difficult. Connections of hose couplings from water barges are 3 inch male, 11 threads per inch.
FUEL: Oil bunkering carried out ex lighter at anchorage at rate of up to 300 tons per hour dependent upon speed at which vessel can receive. Both fuel and diesel oil bunkers can be supplied at the piers. Gas oil can be supplied in drums to vessel at anchorage or in bulk ex pipe-line on piers. All bunkering at anchorage ex barge takes place on starboard side of vessel.
DEVELOPMENTS: Facilities expected improve in near future. A synchrolift Dock to take two vessels up to 60 metres long by 20 metres wide, is planned which together with other workshop amplifications are expected to be fully operational by 1975.
GANGWAY/DECK WATCHMEN: Two Maritime Police are always in attendance and are compulsory.

TUGS: No tugs available, only motor launches to assist the Pilot and for passing mooring lines.

BERTHING: Buoys: Santa Fe Mining Company has 2 private buoys at berth 2 for mooring ore vessels using the portable and semi-mechanised system of loading.

Mooring Mole: 375 metres long, for 2 vessels of 180 metres each with draught of 30 ft. Berth number 1 is on the South side and number 2 on the North. Can be used at all times except during stormy weather, or when heavy swell is experienced.

North of berth number 1, Santa Fe Mining Company has installations for storing ore in bulk, consisting of two subterranean ore yards. The loading system includes some incline conveyors, some field conveyors, a stacker conveyor, a loading conveyor and a 77·5 ft. loading tower featuring a 56 ft. aluminium boom. All these components are movable on rubber tyres.

Ore through a system of belt conveyors is passed to these portable conveyors made up in sections and then to loading tower with a loading boom from which ore is loaded direct to ship's hatches. Usually, vessels are shifted when changing hatches. Rate of work is 600 tons per hour and vessels moor with the bow to the North, port side alongside.

Discharge of Explosives and Ballast – Explosives are discharged direct to quay prior to authorisation by Maritime Authorities and due precautions being taken.

DOCUMENTS: The following listed documents should be prepared, or held ready, in advance, to hand or show to the different authorities:

Maritime Authorities (Pilot):
2 Crew Lists.

Sanitary Authorities:
Show Certificate of Deratisation.

Immigration Authorities:

Customs:
4 Crew Lists.
4 Stores Lists.
4 Declaration that the ship carries no passengers.
4 Declaration that the ship carries no explosives.
4 Slop Chest Lists (if separate).
2 Personal Effects Declaration of Crew.

Agency:
4 Crew Lists.

It is not necessary to have any Documents visaed by Chilean Consuls.

APPROACHES: Seaward approach should be made to clear all navigational dangers. The vessel should proceed until due North of Mostacilla Lighthouse, and then anchor. See "Anchorage".

NAVIGATION AIDS: There are two diamond-shaped range markers, equipped with lights on the East shore of the harbour, and a set of range lights at the South end of the loading basin. The two diamond-shaped markers are painted red with a yellow cross. The one on the beach, about 200 ft. in from the surf line, supports a red light and the marker, 775 ft. further inland (mounted on top of a large concrete building) supports a green light. The green light at the South end of the loading basin is approximately 165 ft. South of the red light. These range markers and lights are used by the Pilot in docking and undocking vessels.

Red and green lights also mark the entrance to the loading basin, a red light on top of the ore dock structure, and a green light on the breakwater.

RESTRICTIONS: If advance ETA is received, ships generally will be received during daylight hours, beginning at 0700 hours, with the following exceptions: January 1st, Good Friday, May 1st, September 18th, December 25th.

PILOTAGE: Ships calling at Cruz Grande should anchor and have a pilot's ladder (jacob's ladder) ready with a boat rope long enough to make sure the pilot boat's crew have no trouble in holding the boat in position for the Port Authorites and Pilot to board the vessel. Pilotage service for docking and undocking is compulsory.

Ship's engines must be stopped when the pilot boat approaches the vessel and must not be used again until it is clear. On sailing they must not be used from the moment the pilot boat casts off until it is clear.

ANCHORAGE: Approximately $\frac{1}{3}$ mile due West of Point Medanitos good holding ground for all vessels anchoring is encountered. The position assures clear swing for all vessels in about 18 to 22 fathoms of water. It also assures free navigation for any vessel which may be at the ore dock.

WEATHER: South-westerly winds prevail in all seasons of the year. North breeze may be encountered in the early morning. There is seldom fog in the harbour.

RADIO: Vessels should advise ETA 7 days, 96 hours, 48 hours and 24 hours prior arrival, by radio.

It is of utmost importance that all ETA's of the vessel be given and be as exact as possible so that all officials can be advised and be on hand for receiving the ship.

Cable address is ROMERAL, LA SERENA, CHILE, and all messages having their origin in North America should be routed via Western Union and in the rest of the world via Cable and Wireless Limited. Ship's radio messages should be routed via West Coast Cables.

BULK HANDLING FACILITIES: The basin dock is located South of the anchorage. The basin is 250 ft. wide by 720 ft. long. The ore bins are located on the East side and have a capacity of 30,000 long tons. Ore is loaded through 17 spouts spaced on 20-ft. centres, and the No. 1 spout, which is the nearest thereto, is 165 ft. from the South end of the basin.

MOORING: Vessels moor port side to the dock. A ship arriving at the port for the first time will be instructed by the Port Superintendent and Pilot regarding the docking and the mooring procedure.

A ship must be able to handle six mooring lines independently on deck machinery. Two bow lines, two stern lines, one back spring and one fore spring are used. The bow lines and stern lines are $1\frac{1}{4}$-in. diameter wires supplied by Compania de Acero del Pacifico S.A. There are also available $1\frac{1}{2}$-in. diameter spring wires for ships that are suitably equipped to handle them. If the ship does not have winches properly located to handle the latter, lines (either cables or manilas) from the ship must be used. The most satisfactory spring lines are usually $1\frac{1}{4}$-in. diameter wires with a 30-ft. nylon pendant. Two manila spring lines are used as safeties and, if there are no winches or capstans available for them, they are placed on bitts.

The ship must have available three 450 to 500 ft., 1-in. diameter, manila ropes; two to be used as messengers to haul the bow lines aboard and one to haul the stern lines aboard. There must also be heaving lines to send the spring lines ashore to be placed on mooring bitts. As noted above, the Port Superintendent and Pilot will give instructions regarding the sequence of putting out the lines.

Boats will be available fore and aft to receive the messengers and make them fast to the mooring lines. The Harbour Master will be aboard the vessel during docking to instruct the boatmen.

During the time the ship is moored in the loading basin, whether loading ore or pumping ballast, all mooring lines must be kept uniformly tight so that no line is overloaded and stressed to the breaking point. In order to meet these requirements, sufficient crew members must be stationed where they can maintain the proper tension on the lines at all times and they must be under the supervision of a responsible officer.

Engines must be available on short notice.

BALLAST: Vessels should be ballasted to meet the spout clearance requirements. In order to clear the spouts, all vessels should not exceed 56 ft. from the water-line, at which the ship is ballasted, to the highest outboard structure.

Ballast should all be discharged at the dock. The tonnage of cargo lifted must be determined by the vessel's draft as there is no other means of determining exactly the amount of cargo loaded.

LOADING: Pier and loading facilities are privately owned and Compania de Acero del Pacifico S.A. reserves the right to moor and load vessels in the order it deems advisable.

Any lost time through failure of compliance will be charged to vessel.

A walkie-talkie radio will be placed on board so that the ship-to-shore or shore-to-ship communication is available at any time while the ship is waiting to load.

Loading is effected on regular work-days, but not on Sundays or holidays unless by agreement with the Shipper or Charterer and Compania de Acero del Pacifico S.A., the owner of the port.

A complete stowage plan should be delivered to the Port Superintendent or his representative on their boarding the vessel on arrival.

Total cargo required.
Calculated tons/hold.
Draft required, foreward and aft, on completion of cargo.

Any change in tonnage of cargo required must be reported to the

On completion of loading, the vessel shall leave the dock. Delays of port operations, including delays of other vessels waiting to berth, caused by a vessel which for any reason is not prepared and able to move from the dock when so ordered, are chargeable to the vessel which causes such delays, at the rate of $1,000 per day or pro-rata for part thereof.

FRESH WATER/FUEL: Fresh water and fuel are not available at this port, although water and diesel fuel may be obtained in nearby Coquimbo, or at Salinas, near Valparaiso. Bunker "C" type fuel can be had at Salinas also.

MEDICAL: Medical attention may be arranged through the port Agent. No person will be attended unless he is provided with a letter from the Master, authorising such treatment. All costs incurred will be charged to the vessel.

OPENING/CLOSING HATCHES: Hatch covers that are hinged or fold in such a manner that they present a face upon which the wind can set must remain closed until the vessel is alongside and moored. Those that remain in a horizontal position when open may be opened at the anchorage providing they do not interfere in any respects with the handling of the mooring lines during docking.

CERTIFICATES: In the case of combination ore carrier/tanker type of vessel, the Master must present a gas-free certificate from an Agent acceptable to Lloyd's before notice of readiness will be accepted. Such certificates may be obtained from a Coquimbo firm and request for same should be included in the ETA message.

CONSULS: In Coquimbo, or the adjacent city of La Serena, there are consuls or consular agents for Peru, Liberia, Great Britain, Denmark and Italy.

SHORE LEAVE: Shore leave may be granted at the Master's discretion. There are no restrictions by local authorities, but men should be certain to carry their Identification Cards.

Masters are requested to have all vouchers and list of personal effects in triplicate covering the crew members remaining ashore, whether hospitalised or deserters, prepared for delivery to the Agent, prior to sailing.

A letter of authorisation is required when the port Agent is expected to provide hotel accommodations, meals, medical attention, transportation or travel expenses and/or cash advances for account of vessel.

GUAYACAN: 29.58 S. 71.22 W.

APPROACHES: Seaward approach should be made to clear all navigational dangers. From the sea, the entrance ranges in line bearing 136·5° will lay the vessel directly to and between Point Miedo and Point Herradura, two headlands to the North and South of the bay entrance, which is 800 yards wide. The bay broadens inside to 1 mile and extends 1¼ miles in a S.E. direction.

The depth of the entrance varies between 23 to 36 fathoms, decreasing gradually to the shore. Islita, a small islet, lies a short distance off Miedo Point.

Two diamond-shaped range marker boards, painted with diagonal stripes, are mounted on poles on the beach. With these in line, bearing should be 136·5° when coming through the entrance. Lights, foreground red with green behind, are fixed to the markers for night approach. In clear weather they are visible at approx. 5 miles.

Currents from the South and South-West tend to lay the vessel to the N.N.E. when entering the bay. There is a light at the entrance to Herradura Bay on Herradura Point.

PILOTAGE: Ships calling at Guayacan should arrive with their accommodation ladder and Jacob's ladder ready to be lowered for the Pilot. Pilotage is compulsory. Ship's engines shall be stopped when the pilot launch approaches the vessel. The pilot's launch under no circumstances will go outside the limits of the port. It is imperative that the ETA of the vessel be as exact as possible so that the Pilot and officials are on hand and may board the vessel before anchoring. The Pilot and officials must be collected and brought to Guayacan by car.

ANCHORAGE: Good holding ground for anchoring in the bay with sheltered conditions. Entering on the ranges a cross bearing may be obtained with a set of docking diamond markers and lights, bearing 094° similar to approach markers and the anchor dropped. This position assures clear swing for all vessels in about 15 fathoms and assures free navigation for any vessel which may be at the pier.

RADIO: Operators' cable address is Cap, La Serena, Chile, and all messages having their origin in North America should be routed via All America Cables, and in the rest of the world, via Cable and Wireless Limited. Ship's radio messages should be routed via I.T.T. hours out by radio.

Vessels should advise ETA 7 days, 96 hours, 48 hours and 24 hours out by radio.

BERTH DESCRIPTION: The ore pier, of steel construction with a concrete deck, is 700 ft. long and located at the North-East part of the bay. A total of 10 mooring bitts are available on the main pier, with two each on mooring dolphins to the South and North of the pier. Two twin mooring buoys, one North and one South, a distance of 350 ft. and 410 ft. from each dolphin and slightly inshore of the pier, are also available. A twin buoy to assist in docking and undocking is located 460 ft. to the West of the North end of the pier. Depth of water at the pier is 55 ft. at mean low water.

MOORING: Vessels dock port side to the pier. On approaching the pier, the starboard anchor is dropped at a position indicated by cross bearing on markers located on the shore to the North-East and at the South end of the pier and the shore. Lights are located on the markers for night docking. Nine shackles of cable are laid.

A motor launch assists in rope handling to the pier and buoys. Manila pendant lines at dolphins may be used. Sufficient deck crew must be available at all times to shift the vessel if required and to adjust moorings during loading.

Engines must be available at short notice. Permission for any major repair to the engines at the dock must be obtained from Maritime Authorities.

LOADING: In the case of combination ore carrier/tanker type of vessel, the Master must present a gas-free certificate before notice of readiness will be accepted. Such certificate may be obtained from a Coquimbo firm and request for same should be included in the 96 hours ETA message, reporting if there is or there is no tank gas detecting instrument on board.

The loading boom extends 51 ft. from the face of the pier and can be retracted 22 ft. It may be raised or lowered 18° from the horizontal when loading.

The tower is mobile with a run of 390 ft. Vessels may have to be shifted. Aft hatches should be loaded first when possible to facilitate efficient loading. When not loading the rig is parked at the centre of the pier with the boom in a vertical position inside the pier face. In the horizontal loading position the boom is 40 ft. from the water at low water level and vessels should be ballasted to ensure hatch coamings and other fixed structure at the hatches have a height less than 40 ft. above water at low-water level. Booms and other tackle should be cleared from all hatches.

Rated loading capacity is 3,000 tons per hour.

Emergency stops only are permitted on the conveyor system. Vessels on which cargo reaches coamings should note that 390 tons are on the belts between the stockpiles and the ship and this must be cleared before stopping the system.

Cargo is belt trimmed only. Hire of trimmers, if required, is for vessel's account.

On completion of loading, the vessel shall leave the pier. Delays of port operations including delays of other vessels awaiting berth, caused by a vessel which for any reason is not prepared and able to move from the pier when so ordered, are chargeable to the vessel which causes such delays, at the rate of $1,000 per day or at the demurrage rate of any other vessel that may be delayed – which ever is higher.

BALLAST: Vessels should be ballasted to meet the loading tower information given and to ensure safe handling. Wind condition can make docking of light vessels difficult. Ballast may be discharged at the pier. Upper wing tanks emptied by gravity should have covers fitted over discharges. Vessels are liable to fines by Maritime Authority for any oil or other contaminate discharged in the bay either from tanks or from pumping bilges.

MEDICAL: Medical attention may be arranged through the port Agent. No person will be attended unless he is provided with a letter from the Master authorising such treatment.

FRESH WATER/FUEL: Fresh water and fuel are not available at this port, although water and diesel fuel may be obtained in nearby Coquimbo, or at Salinas, near Valparaiso. Bunker "C" Type fuel can be had at Salinas also.

CONSULS: In Coquimbo, or the adjacent city of La Serena, there are consuls or consular agents for Peru, Liberia, Great Britain, Denmark, Italy and Sweden.

HOLIDAYS: If advance ETA is received, ships will generally be received every day with the following exceptions: 1st January; Good Friday; 1st May; 18th September; 25th December.

SHORE LEAVE: Shore leave may be granted at the Master's discretion. There are no restrictions by local authorities, but men should be certain to carry their identification cards.

SERVICES: Mail for vessel and crew should be addressed care of Compania de Acero del Pacifico, S.A.; all mail that is received for holding by the Agent will be delivered to the vessel upon arrival.

Do not have parcel post packages sent, as they must go through customs in Santiago and are delayed from two weeks to a month for their despatch.

Spare or repair parts for the vessel should be sent via air express, addressed to the ship, care of Compania de Acero del Pacifico, S.A., Coquimbo, Chile and marked "Ship's Stores in Transit", so as to avoid paying customs duties. Information regarding the shipment should be sent to the Company via air mail correspondence.

A limited supply of provisions is available, but requests should be sent by radio 48 hours prior to arrival.

PILOTAGE: Compulsory for foreign vessels. Vessel entering from Pacific will usually embark Pilots in Valparaiso or any other nearest port. Vessels coming from the Atlantic embark Pilots in Bahia Posesion, 30 miles to the West side of the Eastern entry of Magellan Strait. Pilot vessel is a landing craft called "Concon" which has radio-telephone frequencies of 2,182 and 2,638 kc/s. Four hours before arrival of the vessel, the craft keeps watch on 2,182 kc/s. Craft carries International Pilot lights; the hull is black and yellow with white housing. ETA at Bahia Posesion has to be given at least 24 hours in advance. In bad weather, vessel to anchor and wait in lat. 52° 17′ 5″ South, long. 69° 12′ West. Pilots usually board near the buoy of Banco Narrow and disembark off the lighthouse of Punta Delgada.

The Pilot for West-bound vessels travels to Bahia Posesion by air from Valparaiso. It is therefore important to order the Pilot through Valparaiso Agent with as much advance notice as possible, and keep Agent closely advised of vessel's ETA.

For vessels transiting Magellan Straits Westbound, the Pilot will disembark at Valparaiso. Pilot's travelling expenses from and to Valparaiso are included in pilotage charges.
ANCHORAGE: Recommended anchorage area is 4–5 cables from the head of the Fiscal Quay, 11 fathoms depth. Anchorage is prohibited within 300 metres of the quay.
RESTRICTIONS: No tidal restrictions, vessels can come alongside day or night.

the pier, and 20 ft. and 25 ft. on the North side. It is possible to dock with a slightly higher draft under certain circumstances, and also by leaving the ship's stern protruding outside of the end of the pier, but such cases will be decided individually by the Pilot.

Magellan Straits: Maximum draft 70 ft., no limit on dwt. tonnage for very large vessels. Vessels with a draft in excess of 70 ft. may be allowed to pass through but only after the authorities have studied the vessels characteristics. As a safety measure large vessels navigate the First Narrows in daylight only and with good visibility.

HEALTH: At first Chilean port, doctor will come aboard with Authorities. In other Chilean ports there is no need to ask for pratique or to hoist the "Q" flag as pratique is automatic.

RADIO: There are two radio stations: (a) CBM Radio Naval of Magallanes permanent watch on 500 kc/s. Telegraphy (A1). (b) CBM2 Radio Costera Magallanes operating from 0830 to 1830 on frequencies 4390, 8694 (transmitting) and 4085, 8360 (receiving).

According to the working rules of this port, when a vessel starts its operations of loading or discharging without working overtime, it has to follow them for the whole time, but if it starts working with overtime, it must continue doing overtime every day.

MEDICAL: No advance notice to Agent required. There is a hospital with all facilities. International anti-smallpox vaccination required to go ashore.

TANKERS: There are the following terminals for tankers:

Mechanised mole: situated at head of South mole, berth A for mechanised discharge of coal and bulk cargo. Vessels up to 110 metres length can discharge without any difficulty. Vessels over this length will have to be shifted to work number 1 and 2 hatches provided berth B is available. The maximum draft is 30 ft.

Only when raining is work stopped. but as the ground swell is strong and the mole is not well protected, it is recommended that ships be provided with good fenders and moored in a secure manner.

Port works from 0800 to noon and from 1400 to 1800 hours, or straight through up to 2300 hours and paying overtime. The rate of cargo handling capacity is as follows:

Fumigation takes about 18–20 hours. It is recommended these vessels arrive provided with strong ropes (special nylon) and good fenders as protection against heavy swell.

SHORE LEAVE: Allowed.

DELAYS: South-west winds generally blow at dawn calming at sunset, leaving a heavy and strong swell in the bay. It is therefore recommended to arrive at the port daybreak from September to March, so as to enter the artificial port immediately. South winds also develop a Northerly current. Fogs are frequent from November to March.

DEVELOPMENTS: Work on the new bulk terminal port of San Antonio is showing progress. Completion of the terminal, which is expected to be the most modern in Chile, was scheduled for 1974.

POZOS COLORADOS TERMINAL: 11.09 N. 74.15 W.

OPERATORS: Chevron Petroleum Co. of Colombia, Apartado Aereo 947, Cucuta, Colombia.
DOCUMENTS: See "Santa Marta".
MAX. SIZE: Berth in approx. 55 ft. of water and can accommodate vessels of up to 69,000 dwt. with max. draft 45 ft.
PILOTAGE: Mooring Master will meet vessels approx. 1 mile seaward of terminal location.
CLEARANCE: Port authorities board with Mooring Master to enter ship and attend all formalities.
BERTHING: Vessels lie in berth in approx. due North heading; vessel's lines run by means of mooring launch to stern, quarter, and breast buoys. Vessels up to 20,000 dwt. require at least five good manila lines; vessels in excess of 20,000 dwt. require at least seven good manila lines. These lines must be of not less than 120 fathoms length. Synthetic lines of equivalent strength may be used. Vessels equipped with wire mooring winches may use wires in lieu of fibre lines. When mooring, required use both bower anchors, each having at least 150 fathoms of chain and be prepared handle five-ton lift on starboard side at ship's manifold. Because of rigidity of submarine hose, a small movement of vessel out of correct position could damage submarine equipment. Extreme caution must be exercised to assure that vessel is correctly moored. During loading operation slack must be kept out of submarine hose by adjustment of vessel's anchor and lines.
HOSES: Submarine hose 16 in. with 16 to 12 in. reducer for connection to vessel's 12 in. deck hose. For vessels not equipped with 12 in. deck hose, a 12 to 10 in. reducer is available. A 25 ft. length of 10 in. deck hose is also available for vessels not having a deck hose on board. Ship's crew performs all hose connecting, disconnecting, etc.
CARGO HANDLING: Rio Zulia Crude Oil has following specifications: Gravity, approx. 41·2° API. Flash, below atmospheric temperature. Reid vapour pressure, 5 to 8 PSI. Pour point, +85°F. Sulphur, wt. %, 0·3. Wax, wt. %, 16.

Rio Zulia Crude has high wax content (about 16% by weight). Above 90°F. Rio Zulia Crude will flow easily and is about same viscosity as heavy No. 2 oil. Below 90°F. it rapidly becomes more viscous until it is similar to petroleum jelly or heavy lubricating grease.

Temperatures: Loading temperature of this cargo at Pozos Colorados between 85 and 90°F. Vessel should maintain loading temperature in wing tanks or if necessary gradually raise temperature to approximately 85° to 90°F. Approx. 2 to 3 days prior arrival discharge port, vessel should start to heat cargo in centre tanks so that upon arrival discharge terminal, average cargo temperature is between 100° and 105°F. for both wing and centre tanks. This temperature should be maintained throughout discharge. When discharge is through a submarine line in cold waters or over docks, when ambient temperatures are extremely cold, it is recommended that above temperature be increased 5° to 110°F.

Tank preparation: Cargo tanks which on previous voyage contained sour crudes (similar to those loaded in Arabian Gulf) should be machine washed with hot water at maximum pressure order remove from tank bottoms all free oil remaining from previous voyage. Machines should be spotted low in tanks so as obtain maximum washing over tank bottoms. Upon completion of deballasting, cargo tanks should be stripped dry and cargo pumps and lines drained so that tanks, pumps and lines free of pumpable water when cargo loaded into them.

Cargo discharging: When discharging Rio Zulia Crude, each cargo system should be discharged by main cargo pump directly connected to that system and forward tank on each system should be discharged first. Operations should then work aft with tanks on each system being discharged in rotation. This will keep vessel trimmed by stern throughout discharge and keep tanks being stripped draining to suction lines. This will also permit stripping operations to be carried out while main cargo pumps are discharging cargo in remaining tanks.

By discharging cargo tanks as recommended above, cargo loss resulting from crude congealing on bottom surfaces will be minimised. Each tank should be discharged as quickly as possible using main cargo pump, then stripped as well as possible. About 20 minutes after stripping each tank should be stripped again. Then in about 20 minutes each tank should again be stripped. During discharge of each tank, cargo heating coils should be left on until completion of stripping operation. When initial stripping operation is started, steam-to-steam heating coils should be reduced sufficiently so that cargo temperature will not rise above 120°F. If cargo temperature rises much above 120°F., there is danger that stripping pumps will become vapour locked.
BALLAST: The utmost care must be exercised by all tankers to avoid any contamination of the terminal bay waters, since the entire area is a developing tourist resort. This means that absolutely no deballasting or disposal of bilge water must take place in the bay. Shore deballasting or disposal of bilge water must take place in the bay. Shore deballasting facilities can handle up to 84,000 bbls. if ship provides advance warning.
FUEL: No bunkers available at terminal.
MEDICAL: Doctor and hospital located at Santa Marta.
CONSULS: No consular office in vicinity of terminal. Nearest Consuls, located in Barranquilla, approx. 35 miles distant.
SHORE LEAVE: Through the ship's Agent, shore leave can be arranged, but sufficient crew must remain on board to handle emergencies.

Cuba

ANTILLA (and sub-ports of Felton, Nicaro and Preston) 20.50 N. 75.44 W.

Port situated on north side of Nipe Bay, on North Coast of Cuba.

APPROACHES: Safe approach without sharp turns. Width of approach about $\frac{3}{4}$ mile with mud bottom. Depth of water between entrance and Saetia anchorage about 150 ft.

PILOTAGE: Pilots board vessels proceeding to Antilla Port or to sub-ports of Preston, Nicaro and Felton, one mile North East of Punta Mayari Lighthouse.

All vessels proceeding to Antilla or to sub-ports must proceed to a position no more than one mile North of the Line E/W with Punta Mayari.

Lighthouse position: 20° 47′ 45″ N. 75° 32′ 00″ W.

Pilot station is at Saetia. There is a telephonic communication between Antilla and Saetia, though rather deficient. On many occasions it is impossible to communicate with Pilots when there is any sudden change in vessel's ETA. Therefore advise Antilla Agency soonest of any change in ETA.

ANCHORAGES: Corojal, 14 miles. Can accommodate vessels drawing up to 20 ft. with a length up to 557 ft. Sufficient swinging area.

Punta Salinas, 10 miles. Can accommodate vessels drawing up to 31 ft. without length limitation.

Preston, 7 miles. Can accommodate vessels drawing up to 30 ft. without length limitation. Swinging area unlimited.

Cajimaya, 6 miles. Can accommodate vessels drawing up to 32 ft. with length up to 600/700 ft.

MAX. SIZE: Vessels of any length and draft can enter Antilla but only up to Saetia anchorage, where the mouth is about $\frac{3}{4}$ miles wide with a depth of 150 ft.

Vessels must not enter or sail from this port with a draft more than 20 ft. forward, 23 ft. aft, as depth at piers limit draft either entering or sailing.

Length is limited by length of piers to 450 ft., otherwise one hatch would remain outside pier, which would result in delay loading or discharging.

There is an average of 3 ft. between high and low tides.

CLEARANCE: All Port Authorities, Port Doctor, Customs, Immigration and Captain of the Port have their offices at Antilla. Vessels may proceed directly to sub-ports without entering Antilla for clearance. Port Authorities clear ships at subport when necessary.

Launch service is the preferable means of transportation used by the Port Authorities to the various sub-ports under Antilla jurisdiction.

There are Custom House Delegations at sub-ports of Preston, Nicaro, but no Immigration. The Custom House Delegate at the sub-port of Nicaro also acts as Delegate for the Captain of the Port.

Although there is no Port Doctor Delegate at the sub-ports, the General Hospital Doctors may act as such, if requested, in order to give a quick entry to the ship.

Notwithstanding the above, in those cases when a ship is coming from a Cuban or foreign port, destined to Nicaro, and happens to lose the slack water tide, it will be necessary for the ship to anchor at Saetia (Antilla) and to wait the next tide. In these particular cases the Port Authorities give entry to the ship at Saetia anchorage, and it is not necessary for another Port Authority visit at the sub-port of Nicaro.

RADIO: When vessels proceed to Antilla, or to any sub-ports, Preston, Nicaro or Felton, or to the port of Banes, ETA messages should be sent to "Mambisas Antilla", simultaneously advising the main office, "Mambisas", Havana.

Ships can communicate with Mambisas Antilla's Agency by wireless via CLA.

TUGS: No tug is required for entry to Antilla. There is a tug available 24 hours of the day, but service must be requested at least 24 hours in advance. Name, Macabi; length, 81 ft. 1 in.; width, 24 ft. 0 in.; gross tonnage, 183·53; net tonnage, 86·00; motor, one diesel; h.p., 750; speed, 8½ knots.

BERTHING: Pier No. 4 (North side). Length 458 ft. Can accommodate vessels drawing up to 17 ft. forward, 23 ft. aft, with a length up to 557 ft.

Pier No. 4 (South side). Length 458 ft. Can accommodate vessels drawing up to 20 ft. forward, 23 ft. aft, with a length up to 557 ft.

At these piers, operations of loading sugar and discharge of jute bags. Shipment of molasses can only be performed at No. 4 pier (North and South side) where there is a pipe-line of 16 in. diameter.

The three piers have railroad tracks of standard gauge. Each pier is connected with one railway which is independent of the others, but has no separate outlet at the end of the piers; consequently to perform any movement it is necessary to take out the remaining cars.

Operations at anchor in the bay cannot be performed, as there are no lighters or tugboats available.

STEVEDORES: Working periods – loading sugar: Monday to Friday – 0700/1100–1300/1700. Saturday – 0700/1100–1300/1700. Sunday – no work performed.

Labour legislation presently in force provides that the number of hours to be worked is 8 hours daily, from Monday to Friday, and 4 hours on Saturday, for a total of 44 hours weekly.

Capacity: Three ships can be performing sugar loading operations simultaneously, although the labour force available is for a total of 12 gangs.

1. Raw Sugar: (a) Loading rate: 1,330 bags of raw sugar (of the 220-pound type) per four hours per gang. (b) Bags per sling: 6 bags of raw sugar (of the 220-pound type).

2. Refined Sugar: (a) Loading rate: 2,100 bags of refined sugar (of the 100-pound type) per four hours per gang. (b) Bags per sling: 12 bags of refined sugar (of the 100-pound type).

No shore crane available at this port, but there are six machine throwers for bulk sugar operations, grates and canvas funnel, etc. These machines function with diesel motors.

Coast dock has been equipped by ECP for vessels to discharge gasoline and gas oil and where vessels can berth with draft 20 ft. even keel. Fidelity tanks, presently operated by ECP, one for storing gasoline and the other for gas oil.

Capacity of each tank about 53,000 barrels. Average discharging rate, each product about 300 tons per hour.

Due to the fact that there is only one pipe-line, when vessels carry both products gasoline is discharged first, after which the pipe-line is cleaned by pumping water. The gas oil is then discharged.

MEDICAL: There is a hospital where crew members may be hospitalised.

FRESH WATER: Can be obtained. The water is brought from outside in railroad tank cars and pumped to the ship by means of a portable turbine. Any amount of water can be delivered but only in partial quantities of not more than 2 tank cars daily. Average delivery: 30 tons per hour.

FUEL: Not available.

REPAIRS: Minor repairs only.

AGENTS: Attending the port of Antilla, and the sub-ports of Preston, Nicaro and Felton, also the port of Banes.

Agency Address: Empresa Consignatarias Mambisas, 55 Avenue de Cuba, PO Box 62, Antilla, Oriente, Cuba. Cables: "Mambisas" – Antilla. Tel. 39. Night No. 247.

Crew mail should be sent to Antilla Agency address, even when ships are operating in sub-ports, and sent by "Registered Mail" for quick delivery. Letters of instructions or cables from owners should be sent to the main office: "Mambisas", Havana.

SUB-PORTS:

Distance from Antilla to:
Preston (Guatemala), 7 miles.
Felton, 11 miles.
Nicaro, 14 miles.

To the port of Banes, which is attended by Antilla Agency, 50 kilometres. From Antilla to Banes highway transportation is used.

Time from Antilla to:

| Sub-port | Launch | Highway |
|---|---|---|
| Preston | 1 hour | 1 hour 45 minutes |
| Felton | 1 hour 30 minutes | 2 hours 15 minutes |
| Nicaro | 2 hours | 3 hours |

There is only a regular launch service from Antilla to Nicaro, leaving daily from Coastwise pier Antilla at 0930 hours, arriving Nicaro at 1130 hours.

(a) SUB-PORT OF PRESTON (GUATEMALA):

LOCATION: On North coast of Cuba, 20° 46′ N. 75° 40′ W.

This sub-port situated Eastern side of Nipe Bay on a peninsula called Punta de Tabaco, South-east of Antilla. Sugar and molasses produced by the sugar mill Preston (Guatemala) are shipped through this sub-port.

APPROACHES: Same as for Antilla – (Nipe Bay) where Preston is located. The depth from the entrance to anchorage at Preston of about 150 ft., gradually decreases to 60 ft.

PILOTAGE: See "Antilla". Distance from the point where Pilots board the vessels and Preston Pier: 8 miles; to Preston anchorage: 7 miles.

ANCHORAGE/RESTRICTIONS: See "Antilla".

MAX. SIZE: It is not necessary for ships to wait for slack or favourable tide. At sub-port of Preston, ships cannot enter or sail with a draft exceeding 11 ft. forward, 20 ft. aft, as pier is continuously losing depth due to the quantity of mud that Mayari River deposits.

CLEARANCE: See "Antilla". Port Doctor, Immigration and Port Captain travel from Antilla to Preston to give ships entry. Custom Delegation at this sub-port, only occasionally, and in order to avoid delay Preston Hospital Doctor clears the ship.

Vessel can proceed directly to this sub-port, since Port Authorities come from Antilla to give ship's entry.

RADIO: See "Antilla".

TUGS: See "Antilla". No tug required for ships to enter this sub-port. No tug available, but can be obtained from Antilla.

BERTHING: Wooden Pier (West side only) where vessels can be accommodated drawing up to 11 ft. forward and 20 ft. aft. This dock has about 1,100 ft. length, but the first 600 ft. (starting from shore to the head) is only about 12 ft. depth; from there on, draft for loading is 11 ft. forward and 20 ft aft..

Only one vessel can be berthed at this pier on West side. It is usually used only in loading sugar and molasses, and occasionally for discharging coastwise fuel oil for sugar mill consumption.

The pier has double railroad track of standard gauge which reaches to its end, but for performing any movement it is necessary to take out the remaining cars as there is no outlet at the pier's end.

STEVEDORES: Loading sugar – working period (maximum 4 gangs). Monday to Friday: 0700/1100–1300/1700. Saturday: 0700/1100–1300/1700. Sunday: No work is performed.

Labour legislation presently in force provides that the number of hours to be worked is 8 hours daily, from Monday to Friday, and 4 hours on Saturday, for a total of 44 hours weekly.

Raw sugar-loading rate. About 1,330 bags of raw sugar (of the 220-pound type) per four hours per gang.

Equipment. There is one movable shore crane available with lifting capacity of about 60 tons with 75° boom inclination. Boom length 50 ft. Crane is mounted on a railroad flat car which is acted by means of steam supplied by an adapted boiler. As the greater part of the year this crane remains idle, it is possible that its lifting capacity might have decreased. Five grates, but no thrower machines.

MEDICAL: There is a hospital at Preston which offers very good service to ship's crew. In cases requiring special attention, patients can be taken to Holguin, where there are reliable specialists.

(b) SUB-PORT OF NICARO (LENGUA DE PAJARO) LEVISA BAY:

LOCATION: North Coast of Cuba in province of Oriente, 19° 43′ N. 75° 33 W.

APPROACHES: Entrance channel for sub-port of Nicaro is risky for vessels over 350 ft. length, due to its narrowness and because of having sharp turns, some of them forming angles of almost 90°. Bottom and banks are rock and coral.

Depths – 170 and 78 ft. maximum/minimum, respectively. Vessels exceeding 350 ft. length require tug for entering and sailing; all vessels over 450 ft. must be extremely careful. Entering or sailing must be effected during slack water, high or low. Simultaneous entry or sailing of two or more vessels is not permitted.

PILOTAGE: See "Antilla". Distance from the point where Pilot boards vessel and Nicaro anchorage, about 10.50 miles; to Nicaro Pier, about 11 miles.

ANCHORAGE: Can accommodate vessels with length up to 475 ft. and maximum draft up to 30 ft. The swinging area is limited to 800 ft. to permit access through the channel.

RESTRICTIONS: At sub-port of Nicaro, vessels not permitted enter or sail during night time. From beginning May until end August vessels can enter Nicaro from 0515 hours to 1800 hours, and sail from 0550 hours to 1840 hours. From end August to beginning May, vessels can enter from 0615 hours to 1720 hours. For sailing from 0620 hours to 1810 hours.

In the above information, the time taken (1 hour, 20 minutes) to undock from pier and manoeuvre to entrance of channel, and vice versa, has been included.

MAX. SIZE: Permissible draft at North side of Nicaro pier at low tide must not exceed 27 ft. 6 in. forward and 29 ft. aft, with max. length not over 476 ft.

South side of Nicaro Pier, at low tide, has depth of 25 ft. towards shore and 28 ft. at its end, showing the marks for 26 ft. at a distance of 450 ft. from head of pier up to its end.

Both sides have muddy bottom about 3 ft. deep. Nicaro was dredged up to 32 ft., not having been dredged since that time. As a consequence of unloading of mineral (anthracite) which is carried out in this sub-port, anthracite can be discharged only at South side of pier, where crane is situated; a great quantity of mineral is deposited on the bottom, mainly close to piling which supports the pier plate. Owing to this, it is believed that there is an elevation of mud and coal which extends alongside of pier from the 50 ft. mark to 380 ft.

Because of this elevation, which forms an incline from stack pile of the pier, up to approximately 1½ metres out, vessels which submerge more than 26 ft. forward and 27 ft. aft tend to list to port.

Between months of August and December, variation of tide is from 3 ft. to 3·5 ft. During remaining months it is from 2·5 ft. up to 3 ft.

Also see "Approaches" and "Anchorage".

CLEARANCE: Vessels are cleared by a doctor of the Nicaro General Hospital. Immigration officials come from Antilla together with the Agent and Customs Inspectors.

Vessels proceeding to Nicaro can do so directly without having to call Antilla for Port Authorities' Clearance.

Vessels unable to proceed direct owing to unfavourable tide or night arrival are required to anchor at Saetia or Salinas. In such cases, and when ordered by the Chief Inspector, clearance on entry is carried out at these anchorages.

RADIO: Nicaro has following means of communication: telephone, post office, telegraph and radiograms via R.C.A. Ships can communicate with Nicaro using C.L.A., but it is suggested that ETA messages be sent simultaneously to Mambisas, Antilla, and Mambisas, Havana.

Also see "Antilla".

TUGS: Obtained from port of Antilla. Therefore it is recommended that when vessels are assigned to this sub-port, advice of their ETA be given with sufficient time prior to vessels' arrival. Particulars of tugboats are shown under "Antilla" information.

BERTHING: Nicaro Pier operated by Empresa Consolidada Nickel Industria Minera "Commandante Rene Ramos Latour", where following operations carried out: Sugar loading from mills Guatemala and Nicaragua; shipment of nickel; and also discharging general cargo, fuel, oil, ammonia and coal.

At North side of pier are two intakes for fuel, oil, one for ammonia and one for gas oil.

Liquid fuel can be discharged at South side of pier, but this operation prohibits any other operation being carried out at opposite side of pier, as hoses have to cross over pier from the vessel to connections situated at North side.

Pier has a railroad track of standard gauge. Truck transportation can also be used. Interruptions are experienced (mainly sugar loading) since there is only one railroad track. Operation of change and movement of flat cars takes approximately 10 minutes.

Electric shore crane is installed at South side of pier and mounted on rails which run from one end to the other. The top end of this crane consists of a rotary structure from which is projected a boom about 50 ft. long. This boom can be suspended up to an angle of about 60°. In a horizontal position, it can lift weights of about 10 tons each and the loading capacity is gradually increased to 20 tons while raising the boom up to an angle of 45°.

Crane can also perform discharging operations on vessels which are docked on the North side, but operations are slower than when vessels are docked at South side.

Crane's accessories consist of two grabs for mineral coal of 1½ and 3 tons capacity each, steel slings, special slings for loading nickel, etc. This equipment (excluding ship's tackle) is the only gear available for loading or discharging at this sub-port.

Only two vessels can be loaded simultaneously, and operations of working two vessels simultaneously delays both operations owing to characteristics of this pier, which was constructed specifically for receiving mineral coal, general cargo, fuel, oil, ammonia, and to ship nickel or other type of heavy material. Pier lacks necessary railroad tracks to ship sugar as are found in other ports which have been assigned to this purpose.

STEVEDORES: Loading or unloading of general cargo, nickel, mineral coal, etc., is performed by port workmen of sub-port of Nicaro.

Raw sugar-loading rate. At present, average loading rate in a period of 4 hours per gang, is about 1,330 bags.

Bags per sling (Guatemala sugar): 6 bags of raw sugar (of 220-pound type) per sling. Nicaragua sugar: 6 bags of raw sugar (of 220-pound type) per sling. Sugar bags from sugar mills Guatemala and Nicaragua are transported from respective mills to Nicaro in railroad flat cars, already slinged.

Refined sugar. No refined sugar is exported.

General cargo discharging rate. General cargo of a fragile nature and careful handling: about 5 tons per gang hour. General cargo of sturdy nature and easy handling: about 20 tons per gang hour.

Bulk sugar: no bulk sugar equipment available. In those cases when bulk sugar operations are performed, the necessary equipment is obtained from sub-port of Preston.

Working periods in loading sugar: Monday to Friday, 0700 to 1100 and 1300 to 1700; Saturday 0700 to 1100 only; Sunday, no work is performed.

Labour legislation presently in force provides that the numbers of hours to be worked is 8 hours daily, from Monday to Friday, and hours on Saturday, for a total of 44 hours weekly.

TANKERS: No molasses or alcohol are loaded. Only fuel oil, liquid ammonia and gas oil are discharged. Average discharging of fuel oil at present is about 400 tons per hour. Liquid ammonia discharge averages about 27 metric tons/hour.

MEDICAL: Hospital at Nicaro offers good service to ships' crew members. In case of special attention, the patient can be taken to Holguin, where there are reliable specialists.

FUEL: Not available.

REPAIRS: Very minor repairs only.

DISTANCES: The nautical distance between Nicaro and Antilla for vessels drawing over 6 ft. draft is 24 miles. For small craft drawing less than 6 ft. the distance is 14 miles. By highway, 130 kms. from Nicaro to Antilla.

Sea transportation takes 1 hour 45 minutes, and highway 2 hours 30 minutes. There is a daily launch service between Nicaro and Antilla. Launch leaves Antilla 0930 arriving at Nicaro at 1130, and a launch leaves Nicaro at 0930 arriving at Antilla at 1130.

AUTHORITY: Sub-port of Nicaro is under Antilla Custom House jurisdiction. There is a Custom House Delegate at this sub-port, who acts as a Delegate of the Captain of the Port.

Vessels at Nicaro are handled by personnel of Antilla offices who visit Nicaro, and are located at Oficina de la Marina, tel. 216. In case this office is closed, these personnel could also be contacted through Customs House telephone of Nicaro.

AGENT: See "Antilla".

(c) SUB-PORT OF FELTON:

LOCATION: This sub-port lies about 3 miles to East of Preston and about 1 mile to East of mouth of Mayari River.

APPROACHES: See "Antilla".

PILOTAGE: See "Antilla". Distance from point where Pilot boards to Felton Pier, 6 miles; to Cagimaya anchorage, 5 miles.

There is a variation of 3 ft. between high and low tides.

RADIO: Ships can communicate with Felton by wireless via CLA, but it is recommended that ETA messages be given to Mambisas Antilla and simultaneously Mambisas Havana.

The means of communication between Felton and Antilla are telephone and telegraph.

There is one electric shore crane mounted on rails with a loading capacity of about 10 tons. This crane is movable and has wide field of operation. The booms have a length of 60 ft. If the grab is removed the crane can lift up to a maximum of 15 tons.

MEDICAL: No hospital available at Felton. Sick crew members are sent to Nicaro Hospital or to Hoguin.

FRESH WATER: Can be supplied, but it is recommended that requisition be made sufficiently in advance in order to store required amount in aqueduct tank. Any quantity can be supplied depending on time vessel remains in port. Average pumping rate about 20 tons per hour.

REPAIRS: Sugar mill repair shop for minor repairs. Welder available.

COMMUNICATIONS: Long-distance telephone communication between Manati and Puerto Padre, although difficult owing to fact that there are only two lines from Manati and they are almost always congested. Vessels cannot communicate by radio with this port.

AUTHORITIES: Port Doctor and Port Captain located at this port. Custom House delegation located here, also Immigration Inspector who attends Gibara, Vita and Puerto Padre. PILOTAGE: Compulsory. Boards incoming vessels about one mile from the dock. (The Pilot's working hours from 0800 to 1200, 1400 to 1700; a fee charged after working hours. A fee is also charged for movements in harbour.) Ships will be received Saturdays and Sundays and at night for the same rate for the Pilot.
ANCHORAGE: Vessels that cannot be docked on arrival will find safe anchorage to the East of the dock where there is plenty of swinging room, in about 20 fathoms of water, with good holding ground of mud and sand.
APPROACHES: Coast Guard Service recommend that a ship, entering Manzanillo Bay from the East, should stay well out until it has rounded shoals surrounding Seven Brothers Islands. At approximately 19° 58′ West longitude, a course of 127° will bring it into the bay near the wharf. A ship arriving from the West should stay about six miles off Cape Haitian Light. When abreast the light a course of 111° will lead into the Bay a short distance North of the pier.
RADIO: Radio Station HIL31. This station is private and for the use of Grenada Co. only. Messages of ETA, etc. from vessels should be sent via Miami WAX or New Orleans Radio WNU.

Vessels bound for Manzanillo, should radio their ETA to Santo Domingo Pilot Station daily, from 0600 to 1800 hours on frequency 2738 and 2182.

Vessels having single sideband equipment may also contact radio Instituto Agriario Dominicano at Manzanillo, at wavelength 26·70 and 26·38 kHz from 0700 to 1200 and 1400 to 1700 hours EST.
TUGS: No heavy duty tugs available but there is a launch for the handling of ship lines.
BERTHING: Prevailing winds are Easterly and sometimes interfere with docking or undocking. On the East side vessels should dock bow in, since there is not enough room to swing vessels safely around for a port docking. On the West side vessels can dock either side to the pier, depending on the direction and force of the wind. In general banana vessels will be docked on West side of the pier and cargo vessels on the East side. Pier has a concrete deck 744 ft. long, 72 ft. wide. 8 Crew Lists.
8 Stores Lists.
6 copies of Voyage Memorandum.

2 sets Consular Papers to be obtained at the Ecuadorian Consulate at last port. If no Consul available or by other reason, this matter will be arranged and settled by Ship's Agency in Esmeralda.

PILOTAGE: Pilotage is compulsory according to Ecuadorian laws.

01° 00′ N.
79° 40′ W.
79° 46′ W.

Pilot boarding area: The pilot boarding area is in a position approximately 1·5 miles N.W. of berth Y (SBM–E) between the parallels of 1° 04′ and 1° 03′ N. and meridians of 79° 40′ W. and 79° 43′ W.

ANCHORAGE: Vessels required to anchor on arrival will anchor in a position approximately 1·5 miles S.W. of the berth X (SBM–E) in an area between the parallel of 1° 02′ N. and 1° 00′ 30″ N. and the meridians 79° 44′ W. and 79° 46′ W.

RADIO: Vessels bound for Balao must advise their ETA to Superintendencia Naval, Esmeraldas, 72 hours and 24 hours before arrival. Message must contain vessel's name, ETA, Master's name. A 24-hour watch is maintained on HF-SSB-2182 and 4316 kHz call frequency, and 4139– 6210 kHz working frequency and VHF Channel 16. Vessels are usually able to make contact on this channel at a distance of 20–30 miles on the seaward side of the berth operation. Channel 14 will be used for contact between ships and the Supertendencia Naval before the port arrival. Channel 12 is used for internal traffic, loading, unloading and ships berthing operations.

BERTHING: The mooring area is situated between the parallels of 01° 03′ N. and 01° 00′ N. and the meridian 79° 40′ W. and 79° 44′ W. Mooring operation will be undertaken by day under normal weather conditions. Unmooring operation will be undertaken by day and night without restrictions.

In this area the traffic of small craft such as fishing vessels, coasting vessels engaged in cabotage is absolutely prohibited with the sole exception of small craft used in the reception and mooring of tankers.

Mooring information: When a vessel is within reasonable distance of the buoy two ship's lines will be carried by the mooring tug to the floating buoy lines and secured to same. These lines will then be heaved aboard. As the buoy ropes come clear of the water, it will be noted that chains are attached to them. These chains are to be secured to the bitts in such a manner that the nylon is outside of the external length of the ship so the chains absorb any chafing if the buoy lines cross the bow. There are two buoy lines. Power must be available at all times on all deck winches and windlass while the vessel is at the berth.

A mooring line must be available aft, secured to the bitt and of sufficient length to enable a tug boat to pick up the eye and tow off if necessary.

Loading information: Loading is through SBMs which are 49·5 ft. in diameter and held, each one in position by fixed chains secured to piles sunk into the sea bed. Buoy X is equipped with a 24-inch seafloat loading hose which is manifolded to two 12 in. tail hoses. Buoy Y is equipped with a 20 in. seafloat loading hose manifolded to two 12 in. tail hoses. Each buoy is equipped with a floating string reduced to 12 in. tail hoses for deballasting. Standard loading rate is about 30,000 B.P.H.

Deballasting and loading procedure: The load on top system is accepted at this terminal and vessels are requested to arrive with slop tanks "settled out" as far as possible. At the present time the terminal isnot able to handle slops and until such time as the terminal is able to receive slops, shore discharge is prohibited.

All ballast, clean and dirty, must be pumped ashore, with the exception of vessels especially equipped with clean segregated systems – which are reserved for ballast only. Vessels so equipped will be permitted to pump segregated ballast overboard after being accepted and approved by shore inspectors.

The Equadorian Government have very strong views on pollut and vessels are warned that a very careful watch is kept at all tim to ensure that pollution does not take place – or that if pollution do occur it is controlled as quickly as possible. Masters are advised th it is against the law to pollute the waters and coast of this Coun and severe penalties are imposed for such offences.

During the hours of darkness it is requested that searchligh from bridge wings and approved floodlights are used to illumina surrounding waters to facilitate detection of oil and assist genera in loading operations. Vessels are advised that failure to supp sufficient lighting could result in cargo operations not being allow during the hours of darkness. Such delays would be for vesse account.

After the ballast tanks have been inspected and found satisfacto deballasting will commence on the advice of the Company represe tative. When the ballast has been discharged, the tanks will aga be inspected and if ready for dry cargo, a Dry Certificate, if pr sented, will be signed by the Company representative. In any ca cargo will be loaded when both ship and shore are ready to com mence operations. Under no circumstances will the vessel be expe ted to load at a faster rate than that requested by the Master. It the ship's responsibility to check that the requested loading rate not being exceeded. BERTHING: Vessels can berth in safety at any time, day or night.

In the case of cargo vessels it should be stressed that the swell experienced alongside is a serious problem and Masters would be well advised to make use of the shore lines offered on hire to save undue wear and tear on their mooring. Vessels frequently have to leave the berth because of the swell, and broken moorings are common.

There are two piers: the first one called "A" consists of a breakwater mole 763 metres long. The access mole runs for approximately 400 metres and has a free width of 7 metres. The pierhead which is 3 metres wide and 310 metres long, includes a combined breakwater, a mooring dock (2 berth capacity) and a transit shed. This pier can handle general and liquid cargo.

The second pier called "B" (4 berth capacity) is 360 metres long and has a free width of 28 metres. Products handled in this pier general and bulk cargo.

MEDICAL: There are doctors in the port who attend normal cases and specialists and hospitals in Sonsonate city at 20 km. (by road) and in San Salvador, capital of the Republic, 85 kms. from the port

DEVELOPMENTS: The construction of a breakwater at the end of existing pier head "A" will start in August 1974. The breakwater will extend in a N.W. direction in line with the existing pier for a distance of 35 metres, then change direction to the North with an angle of 30 degrees and extends 270 metres with a width of 18 metres. This breakwater will offer another berth capable of handling liquid and general cargo.

CEPA intends to develop the port to provide adequate facilities for the handling of containers in order to attend the further increase in the country's foreign trade and particularly to make provisions for the development of containerised berths in Central America.

TANKERS: Moorings at RASA (Refineria de Acajutla Sociedad Anonima). This refinery is the property of Esso Standard Oil and Shell Petroleum Company.

STEVEDORES: Must be ordered 24 hours before arrival by Agent, confirmation by radio-telephone as to the number of gangs needed is always convenient.

On the "Spreader" there is marked, by welding, 1 and 11 where the chains are attached, indicating what pipe-line they are connected to. Ship's crew is used in connecting and disconnecting cargo hoses.

Vessels should moor only on high water during daylight hours; however, they may unmoor day or night. Launch available for mooring and running lines. Vessel should tie up securely with three lines to each buoy, and anchor spread 60° with 60/76 fathoms of chain on each. Largest vessel that can be accommodated alongside wharf would occupy a berth with least depth of 25 ft.; length is not a limiting factor, although a maximum 550 ft. is recommended, due to strong currents, 3 knots, and pressure on part of any vessel extending for any greater distance beyond length of wharf.

EQUATORIAL GUINEA: (Formerly Spanish Guinea)

ALL ENTRIES ARE SHIP'S OFFICERS REPORTS.

REPORT NO. 1. PURSER'S REPORTS

MALABO: (Formerly Santa Isabella)

Documents:

9 Crew Lists.
9 Passenger List (Marked "done" if no passengers on board).

3 Customs Declaration.
3 Stores and Provisions.
4 Arms and Ammunition.
1 Vaccination List (Smallpox, Cholera and Yellow Fever).
9 Cargo Manifests.

BATA: Same papers as above. No officials come out to the ship at this port, however, papers should be kept ready. Vessels moor to a buoy for discharge.

REPORT NO. 2. SHIPMASTERS REPORT

BATA: 01.52 N. 09.46 E.

Roadstead with single point mooring buoy connected to the shore with 6 in. pipeline, 6 in. hose: (everything in a deplorable state). No tugs or pilots available. Master should have local knowledge when approaching berth in hours of darkness. Vessels are moored with 2 anchors forward and 2 ship's lines (plus two 8 in. shore lines) to the single point mooring buoy. 5 lengths of 15 metre hose available. Preferable stern discharge connection to be used. Max. pressure: 4 kg/cm². All grades through this line. Linewash of water in between the different grades. There is rubber ball for cargo separation.

Advice: 1. In view of the deplorable state of buoy, lines and hose, masters should be very careful in mooring their vessel – which has to be done by himself – in order not to damage same.
2. Masters should have ships motorboat ready to run ships's lines to the buoy because motor launch, which is supposed to do this is very old and liable to breakdown at a crucial moment.
3. Anchors should be dropped in a position S.W. of the buoy in order to stay well clear of the unmarked wrecks, in good holding ground with 4 to 5 lengths of chain.
4. Tidal currents move the ship relative to the mooring buoy – so it is necessary to heave anchors tight – bearing in mind that the construction, etc. of the buoy is very weak.
5. The buoy carries a light but the light does not work. Anyway mooring after dark is not advisable.

1 Store Manifest.
1 Crewlist.

Shore leave: Allowed by ship's boat.

Radio communication: None. Though there are officially coast radio stations in this country, they do not operate on schedule. Telegrams should be sent via coastal radio stations of other countries. No VHF.

PUERTO MACIAS, (Puerto Nuevo): 01.49 N. 09.44 E.

Situated about one mile south of the mouth of the Rio Ekuku. This is quite a new jetty – developed in 1973 – shaped like the letter "L", where the long leg of this "L" is connected to the shore and 4 dry cargo vessels can moor alongside the short leg in about 14 metres of water. Every vessel has on her off-shore side 2 mooring buoys to assist in mooring and unmooring. No tugs available. Though it is stated that a pilot is available, this information should be treated as unreliable. The pier is used for the discharge of general cargo and the loading of logs and sawn wood. According to information received this jetty will be made available to tankers for discharge of oil products.

REY MALABO, (formerly Santa Isabel): 03.46 N 08.48 E.

Documents:
9 Crew Lists.
3 Store manifests.
3 Crew declarations.
2 Lists of Arms and ammunition.
4 Lists of Ports of Call.
2 Passenger lists or negative.

General: No tugs.

Pilots: effectively none. Only a locally informed inhabitant of this port comes on board to inform the Master, he is equipped with a large scale Spanish chart of this bay, but he has no nautical knowledge and he does not know how to handle a ship.

Note: 1. Masters should bear in mind that they have to manoeuvre and moor the vessel themselves.
2. In view of the continuous breakdowns (and insufficient power) of the mooring-launch it is absolutely necessary to have the ship's motor boat at stand by to run the ship's mooring-lines ashore.

Mooring procedure: Tankerberth: old jetty (muelle viejo). The ship should be moored stern-to to this jetty. On entering the port with the lights in line starboard anchor is dropped in the middle of the bay and the ship has then to manoeuvre around with her own engines, till in line with the berth. NB. Because there is very seldom anybody present at the jetty to accept the mooring lines (on arrival as well as on departure) the vessel's crew should be kept on stand by to do this job.

Arrival/Departure: Between 0600 and 1800 hours.

Tankers: Preferably stern discharge into a 6 in. line with 6 in. hose. All grades through one line – Linewash with water in between – pressure 4 kg/cm² Max.

Advice: 1. Masters should be very careful when dropping their anchors as some vessels (Man of war) moor with their sterns to the dry cargo jetty and have their anchors in the middle of the bay. These anchors are very easily fouled by incoming vessels anchors. A useful suggestion might be to put anchor buoys on the anchors in order to show another incoming ship their position.
2. Because it is quite difficult to manoeuvre a tanker around in this bay without any tug assistance, it should be born in mind that when the wind is over force 2 manoeuvring with a sizable vessel is apt to falter, and no assistance can be expected from any quarter.

Departure: Vessels are free to leave within mentioned hours without pilot.

Radio communication: See "Bata".

Currency: Eq. Guinea Peseta = Spanish Peseta.

DOCUMENTS/HEALTH: Refer to "Suva".
PILOTAGE: Not compulsory at present. However, most vessels avail themselves of a Pilot, who boards at Navula Passage, 20 miles South of Lautoka. Masters should telegraph to their Agents ship's ETA and indicate whether they require a Pilot or not at least 24 hours in advance.

Pilot boards from one of two craft: (1) 55-ft. steel launch, blue hull with word "PILOT" in large white letters, white superstructure; (2) 26-ft. wooden launch, white hull and superstructure, bright orange cabin top.

Both vessels are equipped with RT and VHF Channels 16 and 20. Listening watch only when vessels are expected. Pilot normally boards 1 mile seaward of the passage on line of leads. In heavy seas it may be necessary for vessel to enter passage to enable Pilot to board. There is no anchorage outside the passage.

Vessels requiring pratique should anchor approximately 1 mile to Westward of Vio Island in Lautoka Harbour. Pilot for those vessels not employing one from Navula but requiring a Pilot berthing will board at the quarantine anchorage above.
